Bellefonte, Pa., December 8, 1922.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Santa Says Buy It At Fauble's
—Read the opening chapters of "The Blind Man's Eye" in next week's "Watchman." You will find them intensely interesting.

—The "hit-and-miss" sewing bee will meet on Saturday afternoon, at the Y. M. C. A., at 2 o'clock. With or without rags hit it, not miss it.

—The regular session of December term of court will be held next week. No very important cases are up for trial and the sessions will hardly last the week through.

—A blind man's eye is naturally supposed to be a bad eye, but by reading the new serial to be started in this paper next week, "The Blind Man's Eye," you will probably learn more about it.

—Former postmaster S. W. Smith, of Centre Hall, has been awarded the contract for carrying the mail from the railroad depot to the postoffice in that town, making his first trips on Wednesday.

—According to manager Elliott Lane the "Watchman" was misinformed last week as to the cause of the fire at the Imperial gas tanks on Tuesday, which he says was not caused by a cigarette stump but by a spark from the electric pump.

—Don't forget to attend the sale to be held by the Woman's Aid society of the Presbyterian church, in the chapel, next Thursday afternoon and evening, December 14th, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. You will find there aprons, fancy and plain; all kinds of fancy articles, home-made bread, cakes, and candy.

—At a recent meeting of the Centre county Farm Bureau executive committee a resolution was adopted providing for putting the Bureau on a paid membership basis. Accordingly an amendment to the constitution which will permit this change in the present organization will be voted on at the annual meeting December 23rd, 1922.

—Penn State went down in defeat at the hands of the Pitt panthers on Thanksgiving day by the score of 14 to 0. The State warriors held Pitt during the first half but were unable to keep up the good work and the Pittsburgh kickers scored in both the third and fourth periods. State's team will now begin work for its trip to the Pacific coast.

—The brick work on J. O. Heverly's new building on Allegheny street has been completed and every effort will be made to get it under roof before snow falls. With that accomplished and heat installed the interior can be completed during the winter. The foundations for the Harter building adjoining the Heverly building have been completed but the brick work will not be done until next spring.

—Only fourteen more shopping days until Christmas but that is no reason why you shouldn't spend your evenings at the scenic watching the motion pictures. Two hours entertaining relaxation every evening will relieve your mind of the vexatious worries of holiday buying and you can start out with renewed energy and fresh for another day in the shops. Remember every evening's program is worth seeing.

—Special gift boxes of food, clothing, candy, toys, dry goods, books, etc., will be shipped Thursday, December 14th, by St. John's Lutheran church, to the Tressler orphans' home, a Lutheran institution at Loysville. Members of the congregation and others who wish to contribute anything to this splendid piece of holiday work may leave their gifts in the church basement Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

—One of the largest legal papers ever entered for record in Centre county is a mortgage for four million dollars executed by the General Refractories company in favor of the Commercial Trust company, of Philadelphia, to secure bonds for that amount issued by the company in taking over the various brick plants in this and other counties. The mortgage fills over one hundred and fifty typewritten pages in the docket. It has been entered for record in Centre, Clinton, Clearfield, Blair and Huntingdon counties, as well as in counties in Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois and Wisconsin. The total of the recording fees will run into thousands of dollars.

—The painters have almost finished their work on the interior of the First National bank of Bellefonte then all that will remain to do will be a thorough cleaning out and placing of the new furniture. From all appearances the remodeled bank will be in shape to take over before Christmas and it goes without saying that every member of the force will be glad to get back. The marked changes which have been made in the interior arrangement almost doubles the working space behind the counters as well as the lobby of the bank for the accommodation of its numerous patrons. Practically all the interior finishing is in marble and bronze, while the floor in the working portion of the bank is of cork. Every equipment will be the most modern obtainable so that the bank will compare favorably with any institution in the central part of the State.

MANY BUCKS SLAUGHTERED. Biggest Kill of Deer Ever Recorded in First Week of Season.

Twenty-five or thirty years ago, before the days of the drastic game laws for the protection of deer, the old Gentzel hunting club would come in with a wagon load of deer, the spoils of several week's hunt in the Green woods. This year a dozen hunting parties got their limit of six deer the first few days of the season hunting in the Seven mountains and the total slaughter is perhaps greater than in any season two decades ago. Of course in those days anything in the shape of a deer was fodder for the hunter's gun, but with bucks the only legal deer to kill the does are preserved for propagation purposes, and that is the big reason why the kill of bucks is so large.

And it is almost impossible for a buck to escape. In Centre county alone almost 5,500 hunter's licenses have been granted and, while not every man who took out a license is out after deer, it is a safe guess that the big majority of them will be on the trail at least a portion of the time during the season. In addition, hunting parties from almost every section of the State from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh are scattered over Centre county mountains, and it is a wily buck, indeed, that is able to evade the horde of hunters and live through the fifteen days of the season.

