Philanthropy and a Coincident.

Away back in the eighties, in Bellefonte, when all the boys were so old-fashioned that they were willing to work or run no end of errands for a nickel, more often a penny!

When there were no movies, no ice cream cones, no lolly pops to drain the parental purse, there was one who had the special job, every week or so, of carrying a missive to a young lady who lived in a house some distance from the centre of the town.

It was a wonderful job, for in those days, as in these, a man splurges a little where a lady is concerned, especially if it is an affair of coeur, and this one paid a quarter for the safe delivery of his missive. We were never told whether this was such an affair or merely a platonic friendship.

Be that as it may the quarter was all the lad thought of until he reached the gate of the home which was invariably guarded by a big, black, woolly dog. He was afraid of dogs and this one in particular. Though it had never attacked him, it looked so big and woolly and ominous that that boy just hadn't the courage to venture through the gate.

We are told that he would stand there for hours patiently waiting for some larger person to come out or go in so that he might have safe conduct past the canine guardian.

The home of the lady of the story is now part of one of Bellefonte's greatest institutions. The lad who carried the missives to her a third of a century ago is proud of the fact that he has helped a little each year from its beginning to put that institution there, but he is prouder of the gentleman who first sent him onto the grounds where the Bellefonte hospital now stands, for in his pocket nestles a check for one thousand dollars bearing the same signature that was on those missives thirty-five years and more ago, to be used in whatever way it will do the most good for the hospital.

This is the kind of philanthropy that counts. Though yours might not be fraught with the same coincidence it will count for just as much if given for the right work.

We're started now for the hospital drive in October. The stage is set already. The front curtain's up. Whose thousand will be shining when the next drop is raised? Let's beat the campaign managers to it. Let's raise forty thousand before October.

Philipsburg Boy Drowned in Swimming Pool.

John Houck, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Houck, of Chester Hill, near Philipsburg, was drowned in the swimming pool of the Community League playgrounds in Philipsburg about one o'clock last Saturday afternoon.

The boy was with a number of companions in the pool when suddenly he called for help. He was taken out of the water and in a few minutes declared he was all right and went back into the pool. He sank from sight almost immediately and it was probably five minutes before the body could be located and rescued from the pool.

Every means possible were resorted to to restore life but without avail. The boy had been accustomed to going into the pool and it is generally believed that he had been stricken with cramp or indigestion which caused him to sink. The body was buried in the Philipsburg cemetery on Tuesday.

The famous Penn Phillips orchestra will furnish the music for a dance at Hecla park next Tuesday evening, August 15th.

A Tribute to the Memory of the Late Noah Corman.

Chicago, Ill., August 5th, 1922. To the bereaved of the late Noah Corman, Esq., of Rebersburg, Pa.

The sad news has been communicated to the writer of the passing from life of our dear companion and friend, Noah Corman Esq. Seldom through life have we felt more aggrieved and bereaved at the loss of a dear one than we do now. The departed was a personality greatly to be beloved by the thousands who knew him best. In integrity and honor he played the part of a true nobleman. No one could accuse him of infidelity since none ever found him wanting in the higher aspects of true faithfulness to his fellow man.

While we, his host of friends, greatly deplore his departing, yet, we recognize that our loss is his eternal gain and that his going from among us makes us realize more that life is but a passing shadow and nothing but eternity is abiding, which fact should be the winning force to draw us nearer to the Great Being whose magnanimous love for mankind has made propitiation for us who believe in that divine promise, eventually to meet our departed brother in the blessed paradise above.

Therefore, let us take hope that all is well with our departed friend, for no doubt this day his spirit is reposing in the embrace of Him Who said, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." DR. ALFRED BEIRLY.

Let Rumor Become Fact.

From several sources we have heard that G. W. Gamble contemplates presenting the island in Spring creek, above this office, to the borough.

