The Woman's Guild, of St. John's Episcopal church will have a sale of home-made cakes and breads, and other good things, in the parish house on Saturday, February 25th, at 2 o'clock.

Grain dealers up in Ferguson township have this week been paying $1.25 a bushel for wheat. J. D. Neidigh on Wednesday loaded two cars of wheat at Pennsylvania Furnace for which he paid the above price.

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold a dance in the armory this (Friday) evening, at nine o'clock. Music will be furnished by the Academy orchestra. Admission, 75 cents. Everybody welcome.

The bake sale held last week by the ladies of the Reformed church, at Runkle's drug store, was so much of a success that they will hold another sale Saturday morning of this week in the store room of the Bellefonte Hardware Co.

Word was received this week from New York that the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. McMillan, in that city, were burglarized on Monday night while the McMillans were at the theatre. Jewelry and clothing constituted the loot taken.

Over two hundred and fifty persons attended the Washington birthday social function at the Elks home on Wednesday evening. Hill's orchestra furnished the music and the main diversions were dancing and cards. Refreshments were served.

Dr. Homer W. Tope, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, will lecture in the court house this (Friday) evening, at 7:45 o'clock, on "Turning the Tide." Dr. Tope is endorsed by W. J. Bryan and Sam Small, and Bellefonters are invited to turn out and hear him.

St. John's boys' club will hold a minstrel show in the parish house, Monday and Tuesday of next week at 8 p. m. Tickets are 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, and may be secured from boys who are members of the club. The seating capacity is limited and the tickets are going very rapidly.

Winter is fast forging to a close but the scenic is still showing good pictures at the same old place. The motion picture is perhaps the greatest source of entertainment in the country today and manager T. Clayton Brown keeps the scenic right up in the forefront in quality of pictures and late releases.

Bellefonters have had no reason to kick for the lack of entertainment this week. On Monday night "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was in evidence. Tuesday night there was "Biz Biz" at the opera house and the Democratic love-feast at the Brockerhoff house. Wednesday evening the Elks entertained and last night the business men banqueted at the Bush house. This evening the Catholic Daughters of America will hold a dance in the armory and Dr. Tope will lecture in the court house.

The several hundred persons who were at the opera house on Tuesday evening to see the "Image of Biz Biz," as rendered by the High school glee club, were impressed with the fact that considerable talent was displayed by all of the young actors and actresses. Notwithstanding the fact that the cast was unusually large every one in it had been so completely drilled by Mrs. Krader that the parts were all carried off smoothly and in a most pleasing manner. Something over two hundred dollars were realized as the result of the entertainment.

Miss Helen M. Saward, instructor in the Industrial and Fine Arts department of State College, will be the speaker of the evening at the February meeting of the Woman's club, to be held in the director's room of the High school building Monday evening. Miss Saward's talk will be on the use of the applied art in textile decoration, especially with reference to technique employed in Batik work and block printing. Her illustrations and the samples of work which she will exhibit will be most interesting. The public is very cordially invited to hear Miss Saward, who will begin her talk at 8:30, immediately following the business meeting of the club.

BIG DEMOCRATIC GATHERING.

Members of Party Throughout the County Eat, Talk and Are Hopeful.

A new order of things, so far as the Centre county Democracy is concerned, was launched in Bellefonte Tuesday night. The occasion was a dinner suggested, arranged and carried through by some of the younger men of the party in co-operation with a committee composed of still younger members than they—the ladies. It was probably the first political gathering of any sort held within the confines of Old Centre at which even the keen nostrils of "Pussey foot" Johnson, the pioneer rum-smelling sleuth of Oklahoma, might have sniffed in vain for the scent of liquor. Unique as it was in this respect it was more so in the total absence of the brass-band, blow-hard, claim all, concede nothing brand of politics. In reality it was a gathering of ladies and gentlemen from all parts of Centre county really serious in their desire to revive the old agency through which they have hope of dragging the county, State and nation out of the slough of despair into which they have fallen. The attendance, both in numbers and earnestness, exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine. It was well that many of the roads leading to the county seat were well nigh impassable for, as it was, the seating capacity of the Brockerhoff hotel dining room, where the dinner was served, was taxed to capacity and some who could not be served were content to simply sit, see and listen.

