With three borough councilmen out of town and one or two housed up with bad colds it was impossible to get a quorum for the regular meeting of council on Monday evening. However, there was nothing very important in view and one meeting more or less will make little difference at the end of the year.

The ruling of the Postoffice Department requiring all patrons on free delivery routes to provide either a mail box or an opening in the door for the delivery of mail on or before March 1st, is to be rigidly enforced, so if you have not already complied it will be a wise thing to do so before next Thursday. Otherwise your mail may not be delivered.

The annual football dance given by the students of the Bellefonte Academy will take place this (Friday) night, February 23rd, in the armory. It promises to surpass any former football dance in every particular. Lovers of a pretty dance with superior music are cordially welcome from Bellefonte and all over the county. Remember that Harmon's orchestra, of Williamsport, is great.

On Tuesday the Detrick & Dunlap Cadillac company took over the big Kelley garage on the corner of Allegheny and Bishop streets, Bellefonte, which has been occupied by Willis Wion ever since it was built several years ago. They will carry a line of Cadillac and Buick cars and will have an exhibit at the automobile show in the armory March 7th to 10th inclusive. Mr. Wion has gone into the Haag barn, which he will convert into a complete garage and continue handling the Nash and Franklin cars.

Aikens, of State College, spent Friday night in Williamsport attending a meeting of the recently organized Horseshoe Trail association, which was held at the Lycoming hotel. A fund of one thousand dollars was raised as a nucleus to advertising the new trail which will extend from Williamsport to Cumberland, Md., and which will include Bellefonte as one of the pivotal points.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather of last week was the coldest of the winter motion picture fans found the Scenic comfortable every evening during the week and the splendid programs of pictures shown were worth going to see, even though it was cold. The quality of the pictures shown is the big drawing card at the Scenic, and its many patrons never suffer disappointment. If you are not a regular patron of this popular place of amusement, you miss many good ones, that is the reason why you should be a regular.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Lauderbach-Zerby company, held in Philipsburg last Wednesday, E. M. Griest, long the secretary of the company, was elected vice president and general manager over all the stores, succeeding Robert H. Zerby, deceased. Mr. Griest has been with the company twenty-two years, starting in Bellefonte when the branch store was first opened here. Much of the responsibility for the management of the firm has fallen on his shoulders in the past so that his promotion will add very little to his responsibilities.

AUTO DEALERS ENTHUSIASTIC. Big Show to be Held in Bellefonte will be Best Ever.

In less than two weeks the second annual auto show, given under the auspices of the Centre County Automobile Dealers' Association, will be in full swing in the Bellefonte armory and from present indications it will exceed any former show ever held in Bellefonte. In the neighborhood of fifty high class cars, representing thirty or more of the standard manufacturers, will be on exhibition, while there will also be a line of trucks and auto accessories of all kinds.

The show will afford a splendid opportunity for prospective purchasers of cars and trucks to look them all over before deciding on the make to buy. Every auto dealer in Centre county outside of Philipsburg will be represented while district agents from other towns will be in attendance with some of the latest models.

An elaborate program of the show is now in the course of preparation which will contain not only a list of dealers and cars represented but much other information which will make it a valuable souvenir to retain for future reference.

The ticket selling contest for big cash prizes is now in full swing but there is still an open chance for many more young ladies to win out. Any person desiring to enter should write the show manager, W. C. Rowe, and get a supply of tickets.

Last year over two thousand people attended the Centre county show and every one of them declared it to be the best of any held in Central Pennsylvania. Inasmuch as the show this year will exceed that of last the attendance ought to be comparatively greater. Everybody is welcome to attend, whether they want to buy a car or not.

Don't overlook the dates, March 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th.

To Institute Chapters of Order of DeMolay.

