Liquor Dealers Seeking to Make Joke of Constitution.

"The liquor question has ceased to be a question of personal desire and has become a question of obedience to law. If the future policy of liquor interests to evade prohibition by a nullification of the Constitution through a change in the definition of alcoholic liquors from one per cent. to as high as they can get it is sure, then the Constitution of the United States becomes a joke." So said Col. Dan Morgan Smith, who led the famous "Battalion of Death" in France, in an interview recently with a representative of the Troy, N. Y. Record.

Colonel Smith expressed himself in part as follows: "Prohibition must be enforced, and not because it is prohibition, but because it is law. As this government years ago set an example in abolishing slavery, so now should it set an example regarding prohibition, that the world may be free from the beverage use of a habit forming drug that has debauched mankind wherever it has been introduced."

"I place the purchaser of the liquor in the same category as the man who illegally sells it to him, a violator of the law of the country, and fit inhabitant of a jail or penitentiary."

"Alcoholism is no less a menace to the home, to good government, to law and order and to the permanency of American ideals, than was militarism."

"Soldiers fought, bled and died on the battlefields to uphold the Constitutions which guarantee liberty and freedom from oppression, and liquor dealers are seeking to make a joke of this sacred Constitution."

Clean Up!

Now let us give politics a rest, and rout and siege and sally, and gayly shed our coat and vest, and go and clean the alley. Let's gather up the dogs and cats which have this life departed, and let the cans and bricks and hats off to the dump be carted. In winter you may voice your views, which you believe important, and base long sermons on the news, but in the spring you ortn't. Then every able bodied man should whoop the "CLEAN UP" slogan, and chase the old tomato can, the cast-off hat and brogan. So let us clear our bulging brows of trifling thoughts and narrow, and gather up the old dead cows and work the rake and harrow. The rubbish left by careless men, and lazy human chesees, will bring a host of germs again, and they'll bring punk diseases. And forty billion flies will come, as many microbes bearing, and round our weary heads they'll hum, and keep us busy swearing. Clean up, clean up. On every block let all the workers rally. No man should stand around and talk until he's cleaned his alley!

—Cameron, Pike and Philadelphia counties are the only ones in Pennsylvania without Farm Bureau organizations at the present time. Elk, Montour and Fulton are the latest to join the ranks, and with Perry, will ask State College to supply county agents in the near future.

Clean Up Campaign.

As announced in last week's papers, this is Fly Week, the opening week of the clean-up campaign. This clean-up should include:

Removal of all rubbish, filth and trash from every household, school store, institution and vacant lot.

Stables and pig pens should be cleaned and sprinkled with borax or kerosene.

Cesspools should be cleaned, limed and screened.

Streets and gutters should be cleaned. Mosquito breeding places should be eliminated and oiled.

Clean out rats and their breeding places. Arrange for the summer care of garbage and plan for garbage dumps. Provide for protecting fruits and vegetables from flies.

The success of a fly campaign depends upon the destruction of breeding places. Flies breed in filth, therefore, filth should be removed. Ninety per cent. of house flies are bred in the manure of horse stables and hog pens. Manure should be removed twice a week during the fly season. Privies to which flies have access afford the double danger of offering a breeding place and focus for the spread of disease.

Rules and Regulations of Department of Health applicable to fly eradication and protection against fly dangers:

No firm, person, or corporation shall expose for sale on any sidewalk or pavement or other exposed place any fruit, vegetables or other articles of food which are eaten uncooked, unless such fruit, vegetables or other articles of food are thoroughly screened and protected from flies, and unless they are on elevated stands at least twenty-four inches above the level of the sidewalk or pavement.

No privy, cesspool or other receptacle for human excrement shall be constructed, maintained or used so that flies have or may have access to the excrementitious matter contained therein.

All privies, urinals, cesspools or other receptacles for human excrement shall be cleaned at sufficiently frequent intervals to prevent the contents from overflowing.

The transportation of human excrement shall be effected in watertight containers with tight fitting covers. Containers shall be thoroughly cleaned after each use.

No human excrement or material containing human excrement shall be placed on the surface of the ground or buried or otherwise disposed of where it is likely to gain access to any waters of the State, unless subjected to treatment by a method approved by the Commissioner of Health.

The contents of privies, cesspools or other receptacles for human excrement shall not be used on ground within the corporate limits of any city or borough or within 700 feet of any habitation unless subjected to treatment by a method approved by the Commissioner of Health.

No kitchen or laundry water shall be allowed to discharge or flow into any gutter, street, roadway or public place.

No garbage, offal, pomace, dead animals, decaying matter or organic waste substance of any kind shall be thrown or deposited in any ravine, ditch or gutter; on any street or highway; into any waters of the State or be permitted to remain exposed upon the surface of the ground.

Manure shall not be allowed to accumulate in any place where it can be prejudicially affect any source of drinking water or as a source of fly breeding may become a menace to public health.

No persons shall maintain or permit to be maintained any pond, privy vault, cesspool, well, cistern, rain barrel, or other receptacle containing water in such a condition that mosquitoes breeding therein may become a public nuisance.

From People You Know—From Bellefonte Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Bellefonte, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it.

E. J. Eckenroth, painter, Main St., says: "As every one knows, men who follow the painting business are troubled more or less with their kidneys.