The dinner had been set for seven-thirty and long before that time the lobby of the hotel was crowded with Democrats, old war horses of the party and youngsters learning their first lessons in the duties which affiliation with it impose. The time passed all too soon for, while the doors of the dining room were not opened until eight there were so many old friends to greet and so many new ones to meet that almost we wished that there would be no dinner at all.

At eight, however, the Odd Fellows orchestra struck up a march and the procession started. It was not long until all those who cared to dine had found their places, the committee in charge having deftly kept the sheep and the goats from flocking too closely together. The menu was not elaborate. It was only a dollar dinner, but all the way through—soup, roast chicken, vegetables, salad, ice cream, coffee and cake—it was palatably prepared and nicely served. To us it seemed more like a congenial family dinner than a formal political function. Frequently we scanned the tables and not once did we detect a bored look on the face of any who was seated at them. An hour and a half passed so pleasantly that most were surprised when John Blanchard Esq., who acted as toastmaster, called for attention and delivered what in the old convention days we would have called the key-note speech. He had little difficulty in expressing the purpose and spirit of the meeting. The latter, at least, would have been apparent to the most obtuse loiterer about the place. He announced that the speaking program would be confined to those from a distance who had responded to the committee's invitation, and to only a few from other parts of the county, thus peremptorily and happily plugging any Bellefonter spouts that might have been moved to flow.

Mrs. Robert Fleming Allen, of Williamsport, was the first speaker. She needed no introduction here, for she put herself on a pedestal, so far as Centre county Democracy is concerned, when she spoke in the court house in the campaign two years ago. The overwhelming defeat of her party then has cooled none of Mrs. Allen's enthusiasms, shattered none of her hopes or lost any of her charm. She was followed by Charles Foster, of State College, who talked more truth than poetry. Having lived in the days when Democrats were Democrats and did things for principle, rather than for personal gain, he just naturally wanted to know why there isn't the same spirit now, then answered his own question by stating that the Democrat of today is not careful enough about the kind of political literature he reads.

Randall Miller, the young banker of Millheim, spoke for the Gibraltar of Centre's Democracy. And he spoke well. It is our opinion that his reminiscence story of the State-Harvard football tie brought out the point, and the only one, that points the way to reascendancy of Democracy: Not merely to work hard, but to work harder than our opposition.

Mrs. Frank Fisher, of Centre Hall, chairman of the women's wing of the party, calm, confident and sincere, appealed especially to the new voters to take their franchise seriously. To be active and constructive in this public service so that it might never be said that the enfranchisement of women had brought nothing to the cause of good government.

When Mrs. Fisher had concluded Mr. Blanchard introduced J. Frank Snyder Esq., of Clearfield. Mr. Snyder has been active in politics in Pennsylvania for many years. Being in both our senatorial and congressional districts he has first hand knowledge of just what we have been and done for a long time. He urged harmony and cohesion in the party ranks as being peculiarly requisite, at this time, for victory in the congressional and state elections next fall. Truly did he say that there are more than mere signs of revolt against the burden of taxation imposed upon the people of this Commonwealth by an arrogant machine that uses money for its own purposes, while schools and hospitals of the State are closing their doors for want of it. He said: "The Republican machine no longer asks the people whom they would have to fill the public offices, but it hurries away to San Lucie, Florida, and there dictates the nominations and the people have no choice in the matter other than what has been offered by one of the machine's most notorious creations: "to move to some other State if we don't like it."

Mr. Snyder seemed to sense the spirit and voice the thoughts of that intensely earnest gathering when he said: "If the Democratic party simply seek the offices and have no higher purpose, no great good could be accomplished by a victory at the polls in November. If, however, the party stands untiedly for the principles of good government and its candidates, if elected, treat public office as a public trust, then we will have what is most to be desired, a change here in Pennsylvania. And we will have that change if we nominate men who are above suspicion and can inspire the confidence of the thousands of Republicans who are waiting for us to act, hoping that through the medium of our party and its candidates they can lift their beloved Pennsylvania out of the shadow which has been cast over it by the corrupt and arrogant machine that has arrogated to itself the unholy privilege of being master of their party."

It was after eleven when Mr. Snyder concluded his splendid address. We regret that we have been unable to get all of it in type for those who were not able to hear the spoken word. Suffice it to say that its spirit will be carried to all points of the county and help much in the effort Centre county must surely be going to make to correct the evils of government.

