D. C. Krebs, wife and son Leslie, of State College, spent Friday with Mrs. W. E. Reed, who is slowly recovering from a serious illness.

The mercury here dropped twenty degrees on Monday afternoon and though there was some snow flying it didn't amount to much.

Our popular thresherman, John W. Miller, is among the Centre county crowd at the livestock and agricultural show in Harrisburg this week.

S. E. Ward, driving his new Cleveland demonstrating car, spent Monday in Bellefonte completing arrangements for his exhibit at the big auto show.

Joseph Fleming, of Reedsville, has been here looking after the farm he recently bought from Hon. J. W. Kepler, and which he expects to occupy on April first.

The good old lady received many tokens of regard as well as telephone messages of congratulation. Before her marriage sixty-two years ago she was Mary Jane McWilliams, and was born and grew to womanhood in the vicinity of Meek's church.

An Unescapable Mandate.

One kind of mandate the people of the United States cannot escape, says Leslie's Weekly, is the mandate to feed the starving and clothe the naked of Armenia. In this sort of mandatory there are no possible complications. The Armenians are the most wonderful race of martyrs of which history has any record. At any time during the centuries of their persecutions they might have purchased immunity had they denied their faith. All the world has admired their loyalty, but America has responded with gifts of food, money and clothing. The Near East relief at 1 Madison avenue, New York city, is making a renewed appeal for both money and clothes at this time. The Near East depends largely upon the generosity of American hearts, Europe has now great needs of its own that little help can come at this time from European peoples. American response to Armenia's distress must not slacken. Meanwhile the Turk continues to exercise his historic role as slaughterer of these innocent people. If the Turk keeps on there will be no Armenians left to feed or clothe.

The appeal will be made for funds here in Centre county February 1st to 8th.

Wheat . . Cotton . . Copper

BECAUSE we have a large surplus for export, with no foreign market, three great American staples—Wheat, Cotton and Copper—are selling for less than the cost of production.

This means hard times for the farmer. Europe wants these staples, but has no money and no credit. We must help them by extending credit. Meanwhile the millions of hungry people there must be fed. Giving has ceased to be a mere matter of charity. It has become an economic necessity. If we are to have sustained prosperity here, we must help by giving through the various relief associations.

Will you help in this good work?
