Philip Gross, who has been located in Cleveland, Ohio, the past year or more, has decided to remain in Bellefonte with his mother and family and carry on the dry cleaning and tailoring business conducted for a number of years by his father, the late Jacob Gross. See his advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

D. W. Eberhart, one of Bellefonte's well known and most esteemed citizens, was eighty-seven years old on Monday and his daughter, Mrs. Harry Badger, gave a dinner in his honor in celebration of the event. While not quite as spry as he was fifty years ago Mr. Eberhart enjoys remarkably good health and gets around town about as spry as many a man of sixty.

Announcement was made on Tuesday by officials of the State Department of Public Instruction of the organization of the rural education bureau, and among the appointees is Jonas C. Wagner, of Beaver, but formerly of Bellefonte, as assistant director of the administration bureau. Whether this appointment will necessitate his resigning his position as superintendent of the schools at Beaver is not yet known.

Joseph Thal had his annual butchering on Monday and as has been his usual custom for years he invited quite a number of friends and among them had Bill Doak there for the big dinner. Mr. Thal has made it a practice to invite Bill to his butchering dinners and it is needless to say that he appreciates this kind thoughtfulness. His bright spots in life are very few and both Mr. and Mrs. Thal are very considerate of his every want while sitting as a guest at their table.

The time is drawing nigh for the filling of the jury wheel for 1921 and quite naturally the women of Centre county—especially some of them—are wondering if they will be given a call for jury service next year. In some counties in the State the presiding judges have instructed the jury commissioners to place the names of women in the jury wheel, while in other counties adverse instructions have been given. Just what will happen in Centre county remains to be seen.

MEETING OF COUNTY CONSERVATIONISTS.

Constitution and By-Laws Approved and Resolutions Adopted.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Centre County Conservation association was held at the University club, State College, on Tuesday evening of last week. A dinner was served to nearly fifty members of the organization. Tables were arranged so that the directors, officers and the members of the standing committees on forestry, fish, game, song birds, wild flowers, recreation and education were seated together.

Remarks were made by Ralph A. Smith, of Sandy Ridge, the president; by Col. W. F. Reynolds, of Bellefonte; Col. Theodore Davis Boal, of Boalsburg, and Dean R. L. Watts, of State College, vice presidents of the association, and by a number of the directors and members.

Major R. Y. Stuart, deputy forestry commissioner of the State, was the guest of the occasion. He spoke of the present and future plans of the State Forestry Department, of the necessity for securing an appropriation of $1,000,000 from the next State Legislature for protecting the forests from fire for the next two years, and of the plan for bonding the State for $25,000,000 for extending the State ownership of forest lands.

At the business session the constitution and by-laws of the association were presented and adopted. Plans were discussed for completing the organization and for extending the membership. Believing that forestry is the foundation of the conservation problem in Centre county it was the sentiment of the association that every effort should be put forth to encourage the reforestation of denuded forest lands and their protection from fire, the planting up of farm woodlots, and the planting of trees around schools and churches and along the highways, and that all the various activities of the association be encouraged. The following resolutions were adopted:

That small tributary streams emptying into larger fishing streams, and the headwaters of all fishing streams, be closed to fishing, in order that they may become the breeding grounds of brook trout.

That the present law permitting the catching of brook trout below six inches in length be repealed, and that the principle of the former law which limited the catching of brook trout to fish six inches in length and over be endorsed.

That a license fee of $1.00 be placed on all fishermen above sixteen years of age in order that the State Department of Fisheries may have funds needed for the extension of its work and for carrying out the provisions of the law.

That the association heartily endorse the forestry policy of the State Forestry Department, and will lend every effort to the securing an appropriation of money from the next Legislature to enable adequate protection of our forests from destruction by fire; and that the plan to bond the State for $25,000,000 for the extension of State ownership of forest lands be also endorsed.

Sunday School Conference.

A conference of Sunday school workers in Centre county will be held in the Lutheran church, Bellefonte, Friday, December 10th. Lemen, children's division superintendent, both state workers, will be present. All county officers, district officers, Sunday school superintendents, pastors and workers are urged to be on hand to help with their assistance and good will. Those who expect to be in attendance are requested to send word by post card to Darius Waite, county secretary, not later than Monday, December 6th, so that a luncheon can be arranged beforehand, in order to give the most time possible at the conference. It is hoped that all who can do so will make a special effort to be at this worker's meeting.

Answers to Health School Questions.

Question 1—Name the disease responsible for lumbago? Answer—Tuberculosis.

Question 2—Name a contributing cause? Answer—An injury to the bone, often slight.

Question 5—Name some symptoms of tuberculosis of the spine? Answer—Pain, stooping with a stiff back, a lump over the back bone.

