United States Treasury savings stamps having a value of $1.00 are now being issued and will be accepted during 1921 at face value on account of the purchase price of $5.00 savings stamps or treasury savings certificates in denominations of $25.00, $100.00 or $1000.00 maturity value.

A $25.00 certificate will cost during January, 1921, $20.60; the $100.00 certificate $82.40, and the $1000.00 certificate $824.00. These certificates are registered in the name of the owner when purchased. They are absolutely safe in every respect.

Thrift and savings stamps may be purchased at any postoffice in Centre county. The $25.00 and $100.00 treasury savings certificates may be purchased at the Bellefonte, Philipsburg and State College postoffices, or from W. Harrison Walker, assistant to director of the savings division of the Third Federal Reserve district, Bellefonte, Pa. The $1000.00 or "limit" certificates should be purchased through the offices of Mr. Walker.

Centre county to December 1st, 1920, had a per capita of $1.94 and stands first in the Third Federal Reserve district, which comprises forty-eight counties in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, the State of Delaware and southern New Jersey.

Trustees of several fraternal organizations in our country have purchased many $100.00 savings certificates, and one lodge purchased the limit of $1000.00 since January 1st, 1921. Practically all of the prominent fraternal organizations in the United States have endorsed the savings movement and are investing their surplus funds in savings certificates.

Presidents of woman's organizations have emphasized the need of the continuation of the savings work among their membership in 1921. The State Parent-Teachers association at their annual convention held at Williamsport on November 5th, 1920, adopted decisive resolutions endorsing the thrift and saving movement. The committee of state superintendents of public instruction, which recently met in Washington, D. C., unanimously decided to urge every state superintendent and commissioner of education to install thrift courses in every school, and at the same time provide for the actual practice of the principles taught by offering means for sound investment.

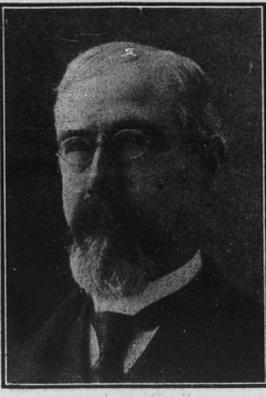

There are 144 schools in our county enrolled with the savings society section of the Third Federal Reserve district, but to December 1st, 1920, only six of these schools had reported the savings of their pupils, amounting to $214.80. All teachers are requested not only to enroll their schools, but also to report all savings monthly to the department, using for that purpose the franked report cards in their possession.

Put Centre county at the top of this governmental movement by the investment of funds, personal and trust, in savings stamps and treasury savings certificates, bearing interest at four per cent, compounded quarterly, exempt from State and local taxes and from the normal federal income tax.

McKinney.—Miss Sarah McKinney passed away at the Bellefonte hospital at 12:30 o'clock on Wednesday morning as the result of a complication of diseases, following an illness of about a month. She was a daughter of Alexander and Margaret McKinney and was born in Maryland on April 14th, 1852. When a small child she came to Centre county with her parents who settled on a farm at the foot of Purdue mountain. Her parents died some years ago and after their burial she went to live with Miss Collins. At the latter's death she went to the home of Father McArdle, where she lived five years, then went to the Bush house where she remained until her removal to the hospital three weeks ago last Tuesday.

Wherever she lived she was always faithful to the interests of her employers. She was a consistent member of the Catholic church all her life and always a regular attendant. Her one brother died in Michigan two years ago leaving as her only survivors two nieces and one nephew. Following her death her body was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Garbrick, corner of Allegheny and Logan streets where it reposed pending the funeral, which will be held at ten o'clock this morning in the Catholic church. Mass will be said by Rev. Father Downes after which burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

HAMMON SECHLER.

SECHLER.—In the passing away of Hammon Sechler, at nine o'clock on Monday evening at his home on east Linn street, one of the oldest business men of Bellefonte has passed to his reward. When he closed his store on the evening of December 17th he had no premonition that he had finished his life work, but shortly after reaching home he was seized with a chill and was compelled to take his bed. Later erysipelas developed and although his attending physician succeeded in breaking up the infection he was unable to retain any nourishment and gradually grew weaker until the end.

