The gospel tent is filled every evening and considerable interest and enthusiasm in the meetings are being manifested by the people in that locality.

-A delegation of Clearfield county road enthusiasts told Highway Commissioner Lewis C. Sadler on Monday that that county had a fund practically two million dollars available for road purposes and asked the State to spend an equal amount in putting the roads of that county in good shape. Two million dollars is a lot of money and it is a perplexing question as to how our neighboring county managed to get it all together, but much as it is it will hardly suffice to put all its roads in good shape.

-Some person or persons either intentionally or unintentionally, wittingly or unwittingly, did some press agent work for Penn's cave on Sunday by the circulation of a report that a boatload of sightseers had been drowned in the lake in the cave when the boat capsized, and again on Monday with a sensational story that the cave had been blown up. Just how the cave had been blown up or what became of the water in it, was not included in the story, but as a matter of fact neither one of the reports were correct or had the least semblance of foundation. Inquiry revealed the fact that there was not even an accident of any kind at the cave.