The subject of the next lesson is "Rabies" (or hydrophobia). The discovery of Pasteur has robbed the disease of its terrors, but its early recognition is necessary.

Rabies is contracted from the bite of a rabid animal, the virus of the disease being introduced into the wound with the saliva of the animal. A rabid dog, even before the symptoms of madness are manifest, may communicate the disease by licking a hand upon which there is an abrasion.

The hearings in the case of the two Bellefonte hotelkeepers whose places of business were raided several weeks ago and quantities of liquor confiscated, which was to have been held in Sunbury last Friday, were continued. This will preclude all possibility of their being brought before the federal court sitting in Harrisburg next week, when similar cases from Sunbury are scheduled for trial.

The steeple-ette on the Methodist church has at last been completed and the scaffolding was removed from the building on Tuesday.

Deer Hunters on the Trail.

It might be a rather significant fact that the first report reaching this office of a deer being killed in Centre county this season was from the Woodrow Wilson club of Gatesburg, the members of which got a big buck before ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, the first day of the season. With such a name it is hardly to be wondered at that they met with early success.

Of course it is just possible that quite a number of deer were killed on Wednesday, but as the most of the hunting parties are deep in the mountains, it will probably be a day or two yet before any reports are received from them. Of course, so far it has not been exactly ideal weather for hunting. The rain that has fallen almost continually this week has naturally kept the woods so wet that it is strenuous work driving through the brush, but very few hunters consider the weather conditions when hot on the trail of deer.

The Sunday crowd camping in Sholl's gap, on old Tussey mountain, shot two bucks on the opening day.

The Homan-Hess crowd, camping in the Shingletown gap of Tussey mountain, got two on the first day.

The Dreiblebeis-Colpetzer crowd, camping in Erb's gap, above Pine Grove, got one on the opening day.

The Hollidaysburg crowd, camping on Roaring run, near Monroe Furnace, got one on the opening day.

For the benefit of those hunters who would like to go out just for the day we might say that all the deer in the country are not on the Seven mountains or the Alleghenies. Two well known Bellefonters went down to Fishing creek on Tuesday with the idea of winding up the small game season in the wooded vales and hills of that section, and upon their return home they told a tale of having seen a place where a herd of deer had spent the previous night, and it must have been some herd, at that. One of the men declared the beds where the deer had lain covered a space about twenty-five feet square and the beds, metaphorically speaking, were still "smoking" when they ran across them.

Of course it being the day before the opening of the season both men were glad in a way that they didn't run across the deer, because they are both law-abiding citizens and would just naturally have stood by and watched them meander away.

The Coffee Shop Opened.

The coffee shop, which has taken the place formerly occupied by the bar in the Bush house, opened as per announcement, on Wednesday.

The menu covers all the seasonable dishes ready to serve and the service is quite up to the Bush house standard. Many customers found their way to the shop on the opening day and seemed very much pleased with it.

It fills a much needed want here, for it opens at 5:45 in the morning and doesn't close until midnight, so that persons departing on early trains will have a place where good food may be procured at reasonable prices at almost any hour.

A lady resident of Bellefonte came into the "Watchman" office on Wednesday afternoon and made complaint because she found a fish in the water drawn from the spigot in her home. Probably she would not have cared so much if it had been a nice live fish and she could have dumped it into the pan and had it for dinner, but as it happened the fish came out in pieces, and the pieces were not the best kind of fish, either. Just how the fish got into the water pipe is an unsolved question. So far as known there are no fish in the big spring and that is the only source of the town's water supply; and there surely can't be any fish in the reservoir. In any event it is something that should be investigated because it surely is not very appetizing to draw a glass of water for drinking purposes and find portions of a dead fish in it.

The Spencer Economy store which was opened in the Bush Arcade on December 1st promises to fill a long-felt want in Bellefonte—a place where the working man can buy good, dependable clothes at prices within his means. Quality, price and service will be the motto of the new store and the aim of the proprietors will be to carry in stock everything in the clothes line that the working man or woman may need for either winter or summer. For prices and particulars see their big advertisement on page six of this issue of the "Watchman."

The first consignment of throwing machines received by the Bellefonte silk mill have been set up and give an idea of what the mill will look like when fully equipped and ready for operation. But the people of Bellefonte are not so much interested in what the interior of the mill looks like as they are on when it will be put in operation. Of course the present unsettled condition of the silk market cannot continue indefinitely and as soon as conditions become normal the company will probably start the Bellefonte mill.

Don't forget the apron and food sale of the Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church to be held in the chapel on Thursday, December 29th, beginning at two p. m. Chocolate with whipped cream and small cakes will also be served. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Vigilance Committee Organized to Fight Illicit Booze Traffic.

