Not a dull moment when you hear and see the preacher-artist, Frank Rines. There is only one in his class, that is Rines himself. A packed house is expected. Go early for a good seat. Methodist church Sunday, 7:30 p. m.

Miss Overton desires to call the attention of all women's organizations to the county conference to be held at Lemont Saturday, October 1st. A worthwhile program will be presented, so a large delegation is urged to be in attendance. Box luncheon.

The State Agricultural Department is again sending out its customary warning to farmers to avoid planting their wheat too early as a safeguard against the Hessian fly. While the warning is all right in its way it comes too late for those Centre county farmers who already have their wheat in the ground.

The women of the Presbyterian church will hold a series of food sales in the Variety shop on Allegheny street beginning Saturday, September 24th, and continuing every Saturday during the month of October. The sale will begin at three o'clock p. m., and bread, cakes, pies and all sorts of good things to eat will be on hand.

Manager T. Clayton Brown has cancelled all bookings of Fatty Arbuckle pictures but this does not mean that there will be any dearth of good pictures for the showing at the Scenic. Every program will be worth seeing, as all the pictures will be up-to-date and the offerings of the best film producers. The evenings are gradually growing longer and the Scenic is the one sure place of entertainment in Bellefonte, therefore, go to the Scenic.

The Penn State football team will play its opening game of the season with Lebanon Valley, on Beaver field, tomorrow. So far this season very little news of any consequence has leaked out from Coach Bezdak's camp and tomorrow's game will give State enthusiasts an opportunity to get a line-up on the new material available in building up this year's eleven. More than half of the players on last year's winning team were lost by graduation which will mean the developing of much new material. Tomorrow's game, therefore, will show what the prospects are.

On Tuesday morning as the Lewisburg train left the depot to go to the Y for turning the pony wheels of the locomotive jumped the track on the High street crossing and the driving wheels followed suit, but fortunately the tender clung to the rails and as the train had not gotten under any great speed it was brought to a stop before it got over the crossing. But the track just north of High street was badly bent and one or two plank on the crossing split. The shifting engine was requisitioned and pulled the locomotive back onto the track, none the worse of the derailing.

At a public sale on Tuesday afternoon Frank E. Naginey purchased the office building of the Superior Silica Brick company on High street for $7,850. The building in question was purchased several years ago by the Eastern Refractories company from Dr. W. W. Feidt, of Rochester, Minn., but formerly a practicing physician in Bellefonte, and through the various financial vicissitudes of the Eastern Refractories company it finally became the property of the Superior Silica Brick company, and as their offices have been removed from Bellefonte the building was sold.

A letter was received from Dr. Eloise Meek this week, from the U. S. S. S. Victoria, anchored off Nome, Alaska, where they were being held by a rough sea, waiting an opportunity to land. From there Dr. Meek has a fourteen day trip on the Yucon river before reaching Fairbanks, her destination. The Victoria sailed from Seattle on August 15th, on one of her last trips for this season, carrying north the Steffenson Arctic Exploring expedition. Water communication between Alaska and the States, which will end the first of October for this year, will not be resumed until spring.

The September meeting of the Woman's club will be held in the High school building on Monday, September 26th, at 7:30 p. m. The regular business meeting will be followed by a report of the national tuberculosis convention held in New York city in June. This will be presented by Miss Isabella Hill, who attended the convention. There will also be a fine musical program, consisting of selections rendered by an octette of women's voices and a mixed quartette. It is earnestly hoped that all members will evince their desire to be considered as active and interested by attending this, as well as all other meetings of the club.

SURPRISING RESULT OF TUESDAY'S PRIMARIES.

Burgess W. Harrison Walker Winner on Both Tickets and Herbert Auman Nominated for Tax Collector.

Tuesday's primaries had its surprises for many voters in Bellefonte, and as usual in such cases, the unexpected happened. W. Harrison Walker was nominated for another term of burgess on both the Republican and Democratic tickets notwithstanding the fight that was made against him on the grounds of dereliction of duty and in favor of J. Kennedy Johnston. Mr. Walker's plurality over Johnston on both tickets was 329. His nomination on both tickets naturally makes him the only candidate, or at least the only candidate whose name will be printed on the ballot at the election in November, and virtually assures his re-election.

