

Democratic Watchman

Bellefonte, Pa., June 17, 1921.

ALL ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Don't miss the circus. The first of the summer dances at Hecla park was held last evening. Cyril Zechman, of Boalsburg, has been elected teacher of mathematics in the Phillipsburg High school for the year 1921-'22. J. F. Roudabaugh, of Loganton, has been awarded the contract to carry the mail through Nittany valley at a yearly salary of $2,800. Rev. Clarence Adams, of State College, will fill the pulpit in the Bellefonte Presbyterian church on Sunday, both morning and evening. The Ladies Aid society of the Lutheran church will hold a social on the lawn at the church Saturday evening, June 18th. The public is invited. E. J. Williams has been appointed tax collector for State College to take the place of James M. Williams, resigned to become postmaster at that place. Don't fail to take a look at the conservation exhibits which will be open in the court house all of today. Everybody interested in outdoor life should see them. The Beatty Motor company announces some decided reductions in the prices of Ford cars and trucks in their advertisement on page seven of this issue of the "Watchman." Look them over. Col. Emanuel Noll has been housed up this week in his comfortable home on north Allegheny street as the result of an attack of illness, but his many friends hope to see him around again in a few days. Go to the court house this afternoon and hear how to preserve your forests and the game therein, and your streams and the fish therein. We must all learn to conserve and there is no better time than right now. The Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold an entertainment in the Sunday school room this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock. Speed the glad tidings and get your friends to attend. Admission, 15 cents. The "extensive storms and rains" that the almanac said we were to have this week failed to materialize. While nobody was especially anxious for the extensive storms, a nice, steady rain about this time would prove a general blessing all over the country. After two attempts to secure a pardon for Benny Lichtenstein, of Altoona, now serving a term in the western penitentiary, attorney Robert A. Henderson, of Altoona, has decided that Lichtenstein's record doesn't warrant any further attempt at this time; or at least until he has time to make a fuller investigation of his case. A court decision handed down recently divides the borough of State College into two voting precincts, the Eastern and Western. This will necessitate the appointing of an election judge for the Western precinct and two inspectors for the Eastern district. A registration assessor will also be appointed for the Western district. Having gone through the stress of the Academy fire and the final examinations of over one hundred students headmaster James R. Hughes is now taking a deserved relaxation and in the beginning of the week opened his camp near the Reese Settlement on the mountain where he and a party of nine or ten friends will spend two or three weeks. The Centre County Association of Philadelphia will hold its eighteenth annual picnic at Belmont mansion, Fairmount park, Philadelphia, tomorrow. The committee in charge has sent out rather catchy invitations for the event. Any Centre countians in Philadelphia, whether members of the association or not, are most welcome at this gathering. A special election will be held in Phillipsburg on July 14th to vote on the proposition of increasing the borough indebtedness $42,000 for street and highway improvements. The net public debt of Phillipsburg at the present time is $36,982.94, and the borough solicitor advised that the only legal way to increase it was by a vote of the tax-payers. Bellefonters would consider themselves fortunate if the borough debt here were not any more than that of Phillipsburg. Thursday of next week will be observed in Bellefonte as "bundle day," for the Armenian relief. Every one having clothing or anything that could be utilized by those working for these stricken people, is asked to take their contribution to the Evangelical church, the Episcopal parish house, or the Undine hose house. Each one of these receiving stations will be open all day and evening Thursday of next week. Make a bundle of your out-of-date or slightly worn clothes to send these people for the coming winter. Robin red breast is a nice bird and well protected, but there are quite a number of people in and near Bellefonte who just now wish there were not so many of them. As every body knows the cold weather early in the spring froze all the cherries with the exception of a stray tree here and there. But the frost might as well have frozen those, too, as the robins have cleaned every such tree down to the last cherry. And not content with taking the cherries, they have cleaned out a number of strawberry beds, as well.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

Held Interesting County Convention at Milesburg Last Week.

The campaign in the interest of larger attendance at Sunday schools that is now being waged throughout the State was endorsed by the Centre county Sabbath School Association in its fifty-second annual convention held in the Methodist church at Milesburg last week. Representatives were present from most every Sunday school in the county and the earnestness and enthusiasm displayed throughout the entire proceedings emphasized the fact that the workers have the interest of the children and youth of the county at heart.

The opening session in the Milesburg Methodist church at ten o'clock on Tuesday morning was presided over by the president, E. R. Hancock, B. D. Ackley and brother, of Philadelphia, conducted the music while the devotions were in charge of Rev. J. H. Bridgman. The address of welcome was delivered by H. B. Neff, interesting addresses were made by Rev. A. M. Lutton and H. B. Faulkner after which the president appointed as a committee on the nomination of officers for the ensuing year A. N. Corman, George Bixler, W. E. McWilliams, Miss Ella Ward and Mrs. A. M. Schmidt. H. B. Faulkner and John Crain were appointed auditors.

