

ORANG FEARED THE CAMERA

Photographer's Presence of Mind Probably Saved Him From Death or Fearful Injury.

As a rule orangutangs, the fiercest of the apes, are caught young and tamed before they are shipped to Europe and the United States. One of these animals that arrived in London came with the best of characters. He was considered a very tame, steady-going creature, and an expert was engaged to photograph him.

The man entered the orang's cage as he had entered many others. He had not exposed many plates before he saw that the animal was intent on mischief. He was a very powerful beast, and the man would have stood no chance at all if the orang had attacked him.

The man's only chance was to use the camera as a weapon. Making a sign to the keeper to keep silent, the photographer pointed his hand camera at the orang and with slow and steady step approached him. The keeper was outside the door ready to open it; but neither of them uttered a sound. The photographer was relieved to see the orang gradually retreat and at the same time to be able to rise from the crouched and menacing position he had taken. Once the creature was on the move the man knew he had a chance. He succeeded in working the orang around to the corner furthest from the door, which the keeper had silently and slowly opened. Still pointing his camera at the beast the man very slowly backed out of the cage, the door was slammed to and he was safe.

COMPLETE WORK OF TODAY

Unfinished Tasks Simply Mean That One Has Placed a Mortgage on His Tomorrow.

Leave today's work undone and you mortgage tomorrow. And tomorrow may bring the big opportunity you have been looking for so long.

Try to keep tomorrow for yourself. Try to keep it free. Don't load it up with work that should be done when you leave your desk tonight.

You never know what it may bring. You never know what chances there may be tomorrow—if you have it clear—to show somebody who can pay a big salary what you can do.

Your days are important, every one of them. Each has its own work that must be done.

Start every day with a clean sheet. Say: "This is the work that is to be done today—that must be done today."

Then do that work, and do not leave any of it hanging over into the next day.

Once fall behind in your work and your tomorrow will soon be mortgaged for a long way ahead. That means wage slavery. It means lack of a chance to seize opportunity—or to make opportunity.

Look forward to your tomorrows as days of achievement—days in which to plan and do new tasks—not to finish old ones.

You will be glad to see them then. You will be glad of the fresh eight hours that can be employed in something that is valuable and interesting.—John Blake, in Chicago Daily News.

Burro Saw the Point.

One who knows says that some people claim that animals can't reason, but if they were around burros awhile like he was when he ran a burro train up in Colorado they'd change their minds.

One of the burros fell down in crossing a stream and he was loaded with sugar, and it took about fifteen minutes to get him on his feet and his load didn't weigh more than half as much when they started out again.

For months afterward that critter always contrived to fall down when crossing a stream of water.

It didn't lighten his load any, for the driver never trusted him with sugar any more, but he still had hopes until they happened to load him with sponges one day.

That cured him.—Los Angeles Times.

Arab Puts Comfort First.

The beautiful villas that remain in Algeria are Moorish villas, for the Arab does not care for things artistic and comfortable that other races of the earth demand. If he were given a house he would first remove the doors and burn them; he would next drive a hook into the facade to hitch his mule to, and then he would abandon the chimney-place inside the house and build his fire in the middle of the room, defiling all the walls with smoke. His personal ideas of comfort come first.

The Algerians are not like the French. They are different in manners, customs, habits and morals, says Charles Divin in the Century. Even the Arab remarks it, and calls all people who come from France "Parisian Romans."

Novel Idea of Aviation.

A certain Francis Lana, some two centuries ago, worked out to his own satisfaction that a vessel, with its air supply exhausted would sustain itself suspended in the atmosphere. He produced such a vessel but there is no evidence to show that his scheme was ever attempted as an air-machine.

Now women and children can fly through the air, and that so simply that the children make pictures of their flight, and think no more of it than they do of going by train, or by boat.

Draw Your Own Inference.

"The new-fashioned girl has too many beaux to spare all that hair."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Why You Should Make a Will

To protect your loved ones. To safeguard your estate. By making a Will you can appoint the Bellefonte Trust Company as your Executor or Trustee. You can thus assure to your heirs the business management and financial responsibility which this institution affords. Your wishes can be observed in the distribution of your property, for if you do not leave a Will the law may divide up your possessions in a way that you might not desire.

How Have You Made Your Will?

Do not write your own Will. "Home-made" Wills are dangerous and often cause law-suits, because, when drawing a Will the law must be known, both as to wording and terms. Consult a lawyer today about the making of your Will and have him name the Bellefonte Trust Company to act as your Executor and Trustee.