What a beauty spot could be made of it! With concrete retaining walls, a bit of grading and landscape gardening the present unsightly strip could be transformed into a veritable gem where benches could be placed, boats for the young folks anchored and, perhaps, bathing facilities provided.

The Civic club has often cast wistful eyes at the island and we feel sure it would heartily co-operate in any movement to beautify it in a permanent way if Mr. Gamble should convey it to the borough.

The sixty-eighth year will open at The Pennsylvania State College on September 13th. Registration will take place on Monday and Tuesday, September 11th and 12th. The largest enrollment in the college history is expected, about 3300 or 3400 men and women.

Several thousand potato growers of Pennsylvania are expected to attend the ground-breaking exercises for the new hospital at The Pennsylvania State College on August 25th. The potato industry of the State is raising funds for its erection.

J. O. Heverly to Begin Building Operations Soon.

Several weeks ago the "Watchman" mentioned the fact that J. O. Heverly had purchased the old Curtin property on the northeast corner of the Diamond and extending on Allegheny street to Pike alley, then having sold portions of the property to Dr. C. M. Parrish, Thomas H. Harter and Charles F. Mensch. Plans have been completed for the erection of a splendid business block on the location which will compare most favorably with any of the buildings surrounding the public square.

In the resale of a portion of the property Dr. Parrish will secure the first twenty-five feet along the alley. The next forty-six foot frontage has been purchased by Harter and Mensch, while the remainder of the property, some seventy-five or eighty foot frontage belongs to Mr. Heverly.

Plans for the building have not only been drawn but Mr. Heverly anticipates beginning work on or about August 15th on dismantling the old stone building next the vacant space adjoining the Gazette office building. It is his intention to erect thereon this fall a building twenty-five feet in width and four stories high which will be one unit of the entire block when completed. As soon as this building is completed Mr. Heverly will move his store into it and next spring the balance of the old building will be dismantled, which will also include the present law offices of Clement Dale and J. Kennedy Johnston, and two more store rooms built thereon.

Mr. Heverly will then occupy the corner room, extending east on High street. Dr. Parrish and Messrs. Harter and Mensch also contemplate building their portion of the block next summer, so that in one year from now the entire block will likely be finished and occupied. The building will be of concrete, brick and tile and as near fire proof as it is possible to make it. Each unit will be built to correspond with the others so that when the block is completed it will have the appearance of one building.

The erection of this block will mean the trimming or complete removal of the big elm trees that have stood there for many years. In fact some authorities put them at over a hundred years old. These trees are inside the curb line and naturally would interfere with the construction of a new concrete pavement which the owners wish to put down, and there is of course a considerable feeling of sentiment against their removal, but that is a question we have no intention of discussing here, as there is every reason to believe a satisfactory solution will be reached by the parties interested.

That the building to be erected will be a big improvement to that part of town, is a fact beyond dispute. It will also afford several additional store rooms, while the upper floors will be constructed into offices, flats, etc.

Nash Reduces Prices.

Word comes from the Nash factory announcing substantial reductions in the price of all Nash models, ranging from $150 to $200 on the six cylinder cars, and from $50 to $100 on the fours.

In making these reductions C. W. Nash said, "The dollar now has greater purchasing power in the automobile field than anywhere else. The quality of Nash cars has been steadily improved and in construction and performance they are the finest cars I have ever produced. In fact at no previous time in the history of the industry has there been such great value offered at such low prices."

"Considering labor and material costs it is seriously questionable as to whether or not such low prices can be maintained. If ever there has been a buyers' market it is right now."

The Wion Garage is the local agency for the distribution of Nash cars and we understand that Mr. Wion, the manager, is kept on the jump demonstrating and delivering cars. The Nash is becoming quite popular in Centre county. It is proving a very dependable car and its good lines, service record and low cost of upkeep are impressing discriminating buyers.

Fair Time Will Soon be Here.

