High School Musical Comedy Next Wednesday and Thursday.

Final rehearsals are now being held for "Wi Hung's Tea House," the Japanese fantasy and musical comedy to be given by the Bellefonte High school glee club in the opera house on February 7th and 8th, and everybody connected therewith is confident they will be able to give the best presentation in the history of this organization.

"A Box of Dolls," a little sketch by twelve clever tiny tots from the grades in both buildings, will be given between acts and will, in itself, be worth more than the price of admission. In addition there will be fans, parasol and lantern drills that are very picturesque.

Arrangements have been made with large Philadelphia and Pittsburgh theatrical concerns for elaborate stage settings and costumes. Miss Mary McSuley, of Bellefonte, has contributed a dainty tea house that will add considerably to the charm of the oriental setting of the first act. The manual training department has a real rickshaw under way.

The colored posters in the various shop windows are the work of Miss Margaret Buser, of Altoona, and are calling forth considerable favorable comment.

The glee club promises many times the low cost of your ticket, hopes for two packed houses, and would like to put out the "standing room only" sign each night.

Local Electric Light and Power Co. Again Changes Hands.

Negotiations have just been completed whereby control of the Keystone Power Corporation has been acquired by the American Water Works and Electric company, Inc. The home office of the latter company is in New York. Mr. J. George Kaleb, of Rochester, N. Y., retains a large interest in the Keystone company and is to remain as its president.

Arrangements have been made with the West Penn Power company, one of the subsidiaries of the West Penn company—which is also controlled by the American Water Works and Electric company—whereby the Keystone company will be managed and operated by the West Penn organization.

Careful studies of the territory supplied by the Keystone Power Corporation have been made by representatives of the West Penn system and they have expressed themselves as being very optimistic concerning the future industrial growth of this territory. While definite plans for future enlargement of the local system have not been worked out it is stated that the first aim of the new management will be to provide for the best quality of service to existing consumers and for increasing sources of power as fast as the market for using it can be developed.

Mr. George E. Silloway on Near East Relief.

Mr. George E. Silloway is regional director for Near East relief, being in charge of the States of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and West Virginia. It was through his efforts that the State of Pennsylvania was able to take care of thousands of orphans in the orphanage in Alexandropol, Tiflis and adjacent towns in the Near East.

Mr. Silloway has been connected with the Near East relief since its incorporation by Congress in 1919, and previous to that achieved signal success in Red Cross work. His wonderful success in Pennsylvania is due to his remarkable personality, his broad christian spirit and his self sacrifice. His many duties in the capacity of regional director have prevented him from speaking on his favorite theme, that of Near East relief, and it will be a great opportunity for the members of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church to hear him on Sunday morning.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Kilpatrick were summoned to New York last week on account of the sudden death in that city of the doctor's father, Mr. Clark Kilpatrick, a celebrated artist of Pittsburgh and Paris. Mr. Kilpatrick had visited in Bellefonte on various occasions, the last trip here being last Thanksgiving. In addition to his wife and son, Dr. Kilpatrick, he is survived by one daughter. Burial was made at Conneville, the place of his birth, on Sunday.

GRAY.—Durbin Laurie Gray, a former Bellefonte boy, passed away at the United States Veteran hospital, West Haven, Conn., on Sunday, following a siege of illness that dates back to his service in France during the world war when he was a victim of a German gas attack. Prior to going to West Haven he spent some weeks at Mont Alto but failing to respond to the treatment there was removed to the Veteran hospital mentioned above.

He was a son of Durbin S. and Mary Laurie Gray and was born in Bellefonte almost thirty-seven years ago. His father died four months before he was born and the entire responsibility for his care and education fell upon his mother's shoulders. He attended the public school in Bellefonte and finally entered State College for a course in civil engineering but quit college before graduating. He made engineering his profession, however, and on leaving Bellefonte went to Philadelphia. He laid out the town of Brown's Mills, New Jersey, and assisted materially in the early stages of the building operations there. He was one of the engineers who helped in laying out Camp Dix, the big training camp in New Jersey and when his work there was completed he enlisted for service in Company C of a regiment of engineers raised in Philadelphia. In due time he was sent overseas and saw almost two years service in France. Some of it was road building back of the lines but much of his work was in the fighting zone and a portion of it with the first line troops preparing roadways and bridges preliminary to the advance of the soldiers. It was while thus engaged that he suffered the gas attack that undoubtedly resulted in his illness after returning home. When he returned from France he located in Wellsboro and it was while living there that he was married to a young woman of that town.

