DOES IT REALLY PAY A MERCHANT TO ADVERTISE IN THE NEWSPAPER.

The country newspaper usually has a hard struggle for existence. It may be a live sheet, splendidly edited, but a lot of the local merchants feel that "everybody knows them" and it is not necessary to advertise, that they would do about the same business anyway. A merchant who has advertised will drop out and report his average business just as good. Considered on a "results within the week" basis few merchants get back in increased profit what they spend that particular week for advertising. The proprietor of a small newspaper is a busy man. Usually he gathers news, solicits subscriptions and advertising, sets type, makes up on his paper and handles the mailing list and does his own bookkeeping. He seldom has time to stop and explain to a merchant the difference between direct and indirect results to be had from advertising. This is the case with thousands of small weeklies and dailies.

The merchants referred to in a general way first, above all, fail to appreciate what it means to their community to spread the news abroad of its doings, of its achievements and of its opportunities for new settlers.

Every new family means at least $1,000 yearly spent in that community. Every merchant gets his share of this.

In supporting the newspaper by advertising, the merchant encourages enterprise on the part of the publisher, and the greater the publicity given the town and district the more rapid the growth.

The local newspaper is the chamber of commerce and publicity bureau combined. It should have the support of every one, to the end that the greatest amount of good may be accomplished.

Thousands of dollars' worth of free advertising is given every year to the community by the local newspaper. Every little thing is boosted, and people abroad begin to find out what a fine place your town is.

Only in advertising can the local newspaper find reward for its effort. The subscriptions do not more than pay for the cost of publishing and delivering the paper.

In supporting the paper by advertising, the merchant is contributing not only to his direct benefit, but to the future of the community.

A growing community means an enlarged field of business. The advertising you do helps the newspaper to grow and as the town grows your business will grow—if you advertise sufficiently to attract the new settlers to your place of business.

A town is usually judged by its newspaper. Make your newspaper a real advertisement and recommendation of your town as a good place to live.—Ex.

MOON NEVER LIES

SAYS THIS PROPHET.

Many times during the past few weeks farmers have stepped to the fore with prophecies of an "exceptionally hard winter," basing their remarks, in most instances, on the nut gathering activities of squirrels and the intense heat of the summer just passed, which, these wise men claim, is an unfailing portent of heavy weather to come.

Addison Brooks, a farmer of Erie county, "The Little Prophet," as he is known to soil-tilling neighbors for miles around his spacious farm, smiled genially through the haze of blue smoke which mounted from the bowl of a corn cob pipe, and stated that the weather for the next five months, according to his findings, will be featured by its mildness.

"I have been a farmer for the past forty years," said Mr. Brooks, "a successful farmer, I might say, and never during that time have I guided my policy in planting or protecting crops according to squirrels burying more nuts than usual, the leaves turning yellow and falling prematurely, or any of the other so-called sure trouble signs.

"The moon and the stars, according to my belief, are the only true reflectors of coming changes in the natural elements, and the farmer who is successful on a large scale, usually becomes something of an amateur astronomer.

"There is no way for a man to know how many nuts a squirrel buries prior to a winter season. An early frost often drives the sap from the limbs and loosens the leaves, even on the eve of the mildest of winters. But the moon never lies.

"In the autumn, when the moon is ringed with a white, filmy vapor on a series of fair nights, I make predictions of a hard winter.

MEDICAL.

That Dull Aching

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and aching backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor. Read this statement:

Mrs. Christ Young, north Thomas St., Bellefonte, says: "I suffered with a dull pain in the small of my back and my back was always sore and when I bent I could hardly get up again. I didn't feel able to do any house work. I had a dull, drowsy feeling and mornings I could hardly dress. I was troubled with dizzy spells and my kidneys acted irregularly. I read where Doan's Kidney Pills had helped many people so I decided to try them. The first box I got at the Green Pharmacy cured me and it has been about three years since I had any trouble with my kidneys.

After four years, Mrs. Young said: "I am very glad to confirm my former endorsement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I have had no kidney trouble since and am now well."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Young had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

arations for the safeguarding of crops and look for bad weather, because this is an absolute sign of trouble."

LEMONT.

Potatoes are selling at $1.25 per bushel this fall.

Elmer W. Evey came home from Philipsburg last week, very ill.

John R. Williams spent Sunday at the home of his son, G. Williams.

Rev. William Wagner, the Lutheran minister, preached at Shiloh Sunday.

Nellie Shuey, who is teaching in Ferguson township, came home Sunday.

The fine weather is giving the farmers plenty of time to store their good corn crop.

B. F. Hoy, who has been in the Bellefonte hospital several weeks, is slowly improving.

William Hoy, of Ohio, came in Saturday to see his parents, who have been ill for some time.

Carl Williams, a young son of James C. Williams, who was away for treatment for rheumatism, came home Saturday.

Robert C. Jackson, who went to Lewistown several weeks ago to see his daughter, who was quite ill, is reported very ill himself.

A Floating Company.

A city business man was very keen on having proficient clerks in his employ. Before a clerk could enter his office he was required to pass a written examination on his knowledge of business.

At one examination one of the questions was: "Who formed the first company?"

A certain bright youth was a little puzzled at this, but was not to be floored. He wrote:

"Noah successfully floated a company while the rest of the world was in liquidation."

He passed.—London Answers.

Order Forest Trees Early.

The season just passed was very unusual and very hard on young trees that were planted in woodlots and farm waste land last spring. There is an average of thirty-five per cent. loss, but in spite of this, present indications are that the number of farmers who will plant trees to make new woodlots next spring will be double what it has ever been before, according to county agent J. N. Robinson.

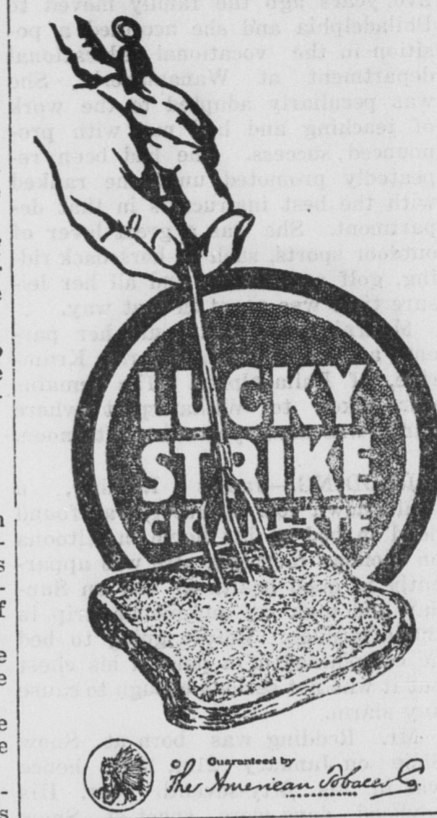

State College is sending Prof. C. R. Anderson throughout the State as its specialist in forestry extension work, and he has informed the county agent that many requests for seedlings have been received and forwarded to the State Department of Forestry.

Farmers are ordering trees in amounts from 200 to 22,000 and in several counties campaigns will be put on to have farmers begin planting their idle lands next spring. It is not advisable to plant trees in the fall as frost is likely to heave them out of the ground. Orders for spring plantings should be ordered now.
