He was brought to the death house last Saturday by automobile and was the most unconcerned man in the party. No one claiming the body he was buried in the penitentiary cemetery.

UNVEILING OF MONUMENT.

Milesburg's Big Celebration will be Held October 19th, 20th and 21st.

Plans are fast maturing for the big home-coming and unveiling of the soldier's monument at Milesburg which will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 19th, 20th and 21st. While the complete program has not yet been made up Friday will be the big day. On that date the monument to the soldiers of Milesburg and Boggs township who served in recent wars will be dedicated with elaborate ceremonies. While several prominent men have signified their intention of being present the speaker for the occasion has not yet been selected.

The ceremonies, however, will include a big parade composed of five units of cavalry of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, American Legion posts and ex-service men, a number of bands, the rehab students and cadets, of State College, civic organizations and school children. Immediately following the parade the monument will be unveiled and dedicated.

The tablets bearing the names of the soldiers were received last Friday and have been placed in position on the monument. That same evening the committee of arrangements selected the dates for the dedication. Inasmuch as the dates for the big time are only two weeks away the committee is working hard to get everything in shape for that time and is being assisted by John B. Payne, commander of the Brooks-Doll post of the American Legion. Ex-service men everywhere are asked to report at Milesburg on that occasion.

Steve Zimmerman Acquitted.

Considerable interest centered around the trial last week of Steve Zimmerman for causing the death of Joe Surovice, at Clarence. The trial took up all of Thursday, the jury retiring at five o'clock. It was almost midnight when they reached a verdict, which was sealed and returned at the opening of court on Friday morning. The verdict of acquittal seemed to meet with the approval of the majority of those who heard the trial. Zimmerman, according to the evidence, was a member of the miner's union and had gone out on a strike with the other miners. He has a wife and eight children to support and later when he got an opportunity to go to work he took it. This, he alleged in his testimony, which was corroborated by other witnesses, resulted in considerable feeling against him. In the fight which resulted in the killing of Surovice on May 18th, Zimmerman testified that he had been attacked by two men whom he had disposed of when Surovice came up in a threatening attitude and believing he, too, was going to attack him struck him with the iron bar; not with the intention of killing him but as a means of self-defense. Surovice's skull was fractured and he died as the result of his injuries.

Rally Day in St. John's Lutheran Church.

Annual Rally day will be observed in St. John's Lutheran church with a series of splendid services, featured with addresses by S. S. Apin, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Dr. John I. Woodruff, of Susquehanna University.

At the 9:30 a. m. Sunday school hour, special music will be rendered by the orchestra, the school and the primary department. Mr. Apin will speak on the subject, "What Does the Sunday School Mean to You?" At 10:45 a. m. Dr. J. I. Woodruff, dean of the department of English at Susquehanna University, will speak on "The Challenge of the Sunday School." Dr. Woodruff is an educator, lecturer, orator, and ex-member of the State Legislature. At the 7:30 vesper service Dr. Woodruff will preach the sermon. Visitors will be welcome at any or all of these meetings.

Music Club Notes.

The total receipts from the three musical teas given by the Belleville music study club were $88.90. Of this amount $60.00 will be given to the Belleville hospital and $28.90 will be devoted to paying the club's dues to the State Federation of Music Clubs. Thus it will be seen that the music club is not to be just a local organization, but one having the advantages of a federated alliance with others throughout the State.

And that these advantages are not to be mythical is evidenced by the promise from headquarters in Pittsburgh to send gratis a very fine pianist and singer for the opening of the club, which will be on October 13th, in the Presbyterian chapel. On that occasion the public will be cordially welcomed. Afterward, at the bi-monthly meetings, members only will be expected.

Alpiners Hike to Snow Shoe.

Fifty or more members of the Pennsylvania Alpine club met at Milesburg last Saturday morning and hiked over the Allegheny mountains to Snow Shoe, going by way of Moose run and visiting the "ant city" enroute. At Snow Shoe the majority of the hikers camped out and Saturday evening had a camp fire, the principal speaker being Major Robert J. Stuart, commissioner of forestry. Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, the president of the club, was in charge of the hike. The entire party returned home by train on Sunday afternoon.