Two years or more ago he became ill and at the solicitation of friends moved to Mont Alto for treatment but failing to improve he was finally moved to the Veterans hospital at West Haven. He put up a good fight but the struggle was in vain and he passed to his reward on Sunday, his mother being with him at the time.

The remains were brought to Bellefonte on the 9:50 a. m. train on Tuesday and taken to the home of Miss Mira Humes where funeral services were held at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. David R. Evans of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Dr. A. M. Schmidt, of the Reformed church, after which burial was made in the Union cemetery.

MILLER.—Mrs. Eliza Jane Miller, wife of Wilbur C. Miller, passed away on Sunday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Ray, who lives near the plant of the Chemical Lime company, following a lingering illness with a complication of diseases.

She was a daughter of Jacob and Eliza Albright and was born in Pennsylvania April 26th, 1859, hence had reached the age of 63 years, 9 months and 2 days. She is survived by her husband and four children, Mrs. Henry Tressler, of Rock; Mrs. William Garrety and Charles O. Miller, of Coleville, and Mrs. Ray, in Buffalo Run valley. She also leaves one sister and two brothers, Mrs. Samuel Breon, of Pine Grove Mills; Samuel Albright, of Cedar Springs, and Joseph, of Boalsburg.

Funeral services were held at the Ray home at one o'clock on Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Reed O. Stealy, of the United Evangelical church, after which burial was made in the Shiloh cemetery.

ZERBY.—Robert H. Zerby, a member of the firm of The Lauderbach-Zerby Co., died at his home in Philipsburg at two o'clock on Tuesday morning as the result of an attack of pneumonia. He was born in Williamsport a little over fifty-six years ago. Twenty-five years ago he went to Philipsburg and accepted a position with Platt, Barber & Co. and has remained with the same firm ever since, becoming a member when the company was reorganized a number of years ago under the firm name of The Lauderbach-Zerby Co. He married Miss Cora Hoover who died in 1899 and his survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Roy Scheffer, of Philipsburg, three brothers and one sister.

KANE.—Mrs. Bridget Kane, for many years a resident of Bellefonte, died on Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Canty, in Altoona, as the result of complications due to her advanced age. She was born in Ireland eighty-seven years ago but came to this country as a young woman and lived in Bellefonte until the death of her husband about thirty-five years ago, since which time she had made her home in Altoona. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. R. D. Haup, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. Thomas Canty, of Altoona. Burial was made in the Calvary cemetery, Altoona, on Tuesday morning.

CROTZER.—The remains of Isaac Crotzer, who died at his home in Johnstown on Sunday morning, aged sixty years, were taken to Lock Haven on Tuesday afternoon for burial. Mr. Crotzer had lived in Johnstown twenty years and was employed in the pattern shop of the Cambria Steel company. His survivors include three children, two sisters and a brother, one sister, Mrs. N. Wagner, and the brother, James Crotzer, being residents of Bellefonte.

STIVER.—Perry O. Stiver, a native of Centre county and a brother of Mrs. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte, died quite suddenly of heart failure at his home in Freeport, Ill., on Wednesday of last week. His health had not been good for a year or more but early on Wednesday morning he remarked that he felt better than he had for some time. He ate his breakfast and did some chores around the house and about 9:30 o'clock sat down in a chair and was talking to his wife. Suddenly he ceased talking and going to him Mrs. Stiver was horrified to find him already dead.

