

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

An' this is St. Patrick's day in the mornin'.

The Thimble Bee of the ladies of the Reformed church was entertained by Mrs. George W. Butz, at her home on south Spring street, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Harper entertained with five tables of cards Wednesday evening, at their home on Bishop street. Both bridge and five hundred were in play.

Keep the poverty social that the Legion boys are going to give on March 24th, in mind. They are entering to give all who attend an entertaining evening in the armory.

There were more than eighty men present at the evening service in the Reformed church last Sunday. The Academy quartette will sing at the song service next Sunday night.

Chaplain and Mrs. T. W. Young have moved from the Cohen house on east Bishop street into the new apartment in the Schlow block, where they are already fixed up as cosy as can be.

A clock was placed in the circular window in the corner of the Bellefonte Trust company building last Thursday. The clock is controlled by a master clock in the director's room.

Clarence R. Johnson, a 1925 student at State College, died last Friday after ten day's illness with brain fever. The remains were shipped on Saturday to Littleton, W. Va., for interment.

Many a man who is just longing to get into the garden now, in another month will sneak out the back way with a rod and line and hike it to a trout stream while his wife sticks the little onions.

Flitting time will soon be here, but the big question with some people is where will they fit to? Desirable houses are just as scarce in Bellefonte this spring as ever while rents are up instead of down.

Announcement was made in Altoona on Wednesday of the engagement of Miss Charlotte Russell, of that place, to Norman F. Slagle, of State College, the wedding to take place in the near future.

State policeman Hughes last Friday arrested Charles Houser, of near Bellefonte, on the charge of bootlegging. He is blamed for selling a quart of whiskey to Charles Brown on February 25th for ten dollars. Houser has been held under five dollars bail for his appearance at court to answer the charge.

If you haven't been at the armory this week to look over the big display of autos at the big annual automobile show you should make it a point to go before the show closes tomorrow. Whether you own a car or not makes no difference. The management will make you welcome and the show is well worth visiting.

The Brooks-Doll Post of the American Legion are planning to have a baseball team this year. Quite a number of the members have played on the diamond in past years and they are now assured of the services of a pitcher from the Southern league who has located here and become a member of the Post. As soon as the weather becomes fit candidates for the team will go into training and a strong aggregation will be built up.

Miss Meeker, the new community Red Cross nurse, met with an unfortunate accident on Wednesday afternoon in which the Red Cross car was wrecked but she, fortunately, escaped injury. Crossing High street bridge she wanted to go out Water street but attempted to turn around the east side of the dummy policeman with the result that she ran into the curb, smashing the left front wheel of the car. She stuck to the steering wheel, however, and guided her car almost a hundred feet along the street before she got it stopped. Aside from the smashed wheel the front axle was bent.

Capt. George M. Boal, of Centre Hall, went over to Reedsville the latter part of last week to spend some time with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Meyer. This week Mrs. W. Gross Mingle, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. W. A. Park, of Mount Pocono, also arrived at the Meyer home for the celebration today of Capt. Boal's eighty-third birthday anniversary. The Captain and St. Patrick were born on the same day, but a few hundred years apart, and we'll wager that Capt. Boal is now about as spry and active as St. Patrick would have been at his age, notwithstanding the fact he was the patron saint of Ireland.

Two strange members of the state constabulary arrived in Bellefonte the latter part of last week and at once proceeded to see whether the automobile laws were being rigidly observed in this locality. Automobile owners and drivers were stopped and requested to produce their license card. In most instances those apprehended could do so, but when they could not they were either taken before a justice of the peace or ordered to report there. On Sunday the officers spent at least a portion of the day on the state road near Zion and held up all cars. This action on the part of the state constabulary is in line with the policy of the State Highway Department to enforce the automobile laws to the letter.

MINER'S HOUSE DYNAMITED.

One Man Killed and One Injured in Explosion Near Snow Shoe.

William Bukosky, of Winburne, a miner working for the Lehigh Valley Coal company in its No. 26 mine near Clarence, was instantly killed about one o'clock on Tuesday morning when the house in which he was living with two companions was dynamited and blown to atoms, and George Shikalla, one of his companions, was badly injured, while the third man, Fred Rashdorn, escaped without suffering any injuries.