The Thimble Bee of the ladies of the Reformed church will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Meyer, corner Spring and Lamb streets, this (Friday) afternoon.

Miss Helen Calderwood, who came here from Tyrone with the American Lime and Stone company, has been transferred to the office at the company's plant at Union Furnace.

The Susquehanna river at Williamsport was within a quarter of an inch of the low water mark on Monday. The record was made over one hundred years ago so that the present condition is lower than any resident of that city has memory of.

Mrs. Walter Armstrong entertained Mrs. McKelvey's bible class of the Methodist church, Tuesday evening, at her home on Bishop street. The special and free will offering taken during the evening, which amounted to fifty dollars, is to be equally divided between the Centenary fund and the church home for children, at Mechanicsburg.

The many Belleville friends of Harry Schreyer, of Chicago, will be glad to know that he is now on a fair way to permanent recovery, after suffering the amputation of his right arm as the result of a bad case of blood poisoning. Mr. Schreyer, years ago, was in business in Belleville and since leaving here has returned for frequent visits, so that he has kept in touch with his old friends and the town generally.

Last Thursday evening Eli Rolley, who conducts a meat market at Karlsruhe, was on his way home from Phillipsburg with a truck load of meat and ice, and in the vicinity of Woodland his truck ran off the road and upset. A piece of glass from the broken windshield severed a vein in Rolley's neck and he almost bled to death before a physician could reach him. He was later taken to the Clearfield hospital for treatment.

Last week Belleville friends who keep pretty close tab on the big trout in Spring creek discovered one that was almost entirely covered with a fungous growth, evidence that it was pretty badly diseased. Game warden Mosher's attention was called to it and on Friday, after securing permission from the burgess to discharge a firearm within the borough limits, he shot the trout as it lay in the stream just opposite the Bush house. The first shot missed the trout but on the second try he punctured it right back of the head. The dead fish was taken out of the stream and buried.

Since becoming president of The Pennsylvania State College Dr. John M. Thomas has gotten considerable space in the newspapers of the State in advocating changing the College into a State university, but on no occasion was he able to cop the space that Hugo Bezdek and his football team did on Sunday with almost a full page in the Philadelphia Public Ledger and the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times. The college team, by the way, defeated William and Mary college on Saturday by the score of 28 to 7, the visitor's score being made on a fumble in the first few minutes of the game.

Gifford Pinchot, the forester candidate for Governor, visited Belleville last Friday afternoon and if it hadn't been for the big trout in Spring creek he would have found little entertainment during the half hour he spent in town. Escorted by Republican county chairman L. Frank Mayes Mr. Pinchot and his party came here from State College and stopping at the Bush house the candidate was at once taken out along Spring creek to see the trout. The ex-forester is an enthusiastic fisherman and naturally waxed jubilant at the sight of the trout. In a few minutes, however, he returned to the Bush house probably anticipating a rousing reception but the gathering was so small that it didn't take long to look them all over and evidently considering the trout the greater attraction he returned for another look at them. The Pinchot party was accompanied by a half dozen newspaper men and not one of them had the temerity to mention the reception in Belleville in their reports.

"Once a Moose always a Moose," may not have originated with Sam Haupt but he gave it proper emphasis the night many years ago when the Belleville lodge was properly incorporated with a big banquet at the Brockhoff house and Sam had incorporated to that extent that he was obliged to cling to one of the lamp posts in front of the hotel while promulgating the above declaration, which was the first thing that came to our mind last Saturday when we received the September issue of "The Kardex," the monthly publication of the American Kardex Co., and saw almost the entire front page covered with a picture of W. A. Moore supporting a monster pair of moose antlers. Mr. Moore was one of a party from southern New York who recently returned from a hunt near the Arctic Divide, in Canada, and the picture shows their camp with the trophies of the chase. The fact that Mr. Moore was the central figure of all the trophies leads us to conclude that he was the Big Sachem of the party, as he once was the big chief at the Nittany Iron company plant in this place.