He was a son of Thomas J. and Mary Bike Stiver and was born at Potters Mills, Centre county, on October 30th, 1855, hence was 67 years, 2 months and 25 days old. He was educated in the public schools of Potter township, the Pine Grove Mills Academy and a normal school and at an early age began teaching. He taught twelve years in Centre county and in 1876 went to Illinois, but in the fall of the same year he returned home. The lure of the middle west, however, had gotten into his blood and in 1878 he again journeyed to Stephenson county, Ill., and that had been his home ever since. The first eight years of his life there were spent in teaching school and in 1886 he was elected county superintendent of schools, a position he filled two terms, or eight years. Upon his retirement he purchased an interest in the Freeport Bulletin, which he retained until publication of the paper was suspended several years ago. In politics he was a staunch Democrat and was one of the leaders in his county for many years. In 1898 he was a candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction but was defeated at the election. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Masonic order, the Odd Fellows and Modern Woodmen of America.

He was married to Miss Effie J. Mingle, of Centre county, who survives with no children. He was one of a family of nine children, only two of whom survive, namely: Dr. Roland J. Stiver, of Freeport, Ill., and Mrs. J. E. Ward, of Bellefonte. Burial was made at Freeport on Saturday.

BREON.—Samuel Breon, a well known resident of west Ferguson township, died on Tuesday, January 23rd, at his home near Marengo, following an illness of several years with rheumatism and other complications. He was a son of William and Mary Long Breon and was born near Millheim sixty years ago. He followed farming all his life. He was a lifelong member of the Reformed church and a good citizen in every way. He is survived by his wife but no children. He leaves, however, three brothers, John Breon, of Struble; Alva, of State College, and William, in Nebraska. Funeral services were held at his late home at two o'clock last Friday afternoon by Rev. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, after which burial was made in the Pine Hall cemetery.

HOY.—May Hoy, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoy, of Pleasant Gap, died at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning as the result of leakage of the heart following an attack of the grip. She was born in Spring township and was eleven years old on the 14th of this month. She was a bright and interesting child and will be greatly missed by her parents and young associates. Funeral services were held in the Lutheran church at Pleasant Gap, at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, burial being made in the Lutheran cemetery.

LYLE.—Ira Lyle died at his home at State College on Sunday evening as the result of a stroke of paralysis. He was seventy-six years old and a veteran of the Civil war. Surviving him are the following children: Alvin Lyle, of State College; Frank, of the Branch; John, at home; Mrs. Jessie Houtz, in College township; Mrs. Russell Shreffler, of Lemont, and Emanuel, in the State of Washington. Mrs. Annie McCurdy, of Lemont, is a surviving sister. Burial was made at Houseville yesterday morning.

WEAVER.—James M. Weaver died last Thursday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Meyer, of Coburn, as the result of heart trouble. He was a son of Adam and Rebecca Young Weaver and was 72 years, 5 months and 26 days old. He married Clara Hosterman, who died two years ago, but surviving him are two children, Mrs. Meyer and L. L. Weaver, of Millheim. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. L. D. Orndorf, of Woodward. Burial was made at Woodward on Tuesday morning.

MEYER.—The remains of Mrs. Samuel B. Meyer, who died in the Masonic home at Elizabethtown, Lancaster county, last Wednesday, were brought to Bellefonte last Friday and taken direct to the Union cemetery for burial. Mrs. Meyer was seventy years old and for many years a resident of Milesburg. She leaves two children, H. H. Meyer, of Bellwood, and Miss Iva, living near Philadelphia.

WILSON.—Santford Wilson died at the Bellefonte hospital last Thursday following an illness of six weeks. He was sixty-six years old and is survived by one son, whose whereabouts are unknown, and one sister, Mrs. Nancy Ross, of Milton. Burial was made in the Union cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

A very attractive electric sign was put up by the Electric Supply company yesterday.

Centre Countians in Evidence at State Farm Products Show.

The Centre county Sheep and Wool Growers' association won second and third rating in the exhibit of three-eighths wool, and fourth in the county exhibit of medium wools, at the State farm products show in Harrisburg, last week, according to county farm agent J. N. Robinson.

Centre countians were very much in evidence at the show and W. F. Rishel, of Centre Hall, sold two bred gilts from his exhibit in the State Berkshire bred sows and gilts during the week.