Conditions in the Snow Shoe region have been quite tense for several weeks. A number of miners in that section went to work a few weeks ago after about a year's idleness, at a scale of wages somewhat lower than that demanded by the union men, and yet as much as the operators can afford to pay with the price of coal as it is. Naturally, during the prolonged strike there has been considerable suffering among the miners and their families, and the morale of the men, and women, too, for that matter, has not been any of the best. During the past few weeks, since a few of the mines have been in partial operation, there have been mutterings and threats, and on two or more occasions dynamiting, which, however, was probably done more with an idea of frightening the men who were working than with any intention of doing personal harm or damage to mine property. But it is alleged that many miners carried guns and it was no unusual thing to hear shots fired, but up to Monday night no attempt had been made to do anybody any bodily harm.

Of course most of the miners who have been working kept pretty much together and close to the mine. But Bukosky, Shikalla and Rashdorn, all of whom were residents of Winburne, leased a vacant house at what is known as Pancake, over a mile from No. 26 mine, and lived there, doing their own housework.

The explosion that blew the house to pieces and killed Bukosky about one o'clock Tuesday morning was heard by a number of people but little attention was paid to it at first, as it was thought to have been simply another threatening explosion, and it was probably a half hour or more later when the report reached the mine that the house had been blown up. Miners and others promptly hurried to the scene and found the house completely demolished. Bukosky was dead and the men assisted Shikalla from the ruins. He sustained some bad cuts and bruises, but no critical injuries. Bukosky was about forty years old and leaves a wife and six children.

Naturally the explosion and killing of Bukosky created considerable excitement in the Snow Shoe region. Sheriff Harry Dukeman was over in Phillipsburg and district attorney James C. Furst was notified of the killing and the situation, which was described as critical, many men carrying arms of some kind. The sheriff was notified at Phillipsburg and at once proceeded to Snow Shoe, while requests were also sent in for state police.

Sheriff Dukeman remained in Snow Shoe until Wednesday morning but during all the time he was there there was no demonstration of hostility manifest. While nothing definite was learned as to the parties who did the dynamiting several parties are under suspicion and it is possible that something may develop in the near future. One thing seems pretty certain, and that is that more than one man was concerned in the job. From the complete way the house was demolished considerable dynamite must have been used. In fact some people incline to the belief that an entire box of the explosive was used. It was planted in the cellar of the building, right under the portion of the house in which the men were sleeping and how any of them escaped being blown to atoms is little less than a miracle.

Sheep and Wool Grower's Meetings. The Centre county Sheep and Wool Grower's associations will hold their annual meetings on March 28th, 29th and 30th. For convenience to the members each of the three local associations will hold a separate meeting.

The Bellefonte local will meet on Tuesday, March 28th, at 7:30 p. m., at the court house. The Spring Mills local will meet Wednesday, March 29th at 7:30 p. m., at the vocational school. The Pine Grove Mills local will meet Thursday evening, March 30th, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Pine Grove Mills school house.

W. B. Connell, sheep extension specialist, will discuss the recent developments in the wool market. Several important questions regarding the marketing of this year's wool clip will be taken up at these meetings. Officers for 1922 will be elected. If you own sheep it will be to your advantage to attend one of these meetings.

"The Unloved Wife," which will be the attraction at the opera house tomorrow night will give a matinee for women only at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The play is said to be a tense drama of woman's home, written by Florence Edna May. It is a trifle daring and the management asks that the solution be not divulged. Positively no children under sixteen years of age will be admitted to either the matinee or night performance. Common sense prices, 50 and 75 cents, and $1.00, plus tax.

Whatever you do today or tomorrow do not forget to attend Katz's millinery opening—wonderful hats and still more wonderful are the extremely low prices. 11-1t

Everybody in Bellefonte and vicinity is invited to attend the Scene next week. Big programs will be offered every evening which are sure to please. The opera house will also have a picture of unusual interest Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Friday night, March 24th, the American Legion boys are going to hold a poverty social in the armory. Everybody will be welcome. No one need stay away for want of nice party clothes, for no one with nice clothes will be in place at a poverty social.

Bonilla massage sets, consisting of face powder, mud, vanishing and cold creams, for 50c. at The Mott Drug Co. 11-2t

Out in Johnstown, it is said, so many girls are out of work that some of those anxious for domestic service keep their suit cases packed and when they see a "help wanted" ad in the papers grab their grip and hike it to the address given forthwith, thus being in shape to tackle the job immediately.