Of course, with such an army of hunters in the woods some does are sure to fall prey to the over-anxious hunter, and the number so far this year is in excess of any former years. In fact so many does have been killed in one way or another that the Bellefonte hospital is overstocked and on Monday three deer were sent from Bellefonte to Philipsburg for use at the Cottage State hospital. Up to last Saturday three does had been received in Bellefonte consigned to the hospital, and on Saturday five more and two bucks with invisible spikes were brought in. Monday added four more, one of which was a buck, the seventh killed by a hunting party in mistake. While the party was not liable for the fine they were compelled under the law to surrender the deer. Two of the does brought in had broken necks the result of becoming entangled in wire fences while fleeing from the hunters. Most of the illegally killed deer were from the Seven mountain section, although two or three came from the Alleghenies.

All the deer brought in for the hospital were sent to Gettig's meat market to be skinned and dressed and it might be of interest to the public to know that every deer skin, head, etc., must be sent to the Game Commission in Harrisburg with the tag attached telling where they were found and by whom. If the butcher wishes any of the skins for tanning or any other purpose he can buy them from the Game Commission for $1.50 apiece.

At this writing it is impossible to give an accurate count or even estimate of the number of deer that have been killed, but the following will show the success of some of the hunting parties:

The Bradford hunting party, of Centre Hall, got their limit on Monday and returned home Tuesday.

The Sweetwood party, of Georges valley, also got their limit on Monday.

The Decker valley hunters encamped at the John Decker farm, got their limit on Monday.

The Coburn crowd, hunting on the lower end of the Seven mountains, got their limit the first day of the season.

The Woodward Rod and Gun club hunted all day on Friday, and while they saw many deer did not get one. On Saturday they bagged three. Editor T. H. Harter, of Bellefonte, was with the club on its first two day's hunt.

The Roaring Run club camped on the mountain south of Pine Grove Mills, had their limit by Saturday noon. Two of their deer were four pronged bucks, two three pronged, one two pronged and one a spike buck.

The Charter Oak crowd and a party from Hollidaysburg each had two on Saturday evening.

Among the lucky hunters on the other side of the mountain was Lester Sheffer, of Milroy, who got a fine buck on the opening day.

A party of Blair county hunters got three the first two days hunting in the neighborhood of Pennsylvania Furnace.

Controller Ray Smith and Dr. Fred Robinson, of State College, joined Al Grazier and party of Tyrone friends, twenty-four hunters in all, in a day hunt near the Grazier place in Huntingdon county. They got three before noon on Friday and one in the afternoon.

But one of the best stories of all has to do with a half dozen State College students. When the reports came in on Friday regarding the good luck the hunters were having many of the students decided to get some venison for themselves. So borrowing guns they trudged over to the Seven mountains on Saturday and by noon six of them were back at the College each with a buck.

L. H. Gettig and party returned from the Seven mountains on Tuesday afternoon with their limit of six bucks. During the first two days of the season they got only one but on Monday they bagged four and on the first drive Tuesday morning got the other one.

The Slack party, of Centre Hall, came out of the woods on Tuesday with six deer, having shot two the first day, two on Saturday and two on Monday. They were located at Stone mountain.

Day hunters from Centre Hall and vicinity to the number of eighteen have so far brought in three deer, one of which was shot by Charles Arney.

The Modock club, of Boalsburg, bagged seven deer in the first eighteen hours of the hunt. The extra deer was shot by mistake on the last drive and was promptly reported and turned over to a game warden for delivery to the Bellefonte hospital. With his usual luck Samuel M. Hess brought down the biggest buck, one with ten points. Two of the others had eight points and two six.

Up in the western end of the county James Kline has the honor of bringing in the first deer on the opening day, a six pronged buck by 8:30 o'clock in the morning.

The Woodrow Wilson club, mostly from Pine Grove Mills, got their limit and were home by Saturday night.

The Pine Grove Rod and Gun club have 3.

The Grazier crowd in Kail Hollow, 4.

The Roosevelt Juniors at the McCormick springs 6.

Shamokin hunters on Stone mountain, 2 deer and a bear.

The Lightner crowd at Old Monroe furnace 5.

The Holmes party, of State College, 3.

The State College Rod and Gun club 3.

The Pine Hall crowd 2.

The Scotia crowd 1.

The Gearhart party 1.

Bellwood hunters 2.

The Fleetfoot club 2 deer and a wild cat. This club entertained a large crowd at a chicken and duck dinner on Sunday at their camp south of Shingletown.

The Riley crowd, of Boalsburg, have 5.

The Raymond crowd 6.

The Zeigler party 1.

The Cadman group 1.

The Fillmore party 6.

Day hunters who got their deer include Ed Isenberg and Mr. Manning, who both shot their buck on the Ham-ill Goheen farm near Baileyville on Saturday morning. Guy and Fred Rossman each got one.

The best story of the season comes from Potters Mills. A party of hunters stopped at the hotel there and on the opening day went about a mile into the mountain and shot a buck. They carried it back to the hotel and while they were dressing it another buck came down off the mountain and got caught in a wire fence. One of the men in the party shot it and it was carried in. About ten minutes later another buck came down on the other side of the town and it also got caught in a wire fence. Another member of the party shot it, so that the crowd got three without any hard work.

