Items of Interest Dished Up for the Delectation of "Watchman" Readers by a Corps of Gifted Correspondents.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

Mrs. Louise Harpster spent Friday at State College on a shopping tour. The various rains we have had in this section recently have held back the seeding.

Mrs. Ruth Goss and little baby girl, of Tyrone, are visiting relatives in this section this week.

J. B. Stover, of Aaronburg, was in this section on the hunt of fresh cows last week but found them scarce.

B. F. Homan is having his barn equipped with copper lightning rods by J. C. Buchwalter, of Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Dale, of the Branch, were callers among relatives in town on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Harry N. Walker, of Milroy, spent part of last week visiting his father, A. S. Walker, on the Branch.

Will Kuhn is swinging the paint brush on the job of repainting the exterior of Samuel Everhart's home on the Branch.

Wade Herman is having his new home on Water street wired for electric conveniences. S. E. Ward is doing the work.

Mrs. Wilhelmina O'Bryan is ill at her home on Church street, and Edward Sellers is suffering with a nervous breakdown.

Mr. and Mrs. Haines, of Bellwood, spent Sunday with their old friend, Beckie Davis, at the C. H. Martz home on east Main street.

John Garner and daughter Julia and Mrs. Mary Neidigh motored to Bellefonte bright and early on Monday morning on a shopping tour.

J. W. Kepler, of Johnstown, spent Sunday with his family in this place. So far he manifests no uneasiness as to the fall of the Republican ax.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woods, and George 3rd, returned to their home in Pitscarr last Saturday after a week's visit at the Dr. G. H. Woods home.

J. Irvin Keller, one of Pittsburgh's up-to-date business men, is making his annual visit with his father, Squire Jacob Keller, on Main street.

After a six week's stay with relatives at Dalewood and State College, Mrs. Ella Reynolds returned to her home in Bellefonte Monday morning.

Farmer Charles Witmer, of the Branch, was taken to the Bellefonte hospital last week for an operation, and latest reports indicate his recovery.

W. Miles Walker, of Bellefonte, spent several days last week on his farm at Fairbrook looking after his big lime kiln, which will soon be put in blast.

Guy Rossman, who devotes considerable time to the growing of hogs, is erecting a new hog pen 16x42 feet in size. He is also constructing a new garage 16x20 feet.

We are glad to note the improvement in the condition of our old friend, J. H. Markle, who is now able to sit up, after undergoing a protracted spell of serious illness.

Miss Ida Harrison, who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Claire Dale, at Dalewood, and took in the Grange encampment, departed for her home in Wilkes-Barre on Monday.

A special prayer and song service was held by the Christian Endeavor league in the Lutheran church on Sunday evening. E. M. Auman was in charge and an interesting talk was made by Rev. A. M. Lutton.

Mrs. W. S. Ward, of Baileyville, with her invalid daughter Anna, are visiting the Ward sisters. Miss Anna has been an invalid for five years and as this is her first trip away from home in that time it is hoped that it will benefit her greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas motored in from their home at New Castle on Tuesday, bringing with them Mrs. G. W. Ward. Mr. Thomas is a son of the late William A. Thomas, of Milesburg, and he and his wife will visit friends in that place and at State College before returning home.

Rev. A. M. Lutton is busy making arrangements for the entertainment of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the Lutheran church which will open here October 3rd for a three day's session. About one hundred ministers and laymen will be in attendance. The Synod was held here seventeen years ago and proved a very interesting gathering.

W. F. Thompson and sister Elizabeth attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Frank Thompson, at Jacksonsville, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Thompson died at Buffalo, N. Y., last Saturday, after a long illness with rheumatism, aged 81 years. Her maiden name was Mary Hughes, and she was born in Nittany valley. She is survived by two sons, George and Frank.

The Ferguson township schools opened on Monday morning with a full corps of teachers, as follows:

Branch—Mary Burwell.

Kepler and Gatsburg schools closed.

Knows How it Feels Himself.

From the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

If King George is hard up, he should be able to appreciate how the ordinary man feels most of the time.

PLEASANT GAP.

Harry Noll, of Pittsburgh, is here on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Noll.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Fetterolf and Mrs. Maggie Raudenbush, took a run out to the Gap a few days ago, calling on a number of their friends.

There will be a shortage of winter apples. What few apples were on the trees are dropping off, so there will be few left for winter consumption.

Mr. T. E. Jodon and wife motored to Columbus, Ohio, last week, taking in the state fair. They report the Buckeye state fair as a great success; up-to-date in every particular.

Roy Barnes, son of Mrs. Robert Barnes, who has been visiting his mother for the past ten days, returned to his desk in Cleveland. Roy holds a responsible position as bookkeeper with an extensive automobile corporation in Cleveland and is making good.

John Herman and wife left for Philadelphia on Monday, after spending their vacation with his mother, and incidentally taking in the Granger picnic, never missing a roll call from start to finish. While John is greatly interested in his school studies in Philadelphia, he willingly admits that there is no place like home.