The Bellefonte commandery Knights Templar have started a movement for the institution of a Chapter of the Order of DeMolay in Bellefonte and one at State College. The new order, which was founded in Kansas City three years ago, is for boys and young men between the ages of 16 and 21 years. Up to this time almost three hundred thousand young men have been enrolled as members of the various Chapters instituted in the United States. The first Chapter in Pennsylvania was instituted in Pittsburgh last week with 1107 members. George T. Bush, of the Bellefonte Chapter Knights Templar, went to Pittsburgh to make a study of the work of instituting the new order.

The ritual is founded on the life of Jacques DeMolay, the last grand master of the Knights Templar of the Crusaders, who was burned at the stake for refusing to divulge the secrets and the names of his fellow members in the order. The principles of the order teach right living, filial love, reverence, courtesy, comradeship, fidelity, cleanliness and patriotism, and uphold the bible, the public schools and the flag.

That Perennial Panther.

Once again that mythical panther that has roamed the mountains of Central Pennsylvania ever since the wreck of the Walter L. Main show almost thirty years ago, has come to light over in the Seven mountain section, according to a story coming from the lower end of Pennsylvania. Report saith that one night during the fore part of last week two men left Coburn to go to their homes some distance east of that town. While walking along the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad they were startled by a blood-curdling wail on the side of the mountain, and as both are old hunters they feel confident that the wail was that of a panther. According to Col. Shoemaker's mountainous tales the last panther in Pennsylvania was killed by George Hastings on the mountains above Beech Creek, many years ago, and if there is a real, live panther wandering over the mountains in this section of the State at the present time it must be one of the wild animals that escaped from the Main show, or a lineal descendant, at least.

Radio Fans, Take Notice!

To the fans in Bellefonte and nearby towns. You have received word from the broadcasting stations all over the country to send them a message as to how and from where you are getting their program. Mr. L. W. Miller, manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, will keep his office open until ten o'clock this (Friday) night to give the fans an opportunity to send their message to the broadcasting stations. Every one is urged to get their message to the Western Union office early so it can be gotten through in good time. The message will then be repeated back to the sender over his own radiophone. Don't forget the time, this (Friday) evening.

St. John's boys club plans to present its third annual minstrel show on Thursday and Friday, April 12th and 13th. Rehearsals are now under way and the show promises to be better than ever. Put down the date now in your engagement book, so as to be on hand. The proceeds will go towards the camp fund of Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America.

Bellefonte friends of J. Claude Dawson, of Philadelphia, a former resident of Bellefonte, will be interested in learning of his further advancement in railroad circles, he having recently been elected vice president of the Traffic club of the D. L. & W. railroad.

A liberal patronage is asked for the food sale to be held tomorrow (Saturday) from nine in the morning until three in the afternoon, in Olewine's hardware store. The sale is under the auspices of James Parrish's class, of the Episcopal Sunday school, composed of fourteen boys, whose mothers will contribute all the good things to be placed on sale. The proceeds will be the class Lenten offering to the church.

In four days last week three hundred and forty cars of freight were shipped out of Bellefonte. And this, notwithstanding the extreme winter weather which prevailed at that time. Of course the bulk of business was limestone but it is evidence of the fact that the limestone industry in this section is picking up considerably and will probably improve in the spring. The big question then will probably be the availability of cars to handle the business.

Mr. J. R. Hughes has been filling his ice house the past week with beautiful fifteen inch ice from his skating pond on east Bishop street. Any one in the county desiring to fill his ice house with ice suitable for cold storage plants, can cut it on the Hughes pond and haul it away at a very moderate charge. This ice is not suitable for drinking water, but is very good for cold storage rooms and refrigerators. Consult Mr. Chas. S. Hughes, Commercial phone, or Mr. James R. Hughes, Bell phone 45.

At an adjourned hearing before Squire S. Kline Woodring, last Friday evening, Joseph Cole and John McCartney, of Snow Shoe, were each fined one hundred dollars and costs for killing a deer illegally. On December 22nd, while hunting foxes, the two men came across a deer injured unto death and to end its suffering shot it. They later reported the shooting to the state constabulary but the law specifies that the injury of the deer should have been reported before the killing. W. G. Runkle, attorney for the two hunters, will likely appeal the case to court.

