DOES YOUR INCOME

REQUIRE A TAX RETURN? The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue David W. Philips, the 12th District of Pennsylvania Now that the time for filing income tax returns has arrived, January 1st to March 15th, 1922, tax payers are advised to lose no time in the compilation of their accounts for the year 1921. A new and important provision of the Revenue Act of 1921 is that every person whose gross income for 1921 was $5,000 or over shall file a return regardless of the amount of net income upon which the tax is assessed. Returns are required of every single person whose net income was $1,000 or over and every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $2,000 or over. Widows and widowers and persons separated or divorced from husband or wife are regarded as single persons.

Net income is gross income, less certain deductions for business expenses, losses, taxes, etc. Gross income includes practically all income received by the tax payer during the year; in the case of the wage earner, salaries, wages, bonuses and commissions; in the case of professional men, all amounts received for professional services; in the case of farmers, all profits from the sale of farm products, and rental or sale of land.

In the making of an income tax return for the year 1921, every taxpayer should present to himself the following questions:

What were your profits from your business, trade, profession or voca-Did you receive any interest on bank deposits? Have you any property from which you received rent?

Did you receive any income in the form of dividend or interest from stocks or bonds? Did you receive any bonuses during the year?

Did you make any profit on the sale of stocks, bonds, or other property, real or personal?

Did you act as a broker in any transaction from which you received commissions? Are you interested in any partner-ship or other firm from which you received any income? Have you any income from royal-ties or patents?

Have you any minor children who Do you appropriate, or have the right to appropriate, the earnings of such children? If so, the amount must be included in the return of in-

Has your wife any income from any source whatsoever? If so it must be included in your return or reported in a separate return of income.

Did you receive any directors' fees or trustees' fees in the course of the society from which you receive in-

Answers to all of these questions are necessary to determine whether a person has an income sufficiently large to require that a return be filed, and may be the means of avoiding the heavy penalties imposed for failure to do so within the time prescribed.

REMOVAL OF WAR TAX ON EX-PRESS SHIPMENTS WILL BENEFIT THE PUBLIC.

The public will save approximately $1,500,000 a month as a result of the elimination of the war tax on express shipments, according to George C. Taylor, president of the American Railway Express company.

The "Revenue Act of 1921" eliminates the war tax of one cent on every twenty cents and fraction thereof in transportation charges on all express shipments. This tax during the year of 1920 amounted to $17,502,918. The average transportation charge for each express shipment was approximately $1.50 and the average war tax for each shipment was eight cents. The elimination of the tax, therefore, Mr. Taylor states, will virtually amount to a decrease in rates of a little over five per cent. Mr. Taylor believes that this should have a tendency to stimulate business and thereby accelerate the rapidly improving conditions throughout the entire country.

"The American Railway Express company handles approximately one million shipments a day or nearly four hundred million shipments a year,' Mr. Taylor goes on to say. "The elimination of the tax will relieve the American Railway Express company of an immense amount of labor which has been involved in calculating, entering on waybills and collection of tax, not to mention the expense of checking and accounting entailed.

"The Treasury Department has requested express carriers to advise all claimants who have claims pending, for overcharges, or who file such claims after December 31, 1921, that claims for refund of tax should be filed separately on Treasury Department Form No. 46, with the Commission of Internal Revenue within your years from the time tax was paid, claim being barred by statute of lim-itations if received after such time."

Animals' Rights Centenary.

One hundred years ago next June was passed the first Act of Parliament recognizing the legal rights of animals. The passing of this Act, which is known as Martin's Act, will be celebrated in England by an important public demonstration on the occasion of its centenary. A large number of humanitarian and animal protection societies are combining to carry out the work .- Our Dumb Animals

FARMS FOR HOME USE.

Though the home-curing of pork is an old practice, it now seems to be an almost forgotten art on many farms. It nearly went out of style, but as hunting. The figures, however, do many styles return to popularity so not include about 250,000 black-birds is this one coming back. Many hogs though they meet the inevitable fate, the guests of honor at their homes on butchering day. To revive the custom the United States Department of Agriculture has published Farmer, Bulletin 1186 (17) riculture has published Farmers' Bulletin 1186, "Pork on the Farm— Killing, Curing, and Canning," which tells how to butcher a hog properly, and contain the best of the old and some of the new and important methods and formulas for curing and canning the meat. The following suggestions on killing and curing the meat are given in this bulletin:

Cleanliness is a very important factor in butchering and in curing meats. Meat very easily becomes tainted.

Save all trimmings of meat for sausage. There are many ways of converting such trimming into a palata-All soiled fat, trimmings, and skin should be rendered and the product used to make soap. Bones should be crushed or ground for chicken feed. Never put meat into cure until the animal heat is out of it. Always pack meat with the skin side down when in the curing process, except the top layer in a brine cure, Keep close watch of the brine; if it becomes "ropy," change it.

