PLEASANT GAP.

Live in the heart of the times, and you will be in the heart of the people. Mrs. Elizabeth Kirk, who has been absent from the Gap for the past few weeks, has returned and is surely welcomed by her many friends here.

The less you do for your children, the more opportunity they will have to do for themselves, and this is what they shall have to learn or be undone. Although the wisdom of this world is foolishness, yet the preacher must spend a good deal of money acquiring it, before the people will listen to him preach.

The entertainment held in Noll's hall last Friday night for the benefit of the W. A. Horner Methodist Sunday school class proved a decided success. A neat sum of money was realized toward the progress and advancement of the class.

The easiest people in the world to entertain are those who insist on doing all the talking themselves. Of course they make a great show of vanity but if they talk the least bit instructive they are more endurable than indifferent and listless hearers.

Henry Noll gave our people quite a treat by way of an elaborate exhibition with his airplane. He circled over Pleasant Gap for a few hours and proved that he is master of the situation. Everybody, and especially the children enjoyed Henry's liberality.

Quite a number of deer have been seen in Greensvalley the past week, and three were traversing the woods in the vicinity of the Sand springs, on the property of the penitentiary. The have evidently been driven from the Seven mountains since the slaughter began on the opening of the season.

Quite a number of the employees of Whiteoak quarries are working over time, owing to the fact that they are unable to secure a sufficient number of men. This is to be regretted since an abundance of orders are awaiting shipment. The Whiteoak product analyzes almost 100 per cent., which fact accounts for the unusual demand.

Now that the gift season is approaching, a few pointers might not be out of place. It is always best to get small gifts, for then no great ingratitude can result; and ingratitude being an abstract idea, and not susceptible of measurement, there can be no such thing as great and small gratitude; for gratitude is gratitude, and knows no degrees of entertainment or manifestation.

The teamsters of the McNitt Lumbering company, who have been busily engaged in transporting mining props from the Lonebarger tract for the past four months, have been laid off owing to lack of orders. Thousands of props have been shipped from the Pleasant Gap station the past four months. The lay-off is a great disappointment to the teamsters but for the time being is unavoidable. The surplus stock has been shipped to mines all over the State. The same firm has thousands of choice railroad ties ready for shipment as soon as a demand for the same materializes.

Just here a hint may be dropped for the benefit of mothers-in-law. The polygamous husband who has half a dozen or more wives, each blessed with a mother, is the meekest man in the world. He might be bold and abuse his wife if there were only one mother-in-law to face, but when a half dozen or more loom up before his mental vision, he concludes that meekness is more profitable than mastery. This is certainly one of the strongest arguments in favor of polygamy, especially from woman's standpoint. However, all mothers-in-law are not cranks or busy-bodies. I was blessed with an exceptionally good, kind, generous and conservative mother-in-law; her untimely departure I can never forget.

Miss Jean Fatkin Noll, adopted daughter of Mr. John T. Noll, the young lady who a year ago graduated with distinction from our High school, always had a desire to become a trained nurse. In fact she was born a nurse. A few weeks ago she conceived the idea that she would forward her application to the University of Pennsylvania hospital, at Philadelphia. Her application was accompanied with recommendations of a most complimentary character. Jean was notified by the hospital authorities a few days ago that her application was duly received and passed upon favorably, and requested her to report for duty on January 15th. She is about the happiest mortal at the Gap. She says it means three years of hard work. All her friends here predict a successful career for her. She seems to be born to succeed in anything she undertakes. She never sacrificed her sympathies on the altar of pride and deceit.

Here is a poser: Does the character mould the form, or does the form give shape to the character? Shakespeare seemed to think that the form was designed to suit the character. He probably inferred this, as had all others, from the fact that the face and figure reflect the disposition of the inner man. If he did not know, it has been learned since, that a good physique plays an important part in social and business affairs. For this reason women are desirous, above all things else, of being beautiful, or at least good looking. Men are often proud of their elegant forms, but when they are anxious to look pretty they become womanish. A pretty woman is tolerable, but a pretty man is not. She may have many good qualities, but he rarely has any at all. There are handsome men as well as handsome women. Handsome signifies a form agreeable to the standard of correct taste; endowed with a certain gracefulness of manner; and marked with propriety and ease.

If the prevailing desire was to be handsome, and rational efforts made to become so, no fault could be found with either women or men on the score of physical culture. It is possible, even probable, that our progress in science, our increase in wealth, and our fame as a rising nation would not be so great, but we would be a healthier and a happier people.

The happiest individuals in this world are those who are so constituted that they grow to full size, have good appetites, can witness the antics of a rat without screaming, and get their feet wet without taking their death of cold. The greatest difference, however, is to be noted in the homes. In one there may be order of that cold, formal type which makes one doubt that "order is heaven's first law;" in the other there is ease and dignity, light and warmth, health and happiness.

Our town had another fire scare on Sunday morning just as the churchgoers were on their way home from service. A small fire was discovered at the saw mill near town but a bucket brigade succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they got a good start, thus averting a costly blaze.

J. A. Fortney and wife attended the public sale of John I. Markle, at Bellwood last Saturday. Owing to the recent death of his wife Mr. Markle, who is an employee of the Pennsylvania railroad, has disposed of his personal effects and will make his home with his brother Samuel, in that place.

The cosy residence of J. Harry Williams, on east Main street, was the scene of a happy gathering, last Friday evening, when many friends and neighbors gathered to help Mrs. Williams celebrate her birthday anniversary in a proper manner. She was the recipient of many valuable as well as useful presents. Delicious refreshments were served in abundance and the evening proved a most delightful one for all present.

Hunting reports are still coming in. Among the late lucky shots were Carey Shoemaker, William Miller, Sinie Reish, George Reed, Albert Lutz and John W. Miller. A big bear was brought in on Tuesday but we failed to hear who shot it. The Dreiblebis party have succeeded in bagging three bucks and the Fleming crowd two. Rev. J. O. C. McCracken, of Juniata, joined the Pine Grove Rod and Gun club this week in hopes of getting a shot.

Within the Law.

A salesmanlike looking inspector stopped over night in a small town Kansas hotel and was surprised to find a dirty roller towel in the wash-room. Indignantly he said to the landlady: "Don't you know that it has been against the law for years to put up a roller towel in this State?"

"Sure, I know it," replied the proprietor, "but no ex post facto law goes in Kansas, and that there towel was put up before the law was passed."

MEDICAL.

A Useful Pain
Bellefonte People Should Heed Its Warning.

Have you a sharp pain or a dull ache across the small of your back? Do you realize that it's often a timely sign of kidney weakness? Prompt treatment is a safeguard against more serious kidney troubles. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Profit by a Bellefonte resident's experience.

Mrs. Mary Lose, 212 E. Bishop St., says: "A few years ago my kidneys became affected and I suffered awfully. I was hardly ever free from distressing backaches. I was so miserable I could scarcely keep going to do my housework. I also had spells of dizziness and frequent headaches. My kidneys acted irregularly. Doan's Kidney Pills, purchased at the Mott drug Co., were not long in bringing relief. I have depended on Doan's ever since when I have had an attack and I know they are reliable."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lose had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. 67-49