A. C. Kepler, of Pine Grove Mills, bought an exceptionally good Duroc Jersey sow at the first State consignment sale of Duroc Jersey bred sows and gilts on Thursday. The animal is a richly bred Orion Cherry King sow, with an exceptionally good show record for herself and offspring. The wisdom of Mr. Kepler's purchase was shown the following day when the sow was placed third in a class of fourteen that were sold at the sale. This makes the third Duroc sow Mr. Kepler has purchased in the past few months.

Centre countians who attended the show were county farm agent J. N. Robinson, John B. Payne and Hon. Thomas Beaver, of Bellefonte; J. W. Miller, J. J. Markle, J. C. Thompson and J. S. Dale, State College; J. M. Campbell, A. C. Kepler and wife and I. G. Harpster, of Pennsylvania Furnace; John G. Miller, of Pine Grove Mills; D. H. Way and Reeder Patton, of Port Matilda; J. Will Mayes, of Howard; Prof. Bennett and Thomas Hosterman, of Spring Mills; W. F. Rishel, R. P. Campbell and Harry Bartges, of Centre Hall; Harold Brundage, of Rebersburg; Roy Vonada and Lester Beaver, Millheim; Melvin Miller, Hubersburg.

Death of a Centenarian.

Last week the "Watchman" carried an obituary notice of George W. Lingle, Centre county's oldest resident, who lived to be almost one hundred years old, and three days after he was laid to rest Clearfield county's oldest resident died in the person of Mrs. Anna Guelich Heisey, who was in her 107th year. She was born May 5th, 1816, and her exact age was 106 years, 8 months and 22 days. She was a daughter of G. Philip and Sarah Haney Guelich, her mother having been born and raised at Milesburg, this county. Mrs. Heisey, however, was born and spent her entire life in Clearfield county, the past few years with her grand-daughter, Mrs. Don Gingery, in Clearfield. She was one of a family of nine children only one of whom survives, Mrs. Sarah Guelich Ritter, aged 90 years, who lives at Garden City, Mo. She was the mother of seven children and outlived all but one, Miss Alice Heisey, of Pittsburgh.

Several weeks ago a gentleman representing himself as a salesman for the Howe Computing Scales company, canvassed Centre county in the interest of cash registers and supplies. His specialty seemed to be trading in old registers on rebuilt ones, offering such a good allowance for the old machines that the inducement was too good to overlook. Of course he also exacted a deposit of cash on the trade and after working Bellefonte, State College, Pleasant Gap and possibly other towns he disappeared. The new registers failing to arrive an investigation was begun and the fact was discovered that the man in question had not been with the Howe Scale company since December 15th. All efforts to locate him have proved futile up to this time. Some of the payments made to him were in checks drawn to the order of the Howe Scale company and as these have been returned with the endorsement of that company it also looks as if the gentleman in question has been guilty of forgery as well as false pretense.

Mid-Year Graduation at State College.

Mid-year graduation exercises were held at State College this week when approximately seventy men and women were granted diplomas. This is one of the largest mid-year classes ever graduated by the college. Six of the graduates were women, while a total of five advanced degrees were also conferred at the exercises.

President John M. Thomas conferred the degrees and also made the address to the graduating class. The exercises were informal, the formal commencement always taking place in June. Several graduates were members of former classes whose graduation was delayed because of military service.

The schools of engineering and liberal arts claimed the bulk of the mid-year graduates, each having a total of twenty-four. Agriculture came next with fifteen, while mines had three, natural science 2, and the department of home economics one. Eleven of the graduates had completed the course in commerce and finance, with industrial engineers next in line with eight graduates.

Among those who received degrees were W. F. Leitzell, of State College; D. K. Adams, Milesburg, and H. F. Babcock, State College.

Marriage Licenses.

Julius Arnold, Ocoela Mills, and Ruth Brown, State College. John T. McCool and Mabel Q. Crader, Spring Mills. Charles W. Heverly and Sarah R. Close, State College. Paul W. Tomco, Benore, and Nellie E. Harshbarger, Port Matilda.