Charles S. Gilpin, the world's only negro tragedian, and who heads the Provincetown Players in "The Emperor Jones," Eugene G. O'Neill's masterful drama of the West Indies, has been secured for one appearance at the Grand theatre, Huntingdon, tomorrow night, March 18th, by J. Linn Blackford, manager. Seats, from 50 cents to $2.00.

According to the Williamsport papers the Pennsylvania railroad contemplates advertising for competitive bids from taxicab drivers for the privilege of standing their cars at stations of the company on the Williamsport division for the purpose of soliciting trade and carrying passengers to and from the stations. It is not known at this writing whether the same policy will be adopted on the entire Pennsylvania system or not.

District forester Morton has resumed the construction of the new road through the Bear Meadows, which was begun last fall. The grade is now completed for virtually the entire length, and a bridge has been built over Sinking creek. The road bed through the Meadows proper has been well piked with stone. Forester Morton expects to finish the grading just as soon as the frost is entirely out of the ground. He expects to finish the job by July first.

Most of the older readers of the "Watchman" recall the great flight of wild pigeons in 1876, when they flew south in such dense flocks that the sun was obscured while they were in transit. Prior to that year wild pigeons were as common as crows, but since that time they have disappeared entirely and naturalists have for years been trying to figure out what became of them. Old hunters can also remember when squirrel were quite plentiful and it was no trick at all to go out in the fall season and gather in a bag of eight or ten on a morning's hunt, but for some years past squirrel have been almost as scarce as hen teeth. But last week one morning railroad employees on the Tyrone and Clearfield railroad saw in the neighborhood of three hundred squirrel all in one drove on the mountain near the big fill. The squirrel were all traveling down the mountain and where they came from or whether they were going was a question the men who saw them could not solve. Perhaps they, like the wild pigeon, are migrating, but whether into this country or out of it remains to be seen.

Report of Red Cross Nurse. The report of the Red Cross Community nurse, Miss Mary Royer, for the month of February is:

Table with 2 columns: Category and Count. Includes Nursing visits (18), Infant welfare visits (10), Tuberculosis visits (2), Visits to schools (16), Office treatments (3), Attendance at clinics (4), Other visits (11), Total (66).

Miss Royer assisted Dr. Barlett in the medical examination of 749 school children. Two feeble-minded children were taken to the High school building and examined by Prof. A. L. Rhodan.

Miss Royer left the Red Cross service March 15th, for a vacation of two weeks after which she will enter the Municipal hospital in Philadelphia for three months graduate work in contagious diseases. Her position will be filled temporarily by Miss Meeker.

GOOD CROWDS AT AUTO SHOW.

Many Standard Makes of Cars on Display in 1922 Exhibit.

"More character and style to it than were exemplified in the auto shows in Williamsport and Altoona, or the big show in Pittsburgh," was the way one visitor characterized the big auto show being held in the Bellefonte armory this week under the auspices of the Centre County Automobile Dealers' association. In fact everybody who has visited the show since its opening on Tuesday evening are unanimous in asserting that it is high-class, not only in arrangement but in the line of exhibits. The cars are so placed that every one can be seen and inspected, and every exhibitor has been shown equal courtesy in the matter of space, etc. The exhibitors with the cars on display are as follows:

C. E. Snyder, of State College; John A. Confer & Son, of Snow Shoe, and Booser & Smith, Centre Hall, the Dodge cars.

Beatty Motor Co., Bellefonte, the Ford and Lincoln cars.

Wion Garage, Bellefonte, Nash and Franklin.

Henry M. Myers, State College, Haynes and Reo.

Beazer's Garage, Bellefonte, Studebaker.

W. J. Emerick, Bellefonte, White trucks.

Decker Bros., Spring Mills, and Decker & Harper, State College, Oldsmobile and Chevrolet.

C. E. Yearick's Garage, Bellefonte, Buick.

R. N. VanIngen, Bellefonte, and L. L. Weaver, Millheim, Willys Knight, Handley Knight and Overland.

Jodon & Somers, Pleasant Gap, Oakland.

Poorman's Garage, Bellefonte, Chandler and Cleveland.

Krader Motor Co., Bellefonte, Maxwell and Columbia.

All told there are twenty-nine passenger cars of every description, two delivery wagons and three trucks on exhibition. Most of the cars are well known in this vicinity, but the Handley Knight and Lincoln are two cars which have attracted considerable attention because they are new to this section. Many prospective purchasers have taken advantage of the show to inspect the different makes and styles of car and there is no doubt but that numerous sales will result from this medium of advertising.