Mr. Sechler was a son of John and Anna Maria Sedan Sechler and was born in White Deer valley, Lycoming county on January 26th, 1841, hence had reached the advanced age of almost eighty years. When but sixteen years of age he went to Williamsport where he began his mercantile experience by clerking in a general store, remaining there several years. During the Civil war he served as a member of the 131st regiment Pennsylvania volunteers and one of the very few relaxations he took from business cares during recent years was to attend the annual reunions of his old regiment.

Fifty-three years ago he came to Bellefonte and went to work in a grocery store conducted by a Mr. Moore in the room now occupied by the Shaffer hardware store on Allegheny street. The year following his arrival in Bellefonte the Bush house was built by the late Daniel G. Bush and Mr. Sechler decided to start in business for himself, and believing that a room in the new hotel property would be a good stand approached Mr. Bush regarding the rental of one. The latter gentleman naturally made some inquiries about him personally and after answering all questions satisfactorily it developed that Mr. Sechler as a boy had gone to school to Mr. Bush when he taught in White Deer valley. Needless to say he got the room and fifty-two years ago embarked on the grocery business in the room which his store has occupied ever since. As a merchant he was unusually conscientious, not only in his dealing with the general public but in the class and quality of his goods.

Though practically all of his time was devoted to his business, he was intensely devoted to public improvements and industrial enterprises that would benefit the town. He not only gave to them his moral encouragement, but gave financially even to his own detriment. In politics he was unwaveringly Democratic and his wise counsel was frequently sought by the leaders of his party. On one occasion he was nominated for County Treasurer but was defeated and that is the only occasion when he allowed the use of his name for political preference.

Giving so much of his time to his business and his family Mr. Sechler did not devote much of his life to social affairs, and for that reason many people who knew him personally did not know him intimately or realize his true character. He loved to gather with his friends and on the rare occasions when he permitted himself this pleasure he proved not only a congenial but a most interesting figure in any gathering. He had pronounced opinions of right and wrong and had the courage to stand up for his convictions at any time and under all circumstances. He was staunch in his friendships and a liberal contributor to those in need, though all his giving was done so quietly and unostentatiously that few even of his intimate friends knew of his generous spirit. As an illustration of how closely he devoted his time and energies to his business is the fact that in his entire life of eighty years he had taken only three weeks of vacation.

During his early life Mr. Sechler united with the Presbyterian church and was steadfast to that faith until a few years ago when he transferred his membership to the Reformed, and has since worshipped with that congregation. He was one of the oldest members of the Masonic fraternity of Bellefonte. In fact he was the oldest past master of the Lodge, the oldest past high priest of the Bellefonte chapter Royal Arch Masons, the oldest past commander of Constans Commandery No. 33 Knights Templar, and was a member of Jaffa Temple Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, of Altoona.

In 1871 he was united in marriage to Miss J. Alice Gilliland, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gilliland, of near Oak Hall, who survives with two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Armstrong Kirby, of Baltimore, and Miss Anna, at home. The latter has been associated with her father in the store for a number of years. He also leaves two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Foresman, of Allenwood, who at one time was his able assistant in his grocery business; Miss Anna M., of Clarence, Iowa, and William, of Montgomery, Pa.

Funeral services were held at his late home on east Linn street at two o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. Dr. Schmidt, and burial in the Union cemetery was in charge of the Masonic fraternity.

TAYLOR.—Miss Mary Elizabeth Taylor died at the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, Saturday night, where she had been a patient since early last October. Her illness dates back to last summer when she caught a cold while on a motor trip to Lock Haven. Only seventeen other similar cases are recorded in medical science and all proved fatal except one.

She was a graduate of the Bellefonte High school, took a year at Hillside preparatory school and had completed her first year at Vassar. For several years past she had been engaged in teaching school and this winter was teaching at Hecla where she was universally liked. She was a member of the Reformed church at Huhlersburg, was organist for both the church and Sunday school and teacher of a class in the Sunday school.

In addition to her grief-stricken parents she is survived by one sister and two brothers, namely, Emma, Nevin and Melvin, all at home. Her funeral at ten o'clock on Monday morning was one of the largest ever held in Nittany valley. All the schools in the valley were closed as a mark of esteem to her memory while her former school (Hecla) attended in a body Her Sunday school class carried the floral offerings which were both profuse and elaborate. The services were at her late home and were conducted by Rev. Faust, burial being made in the Snyderport cemetery.