While it is impossible to give the correct number of deer killed during the first week Forester McKinney reports in his district alone, in the Seven mountains, 113 bucks and 9 does have been brought to earth.

Harry Peters, a Ferguson township youth, shot a buck on Tuesday near the Glades school house.

The Sunday-Rossman crowd came in on Tuesday with their limit of six.

The Waddle hunting club came in from the Bear Meadows with six.

The total deer killed in the Coburn district is given as 25; in the Woodward district 17 and in the Brush mountain district 22.

There is hardly any question but that the Seven mountains are today the best deer territory in Pennsylvania. Years ago the Alleghenies were the favorite hunting grounds but hunters don't meet with the success there that those do who go to the Seven mountains. As an example, the Redding party hunting on Pine Run have only 1.

The Chambers-Uzzle party 2.

The Houser party 1.

The McCloskey gang 3.

Viehdorfer party at Pine Glenn 2.

The Yarnell-McMullen party in Sugar valley have 1.

The Weaver crew, of Hublersburg, came home from the Bear Meadows on Wednesday with 6.

Yesterday a resident of Pine Grove Mills whose name could not be learned telephoned to the Bellefonte hospital and asked if they would take a wild turkey. He stated that there was a big gobbler in his back yard and if they could use it he would kill it and send it down. Just how the gobbler got there is unknown at this writing but if it reaches the hospital according to the man's promise it will be refrigerated and kept for the Christmas dinner at that institution.

"Orphans of the Storm."

The lavishness and splendors among the aristocracy of the French Revolutionary period are historically portrayed in "Orphans of the Storm," the new D. W. Griffith picture sensation adaptation of "The Two Orphans."

Glittering courts, splendid dream-like fetes in silvered gardens, fountains of wine, cathedral doors and far away spires, coral-like forest vistas, squalid underground vaults, great public squares maddened hordes dancing the Carmagnole in the lawless streets of Paris, silk clad grand-dames with monumental white wigs, barricade battles between hungering mobs and bayonet-bristling lines of infantry, frenzied dashes of cavalry through narrow lanes; and peaceful countrysides. Of all these, "Orphans of the Storm" is a marvelous panorama—take it on the word of already convinced reviewers.

In Bellefonte Friday and Saturday, December 8 and 9. Matinees at the Scenic, nights at opera house. Imported orchestra. See other adv. for particulars.

Elk's Memorial Services.

The Bellefonte Lodge of Elks was organized about fifteen years ago and since that time thirty-three members have passed away. In accordance with the usual custom memorial services were held for the deceased members, in Petrikin hall on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. Grand exalted ruler G. Oscar Gray presided and music appropriate to the occasion was furnished by a selected choir. The address was delivered by Rev. David R. Evans, pastor of the Presbyterian church. In his talk he eulogized the order in general for its charitable and benevolent character and spoke particularly of the good work done by the local lodge year after year. He also spoke of the contemplated drive for the Bellefonte hospital and suggested that it would be a great help if the Bellefonte lodge would assist in the drive.

Two Men Electrocutted.

The eastern and the western parts of the State were represented in a double electrocution which took place at the Rockview penitentiary on Monday morning. The first man was Walter Troy, a former railroad policeman, of Pittsburgh, who was convicted of murdering his wife after trying to blame the crime on his eight year old son Albert. He was taken to the chair at 7:12 and pronounced dead at 7:19. The second man was Harry Way, a twenty-three year old colored man of Lancaster, who killed Zacharias Keller, a retired evangelist and horse dealer, at Mount Joy. He was taken to the chair at 7:25 and pronounced dead at 7:31 by Dr. Hoch. The bodies of both men were claimed and were shipped to their homes for burial.

Centre County Man buys Airplane for $500.

Henry Noll, proprietor of Noll's garage at Pleasant Gap, has invested in an airplane and is the first man in Centre county to own a flying machine. The main reason for his buying the same was most likely the fact that he got it dirt cheap, paying just $500 for it. It is a Curtiss plane manufactured in Canada and more generally known as "Canuck" or "Canadian Jenny." The machine was purchased from a Mr. Fleming, at Brookville, who had used it for exhibition purposes.

Mr. Noll secured the services of aviator Slim Lewis to bring the plane to its new home and they both went to Brookville on Sunday. Lewis gave the machine a pretty thorough examination and finally decided it would fly to Bellefonte, but he refused to allow Noll to come along as a passenger. He left Brookville shortly after three o'clock on Monday afternoon and it was a quarter after five o'clock in the evening when he landed on the aviation field. He came through without any mishap but averred he could almost have pulled the machine as fast as it flew. The machine is in fair shape but the motor has done about one hundred hour's service and needs overhauling. It is still at the aviation field as the new owner will probably want to take some lessons in flying before he tries it out.