Low Water and Raccoons Depopulating Trout Streams.

If the present unusual drouth continues much longer many of the small trout streams in Centre county will be entirely depopulated, not because the fish are being left high and dry on the rocky beds of the stream but because of the depredations made by raccoons on the finny tribe. It is a well known fact that coons like fish about as well as a colored gentleman likes possum but when the streams are well supplied with water they are not always able to satisfy their appetite.

The present dry spell is as pronounced in Centre county as in other parts of the State. The last rainfall of any consequence was on the 4th of September and there was not enough of it at that time to affect the mountain springs and streams. The consequence is many of them are so nearly dry that only the deeper pools are still in evidence. This is particularly the case with Laurel run, which flows out of the Bear Meadows, past the Nevel place and through Tusseyville. It has always been well stocked with mountain trout.

But now a good portion of the stream is almost dry and the trout have all gathered in the deeper pools. And unfortunately the pools are not deep enough to afford protection to the fish and the raccoons are, literally speaking, scooping them out by the paw-full. It at first was a puzzling situation to the game wardens in that locality and they were finally driven to desperate means to save the trout. At intervals along the stream they have blown out deep holes with dynamite and these when filled with water will afford hiding places for the trout until the stream is again filled with water.

While Belleville friends cannot realize what it means to be short of water, as it is one of the favored spots in the State, Milesburg people are down to a limited supply and many farmers in the county have been hauling water for weeks past. The weather man has promised local showers for this week but it will take several days steady rain to affect the springs and low streams.

Canine Sagacity.

On Thursday afternoon a gang of telephone linemen who are working in this part of the State drove into Belleville and with the gang was Foster McGovern, a Belleville man. The gang also had a dog, which is part airedale, and as they intended hanging up here a day or two McGovern took the dog to his father's home in Crider's stone building and asked them to keep him. Some time during the evening the dog got out of the house and disappeared and all efforts to locate him in that locality proved unavailing. Finally members of the family thought of the linemen's truck and going to Beatty's garage the dog was found on the truck and no amount of coaxing could persuade him to leave it. Food was given him and he stayed there until the men returned.

It then developed that it is one of the dog's regular duties to guard the truck when the men are at work. It matters not how far away they go the dog stands guard and will not allow a stranger to touch a thing. When he is off guard duty, however, he is just as playful and companionable as any dog could be. His actions in Belleville showed wonderful canine sagacity, because he was a stranger in town and how he found his way from the McGovern home to the truck at the Beatty garage is inexplicable.

A Plea for Near East Relief.

All Centre county has heard the cry that has come across the sea from devastated Smyrna. Near east relief, according to the newspapers, is being apportioned among the refugees, but to do much good it must have substantial backing.

Earlier in the year the committee, for lack of funds, was forced to cut down its appropriation for the orphanages. Now this additional burden has come. Hundreds of new refugees! Words fail as one tries to picture this awful calamity. One man cables, "I have seen terrible sights until my senses are numb, but the sight of 200,000 people, mostly women and children, being penned up and burning, and those escaping being driven to a barren and devastated country for starvation, is past all comprehension."

Every dollar sent to Charles M. McCurdy, First National bank, Belleville, treasurer for Centre county Near East relief, will be forwarded at once to headquarters, and will be used for a relief which must be immediate.

Women Voters Hold Convention.

Only a fair crowd was present at the annual convention of the Centre county branch League of Women Voters, held at Camp Boal, Boalsburg, last Friday. Mrs. Koche, vice president, presided and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Hamm, the secretary. The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. R. S. Brouse, of Belleville. A box luncheon was served at noon and later brief talks were made by candidates Fred B. Kerr, J. Frank Snyder, W. I. Betts and Miss Zoe Meek. A letter of regret from Thomas Beaver was read. The convention adjourned in time to permit of all who cared to do so to go to State College for the Pinchot meeting.
