

Bellefonte, Pa., March 4, 1921.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church will hold a bake sale at Olewine's hardware store each Saturday during March.

The Ladies Aid society of the United Evangelical church will hold a food sale at Sourbeck's all day tomorrow (Saturday). Your patronage is solicited.

James Davis, a colored man, of Pittsburgh, was electrocuted at the western penitentiary at Rockview on Monday morning for a murder committed early in 1920.

Alfred F. Showers has sold his home on east Curtin street, Bellefonte, and purchased a small farm near Unionville where he will move on April first and devote his time to chicken raising and truck farming.

Word has been received in Bellefonte of the serious illness of Miss Grace Cook, at Orlando, Florida, where she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cook, have been spending the after part of the winter.

If you are a fan on motion pictures bear in mind the fact that there is no better show in this section of the State than the Scenic. Good pictures are shown there every evening and manager Brown gets all the best ones. Watch the advance programs published in this paper every week.

The Business Men's association of Millheim held a big banquet on Tuesday evening as a sort of a celebration of what they believe is the dawn of a great industrial boom for that town and vicinity. Some fifty or more members and invited guests were present and the affair is heralded as one of great success.

March didn't come in like a roaring lion, neither was it very lamb-like, but we want to declare right here that we are off those old-time weather saws for good. The ground hog promised us six weeks of nice weather following February 2nd and we have had more real winter since that day than all the season prior to that.

Harry Alters and Scott Stover have purchased the grocery store of Sechler & Co., in the Bush house block and took charge of same on Tuesday, March first. This is the oldest grocery stand in Bellefonte, and with the requisite amount of hustle and careful attention to business there is no reason why the young men should not make a success of the business.

A delegation of the Bellefonte Lodge of Odd Fellows journeyed to the home of Henry Armagast near Hunter's Park, on Sunday and presented that gentleman with a badge testifying to the fact that he has been an honored member of that organization for fifty years. The Bellefonte Lodge now has five half century members, which is a remarkable record for any lodge.

Before adjourning court on Wednesday morning at the close of the February session Judge Quigley granted the thirteen liquor license applications; subject, however, to the Volstead act and any and all State laws. Of the thirteen applications only two are from Bellefonte, those for the Garman house and the Haag hotel, most of the number being from Philadelphia.

The Logan Fire company celebrated the fifty-first anniversary of its organization last Thursday evening with quite an elaborate banquet. Over seventy-five members and guests were present and it proved quite a memorable event. M. R. Johnson presided as toastmaster and brief responses were made by Judge Henry C. Quigley, Hon. Thomas Beaver, Dr. M. J. Locke, Roy Wilkinson and John J. Bower.

Miss Pearl MacDonald, of The Pennsylvania State College, will talk on "Food for Children," this (Friday) afternoon at three o'clock in the High school building. This talk is intended especially for parents or those having children in charge and all such should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the best authority on this important subject. Many children, in our public schools, are underweight and can be brought to normal only by proper food. Make an effort to hear Miss MacDonald this afternoon.

Methodist ministers throughout Pennsylvania are now getting their affairs in shape for the annual Central Pennsylvania M. E. conference which this year will be held in the Methodist church at Newberry, beginning March 16th. Bishop McDowell will preside and the usual questions of importance in church government will be disposed of. Naturally, the most important question with the ministers in the conference is that of the assignments of the ensuing year, but so far there has been no intimation of an unusual shake-up in this direction.

James E. Solt, for years a well known shoemaker in Bellefonte, closed his shop last week and on Sunday morning left for Williamsport to make his future home with his son Grover. While he had no definite plans matured it is just possible that he may open up a shop in that city and show the people down there some real, honest to goodness cobblering. Jim has been a resident of Bellefonte for many years and his friends here regret that he found it necessary to change his abode, especially for the reason that the powers that be might not appreciate just how good a Democrat he is.

COUNTY COURT CULLINGS.

How the Women Felt Over Doing Jury Duty.

The February term of court convened on Monday morning with Judge Quigley on the bench. The usual motions and petitions were presented after which the list of grand jurors was gone over. Mrs. C. W. Hunter, the only woman called to serve on the grand jury, took advantage of the court's offer to excuse her from duty and did not appear. E. J. Williams was appointed foreman of the grand jury. When the list of traverse jurors was gone over it was discovered that two out of the nine women summoned had availed themselves of the court's offer to excuse them and did not report for duty. The other women were all there and practically all of them served on one or more cases, some on two or three. Regarding their experience one of the lady jurors probably expressed the sentiment of all in the following statement to the "Watchman":

"The women who served as jurors wish to express their appreciation for the help and courtesies extended them by the Court.

