The boys' club minstrels of St. John's Episcopal church, of Bellefonte, went over to Philipsburg on Friday and gave an entertainment that evening in the parish house of St. Paul's church. "The Three Musketeers" have been attracting large audiences at the opera house this week and the leader in the motion picture line for next week will be "The Queen of Sheba." Red Men's Convention a Big Event for Bellefonte.

Two hundred years ago the site of Bellefonte was a favorite camp for the red men, because of the wonderful spring of water and the abundance of trout in the streams. We still have the big spring and our streams some trout, and week after next Bellefonte will be invaded by more Red Men than have been here in many moons.

To be exact the dates will be Tuesday and Wednesday, May 9th and 10th, and the occasion the annual convention of the Red Men's League of Central Pennsylvania. The League is composed of Tribes from all over central Pennsylvania and at the last meeting in the neighborhood of five hundred members were in the line of parade. The committee expects as many, if not more, to attend the Bellefonte convention.

The Red Men is the oldest organization of purely American origin, tracing its history back to the patriotic order known as the Sons of Liberty, or Tamma Society. They used the forms and customs of the American Indians and took part in the events which crystallized into the Declaration of Independence and the constitution of the United States. The Sons of Liberty formed themselves into a society in 1765, taking charge of the patriotic movements, one of which was the Boston Tea Party of fifty members. Disguised as Indians they went on board the ships of England and emptied 342 chests of tea into Boston bay.

As in those days the Red Men of today have proved themselves one hundred per cent. true Americans, which was demonstrated during the great world war. The tribes contributed $69,992.15, for which sixteen limousine ambulances were purchased and assigned to as many cantonments. At a session of the Grand Council in Chicago a service flag was unfurled showing that the Red Men had 29,991 members in service during the war.

Standing upon the above record the local committee of arrangements says: "Feeling we have done our bit we request business places and citizens of Bellefonte to display the American flag or any other decorations they may feel disposed to put up during the two days of our convention, May 9th and 10th. Further information about the gathering and big parade will be published next week."

Kephart Home on Buffalo Run Destroyed by Fire.

The large and comfortable farm house on the old Caleb Kephart homestead near Fillmore, in Buffalo Run valley, was completely destroyed by fire last Saturday morning. The fire broke out about eight o'clock in the morning in the loft over the out kitchen. Miss Kephart was baking at the time and naturally had a hot fire in the stove, but whether the fire caught from the flue, a spark, or some other cause, is not definitely known.

As soon as the flames were discovered a call was sent to the Bellefonte fire department for assistance, and there was some little delay occasioned for various reasons but finally the Undine pumper was sent up, making the run in eleven minutes. But the house being of frame construction was quick prey to the flames and by the time the firemen arrived on the ground very little was left of the house. With the assistance of neighbors the family succeeded in saving practically everything from the first and second floors of the house, but the most of the stuff on the third floor, on which were located two or more bedrooms, was burned. Members of the family at home were Miss Dora, Gray and Benner Kephart, and some of their household goods have been stored in the old Matlock Kephart house nearby while a portion of the furniture has been used in fitting up a temporary home in an old store building there where the family will live until they decide on rebuilding.

The house destroyed was built in the early seventies when the original home was destroyed by fire. While the loss is a serious one both the house and furnishings were insured, but the amount carried could not be ascertained.

The Academy players this year are good fielders, good hitters and have two clever batters in Ash and McLeary, Jones and Schmidt. Jones is a southpaw with an enviable record.

A varied and instructive program has been arranged, including a discussion of the proper grading of feeder steers, the profitable type of feed-lot steer and lastly, an explanation of this year's experimental results, which have an important bearing on present day problems of the cattle feeder. All persons who expect to attend this meeting should meet at the stock judging pavilion at 9:30 a. m., sharp, standard time.

Early Fruit Frozen.