In conclusion a vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Allen, Mr. Snyder, the committee of ladies and gentlemen in charge of the dinner and the toastmaster, Mr. Blanchard, was authorized to send the following letter to the man in whose ideals the Democrats of Centre county see the only hope of making the world a better place in which to live.

Bellefonte, Pa., February 22, 1922. Hon. Woodrow Wilson, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—A large and very successful dinner of Democrats of Centre county, Pennsylvania, attended by representative men and women, was held here last evening. The purpose of the meeting was, to foster a spirit of united and effective action throughout Centre county at the approaching primaries and in the next campaign. In furtherance of the desire to place the Democratic party on a high and broad plane of enlightened public service in County, State and Nation. The outstanding features of the meeting were, a hearty appreciation of your distinguished services as President of the United States throughout your two terms, both in peace and in war; and particularly our appreciation of your unqualified and unimpeachable accomplishments, resulting in the inestimable benefits to America and the World in the establishment of the League of Nations. There was also the warmest sympathy for you in the loss of your health through your untiring efforts—a service as self-sacrificing and as patriotic as that of any soldier who lost his health or his life in the trenches; and joined with this sympathy was the earnest hope that your health will continue to improve and that ultimately you will be restored to full physical vigor.

The Week's Doings at the "Y."

The membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. met to work out plans to canvas the town for members last Friday evening and on Monday evening. A quiet canvass will be made and an effort to reach 300 members two months after date of opening up the building. The committee fully anticipate reaching their goal.

The first gymnasium class to be held was for the Juniors on Saturday morning, the 18th. Sixteen have been signed up in this class and made a very creditable showing.

Open house was held for grammar school boys on Saturday afternoon, and a number of parents visited with the boys from two until five o'clock. Gymnasium games were enjoyed by the boys and their guests. Two teams of basketball were organized for the boys and the first game resulted in the score of 12-4. Indoor baseball game was enjoyed by all, the score being 11-4 in favor of the Y.

A song service was held in the lobby on Sunday afternoon from 3 to 3:45 o'clock. The attendance was not very large, but the service was very enjoyable. Mr. Hartzell, the chorister of the special meetings at the Methodist church, sang a number of solos and led the singing. Miss Shuey presided at the piano. Collection was taken in the aid of the Near East relief. It is expected that Sunday afternoon meetings will be held during each Sunday of March, announcement to be made later.

Bowling is going to be a popular sport the balance of the season and a committee composed of Sergeant Steltz, C. C. Keichline, John Payne and Mr. McCullough expect to have the teams lined up and schedule drafted ready to begin games on March 1st. Mr. Mentzer, the physical director, is conferring with a number of business men relative to the most convenient time of holding a business men's class. If you are anticipating going into this class, he will be glad to talk it over with you.

Call for Threshermen's Meeting.

The Centre county Threshermen and Farmer's Protective association will meet in the grand jury room in the court house on Saturday, February 25th, at 10 o'clock a. m. A full attendance is desired. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Reports from the State convention will be heard, as well as a report of the second year of the Threshermen's and Farmer's Casualty company, which every employer of labor will want to hear.

Members should bring their past and prospective difficulties to this meeting and have them threshed out, such as boiler inspection, tractor registration, compensation insurance, etc. Saturday will be the day to settle your vexatious questions.

Listen Irene.

At the opera house next Wednesday, matinee and night, George E. Wintz will offer his new musical potpourri of fun and melody entitled, "Listen Irene." The book is new and abounds in a high grade of comedy, while the musical numbers are of the kind that you will be whistling and singing long after the company has departed. Many old favorites will appear in the cast while among the new stars will be Nyra Brown, a symphony dancer and comedy star. Among the new songs hits are "Pucker Up and Whistle," "Idle Dreams," "Zozollia," "Your Eyes," "Letty Let's Go," and others. Watch for the jeweled flirtation runway that will extend back fifteen rows.

The Challenge!

Every true citizen in the town should attend the meeting in the court house this evening, when Dr. Tope will speak. The house should be crowded to the doors, with standing room only. Rally to the flag that night! Form there a real, vital, live Law Enforcement League, such as will really count for something, as is being done all over Pennsylvania and the United States. Shall Bellefonter lag behind? Never! Show your patriotism at least, by being there. Let every home in Bellefonte thereafter blossom out with the beautiful white star of "Service to America" on the blue ground of "Support to the Constitution."