The show was opened on Tuesday evening with a concert by the Odd Fellows band and following that music was furnished throughout the evening by Wion's orchestra. This latter organization will be on hand every afternoon and evening and do its part in helping to entertain the crowd. Each evening there will be one or two vocal selections by well known musical artists of Bellefonte.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., is serving sandwiches and coffee, ice cream and cake, day and night, so that any person becoming hungry while visiting the show can have their hunger appeased without leaving the building.

All in all it is a better show than that of a year ago. The decorations are most appropriate and effective and every arrangement is complete as to detail. The show will continue until 10:30 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) evening, and if you have not been one of the visitors up to this time don't fail to drop in before the close. You will be entirely welcome, whether you want to buy a car or not.

It might be mentioned that the show was planned and staged under the direct management of Robert F. Hunter, one of Bellefonte's most enthusiastic motorists. The decorations were designed and arranged by Mrs. R. Russell Blair, assisted by Mrs. Donald S. Potter and Miss Louise Hoffer.

Boy Scout News.

Our motto: "Be prepared. Do a good turn daily."

Last Friday night we had the tenderfoot test, which was passed by the following: Carl Gray, Philip Wion, Franklin Schad, Max Ichkowitz, Donald Mallory and David Geiss. Those who did not pass will be given another chance on March 24th.

You men! Do you love the woods? Do you wish to learn the trees as the forester knows them? And the stars, not as the astronomer, but as a traveler? Do you wish to have all-round, well-developed muscles, not as the athlete, but those of a sound body that will not fail you? Would you like to be an expert camper who can always make himself comfortable in the great outdoors, and a swimmer who fears no waters? Do you desire the knowledge to help the wounded quickly and to keep cool and self-reliant in an emergency? Do you believe in loyalty, courage and kindness? Would you like to conform to habits that will make life a success? If you do, and you men have boys from twelve to eighteen years old, their place is in the ranks of the Scouts. To be a Scout will give them new pleasures in life, will help them do better work and teach them more about outdoor life.

Please don't forget about any odd jobs you want done. If you have any call Bell 906, or Rev. Maynard at the Bush house.

SCOUT SCRIBES. Mark Twain's famous story, "Connecticut Yankee at King Arthur's Court," 3 days at opera house, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 23, 24, 25. A lavishly produced eight reel scream from start to finish. See it. 11-1t

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Fleming, of Phillipsburg, have been guests for several days of the week of Mr. Fleming's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Fleming. While Mr. Fleming was one of the speakers at the Spanish-American veterans banquet, the automobile show is partly responsible for the visit at this time.

Kessler-Cole.—A news dispatch from Easton on Monday announced the marriage of Nelson T. Kessler, a son of police surgeon and Mrs. F. J. Kessler, of that place, and Miss Ruscie Cole, of Bellefonte, the wedding having taken place in Bloomsburg on January 3rd. The bridegroom is a Senior at State College and it was while returning from a visit at the home of his parents in Easton that the young people decided to get married. So stopping in Bloomsburg they went to the Episcopal church here the ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Mr. Moore. The bride is a daughter of Jacob Cole, of Bellefonte, and is at her home here waiting the time when her husband will graduate in June. When that event transpires they will decide on their future.

Gares-McMurtrie.—Joseph Gares, undergoing a six month's sentence in the Centre county jail for complicity in stealing whiskey from the cellar of the Bellefonte postoffice, and Miss Nina McMurtrie, of Spring township, were married in the Register's office in the court house, last Friday, by Rev. Alexander Scott. Following the ceremony the bridegroom was escorted back to jail by sheriff Dukeman to complete his sentence which will expire on April 6th.

There is a man out in Snow Shoe who has little superstition regarding the number 13. When called to pay a small bill last Monday, the 13th, the collector remarked that perhaps he held to the belief that to pay on the thirteenth was unlucky. "Oh, I don't know," he remarked. "I was born on the 13th, was married on the 13th, have nine children and seven of them were born on the 13th, had one child die on the 13th and was laid up a year as the result of an accident which occurred on the 13th, so I don't see that thirteen figures to any great extent one way or the other," and he paid the bill.

Notice! The coal business in this place, which was financed by, and is conducted in the name of M. J. Thomas, continues to be run under the same business arrangements as when started less than a year ago. J. D. and Arthur Thomas are only employed to conduct the business for me.

MARTHA J. THOMAS.