PINE GROVE MENTION.

Ralph Musser is confined to his home at Rock Springs with pleurisy. N. O. Dreibleis and wife were callers at the J. E. McWilliams home on Friday evening.

Joe E. Johnson is nursing a badly infected finger, the result of a puncture by a rusty nail. Archie Laird, of Saulsburg, has arranged to take the S. C. Miller farm in the Glades on April first.

Mrs. Margaret Wheeler, of Duncirk, N. Y., is spending a week among her many old friends in the valley. S. E. Ward and L. E. Kidder, of State College, were callers the other day at the I. E. Walker home near town.

Samuel Zettle is suffering with a nervous breakdown, his condition being such as to cause his family some concern. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fleming were entertained at dinner on Sunday at the Mrs. S. E. Peters home on east Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gearhart moved to State College on Tuesday and are now snugly located in the Snyder apartments. Rev. J. S. McNally and wife were entertained at dinner on Tuesday at the Rev. Robert E. Peters home at State College.

Farmer H. S. Illingworth is shy a good cow which was smothered to death by the toppling of a straw stack last Friday morning. Grandmother Mary Harper, the oldest woman at Fairbrook, is now enjoying a visit with Miss Margaret Reed, on east Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krumrine braved the elements on Thursday and motored to the Mountain city on a business and shopping trip. After a month's visit among relatives at Howard, Miss Irene Pletcher returned on Monday afternoon to the C. M. Dale home on the Branch.

Road supervisor C. H. Meyers with a big scraper and four horses, and a crew of men, has been busy this week opening up the township roads. Among those who are grip victims this week are Mrs. J. H. Strouse, Mrs. J. W. Miller, Miss Ida Sunday, Mrs. Annie Fortney and Miss Sue Darnley.

Among the late arrivals last week were a little girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Homan, on the Branch, and a little daughter at the David Noll home near town. Today that pesky little critter, the woodchuck, will prognosticate the weather for the next six weeks, but let us all hope it won't be a procrastination of winter.

Hall Krebs, a former Pine Grove Mills boy but now a substantial resident of Altoona, has been calling on his old friends in this section this week, mixing business with pleasure. Our mutual friend, Ben Everhart, has tossed his hat in the ring as a candidate for County Commissioner in Huntingdon county, and we know of no man who would make a better official.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shirk and master Willie, of Boalsburg, enjoyed the sledding on Tuesday and were entertained at the W. H. Glenn home on east Main street. Samuel Everhart has a force of men engaged in getting out timber for the erection of a large henry. He will quit the farm in the spring and go into the chicken business. Ralph Walker will be the tenant on the farm he now occupies.

Sledding parties constitute the chief diversion in this section nowadays. A party from Fairbrook and Pennsylvania Furnace, chaperoned by Eugene Irwin, were entertained at the W. E. McWilliams home on Tuesday evening. The next night a party from Pine Hall sledded to Rock Springs and made merry at the G. Mac Fry home.

Mrs. Randall Rossmann accompanied her husband on his R. F. D. mail route last Friday and in going through some deep drifts their rig upset. Mrs. Rossmann was thrown out in such a way that she sustained a broken right arm and a number of scratches and bruises. She is being cared for at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Elder while Randall is baching it at his home at Baileyville.

James McCool, of Charter Oak, will be the tenant farmer on the J. E. Saucerman farm at Rock Springs the ensuing year. Charles Harpster came over from Petersburg last Friday in quest of a farm and was successful in renting the Col. Theodore Davis Boal farm on the Branch, now occupied by A. Stine Walker, who will retire in the spring. There are still several farms in this section for which tenants have not been secured.

The first of the series of farm bureau meetings was held in the school house here on Tuesday evening, with a fairly good crowd of farmers in attendance. County farm agent J. N. Robinson was in charge and outlined the object of the gathering. Prof. Walker, of State College, gave an interesting talk on corn as the king crop. He emphasized the fact that clean and good seed is essential to a good crop. The next meeting will be next Tuesday evening, when the subject will be young hogs. The following Tuesday evening dairying will be discussed. Farmers are urged to attend these meetings.