Wait for Rubin and Rubin.

Rubin and Rubin, Harrisburg's leading eyeglass specialists will be at the Mott drug store, Bellefonte, Thursday, March 9th, and at Centre Hall hotel, Centre Hall, Wednesday, March 8th. Good glasses fitted as low as $2.00. Eyes examined free and no drops are used. 67-8-2t

KLINGE CHOSEN FIRE MARSHAL.

Elected on First Ballot at Monday Evening's Meeting of Borough Council.

Robert Klinge, of the Undine fire company, was elected chief fire marshal at Monday night's meeting of borough council and will be practically responsible for the care and upkeep of the new pumps during the current year. At the regular meeting of council two weeks ago four votes each were cast for Mr. Klinge and J. D. Seibert, the president declining to vote. Klinge's original supporters were Messrs. Bradley, Emerick, Flack and Hazel, while those who voted for Seibert were Messrs. Brouse, Cunningham, Fauble and Waite. When the question was called up for further action on Monday evening the Fire and Police committee had no further recommendations to make and the president of council instructed the secretary to call the roll. On the first roll call Waite switched from Seibert to Klinge, making the vote 5 to 3, and the latter was declared elected. Klinge is chief of the Undine fire company but will resign that office before being sworn in as chief fire marshal.

Every member was present at the meeting Monday evening. There were no verbal communications and the only written one was a letter from the Eureka Fire Hose company regarding some damaged hose returned by the fire department. If the damage is a result of a defect in making the hose will be replaced.

The Street committee reported the collection of $186.50 on the Pine street paving.

The Water committee reported the collection of $55.50 on the 1920 water duplicate. The committee further reported that James R. Hughes, headmaster of the Bellefonte Academy, had inquired regarding a rebate of the water taxes against the Academy during the three months it was being rebuilt following the fire of last summer. Instead of allowing a rebate the committee recommended that no charge be made for filling the swimming pool last fall, and the recommendation was approved by council.

The Fire and Police committee reported the burgess' check for $32.50 for fines and licenses collected. The committee also reported that officials of the Pennsylvania Match company had been interviewed regarding the placing of the fire alarm on their plant, and were informed that the head of steam carried during the night and also from Saturday noon until Monday morning was not sufficient to blow the alarm, hence it would be of little service there. The committee further reported that a new roof would be necessary and some interior repairs needed to put the borough lockup in shape for use. Inquiry had been made regarding the use of a cell in the jail and the committee had been informed that the sheriff's fees would be fifty cents for each commitment, one dollar a day board and fifty cents for a discharge. The question was referred back to the committee for further investigation.

The secretary presented the bond of borough manager in the sum of $500, which was approved by council. Council also fixed the bond of the borough solicitor at $500 and that of the borough treasurer at $16,000. Borough solicitor N. B. Spangler was present and informed council that the only way to decide the ownership of the old plant of the Bellefonte Steam Heat and Gas company was to bring an action in the Dauphin county court to compel the Attorney General to annul the charter. This would cost anywhere from $250 to $400, but it was the only way in which the legal ownership of the property could be ascertained. The matter was referred to the Finance committee.

Mr. Emerick inquired if anything was being done to put the Lamb street bridge in a safe condition for travel, and was informed that the bridge in question is a joint county and borough bridge and while the matter had been brought to the attention of the County Commissioners several times they each time declared they had no money to put into the bridge. The matter was referred to the Street committee and borough solicitor, and pending their further investigation the borough manager was instructed to put up substantial signs at each end of the bridge as a warning to traffic of its unsafe condition.

The Fire and Police committee reported that policeman Yergler needed a new overcoat and after some discussion the matter was referred back to the committee for recommendation at the next meeting. Borough manager Seibert called attention to the dangerous condition of the pavement at the Benner property, on High street, where a number of people have fallen during the winter. He suggested as a means of temporary relief roughing the pavement, and the president referred the matter to the Street committee and borough manager with power and instructions to put it in as safe condition as possible.

Bills were approved to the amount of $10,718.78, which included $9,800 payment for one of the new pumps, after which council adjourned.