HARRIS.—Having passed the age of four score and six years Mrs. Lavinia Catharine Harris passed away at her home on Spring street at three o'clock on Monday afternoon. General debility was the cause and the transition was so gradual and peaceful that her spirit had flown before those at her bedside fully realized that the great change had come.

Lavinia Catharine Slaymaker was a daughter of George and Eliza Rocky Slaymaker and was born at Williams-town, Lancaster county, on November 9th, 1834, hence had reached the age of 86 years, 2 months and 1 day. Her ancestry dates back to the revolutionary period when her great-grandfather, John Slaymaker, was a wagoner in Braddock's campaign during the French and Indian war. Driving eleven horses he hauled a cannon into the battle where General Braddock met his disastrous defeat. Every one of the horses was killed and the larger part of the colonial troops were killed before they got a chance to retreat. Mr. Slaymaker escaped and took part in the revolutionary war, marching at the head of a company to Bergen, N. J., in 1776. He also took part in the skirmish on Chestnut hill under General Bull in 1779. Mathias Slaymaker, a brother of John, was a lieutenant in Company C during the revolutionary war. Her grandfather, John Slaymaker, was a captain of Militia in the war of 1812. Mrs. Harris' father at one time operated large limestone quarries in Lancaster county.

Mrs. Harris came to Bellefonte in 1875 to take charge of a private school started by Mrs. Reuben B. Valentine, and for three years taught in the room in the Masonic building now occupied by the offices of Dr. M. W. Reed, making her home during that period with Mrs. Reuben Valentine. In 1878 she was united in marriage to James Harris and for thirty years they trod life's pathway side by side. Having no children they both devoted considerable time to charitable work among those really in need, and after Mr. Harris' death his wife continued her philanthropies as long as she was able to give supervision to her personal affairs. She was highly educated and accomplished and a most lovable woman in every way. She was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and as long as her health permitted a devout attendant. She was one of the original members of the Bellefonte W. C. T. U. and the total abolition of all strong drink was something she devoutly hoped for and lived to see the pronounced step taken in this direction by the passing of the Eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Harris died in 1908 and only distant relatives are included among her survivors. Funeral services were held at her late home on Spring street at three o'clock yesterday afternoon by Dr. W. K. McKinney, of the Presbyterian church, after which she was laid to rest in the family plot in the Union cemetery.

McCALMONT.—Mrs. Emily Lowrie McCalmont, widow of the late James McCalmont, of College township, passed away at noon on Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. C. Holmes, of State College, as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered some weeks ago.

She was united in marriage to Mr. McCalmont about sixty years ago and practically all of her married life was spent in the vicinity of State College. She was a member of the Presbyterian church all her life, the oldest member of the missionary society of that church and a member of the Bellefonte Chapter of the Red Cross. In fact she was the oldest resident of State College borough.

Her husband died eight years ago but surviving her are the following children: Mrs. John M. Hartswick, of Bellefonte; Mrs. I. C. Holmes, of State College; Mrs. J. C. Meyer, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Dr. William McCalmont, Edward and Roy, all of Philadelphia. She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Helen Curry, of Mooresburg, Pa.; Mrs. Agnes Martindale, of Morrison, Ill., and Mrs. Belle Elliott, in California.

He was taken sick last September and taken to the hospital in Youngstown where he was a patient until the day before Christmas when he was taken home, but he failed to recuperate and after lingering until last Friday passed away.

He was a son of Jacob and Margaret Cohn Runkle and was born at Centre Hall forty years ago. When a child his parents came to Bellefonte and it was here his boyhood days were spent. The family moved to Youngstown about fifteen years ago and that had been his home since. His father died a number of years ago but surviving him are his mother, three brothers and a sister, namely: William, of San Francisco; Miss May, at home; Lee, in Mexico, and Charles, of Youngstown. Reuben attended the public school in winter and worked at the saddlery business with his father during the summer. If Europe Could Begin Paying.

From the Charleston News and Courier. If Europe could begin paying the interest on the debt she owes us, it would help matters considerably in this country. But Europe can't begin these payments till she gets on her feet, and we aren't doing much just now to help her get on her feet.

Cheer up, ice men. We have a blizzard scheduled for the middle of February.
