WOODROW WILSON.

Man of an hour supremely dread, Seer of a day decreed to come, Priest to a world whose faith had fled, Heir to its crown of martyrdom

A voice approved of men who weep, A pledge of hope from lips of fate, A spring of dawn from out the deep A noon of peace from night of hate.

A dream! God dreamed in days of eld And wrought his works in majesty; And well, through all, the dream was held Where God's own self is history.

Long is the test of time's forsooth And long the wait of right on earth: White is the light that lightens truth, And fierce the fires that fashion worth.

But God fulfills himself at length, And wisdom justifies her ways And builds with arches hewn in strength The house begun in ancient days.

Past are the selfish screeds of men. The party phrase, the fugle cry; High up the page a hermit's pen Has set a name that shall not die

The moment's multitudes disperse And barren leave the breach they trod; But living ages shall rehearse

Startling Automobile Facts.

An esteemed Philadelphia contemporary makes the startling statement that "the records of the State are so kept that no one who tries can discover how many automobiles are owned by the State, who uses them, for what purpose they are used, how much they cost in repairs, or how much it costs Gibbs for many years. to keep them supplied with gasoline. "Let us hope," adds our optomistic how is it to be achieved? Larry township. The pall bearers were Har- na Bland, Mrs. L. C. Zindle, all of Eyre in control of the Senate affords the House gives no greater encouragement to the hope. This automobile "exhibit" in the "mess at Harrisburg" was brought into public notice in a peculiar manner. A subordinate in one of the departments had an accident, some months ago, through reckless driving, on a highway in Cumberland county. Inquiry revealed the fact that the machine was owned by the State and of a very expensive type. The driver, a relative of an organization favorite, was identified and the inquiry ended, though it is said the incident cost a nomination for Govrnor of Pennsylvania. All sources of information concerning State owned automobiles were closed to the public in consequence, however, and thus some interesting facts are forever buried. There are some general facts concerning the State owned automobiles accessible to persons sufficiently curious to pursue the subject. The records show that the State owns about one hundred passenger cars and several hundred trucks, most of them in service in the Highway Department. Shortly after the close of the war the federal government presented to the State a lot of trucks suitable for highway work but the State parked them through a severe winter in open lots and let them rust to death. Those responsible preferred to buy trucks rather than accept gifts for one reason or another. Meantime the repair bills paid and nobody knows why.

Governor Pinchot Officially Inaugurated on Tuesday.

Mr. Pinchot became the thirtieth Governor of the State of Pennsylvania who escorted the new Governor to the speakers' stand, while the great guns of a National Guard battery boomed out a salute of seventeen guns.

The traditional ceremonies of the inauguration of Governors in Pennsylvania were followed, while great crowds filled the space in front of the capitol, among them many neighbors and friends of the Pinchot family from northeastern Pennsylvania and a large number of foresters and forestry workers from all over the State who had gone to the capitol to see their former chief inducted into office.

Senator Frank A. Smith, chairman of the inaugural committee, greeted (Friday) morning by Rev. Father the incoming and retiring Governors. Origin on "Talk Turkey."

Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, gives this explanation of the origin of the countrywide expression, "Talk Turkey."

"Two men, a white man and an Indian, agreed to hunt together for a day, and to divide the game at sundown. When the dividing time arrived there was no difficulty in apportioning the smaller birds and animals -one of a kind to each. But trouble arose when they reached the last pair, which happened to be a turkey and a

"'Now,' says the white man, with a great show of fairness, 'you may have the crow, and I'll take the turkey; or I'll take the turkey, and you may have the crow.' "'Huh!' says the Indian, 'why you no talk turkey to me?"—National Republican.

Indications Point to Big Nash Year. Nash Motors on January 9, had on hand more orders for delivery this month than were booked in any pre-vious month in the history of the company with the exception of May and June of last year. The year just closed was the greatest twelve months period in the history of the Nash Motors company. Total sales of Nash passenger cars in 1922 more than doubled shipments made the previous year.

One interesting phase of the 1922 record is that the last six months of the year eclipsed the first half period in point of sales. In other words, 1,005 more cars were shipped by the factory from July 1, to December 31, than were shipped between January 1 to June 30, which period included, of course, the natural spring demand.

January, February and March last year started the breaking of Nash previous records with a volume of sales for that period that exceeded the same 1921 period by more than 51 per cent. Then followed April and May, months that made Nash history. The usual mid-summer let-down had no appre-ciable effect on the Nash demand with the result that during these months, record after record was broken. In September the automobile industry as a whole fell off 24 per cent. as against August and in that month Nash motors gained 8 per cent. over August.

Improvements and refinements which began going into Nash cars the latter part of the year and which have been completed for the automobile shows have met with instant approval on the part of the public with the result that for months past the demand has left the factory in an oversold condition. This has resulted in plant extension now in process of completion.