JACKSONVILLE.

Harry DeArmit resigned as teacher of our grammar school on Tuesday of last week but the school was reopened on Monday with Homer Yearick in charge. Harry Hoy and son have been doing a big business the past few weeks in dressed pork and beef, with a side line of eggs, poultry, apples, potatoes, etc. They also deal in furs, pelts and hides.

Miss Rosetta Yearick, one of our efficient young ladies who is employed as a stenographer in Bellefonte, has been housed up at her home here several days with illness, but is now improving. Mrs. Mary Resides, of Williamsport, is visiting at the home of her daughters, Mrs. Clyde Yearick and Mrs. Leon Monteith.

CENTRE HALL.

C. F. Deininger, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Lucy Henney. Mrs. William Rees and daughter Lois visited Mr. Rees, at Avis, over Sunday. Mrs. P. S. Garis and children, of Altoona, visited at the Byron Garis home several days.

Harold Keller spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Keller, during the week. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lohr, of Rutledge, and Miss Annie Lohr, of Boalsburg, visited in Centre Hall from Friday afternoon until Saturday afternoon. Rev. Keener, of Lancaster, filled the pulpit in the Reformed churches at Tusseyville and Centre Hall, last Sunday. Rev. Keener was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradford, over Sunday.

Among our sick are T. L. Smith and Mrs. T. L. Moore, both of whom are improving. Mrs. V. Auman and Mrs. William Homan were also sick after the Odd Fellow's banquet, having contracted heavy colds. Orvis Weaver and family were in town several days looking after the vacating of their house, recently sold to Samuel Stump. The Weavers will remove all their household goods to their new location in Mill Hall, in the near future.

Dr. A. W. Shaab, a chiropractor of Bellefonte, had negotiated for the C. M. Arney home with the intention of moving to Centre Hall but owing to the fact that such a move would necessitate his closing his office at Millroy he has decided not to make the change. A deal has been closed whereby C. D. Bartholomew, of Centre Hall, will become the owner of the Mrs. L. A. Goodhart farm, west of Spring Mills. J. Frank Ross, who recently purchased this farm, has taken over the Roland Zettle farm, southeast of Spring Mills, recently purchased by C. D. Bartholomew. Considerations on the deal have not yet been made public.

Bible Story Telling Contest.

The Central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is promoting a bible story telling contest through its conference board of Sunday schools. The young people of high school age are preparing dramatic and biographical bible stories. The plan is to hold a contest on the local charge on or before February 17th, 1923. The winners of the local church contests within a sub-district group then enter a group contest on February 24th. There will be twenty-five or thirty such contests this year.

The winners of the group contests of the four districts will meet at the First church, Altoona; Grace church, Harrisburg; St. John's church, Sunbury, and Pine Street church, Williamsport, respectively, on March 3rd and will compete in four district contests. District superintendents, Dr. E. M. Stevens, Dr. E. R. Heckman, Dr. J. E. A. Bucke, and Dr. E. A. Pyles will preside in the contests in their respective districts. The winners of these contests will go to the seat of the annual conference, Grace church, Harrisburg, March 10th and will compete for conference honors. Two prizes will be awarded there, first, a scholarship valued at $25.00 toward attendance at the Dickinson summer school of religion held at Carlisle, July 2-12; second, one valued at $15.00 toward attendance at the Eagle's Mere Epworth League institute held at Eagle's Mere, Pa., June 11-18.

CHICKENS ALWAYS COME HOME TO ROOST

This has been proven many times. Whether lost or stolen, chickens will make every effort to get back home at resting time. It's just the same with the human family, only we fail to realize that there is a resting time. Defective eyes are working from the time they awake in the morning until they retire at night, and are only at rest when asleep or when wearing properly fitted glasses. If in doubt about your eyes consult Dr. Eva B. Roan, Optometrist. Licensed by the State Board. Bellefonte every Wednesday afternoon, and Saturday 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Rooms 14 and 15 Temple Court building. State College every day except Saturday. Both phones. 68-