Another surprise was the nomination of Herbert Auman as the candidate for tax collector on the Republican ticket in a field of five. While no one thought Mr. Auman a weak candidate by any means few of his most ardent supporters believed he would show the strength he did. While his plurality over Orin Kline, the next highest man, is only 17, it is amply sufficient. John Curtin ran a close third in the race. Mr. Auman will have as his opponent at the election John M. Keichline, who had 72 votes over Thaddeus Hamilton, on the Democratic ticket. The vote by wards on the offices of burgess and tax collector is as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Name, N. W., S. W., W. W. Lists candidates for Burgess and Tax Collectors with their vote counts.

The above two offices were the only ones in the borough on which there was a contest of any interest. Charles F. Cook and A. C. Mingle were nominated for school director on both tickets, and David A. Barrett was equally fortunate for the nomination for borough auditor.

In the North ward Benjamin Bradley and W. J. Emerick were nominated for borough council, Thomas Hazel got the nomination in the South ward and J. M. Cunningham and W. H. Brouse in the West ward.

The question of holding a constitutional convention was defeated in the borough by a vote of 574 to 411, and when the vote in the county is tabulated it will probably show a big majority against it. If the question is defeated in the State, which seems likely at this writing there will be little interest in the election of delegates to the constitutional convention, but just as a matter of record it might be said that in Bellefonte borough Woodward had 471, Mayo 243 and Miss Simmons 459, all on the Republican ticket. Miss Simmons also had 60 on the Democratic ticket.

It was ten o'clock Wednesday morning when the North ward election board completed their work of tallying their vote, making out their return papers, etc. The total vote cast in the ward was 665, which naturally made considerable work for the board. In the South ward 555 votes were cast.

Funeral of Elwood Brooks Largely Attended on Sunday.

The funeral of Elwood B. Brooks, one of the first Centre county soldiers to lose his life in the world war, was the most largely attended of any of the soldier boys who made the supreme sacrifice. The body, recently returned from France, arrived in Bellefonte last Tuesday and was held at the morgue of the F. E. Naginey undertaking establishment until the time of the funeral, which was Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. At that hour it was conveyed from the undertaking establishment to the Lutheran church on one of the gun trucks of the Boal Machine Gun troop.

Escorting the remains were the I. O. O. F. band, fifty-four members of the American Legion in command of Major H. L. Curtin, and Troop B. of Bellefonte, in command of Capt. W. Frederick Reynolds. The services at the church were in charge of Rev. W. P. Ard, and were very impressive. Many automobiles were required to convey those who followed the remains to their last resting place in the Advent cemetery, where hundreds of people had gathered to witness the services at the grave, which were in charge of the American Legion.

George Arney Instantly Killed by Automobile.

George Arney, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles A. Arney, of Niagara Falls, was struck by an automobile on Monday afternoon and killed instantly. A number of years ago Mr. and Mrs. Arney lived in Bellefonte, when Mr. Arney was superintendent of the old Bellefonte Electric company, the family originally living at Centre Hall. George was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arney and in addition to the grief stricken parents two sisters, Mary and Helen, survive. Arrangements for the funeral are not known at this writing.

The firebug in Warriorsmark valley was in evidence again on Monday evening when the barn on the Walter Crust farm was burned to the ground. All the livestock was saved but the year's crops and much farm machinery went up in smoke. The Crust farm was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stover and adjoins the Gates farm where both house and barn were burned down several weeks ago.

The bequest of $10,000 to The Pennsylvania State College by the will of the late John Hamilton, for many years treasurer of the College, was formally accepted at a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees at the College on Saturday. The will stipulated that one-half of the income of the fund is to be used for the moral welfare of the students through the agency of the Y. M. C. A. and the other half of the income is to be compounded with the principal until it totals the sum of $100,000.

Workmen began the job yesterday morning of tearing down the old steam heat and gas plant on Lamb street. The buildings in question were condemned by the borough officials some time ago but the exact owner of the plant and ground on which it is located has been a mooted question for some time, and even now, it is not certain who really owns the old plant. But it is evident that some one in authority has put men at work tearing it down. The heating plant was installed in 1882 and continued in operation until three years ago when the high price of coal and labor put the plant out of business and lying idle it has deteriorated into nothing but junk.

In fact, it has for some time been a menace to life and limb, and especially to the children attending the High school building. But what an opportunity the owners missed two weeks ago to get the building torn down cheap. If they had only given the word when that stolen whiskey was found there the thirsty crowd would have torn the plant upside down in their efforts to discover the last bottle.

County Conference of Tuberculosis Society.

Included in the Bellefonte district are the following townships: Benezet, Boggs, Burnside, Curtis, Halfmoon, Howard, Huston, Liberty, Marion, Patton, Snow Shoe, Spring, Taylor, Union, Walker, Worth, and it is hoped that delegates from these various townships will find it convenient to be present.