The organization of a vigilance committee in Bellefonte to fight the illicit traffic in booze was the result of the lecture of Rev. R. E. Johnson, the raiding parson from Philadelphia, in the court house last Friday night. The audience which assembled in the court house to hear what the raiding parson had to say comfortably filled the main part of the room. Miss Rebecca N. Rhoads, president of the Centre county W. C. T. U., presided and gave a brief talk before introducing the militant parson.

Rev. Johnson is an exceptionally fluent talker and illustrated his address with a number of stories apposite to the point he desired to emphasize. He spoke with loud acclamation of the day that total prohibition would be here but warned his hearers that that day is not yet and that the hardest fight is just now, in getting rid of the illicit booze traffic.

Speaking of the raid he superintended in Bellefonte several weeks ago he stated that that was only a beginning. In telling of the liquor seized he stated that he first had considered storing it in the county jail, then a second thought did not believe that the best place for it, so put it in the custody of postmaster P. H. Gherryly. But he further stated that the whiskey, wines, etc., had all been measured and his seal put on all of it, and if any of it is missing when called for he will know it.

As a proper means of carrying on the fight against the illegal sale of liquor in Bellefonte Rev. Johnson recommended the organization of a vigilance committee whose duty it will be to see that all violators of the prohibition law are prosecuted, and who will also assume the burden of any or all expense connected with enforcing the law. At this juncture the doors of the court room were locked but as this savored too much of a compulsory proceeding they were shortly thereafter unlocked. Some little difficulty was experienced in getting men willing to serve as officers of the committee but an organization was finally effected by selecting as president Samuel B. Miller; secretary, James K. Barnhart, and treasurer, Harry C. Yeager. Quite a number of those present subscribed their names to the roll as members of the committee.

Christmas Seal Campaign Committee.

Bellefonters people must wake up to the fact that the Christmas seal campaign this year is not to be a perfunctory one. The health and the lives of the children are at stake and the sale of the seals is to be used as a means to the end of saving the children. Other communities are becoming active in pushing the sale of these beautiful Christmas seals. The people of Port Matilda have ordered five thousand and expect to sell them all. The chairman of the committee for Centre county has ordered fifty thousand of these seals and the purchase and use of them is up to the public. And it is to them this appeal is made. A large number of men and women of Bellefonte have agreed to serve on the committee for the sale of the seals and are being assisted by a score or more young ladies of the town. Get your seals from any one of them, and the proper way to do is to buy early and use them on all your mail. The local committee is as follows:

Charles M. McCurdy, chairman; George T. Bush, publicity; John M. Shugert, James H. Potter, James R. Hughes, Walter Cohen, Harry Keller, Hon. H. C. Quigley, Arthur H. Sloop, H. C. Yeager, Father Downes, Hon. A. G. Morris, Maj. H. L. Curtis, Burgess W. Harrison Walker, Henry S. Linn, John S. Walker, Nelson C. Robb, Dr. J. L. Seibert, T. Clayton Brown, Charles F. Mensch, Hard P. Harris, James C. Furst, John McCoy, Charles Schlow, A. C. Mingle, William Bottorf, Logan Fire Co., Undine Fire Co., The Elks.

Got Two Wild Turkeys.

W. P. Seig and a party of friends from Cleveland, Ohio, have been camping at Mr. Seig's place on Fishing creek this week and hunting for small game in the adjacent mountains. On Tuesday they had two nice wild turkeys hung up as the fruits of their sport this week.

While scores of hunters were out in the woods hunting game on Tuesday and many others getting ready to go, a big wild turkey flew into Bellefonte and lit on a buttonwood tree down near Crider's office. It roosted there a short time then took to the wing and sailed majestically away toward the point of the mountain above McCoy's works. The bird had evidently been frightened off the mountain by hunters and returned to a safer place.

High School to Stage Musical Extravaganza.

Rehearsals are now well under way for "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop," a big amateur production to be staged here December 15-16. Mr. Walter R. Ferguson, of the John B. Milk Station Checks to be Issued Soon

Centre county farmers who have been supplying milk to the new station of the Western Maryland Dairy in Bellefonte will soon see the color of the company's money, as statements of the milk furnished up to December first are now in course of preparation and checks to cover same will be issued within the next few days.

The station was opened for a supply of milk on November 22nd when forty-four cans were received. Since that time there has been a gratifying increase in the supply, as this week sixty-seven cans have been the supply, and the people at the station have no hesitancy in saying that it is all very good milk. The only regret they have so far is that they are not getting enough of it, but Mr. J. A. Collins, who was in Bellefonte this week, is hopeful that once some farmers begin to handle the money of the Western Maryland Dairy it will be an inducement to others to try and do likewise.