On Tuesday afternoon the convention divided into three distinct conferences, the primary division being held in the Methodist church in charge of Mrs. C. E. McGirk. The young people's division in the Presbyterian church in charge of George McMillen, and the adult division in the Baptist church in charge of Walter E. Myers, one of the state workers.

Tuesday evening at 6:45 o'clock there was a parade of Sunday school children to the Methodist church where Wetzler's band gave a half hour's concert. This was followed by a song service at 7:30 o'clock and by that time the crowd was so large that it was found necessary to hold an overflow meeting in the Presbyterian church, which was soon filled to the doors. Walter E. Myers and Mrs. John Y. Boyd, of Harrisburg, alternated in addressing both meetings and before adjournment a collection was taken up to help bear the expense of the county work.

Following the devotions at the Wednesday morning session W. A. Ridge talked on the monthly workers meetings, which was followed by a discussion and music. Hon. Ives L. Harvey then read a telegram of encouragement from Hon. John Wanamaker and upon motion the secretary was instructed to send a suitable reply to the prominent Philadelphian. After an address by Mr. Myers on graded instruction the committee on nominations recommended the election of officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, E. R. Hancock; vice president, A. M. Lutton; secretary, Darius Waite; treasurer, C. C. Shuey, all of whom were elected. A motion was passed that the officers elected in conjunction with the twelve district presidents should constitute the executive committee, and that said committee select the departmental superintendents.

The secretary was requested to supply a statement relative to the statistical reports giving the enrollment of the districts and county enrollment, the latter being 17,890 teachers and pupils. The question of raising the budget for the county work on the basis of ten cents per member was discussed. Envelopes were then circulated throughout the convention for the purpose of assistance in raising the budget, with the understanding that all those contributing one dollar would receive the Pennsylvania Herald one year. The auditing committee reported that they had examined the accounts of the treasurer and found them correct.

At the Wednesday afternoon session treasurer C. C. Shuey read his report which was approved and accepted. The question of the place for holding next year's convention was then taken up. Millheim people presented the only invitation and on motion it was decided to hold the 1922 convention there. A motion was also passed that in the future a registration fee would be required of all delegates to assist in their entertainment outside of lodging and breakfast, and that the amount of fee be decided by the executive committee.

A vote of thanks was extended the people of Milesburg for their courteous and open-hearted entertainment; also to Mr. Wetzler and his band for their delightful concert. Rev. L. T. Evans, George Bixler and Mrs. D. R. Foreman were appointed a committee to interview the newspaper people of the county relative to devoting more space to the Sunday schools and temperance cause. Miss Amanda Landes, sister of the state secretary, made a brief address and the session closed after a round table discussion conducted by Mr. Myers.

At the closing session Wednesday evening the officers for the ensuing year were installed by Hon. Ives L. Harvey. These included those named above and Mrs. C. E. McGirk, primary superintendent; Hugh Dale, young people's superintendent; S. W. Gramley, adult division superintendent; Lloyd Stover, home department superintendent; Mrs. Rachael Thomas, temperance superintendent; Mrs. R. S. Brouse, missionary superintendent, and A. C. Thompson, teacher training superintendent. After brief talks by Walter E. Myers and Miss Landes the chief address of the evening was made by Hon. B. F. Bungard, of Portage, Pa., on the Sunday school in the light of the Twentieth century progress. Rev. M. C. Piper followed in a short, spicy roundup of the work of the convention, and after the lifting of an offering the convention closed.

Flag day was celebrated Tuesday evening by the Bellefonte Lodge of Elks at their home on High street. The doors were thrown open to the public and a good sized crowd was present. A very interesting address on the flag was delivered by Rev. W. P. Ard.

President Harding on Tuesday appointed Hon. Cyrus E. Woods, Pennsylvania's Secretary of the Commonwealth, Ambassador to Spain. This will leave a vacancy in Governor Sprull's official family to be filled in the event of Mr. Woods' acceptance, which is considered as quite certain.

The great DuBarry, the famous paragon of Kings under the name "Passion," will be beautifully depicted at its production for two days (one show only each day, 8:15 p. m.) at the opera house June 23 and 24. Admission, 22 and 44 cents. A magnificent picture. Guaranteed to please. 24-1t

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather is hot the scenic is about as comfortable as any place in Bellefonte, and the interesting programs of motion pictures affords pleasant entertainment every evening during the week. Some very interesting pictures are down on the program for the coming week. Read the list as published elsewhere in this paper, then go every evening so as not to miss the good ones.

Everybody who is interested in the conservation of our natural resources should attend the big conservation meet in Bellefonte today. A good program has been arranged for this morning but the best part will probably be the conservation meeting in the court house at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The speakers will include, Hon. Seth Gordon, commissioner of game; Hon. N. R. Buller, commissioner of fish; R. F. Beatty, of Huntingdon county, and Grant Hoover, of Williamsport, but formerly of Bellefonte.