The canvass for tax collector of Spring township is becoming quite animated among the five candidates for the plum. One will be happy while four will be disappointed. The old saying of President Lincoln will in this instance be verified. "Too many horses for the stalls." Notwithstanding only one can be elected. However, all seem to be sanguine. Politics is a peculiar institution. Eager friends and advocates of their favorite are awaiting results.

Paul Keller, of Philadelphia, was an arrival at the Gap a few days ago. He joined his wife and two little daughters, who have been visiting friends here for the past few weeks.

As a matter of course, they took in the Granger's picnic. Paul was for a number of years a bookkeeper with the P. R. R. at Altoona and was transferred some four years ago to the Broad street offices of the P. R. R. His long service in the same capacity is an indication that his efforts are appreciated by his employers and that he is making good.

Our esteemed neighbor, Henry Heisey, was elated a few days ago when he inspected his sweet corn patch. He reported to his wife that they would have at least two bushels of sweet corn ready to dry in a few days. Mrs. Heisey went forth to the patch and agreed with Henry. She thought two bushels a low estimate. To their surprise Tuesday morning when they went out to pluck the ears, they found all had disappeared. Thieves here are growing bolder. They expect to land the intruder.

Perhaps you have noticed when you were in love, or had been invited to a picnic, or had a jolly lark in view, how difficult it was to write a note to the coal man, give the wash woman her orders or talk to a friend for five minutes without getting in a few words about your prospective happiness.

That's right; it is the talk about unpleasant things that makes the world as cold and dreary as it is. 'Twere heaven itself if every one would look upon and talk of the pleasant side of life. If you want to be happy and contented look upon the bright side of everything.

There are a number of young ladies in our vicinity who are suffering from laceration of the heart. In nearly all savage tribes lovers are put to tests to prove their sincerity. Some of these are severe and trying. The dusky brides of Morocco must be captured by their lovers after having been given a fair chance to escape. If the lover is not specially anxious to find her, he can easily scurry off in the wrong direction. She also has an opportunity to hide so effectually that it is almost impossible to find her. It often happens that a young man finds his girl in love, while he is only in fun. If he is tender hearted and does not want to make her miserable for a time, he marries her, and makes her miserable for all the time.

Our schools opened on Monday with an unusual attendance; every room from the high school to the primary is packed. Our high school enrolled thirty-three pupils on the opening day. All the old pupils responded and fifteen new ones. Prof. Shannon, who taught the school last session, was re-elected. The unexpected large attendance was no doubt occasioned on account of the very satisfactory work of the professor at the last term. That man is a master who uses, in the best proper means to good ends; who puts ideas into organizations; who yields with skill and power the complicated affairs of others; who subjects the wills of society to his own will; who can foresee the train of events that are coming through openings of events. Such an one is our professor. The patrons of the Pleasant Gap schools are highly pleased since they believe they have a most excellent and capable corps of teachers for our four schools.

Pleasant Gap had a distinguished guest the past week in the person of B. O. Webster. Some years ago he was the capable superintendent of our fish hatchery, but was side tracked, when he and his estimable wife, much to the regrets of our entire community, left for Wisconsin, where he was at once appointed superintendent of one of their fish hatcheries. Through strict attention to his new position his services were recognized by promotions from time to time until today he is state superintendent of fish hatcheries of Wisconsin, and commands the highest salary of any state official barring his excellency, the Governor.

Mr. Webster is a practical and successful organizer. The purity, sweetness and dignity of his character command the homage of all intelligent people familiar with his beautiful and charming ways, his leading intellectual faculty, his individuality giving him great power of observation, and the desire to acquire all kinds of practical knowledge from the outside world. His success in the main is due to his skill as an organizer and power as a disciplinarian. His fairness and integrity in dealing with his subordinates, and his unbending courage and force of will makes him a general favorite among his associates.

ORVISTON.

Mrs. Pearl Laverty, of Pittsburgh, is visiting her brother, Harry Marshall, at the Creek Side Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Deitz and children, Lulu and Korman, have been spending a few days with Mrs. Deitz's brother, John Korman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bixel and daughter, Mary Jeannette, and Mr. and Mrs. William Lucas and children, George and Celia, motored to Lock Haven Saturday, in the Lucas car, on business and pleasure bent.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ridge and son Kenneth, who have been spending a couple of weeks with their aunt, Mrs. Amelia Rickard, left for their home in Bellefonte Saturday. Mr. Ridge, however, returned to his work at the Centre Brick Co's office. Mrs. Ridge is a welcome visitor in our midst.

Mrs. Harry Herr, who has been visiting friends and relatives through the county, has returned to her own home nest. We certainly miss "our old side kicker" when she is gone, for she is a pleasant little woman. No one can quite fill her place in lodge, class, or home, when she goes away.

CASTORIA

Bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. In use for over thirty years, and The Kind You Have Always Bought.

John Lewis, cook and manager of the Centre brick boarding house, at the back camp, is suffering with a very sore foot, caused by putting a patent corn remover on one of his toes. Harry Marshall volunteered to go to his assistance and do his work until he is able to go about again, as he is unable to walk.
