George Weaver, an old Pine Grove hills boy but now a resident of Chester, N. Y., was here last Friday picking up old friends. As this was his first trip back in over twenty years he found many changes in people and places.

Irvin Baker, of Yeagertown, motor-over the Seven mountains and spent several days at the W. E. Reed home. He spent several days here last year as a lay delegate to the Ithaca Synod and made the acquaintance of many residents of this place who were glad to see him.

John Williams and wife attended the Mrs. Sarah Moyer funeral at Spring Mills on Wednesday.

George R. Dunlap spent the early part of the week with his wife, who is a patient in the Bellefonte hospital. Mrs. Dunlap underwent a serious operation on Monday and her many friends are hoping for her early recovery.

Homer Grubb and Sam Homan made a trip to Lancaster early in the week and returned on Tuesday with sixty-five head of "feeders," ranging in age from two to three years and some of them weighing over a thousand pounds. Messrs. Grubb and Homan will use up their grain and rough feed in putting the animals in shape for the butcher's block this winter.

Among the people from this section who will go to Harrisburg tomorrow to attend the wedding of Claude G. Aikens, of State College, and Miss Ruth Elizabeth Townsend, of the State capital, are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McHess. The wedding will take place in the Grace Methodist church and the ceremony will be performed by the bridegroom's father, Dr. C. T. Aikens, of Selinsgrove. A reception will follow the ceremony after which Mr. and Mrs. Aikens will take a brief wedding trip before locating at State College.

After attending the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Hess will motor to Selinsgrove to visit Mrs. Hess' parents.

Americans Write Shorter Letters Than Formerly.

Americans are writing shorter letters. This statement was confirmed by comparative figures made by the Post-office Department upon the weight of the average letter that goes through the mail.

Back in 1907 on the average there were forty pieces of first-class mail to every pound.

Now the data shows that there are forty-five pieces of first-class mail to every pound. This means that the weight of the average letter is less and therefore shorter.

CASTORIA

Bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. In use for over thirty years, and The Kind You Have Always Bought.

PLEASANT GAP.

Miss Jean Noll is visiting her mother and friends at Woodlawn, Beaver county.

Robert Carl is incapacitated from work on account of a severe attack of lumbago.

Rev. Kebaugh will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning at 10:30.

We are decidedly in favor of the Crinoline, providing foreign emigration is prohibited.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Furey, of Williamsport, spent Sunday at the William Florey home.

Miss Mary Hile left Sunday for Lock Haven, where she is taking a course in the Lock Haven Normal.

Mrs. Blanche Fetterhoff returned home on Sunday after spending a three week's vacation with friends at Williamsport.

Miss Harriet Frazier, of Spring Mills, spent the week-end at the D. F. Rimmey home. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Frazier, of Pittsburgh, likewise spent Sunday at the Rimmey residence.

Ward Hile, a student of the Valparaiso business college, has been spending his vacation with his parents but left on Saturday to resume his studies. He thinks he will not return until he graduates.

Miss Emeline Noll, of Philadelphia, is spending a two week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noll Jr. She says she likes Philadelphia very much but at the same time admits that there is no place like home.

Our Whiteoak quarries are forging ahead nicely; there is, however, a shortage of men so that they are hampered somewhat. The orders for their product are almost beyond their capacity, the necessary men not being available. A first-class product requires no recommendation. The Whiteoak lime has few equals and no superiors, hence the demand.

All kinds of garden truck is being eliminated from the gardens. About all that is left is cabbage, which, by the way, thrives best after the frosts materialize. Next in order is that of housing the apple crop. Apples are falling at a frightful rate, in consequence of which our orchardists will pick the fruit about two weeks earlier than is customary. Where spraying was neglected apples will lack keeping quality.

Never exhaust yourself in trying to entertain your friends, for they, like you, will relish best something new, and not having it, the next time you will be a complete failure, to their complete disgust; whereas, if you succeed the second and third times, to interest them, you avail in retaining their favor, and also your own confidence, that you can do as well again.

Does Prohibition prohibit? We might as well ask, do bootleggers prosper? Recent statistics scarcely justify the enormous outlay of the millions expended by our government for the maintenance of the army of men employed in an effort to stop the sale of intoxicating liquors. The production of industrial alcohol in the Keystone State alone jumped from 4000 gallons last January to 175000 in August. I will not attempt to answer the above queries but will submit them to the public for consideration under existing circumstances.

Some people are worrying about the coal situation, when, in fact, there is not the least cause for alarm. From present indications anthracite and bituminous coal will be a drug on the market three months hence. Hungry men find it wise to hustle, and many of our miners are hungry, caused by the recent uncalled for idleness. The production of coal from the numerous mines in the country during the week ending last Saturday, is by geological survey estimated at 10,500,000 tons. Of this vast production bituminous yielded 9,500,000, and something like 950,000 tons of anthracite. Now then, the consumption of coal among the consumers was fifty per cent. less during the recent trouble than before the strike. People resorted to wood burning in a great many instances, from compulsion, and many will give preference to wood instead of coal, simply because they find it cheaper and they have become acclimated to the enforced change. There is an abundance of wood in sight. Greens valley alone has sufficient excellent hard wood to supply all of Bellefonte for five years. When our neighbor, Will Noll purchased the A. V. Miller estate farm he acquired enough of stove wood along the Nittany mountain to Gilltown to supply every family in Pleasant Gap for ten years. No use of shouting before you are hurt. The coal producers and the miners will eventually be the greatest sufferers.