L. H. Wian, who has seen twenty years of service as Bellefonte manager for the Atlantic Refining company, has been placed on "Easy Street" so far as manual labor will be concerned in the future. A new truck and driver has been added to the company's equipment in this place and henceforth Mr. Wian will put in his time in the office and leave others to do the outside work. This must not be construed as meaning that Mr. Wian is playing out physically, because he is not. It simply shows that the company is rewarding faithful service by making it a little easier for him in the future.

Last Sunday afternoon James Morrison, Andrew Saylor and Ellis Hines started for Hecla park to take a swim in the lake. A half mile this side of Zion they heard the honking of a horn behind them and turned to the right to give the driver an opportunity to pass. The car swept by at a high rate of speed but the driver turned to the middle of the road too soon and caught the left front wheel of the car in which were the Bellefonte young men with the result that their car was thrown against an embankment and upset. The young men recognized the driver of the other car as Charles Workman, of Hecla, who failed to stop to see how bad the damage was to the other car. State police were notified and they arrested Workman, who was given a hearing before Justice Keichline on Monday evening and bound over for trial at the September term of court.

The Bellefonte Presbyterian church is again without a regular pastor, Dr. W. K. McKinney and wife having left on Tuesday for their new field of labor at Westfield, N. J. As a farewell gathering in honor of Dr. McKinney the men of the church gave a clam bake last Saturday afternoon at the Seig camp on Fishing creek, which proved an enjoyable occasion from an epicurean standpoint. Children's day services were held in the church on Sunday morning and Sunday evening Dr. McKinney preached as his last sermon to the Bellefonte congregation the same sermon he preached on his first appearance before the congregation over five years ago. He did not make of it a farewell sermon but at the conclusion of the services he took occasion to say a personal goodbye to many members of his congregation. While the people of Bellefonte generally, regardless of church affiliations, regretted Dr. McKinney's departure from Bellefonte they all wish him success in the future.

TO BORE FOR GAS AND OIL.

Options Taken on Thousands of Acres in Bald Eagle Valley.

A company is being formed in Bellefonte for the purpose of prospecting for gas and oil in Bald Eagle valley and options have already been secured on several thousand acres of land in the vicinity of Snow Shoe Intersection where the first hole will be put down. Robert Bradley, a former Bellefonte boy but who for a number of years has lived in Bradford, is the promoter, and has practically disposed of all available stock. He has also entered into a contract with a responsible driller to put down the first test hole and it is the intention to begin work in the near future.

A meeting of the purchasers of stock will likely be held within the next few days to organize the company and complete all necessary details for drilling test wells. Mr. Bradley, the promoter, evidently believes the indications are good for oil and gas in Bald Eagle valley and will be in personal charge of the prospecting work. At various periods in past years stories have come to the fore-front of indications of oil and gas in Bald Eagle valley but up to this time nobody has had the courage to make a test. But now there is every assurance that the company about to be organized, which will include some of the most prominent business men of Bellefonte, will carry the investigation through to a finish—either to the time when they strike oil or are convinced there is none in this section of the State.

Three Men Fined for Killing Deer Out of Season.

Stewart and Howard Ellenberger and Elmer Barto, all of Marengo, this county, were arrested the latter part of last week by game protector B. A. Benson, of Huntingdon county, on the charge of killing a deer out of season and the evidence presented at a hearing before justice of the peace E. K. Woomer, of Graysville, was of so conclusive a character that the men were each fined one hundred dollars and costs, which they paid.

Game protector Benson early last week got an inkling of the fact that a deer had been killed at a "lick" in the Barrens near Marengo on or about May 26th. With nothing more definite than a rumor to work on Benson started to run the story to earth and had little difficulty in finding the "lick," and continuing the search he soon found the head and the hide of a doe buried beneath some underbrush and leaves. He then went to the Stewart Ellenberger home where he found a small tub of venison in the cellar. At the Howard Ellenberger home he found venison in pickle in the smoke house and at the Barto home a piece of the venison was being cooked for dinner. With this evidence to go on Benson placed the three men under arrest and took them before "Squire Woomer who fined them each $100 and costs. The men got off easy at that, as they could have been fined $300 each, but upon their pledge to obey the game laws in the future the minimum fine was imposed. While neither of the men arrested admitted the killing Stewart Ellenberger said "it was a fine doe, and dressed 140 pounds."

Valuable Pocketbook Lost and Found.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week Mr. E. A. Schooley, an oil stock salesman stopping at the Bush house, made a motor trip to State College. In the neighborhood of the Shiloh church he had a tire puncture and naturally was obliged to fix it. When he returned to Bellefonte he discovered he had lost his pocketbook containing $160.00 in cash and two notes, one for $250.00 and one for $8,500.00. Naturally Mr. Schooley was a greatly worried man for a day or two, but on Friday he was notified by one of the Bellefonte banks that the pocketbook had been found and would be returned to him. It later developed that the book had been found in the road near the Shiloh church, where Mr. Schooley had changed tires on his automobile, by former county commissioner D. A. Grove. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Schooley was willing to pay a nice reward for the return of the pocketbook and contents Mr. Grove declined to take anything, as he considered it only an act of courtesy to return it intact.
