Spoken Newspaper is Latest in Paris.

Paris—A spoken newspaper is the latest literary fad in Paris. Instead of reading dreary columns of type the news is told you for the price of the newspaper.

"La Libre Parole" (The Free Speech) is the name of the spoken newspaper. Its "readers" gather once a week in a public hall and for two hours listen to the news read to them by the staff of the newspaper.

The paper gives precedence to a digest of weekly events of importance so that readers who are in a hurry can leave within a half hour with a knowledge of the outstanding events.

For those who have more leisure there is an editorial on a subject of current interest, a social gossip column, a comic column read by a humorist, theatrical criticism and literary reviews and finally a pamphlet told by its author.

There is no advertising, however, and no business man in the audience may take up the readers time by crying his goods.

—The "Watchman" gives all the news while it is news.

Figuring on Coal Prices.

From the New York World.

On the basis of the settlement reached in the anthracite coal strike, wages will remain the same as last year and all the costs of mining will remain substantially the same. But the cost of transporting the coal to points of final distribution will be less than last year by reason of the recent reduction of 10 per cent. in railroad freight rates. The price of coal to the consumer should accordingly not be any more than it was last winter and ought to be a little less.

Bobby Playing Safe.

In spite of repeated warnings from his father little Bobby persisted in driving nails into blocks and boards.

One morning Dad heard the familiar pounding and looking out he saw Bobby banging away—his little sister Mary sitting beside him, apparently looking on.

"Haven't I told you, Bobby, that you will smash your fingers if you drive nails?" the father asked.

"Yes, I know, Dad," the boy replied, "but Mary's holding the nail."

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Is Your Blood Good or Thin and Watery?

You can tell by the way you feel. You need Hood's Sarsaparilla to make your blood rich, red and pure, tingling with health for every organ.

You need it if weak and tired day in and day out, if your appetite is poor, sleep unrefreshing,—for humors, boils, eruptions, scrofula, rheumatism, headaches, nervous prostration. It is simply wonderful to give strength to your whole body.

It is agreeable, pleasant and convenient to take, and embodies a long-tried and found-true formula. 67-84

WATER STREET INN TO BE REJUVINATED.

With the completion of the deal by which the old Water Street inn was sold by Samuel Zacharias to J. M. Davis, proprietor of the Arlington hotel, Tyrone, announcement is made of Mr. Davis' plans for development of the inn property.

The Inn, with its 28 rooms will be put in first class condition for the entertainment of guests. A garage will be built for the accommodation of motor cars. A fountain, drawing water from 500 feet up the ravine, will play in the space before the hotel. Building lots have been laid off and will be sold for summer homes. Water for drinking purposes will be piped from the Samuel Zacharias spring, as this water is much cooler than the water which will be used for the fountain.

On the plateau above the hotel there is a beautiful stretch of territory which might and possibly will, be developed into an 18 hole golf course when conditions warrant.

Work will be started at once and it is expected that the Inn will be thrown open for the entertainment of the public on Labor day next.

The old Water Street Inn was built nearly 100 years ago when the Pennsylvania canal was first opened up, and was in its time a famous place of entertainment for the traveling public, no less exalted personages than Presidents of the United States having stopped there in times past. Three years ago it was damaged by fire when the roof was burned. Soon after a roof was built to protect the slightly damaged interior. It has not been in use since.—Huntingdon Record.

Powerful Lighthouse Beacon.

The Langarra lighthouse has one of the most powerful beacons on the Pacific ocean. So bright is the illumination from the lighthouse that the halibut fishermen twenty-five miles distant can operate in the night without difficulty. A stranger entering the lighthouse room would soon find himself ablaze unless made aware of his danger. So great is the concentration of sun's rays through the huge reflectors that in less than a minute's time a person's clothes become ignited. Heavy blinds have to be kept down during the day to prevent fire.—Vancouver (B. C.) Tribune.

Every Motor Tested Severely

Particular care is devoted by Nash to the severe testing of the motor. Not only are various scientific tests applied to the metal as it goes from one stage to another, but also to the finished motor.

It is first extensively limbered up; then put under a load to develop any possible flaw in performance; next, disassembled and inspected, then reassembled and tested in the silent room for quietness; and, finally, given a road-test in the completed car.
