—Sheep will, as a rule, require shelter in very bad weather. Damp, cold weather is especially chilling to young lambs, and sheepmen always strive to have them sheltered. They will do well if given some green food in connection with roughage and grain.

Empty Pocketbooks

There are many empty pocketbooks in the country today. They are dismal objects. They mean privation, often suffering. Sometimes they cannot be avoided, but often they can. A bank account, that fosters the saving habit, is one of the best preventives. Even a small part of one's earnings deposited regularly will, in time, grow into a comfortable balance. Try it. The money you spent foolishly is gone, and nothing to show for it. How much better to have put it in bank.