"All felt that when they had been called to serve in that capacity that it was a civic duty they should take seriously and not shirk, for so long as women must be tried in our courts we should have women represented on the jury.

"Now that a fair opportunity has been given women to demonstrate their ability in this new field we do wish to encourage the policy of their occupying it.

"There is no question as to the qualification of women to serve as jurors. It is only just that women should have the right to enforce the laws which they help put upon the statute books, and each one should be a champion of equality and justice, and help exact from lawyers and judges a standard of courtesy and refinement which in some courts today has fallen shockingly low.

"Our experience was not disagreeable in any way. It was interesting and instructive, and all expressed their willingness to serve again at some future time."

After the list of civil cases had been gone over and most of them continued for various reasons the case of George L. Robinson vs. Isaac Heaton & Son, was taken up. It was an action in assumpsit to recover the difference on a coal contract. After the evidence was all in counsel for the defendant asked the court for binding instructions in favor of the defendant, which were given.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. the Supervisors of Potter township, indicted for failure to maintain the township roads, the indictment was quashed on motion of defendant's counsel.

Commonwealth vs. Peter Garmella, indicted for selling liquor without a license. This case was from Philadelphia and was the result of the defendant's selling Jamaica ginger, the Commonwealth alleging the ginger was sold for beverage purposes. At the close of Commonwealth's testimony counsel for defendant made a motion for the discharge of the defendant for the lack of incriminating evidence and the court so ordered.

Roxanna Knoff vs. Jerry Sowers, an appeal. Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $135.00, less $10.25.

The grand jury completed its work on Tuesday morning and in its report recommended a number of minor repairs to court house and jail.

Overstocked With Booze.

Bellefonte's depository for confiscated booze—the old wine vault in the cellar of the postoffice—is already somewhat overstocked and the Bellefonte attorney representing the federal enforcement commission has recommended either the destruction or removal of the wet goods. Aside from the stock of old wines and liquors confiscated from the Garman house, and which the government holds subject to a decision as to its legal ownership, and the forty gallons of grain alcohol captured from one of the illegal booze runners, about the safest way to dispose of the rest of it would be by the sewer route. The beer stored there is probably now in no condition for any use, even by parties authorized to handle the same, while as to the whiskey, there has been so much counterfeiting of the real article that it would hardly be safe to dispose of it either to hospitals or manufacturing chemists. But of course, the government agents will eventually dispose of it as they see fit, so there is not much use in offering suggestions.

High School Basketball.

For the second time this season Bellefonte registered a victory over Lock Haven. The game with their old rivals last week was a thriller from start to finish and the 25-22 victory was well deserved. The local boys seemed not a bit discouraged over the loss of two regulars, but displayed excellent spirit and team work.

The High school team will play its last regularly scheduled home game of the season with their greatest league rivals, Tyrone, in the armory this (Friday) evening. Tyrone now stands second in the league and will offer strong opposition. However, with Lock Haven victories to their credit, the local boys feel confident that they will take Tyrone into camp but at the same time realize they will have to deliver their best to accomplish the task. The game promises plenty of action and should draw a record breaking crowd.

The show given in the opera house last Thursday night under the name of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," proved to be only a "trail," as there was very little of the real thing to it, according to those who had the temerity to attend.

The principal question discussed at the regular meeting of the Bellefonte Business Men's association on Wednesday night was that of band concerts during the coming summer. The sentiment of the association was in favor of the concerts and the music committee was empowered to see what can be done in the way of securing financial support for the same.

Word was received here last Friday morning that a son had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Roberts, of Dayton, Ohio. It just happens that this wee feather from the wings of love that has fallen into the lap of motherhood makes the Hon. John Francis a grand-father, and while we most cordially felicitate such a happy event we cannot resist advising Mrs. Mae Francis Roberts that a certain distinguished gentleman for whose judgment we have the highest regard in every other respect will likely run amuck with all her plans for the proper training of this first grandson.

Last Saturday afternoon as the University of Buffalo basketball team was enroute to State College for a game with the State quintette they had a few minutes to spare in Tyrone and stepping up to a four wheeler baggage truck standing on the station platform they proceeded to while away the time by shooting crap. Capt. A. R. Barr, of the railroad police force, and sergeant Bowers, of the Middle division force, walked up to the college crap shooters and after watching a few fancy passes invited the eight young men to take a walk over to Squire Taylor's office and that gentleman calmly informed them that their pastime was worth just $3.25 each to the borough of Tyrone, which they paid, and this was probably one of the reasons why they were so overwhelmingly defeated by the Penn State passers. The experience of the Buffalo students should serve as a warning to others, never to engage in a crap game in Tyrone with officers in plain sight.

