OLD ROVER-SHEEP KILLER.

In a rather densely populated region of the Middle west last winter township, and some two hundred men, on horse and foot, sallied forth to round up the predatory beasts. No wolf was "bagged" by this crowd, though two or three were killed by individuals at other times. About the same time there was an epidemic of sheep-killing among the dogs of the vicinity. Some thought that the number of the walves was evaggerated.

The RANKLIN ROADS ber of the wolves was exaggerated, and that most of the killing was done by dogs. In any case it may have been that wolves set the example of killing, and that the dogs, having found partially-eaten carcasses where wolves had left them, acquired the to make their financial pledge for next year. For all those who do not come a special committee will call at their home between two and four on Sunday afternoon, or some time during the following week their financial pledge for do will sheep now and then in every sheep-raising community. "Sheep-killing dog," is a synonym with farmer folk for all that is low and vile. But the fact is usually brought out by investigation that it is the half-staryed dog that is the leader in sheep-killing. And it is not the homeless tramp ed dog that is the leader in sheep-killing. And it is not the homeless tramp dog alone that is habitually hungry. We are told nowadays that even children of well-to-do families may be under-nourished, and no one ever suppect it. Many persons let their dogs go hungry through forgetfulness, or because they under-estimate a dog's capacity for and need of food. Many who can ill afford to keep one dog who can ill afford to keep one dog keep two or three on a starvation diet. I have known an old, almost EXPENDITURES. et. I have known an old, almost toothless dog, belonging to a kindlydisposed family, to try to kill sheep, and to be a sort of leader of the killers. His owners failed to provide him with animal food such as he could eat. The dog is carnivorous, but many dogs are fed no meat except the little that may cling to bones thrown them occasionally.

The dog's "open season" for sheep is winter, and one reason why dogs roam abroad on winter nights is that they are not provided with comfortative to the comfort ble quarters at home. The dog should have a good kennel with plenty of warm bedding. With this, and sufficient food, he will not be easily tempted to kill sheep. The kindest thing to do with the tramp dog, or the dog one is not able to will not be easily tempted to kill sheep. is not able or willing to keep as he should be kept, is to give him a pain-less death—though I should feel that I must give him a square meal first! If there is any place where humane-ness is at a premium—that is, in dollars and cents—it is on the farm. It is not "sentiment" alone, though we should not be ashamed of what is called sentiment toward our animal friends. It actually pays to be humane.—By Beth Floyd, in Our Dumb Animals.

Inspection of Eating Places Brings Good Results.

Inspection reports of 3671 public eating and drinking places, including railroad dining cars operated in Pennsylvania, were checked up by the Division of Restaurant Hygiene, State Department of Health, during the past month. 3253 of these places were found to be operating in strict accordance with State laws regarding medical inspection of employees, non-use of common towel or drinking cup, and sanitary cleansing of all utensils used.

During the month 76 proprietors, who had been notified to discontinue the use of the common towel, complied with the Department's order, and 96 proprietors of places in which common drinking cups were used reported that they are now complying with the

This month inspections are being made of the roadside booths, which have sprung up like mushrooms along the main highways, but which, unless G. Edward Haupt, et al, to William kept clean, may have a kick as serious Cunningham, tract in Bellefonte; as that of the mushroom's first cousing -the deadly toadstool. Toward the end of the month the inspectors will turn their attention to the food and drink handlers at county fairs.

Secretary. 67-27-6t*

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19: JOHNNY WALKER and EDNA MURPHY in "EXTRA! EXTRA!" a newspaper story in which a lively cub reporter gets the big story and wins the daughter of the old man who failed. Good pictures of the newspaper offices. Also, Pathe News and Topics and Lloyd Comedy.

MONDAY, AUGUST 21: TOM MOORE in "FROM THE GROUND UP." Another one of the good, amusing, typical Moore stories that you will enjoy. All the way from a steam shovel valet to a successful contractor. Don't miss it. Also, Pathe News, Topics and a Harold Lloyd Comedy.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 22: MARY ALDEN in "THE MAN WITH TWO MOTHERS," an appealing story of Irish life with Ailleen Landes as the hero. Comedy shining through helps to make a very satisfactory picture. Also, Screen Snap Shots and Movie Chats, both very interesting.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23:

RICHARD BARTHELNUS in "TOL-ABLE DAVID," a seven reel, strong, charming story of a boy who is regarded as tol'able becomes man's size under stress. Beautiful scenes. Smashing fight. A fine human interest picture. Also, two reel Sunshine Comedy.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 24:

HODKINSON produces "FREE AIR." Six reel story of society girl traveling by motor attacked by highwayman rescued by small town hero who she marries in preference to idler. Pleasing, cute, enjoyable. Beautiful Glacier Park scenery. Also, Pathe News and Review.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25:

MARIE PREVOST in "HER NIGHT OF NIGHTS." This beautiful star wears numerous beautiful costumes and is certainly good to look at. Story of model who longs for the gowns she displays and ends by marrying a poor fellow. Also, eighth episode of the serial "ROBINSON CRUSOE."

Go to the Scenic to keep cool. Plenty of fresh air and electrical fans.