At State College, there will be an evening conference at 7:30 of the same day.

Penn State Girl Would Become Forest Ranger.

Even the story of fried rattle snakes as a part of the menu at the Penn State College forestry students' camp at Lamar last summer, first news of which was given in the columns of the "Watchman," has not deterred Miss Caroline B. Kessinger in her ambition to become a forester through her enrollment last week as the first woman to study that profession at Penn State.

Her fondness for all outdoor activities, and the pleasure she gains through roaming the Central Pennsylvania mountain forest reserves, prompted Miss Kessinger, whose residence is in State College borough, to join forces with the very popular forestry department at the college. An expert with rifle and gun, she likes nothing better than a mountain hike and shows as much familiarity with the nearby forest trails as most of the habitual men student hikers. The danger of forest ranging holds no fears for her, and one of her ambitions is to some day patrol a section of state forest preserve.

Three Young Men Had Lucky Escape in Auto Smash-up.

Frederick Daggett, Basil Mott and Robert Taylor, three young men of Bellefonte, had a wonderfully lucky escape from death or injury in a serious automobile smashup last Friday night. The three had taken a run down Nittany valley in the Daggett car and were on their way home shortly before twelve o'clock at night. Out at Hughes field Daggett evidently lost control of the steering wheel as the car ran to the right of the road and up the bank behind a large telephone pole. The pole was broken off and falling across the machine completely wrecked the top. A post in the wire fence along the Beaver farm was also broken off. The car, a six cylinder Studebaker, was so completely wrecked that it is nothing but junk. How the young men escaped with their lives, or at least very serious injuries, is inexplicable. Daggett suffered a slight injury on one leg and aside from a shaking up the other two were unhurt.

Friday seemed to have been an unlucky day for motorists. Early in the morning an umbrella mender and scissors grinder undertook to back his Ford car out of the Wion garage, missed the driveway and upset his car down over several steps onto the Allegheny street pavement. He was uninjured.

Between four and five o'clock on Friday evening a car from State College and one from Osceola Mills crashed together at the intersection of Allegheny and Bishop streets, both cars being considerably damaged. The car from Osceola Mills contained a bird dog in a crate fastened to the running board and the animal had one leg cut off and was so badly hurt it had to be killed. Of course both drivers blamed each other for the accident.

Saturday morning Earl Tibbens drove the Clevenstine bakery truck out to Pleasant Gap and just this side of the road to State College was run into by John Snyder, of State College, with his Buick car. The front end of the Clevenstine truck was badly damaged and the impact of the collision threw the Snyder car around against a telephone pole with the result that it was also badly wrecked. Neither of the drivers were hurt, however.

Booze Burglars Still on the Job in Bellefonte.

When federal agent Rudisill undertook to move the stock of confiscated booze from the cellar under the postoffice to the county jail, Wednesday evening of last week, he discovered that the cell doors in the jail were too small to admit a whiskey barrel, consequently the barrel stuff was allowed to remain in the postoffice cellar until further arrangements can be made for its disposition. There are nine barrels in the cellar, seven of them full of whiskey, one barrel about one-third full and a barrel of vinegar.

Some time Saturday night burglars again broke into the cellar and had broken the government seal on the bung of one of the barrels when they were evidently frightened away, as a close inspection showed none of the wet goods missing.

Various reports have been in circulation about Bellefonte that the bottled goods found at the old steam heating plant last week did not come from the postoffice cellar but were a portion of a truck load brought to Bellefonte by a professional bootlegger. Local authorities, however, assert that the whiskey had been taken from the postoffice cellar, and prove it by the fact that they had the serial numbers of the government stamps on the bottles and the whiskey recovered at the steam heating plant bore the same numbered stamps.

It is also the general belief that the robbing of the postoffice cellar was a home job, done by somebody in Bellefonte who knew conditions generally. This fact is also pretty well established by the attempt last Saturday night to get some of the barrel whiskey still stored there. It might also be added that the authorities have pretty well defined suspicions as to the identity of the booze burglars and arrests may be made at any time.

Band Concert Down Town Tonight.

Weather permitting the I. O. O. F. band will give a concert this (Friday) evening in front of the Bush house. While the band last week completed its engagement with the Business Men's association for regular weekly concerts during the summer season, members appreciate the fact that the people of Bellefonte and surrounding community enjoy hearing them play, and as none of the concerts this summer have been given down town they decided to give one this evening. Turn out and hear them.