Chu Chin Chow.

The world's most beautiful production, "Chu Chin Chow," will have its first and only showing in Altoona at the Misher Theatre for the entire week of March 21st, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

No production in the past decade has attracted so much comment or elicited so much praise as the American production of the big Oscar Asche spectacle, which was made under the personal direction of F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest. It is the largest traveling organization on tour in America. Described as an animated spectacle of ancient Bagdad, with its story of a thousand and one nights, "Chu Chin Chow" is shown in fourteen complete scenes, employs the services of 300 people, has 867 costumes and 18 delightful musical numbers. The feast in the palace of Kasim Baba, the rich merchant of Bagdad, with its ballets, is said to be one of the greatest examples of consummate stage craft. In addition the blue hall, the slave mart, the bazaar at Bagdad, the rose terrace, the orchard in the moonlight, the robber's cave, and other richly vested settings are of such amazing beauty that the spectator is often spellbound.

"Chu Chin Chow" was originally written and produced by Oscar Asche, creator of "Kismet," at His Majesty's theatre, London, and for five years has amazed the world by continuous playing to capacity audiences.

During the Altoona engagement night performances are announced to start at 8 p. m. and matinees at 2 p. m.

Bowman Bro's Minstrels.

If you are sad—cheer up. If everything has gone wrong lately—take heart. There is an antidote for the blues, succor for the downhearted, succor for the wronged in sight. "The best of them all," The Bowman Bro's All Star Minstrels—by all odds the funniest minstrel entertainment ever presented—will be seen for the first time in Bellefonte at the opera house Tuesday, March 15th. And these are not the words of the press agent, but the consensus of opinion of the country at large. For years the Bowman Bros have been recognized as headliners on the "Big Time" vaudeville as worthy rivals of McIntyre and Heath, in the delineation of Southern negro comedy which guarantees a riot of laughter from start to finish. They have an olio as good as ever presented by any minstrel organization with themselves heading the bill; Georgie Hunter, "The Dixie Daffodil" rapid fire comedy, the great Orth, the "Tetrazzina of Minstrelsy," Matt J. Thompson as "Aunt Chloe" and her five Jimima's eccentric dancers. The Blue Grass Five Jazz Band, The Knickerbocker Four, comedy quartette; Whalen & Trainer, expert wooden and soft shoe dancers. The opening first part radiates with the glorious and sumptuous presentation "Roseland," in which melody and song predominate. The many and famous solo and ballad singers are supported by a large chorus, interspersed with rapid fire comedy from the comedians which rocks the walls with laughter and closes with a grand ensemble from the opera "Aida."

Annual Athletic Banquet at Bellefonte Academy.

The annual athletic banquet at the Bellefonte Academy was held in the Academy banquet hall last Friday evening from six until ten o'clock. Covers were laid for one hundred and twenty-five and a delicious menu was provided. Excellent music was furnished by the Louis Hill orchestra. Mrs. J. C. Hess played a beautiful instrumental solo of her own composition entitled "The Lark," which called forth a hearty encore.

Mr. James R. Hughes acted as toastmaster and conducted the most successful program of toasts ever offered at these banquets. The decorations of gold and blue were very attractive. The toasts interspersed with music, were as follows:

"Our Champions," William Ashbaugh.

"The Quintet," Stanley Smith.

"Great Things Ahead on the Diamond," Russell Roller.

"Things are Moving," Russell Phillips.

"Are We in it with the Best Preparatory Schools?" James Foreman.

"Watch Us on the Track," De Waters.

"Lessons from the Life of George Washington," Rev. Wilson P. Ard.

"School Days the Best," Richard Frauenheim.

"The Minstrels a School Feature," Boyd C. Parshall, Jr.

Presentation of athletic diplomas and letters, J. R. Hughes.

"The Gold and the Blue," Daniel Forry.

"Our Boys at College," Fred Stamm.

"What would We Do Without Them?" Louis Trax.

"What is Required of Us," Prof. George F. Reiter.

"Reminiscenses," Hon. Ellis L. Orvis.

"American Expansion Since 1897," Dr. A. E. Martin, of State College.