The time for the annual county fairs will soon be here, in fact the big Blair county fair will be held next week in connection with the Old Home week celebration at Altoona. Centre county will not have a county fair but the annual Grange encampment at Centre Hall will be held the week of September 2-8. Other county fairs in which Centre countyans are always interested will be held as follows:

- Lewistown, August 22-25. Bedford, September 26-29. Clearfield, September 26-29. Bloomsburg, October 3-6. Hughesville, October 10-13. Milton, October 10-13. Lewisburg, October 17-20.

The people of Snow Shoe and Clarence will hold a big community picnic at the Snow Shoe park on Friday, August 25th. Everybody is invited and all are assured a good time, as the people of that section always put up the very best there is in the picnic line.

The Pennsylvania State College farms this year produced what appears to be the best wheat crop in their history. "Pennsylvania 44," the new wheat developed at the college, is expected to show up as the biggest yielder at threshing time.

Did the Foresters Eat All the Snakes?

A year ago the young foresters of State College who spent two weeks in camp in Bear Hollow, Clinton county, gained considerable notoriety by eating rattlesnakes. Most people regard the rattler as a holy terror and the natives of Fishing creek region naturally gasped with astonishment when they learned that the young foresters feasted on the reptiles.

For many years rattlers had been unusually plentiful in that section but this year they were extremely scarce. In fact only about a half dozen were seen and killed in that locality and the question now arises did the foresters eat so many of the snakes that they cleaned them out like the trout have been cleaned out of Fishing creek?

A contingent of young engineers camped in that vicinity this year but there has been no word of any snake repasts. Another contingent of foresters camped on Stone creek, in the Seven mountains, and report saith that the rattlesnake feast was held there. And now it will likely be only a question of time until the entire Seven mountain region will be cleaned up so far as the deadly rattler is concerned.

In Memory of Corporal Albert Homer Sager.

The undersigned committee, appointed at the regular meeting of the Albright Brotherhood of United Evangelical church, Bellefonte, adopted the following resolution regarding Albert Homer Sager, who lost his life at Jenners mine, Farrellton Station, Pa., July 25th, by being thrown under an army transport truck, when it upset.

Whereas, Almighty God has, in His all-wise providence, seen fit to remove from the church militant to the church triumphant, our beloved brother and fellow laborer, Albert Homer Sager, who stood so high in the councils of, and was so well qualified for service and leadership in our church, as is evidenced by the success which attended his work, by the positions of honor to which he was called, and by the esteem in which he was held; therefore,

Resolved, That in this sad taking away of our brother, we acknowledge that we have lost one whose friendship and fellowship it was an honor and pleasure to be permitted to enjoy; that to come in contact with this earnest, conscientious, consecrated, christian young life was a benediction of love, joy, peace and gladness, far beyond the power of our feeble attempts to appraise; and that our church in general will miss his faithful attendance upon its different activities.

Whereas, Our Omnipotent, Heavenly Father is too wise to err and is surely too good to be unkind; Who doeth all things to bring honor, power and dominion unto Himself; therefore,

Resolved, That while the family circle has been broken, the betrothal made void, the Sunday school chair vacant, church organization seats unfilled, auditorium pew empty, we beg his sorrow stricken parents, loved ones, relatives and friends, to join us in bowing in humble submission to the holy will of God, and saying "Thy will, O God, not ours, be done."

The owner received eleven dollars a head for the herd out of which he had to pay the costs of the tuberculin test. Inasmuch as the cows were graded Guernseys and Holsteins his loss is considerable.

—John Beck, a grand-son of John H. Beck, of Snydertown, has been chosen as principal of the Port Matilda High school. Since his graduation at State College he has been located in Florida but prefers living and teaching in his home county.

And the confidence is what we are striving to attain. Perhaps you have been reading the ads placed in this paper every week. If so, you are interested and some time you will need spectacles or eye glasses. This is only the natural course of events.

When the time arrives I would like to have an opportunity to prove that I am in a position to give unsurpassed service. Let me demonstrate the advantage of Made-to-order glasses.