Do not forget to turn or repack meat several times during the curing which should be turned flesh

The fat of dry-cured hams some times becomes yellow, but that does not make it unwholesome. Bacon becomes rancid more quickly than hams. It takes longer to smoke dry-cured than brine-cured pork. Slow smoking is much better than rapid smoking, and less dripping of the fat results. If meat becomes mouldy, brush it with a stiff brush and trim the mouldy parts with a knife. Good ventilation retards mould development. Be sure that meat, after smoking it, is thoroughly cool before it is sack-

The seasoning of sausage is generally governed by taste. Fresh sausage can be kept under a covering of lard for a number of days.

THE TRUSTY SHEEP DOGS.

The sheep dogs of Scotland are guides and defenders not only of the sheep flocks, but also the children of the crofters. Were it not for these shaggy, intelligent fellows, born shepherds of the weak and defenseless, it would be unsafe for the children to go far from the lonely and isolated crofts in the outlying districts. The schools are far distant and it is a long, rough journey across the moor from home to school and back again. And so the sheep dog goes along with them and safely conducts them to and fro. Moreover, he must carry the books for them, for the little folk would be unequal to the task of carrying any extra weight in the long tramp. Over the dog's back the books are slung and no one need worry for the safety of the children or their belongings. The sheep dog knows his duty and is proud and eager to do it.

The rural libraries established by the Carnegie Trust, are also using the dogs in distributing books among the homes of the crofters. In fact, it would scarcely be possible for the inhabitants whose crofts are so far from the library centers to share in this great Carnegie beneficence, were there not the sheep dogs to act as librarians. Good literature for the elders as well as the children is dispatched and returned on the sturdy backs of these reliable dogs .- Our Dumb Ani-

SHE IS "FULL OF PEP"

She is Good-Looking and Gay and is Always Ready for a Good Time.

Why is a girl popular? Look around and see what a good time the good-looking ones have all the time. Men seek them out and ask them to parties, dances and entertainments And notice that it is not the doll-face type real men like most, but the red-blooded girl with "pep" and happy good nature. All of us have played with building blocks when we were little. Why not extend and elaborate the idea by the construction of miniature cities in the Too large scale an affair? Warren M. Rasely, of Worcester, Mass., does not think so. His idea is to furnish a good sized toy box filled with blocks, each one of which represents a building, the problem offered to the child being to put them together in such wise as to compose a miniature city.

Each such box would contain blocks for a particular city—let us say Boston. They would in that case represent the principal buildings of the modern Athens; the State House, Old South Church, Faneuil Hall, Quincy Market, the Public Library and other well known structures. If it were a Philadelphia box the great municipal Louis, Mo. building and Independence Hall would of course be in it.

In any case the box would also contain a sort of ground plan of the city —not attempting to represent it as a whole, but in part sufficiently well to enable the child to arrange the miniature buildings in a way that would somewhat approach the actual topographic relation of the originals.

Much effort is devoted to teaching children about the large civic centers of the country, yet no adequate means has been furnished for presenting to their minds a definite understanding of the appearance and architectural characteristics of these cities—unless perchance they have an opportunity to visit them.

It is this want that is sought to be supplied by the building blocks here described. They are meant to be educational. Assembled properly, they give a notion of what the city looks like-particularly as regards its principal features, which, after all, are what a visitor notes and remembers. THEY SAY He sees little or nothing of the minor streets and shabby neighborhoods.

A suggestion offered by the inventor is that the larger buildings represented by the blocks might be made in sections so as to be put together or taken apart. Thus, for instance, a church steeple or the roof of a market house might be removable.

VELVET JOE'S 1922

ALMANAC IS READY.

Over two hundred interesting and nighly informative statements and tables are contained in the 1922 Almanac published by "Velvet Joe" the good-natured philosophical friend of the pipe smoker.

The reader finds all sorts of useful information. Helps and economies for the automobile owner, especially prepared by a leading authority, important government information about crops, valuable information on rare coins, some particularly valuable in-formation about Liberty bonds and 67-3 the dates on which coupons are due.

Disabled veterans, and every one interested in them will find a special official message from the American Red Cross. It tells how to secure compensation and medical service, the best procedure to follow in obtaining help for the veteran's family and how to secure the vocational training to which disabled soldiers are entitled. And it explains how the Red Cross assists in looking after Liberty bonds, back pay bonus claims, loss of baggage, etc. It offers to keep disabled veterans posted on such new laws as may be of advantage to them.

Eentertainment is blended with usefulness. The Almanac describes the telling of fortunes by the signs of the zodiac and gives a diagram and in-structions for reading the character and future from the hand. Even home games—with playing directions -offer a means to make many a stor-

A Talk With a Bellefomte Man

Mr. James H. Rine, of 239 High St., Tells His Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Bellefonte man: "My back was in such a weak condition, I couldn't put my shoes on and could hardly drag myself around," says Mr. Rine. "I had very severe pains all through my back and limbs. I used Doan's Kidney Pills for these troubles and they cured me. Others to whom I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills were cured of backache by this remedy.'

Over three years later, Mr. Rine added: "It was ten years ago I first used Doan's and I haven't been troubled since. I recommend Doan's whenever I hear any one complaining of backache or kidney weakness."