There is every reason to believe that the bulk of the early fruit has been killed by the extreme cold weather of the past week, and there is a possibility that the late fruit has also been damaged, but to what extent it is impossible to determine at this time. Last year the fruit was killed by the cold weather of April 11th but because all kinds of fruit trees were several weeks late this year, and the middle of April passed without any killing frosts growers naturally believed all danger of freezing past and were already anticipating big crops. But last Thursday it blew up cold and that night the thermometer dropped below the freezing point. Saturday morning it was down to twenty degrees above zero, or twelve degrees below the freezing point, and heavy frosts covered the ground both Sunday and Monday morning. The only hope is that the late fruit is not far enough advanced to be completely wiped out, although there is hardly any question about it being damaged considerably.

Red Cross Nursing Service.

Mrs. Blanche Schloss, who has been chairman of the nursing service of the Red Cross since it was introduced two years ago with Miss Mae Peterman, has resigned temporarily and her work will be continued by the two other members of the committee—Mrs. Charles Kurtz and Elizabeth Meek. There will be no change in the service as Miss Pearl Meeker, who succeeded Miss Mary Royer as Red Cross nurse, will continue the regular office hours, 9-9:30 a. m. in Petrikin hall. At the free baby clinic on Wednesday, 2 to 3 p. m., Mrs. Kurtz will assist Miss Meeker. Mrs. Kurtz, as Miss Lois Calderwood, superintendent of the Bellefonte hospital, is well known and it is hoped that every mother will bring her baby to be weighed and measured and receive the helpful advice of these two experienced nurses. Miss Meeker will be on service from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. but is not supposed to go out at night unless by special arrangement. The regular fee is 50 cents a visit for those who can afford to pay it but free to those who cannot and Miss Meeker will be glad to respond to any call for help.

"Better Service" Week at the Postoffice.

At the request of the Postoffice Department "Better Service" week will be the order of the day in every postoffice in the country May 1st to 6th, inclusive, and the Bellefonte postoffice will be right in the forefront in an endeavor to make the service in Bellefonte the best possible. To assist in doing so postmaster John L. Kisely invites patrons to call at the office any time during the week and offer any criticisms or suggestions they may have which they think will improve the local service. Patrons are particularly asked to call between the hours of 9 and 11 a. m., when the morning mails are being changed, and they will thus have an opportunity of seeing the force at work during the two busiest hours of the day. As the heaviest mails of the week come in on Tuesdays and Thursdays, the public is especially asked to visit the office on these days. Delegations of High school students and also Bellefonte Academy students will be invited for certain days during the week.

And when you do visit the office don't feel afraid to offer any suggestions you may have, or if you believe the postoffice force deserves commendation don't fail to say so. The object of "Better Service" week is to have the public at large become better acquainted with the service in general and, also, show patrons how they can assist in the good work.

Potter's Mills Child Killed by Horse.

An unfortunate accident at Potter's Mills, about 4:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon, resulted in the instant death of John William Smith, the infant son of Earl and Jennie Wilson Smith, of that place. Earl Smith is employed in the store of his father, Emanuel Smith, of Potters Mills. He had gone to his own home on Monday afternoon and on his trip back to the store pushed the front gate shut, expecting it to latch. But it did not and the gate swung open, the child going out of the yard into the road, evidently following his father across the road toward the store.

Just at that time Bigler Schaeffer, of Madisonburg, driving his big stallion, happened along and the child ran out in the road right in front of the horse. Mr. Schaeffer did not see the little boy and his first knowledge of anything wrong was when the horse reared. But the animal made no attempt to run away and when it came down on its fore feet stopped right there. Mr. Schaeffer then saw the child lying about midway between the horse's front and hind legs. He jumped out of his vehicle and picked the child up from beneath the horse. He was carried into the house but life was already extinct.

A physician was summoned and he found that the child's back was broken, a shoulder dislocated and three ribs broken, one of which punctured the lungs. But there was no evidence that the horse had tramped on it. The only conclusion is that when the little boy ran in front of the horse the latter reared to keep from trampling it but in doing so hit it with its heavy hoofs causing the injuries which resulted in its death.

The child was fifteen months old and in addition to the parents one sister and three brothers survive, namely: Irene, Richard, Eugene and Lowe. Rev. C. F. Catherman had charge of the funeral which was held yesterday afternoon, burial being made in the Sprucetown cemetery.