Dr. Sylvester Beach Honored.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Wistar Morris, of Overbrook, the "Watchman" has received a copy of The Parke, a paper published at Princeton, N. J., which contains an elaborate account of a reception given to Rev. Dr. Sylvester W. Beach by the First Presbyterian church of that city on the occasion of the fifteenth anniversary of his pastorate there. The item is of some interest in Bellefonte because of the fact that Dr. Beach spent one year in Bellefonte as an instructor at the Bellefonte Academy and his wife was a Bellefonte girl, Miss Orbison. As evidence of how greatly the Princeton church appreciates the ministerial efforts of Dr. Beach the congregation presented him with a purse and a silver loving cup filled with gold pieces.

Dr. Beach graduated at Princeton about 1876, was pastor of a church in Baltimore from 1880 to 1887, then went to Bridgeton, N. J., where he remained until 1901 when he went to Paris and worked in the student's quarter. Returning to the States in 1905 he was given a call by the Princeton church, which he accepted. During his fifteen year's labor there the church membership has increased from 421 to 674; he has been instrumental in raising for all purposes a total of $163,452. He has attended 252 funerals, delivered 1950 sermons and addresses and made 9000 pastoral calls.

Question 2—Why should window blinds be open out of school hours? Answer—Because light, especially sun light, has a destructive action against germs.

Question 3—What is the objection to the feather duster? Answer—The feather duster displaces dust but does not remove it.

About 1000 boards of health are functioning in Pennsylvania. Some are at work, some are loafing.

The next lesson entitled "The Board of Health" is about a determined woman, an obstinate man and a spineless Board of Health and illustrates the method by which the State Department of Health enforces health laws in municipalities where the boards of health are derelict of their duties.

Additional Honors for Dr. Armsby.

Dr. Henry Prentiss Armsby, director of the institute of animal nutrition at The Pennsylvania State College, was recently conferred with honorary membership in Gamma Delta Sigma, for "distinguished services to agriculture." Dr. Armsby, through his investigations with the animal respiration calorimeter at State College, the only plant of its kind in this country, has done more for agricultural interests in the country than any other man at the college. This is the third time within a year that Dr. Armsby has received recognition as a scientist. In that time he received the degree of Doctor of Science from Yale University and was elected a member of the National Academy of Science.

Mr. Hezekiah K. Hoy, celebrated his eighty-sixth anniversary on Monday at his home on Willowbank street with a home coming of all his children, and a few invited guests to share in the big dinner, which of course, was a feature.

A handsome bowknot pin was found this week in the W. C. T. U. room. Loser can get trace of same by inquiring at this office.

J. C. Condo, of Spring Mills, was a Bellefonte visitor on Wednesday and in renewing his subscription to the "Watchman" stated that he has been a reader of the paper for almost fifty years, starting to take it when he was twenty years old; the surprising thing to us being that he was so far along in life's pathway, as we have always looked upon him as a man still in the prime of life, and he looks it, too.

We hadn't seen our friend John P. Ishler, of State College, for eight or nine months, until Tuesday, when he was in town for a short time with his son. He isn't the familiar figure he once was on Bellefonte streets when he was farming up in the "Big Hollow," but he's just as affable and, we thought, a little more so than ever when he so heartily agreed with our remark that he had had a lovely winter. Then it leaked out that he lives on a corner at State College and has 250 feet of outside pavement and a winter without much snow to shovel surely is lovely to the proprietor of one-twenty-ninth of a mile of sidewalk that has to be kept clean.

Deputy warden Fred B. Healy, of the new western penitentiary, dropped in on us Monday morning to talk chicken for a minute or so. We have heard him talk "turkey" to recalcitrant players on the ball field, for he is a noted ump of the national game, but we didn't know he is a chicken fancier. It appears that he is, however, and we wouldn't like to tell you how many eggs one of his hens laid in a year for fear you might not know him to be the gentleman of truth and veracity as we do. But he has electric light in the coop and feels them, like so many others are doing now, into thinking the days are longer than they are and the silly chicken works over time for the same reason that she runs across the road just in front of your motor when there seems to be no reason in the world for such foolishness.

A Siamese Pig.

Donald Gettig came into town yesterday with a load of porkers for his father's meat market and brought with him a freak pig that had been still-born with a litter on the farm of Claude Hoy up near Shiloh.

The little animal was perfectly developed back to a short distance beyond its shoulders and there two bodies appeared with two extra front legs and four hind ones.

It gives the appearance of one little pig's head and neck having grown into the chest of the other, for beyond that they look like two fairly well formed pigs.