Howard Stover Buys Kelly Bakery.

Howard Stover early this week purchased from the trustee in bankruptcy the Kelly bakery fixtures and equipment in the Bush Arcade and at once went to work to clean out the place, overhaul the equipment and put the place in shape for operation. He will make a specialty of superior brands of bread, rolls, cakes and pies and expects to be open for business either tomorrow or Monday morning. The closing of the Kelly bakery was a great inconvenience to down town people, all of whom will be glad to know that it will soon be doing business again.

American Legion Reception.

Great preparations are being made by the Brooks-Doll Post No. 33, American Legion, for the public reception to State commander William B. Healy, to be held in the armory Tuesday evening, February 27th. Good boxing, in which a number of local wearers of the padded mitts will compete, has been arranged. Some splendid wrestling matches will also be put on. The main event of the evening will be the address of Commander Healy and it is quite likely a large crowd will be present to greet him and to hear him. The Woman's Auxiliary of the Legion has planned some tasty refreshments, and that feature will no doubt be very attractive. Included in the program for the party will be quartette music and a dance with a ten piece orchestra furnishing the music. You are invited to attend. The hour is 7:30.

Entertainment at Y. Tonight.

The next number of the Y. M. C. A. entertainment course, which will be given this (Friday) evening, will be one of the most attractive numbers, especially for young people and lovers of quartet singing. Cogswell, magician, will entertain the young folk and the Keystone Male quartet will render vocal and piano selections. The quartette includes, Walter Haas, first tenor; Ralph Steinbacher, second tenor; Leo Williamson, baritone; Forrest Williamson, basso, and Harry W. Williamson, pianist and director.

The program will be as follows: Oh! Hail Us Ye Free - Verdi Tenor Solo - In the Time of Roses Reichardt Bass Solo - When the Bells in the Light House Ring Ding, Dong Shattuck The Boys of the Old Brigade Parks A Mother Goose Tale Flint Piano Solo - Slumber Song Schumann Tenor Solo - Until the End of Time Petrie Annie Laurie Geibel Baritone Solo - Pal o' Mine Dixon Uncle Moon Scott Bass Solo - The Pirate Cumbert The Rosary Nevin America

A special offer is being made to any pupil of any Bellefonte school to admission at half price or 25 cents. Reserved seats can be secured at the Y office from Wednesday to the opening of the entertainment, at 10 cents extra. General admission, 50 cents.

$1,750,000 for Pennsylvania's Fatherless Children.

One million, seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars for mothers' assistance for the next two years is the amount carried in the appropriation bill introduced in the House of Representatives on January 29th. This is the amount which Governor Pinchot has allowed in his budget for the mothers' assistance fund. If approved by the Legislature this will provide, when matched by the counties, $1,750,000 for each of the next fiscal years.

Governor Pinchot acted in the interest of preserving the homes of Pennsylvania's fatherless children when he recognized the desperate need for more adequate funds and increased the mothers' assistance fund appropriation 75 per cent., the only department of the State government which was allotted an increase over its 1921 appropriation.

The last appropriation of $1,000,000 was sufficient to care for 2553 families, including 9257 children. On the waiting list are over 5000 families and 17,000 children who cannot be assisted for lack of funds. Even if the Legislature allows the full $1,750,000 there will not be sufficient to care for all. Although Pennsylvania has assumed in law, with forty other States, its responsibility for the care of these fatherless children it is now assisting only about one-third of the eligible families; homes are being broken up, children separated from their mothers and placed in institutions, or mothers who are struggling to earn a living and at the same time care for their children in their own homes are fighting a losing battle with poverty, under-nourishment, disease and neglect.

Governor Pinchot realized that home grown children are gilt edged investments. It costs at least $18 a month for each child cared for adequately in an institution. Philadelphia is paying $18.31 for each child boarded in an orphanage; but it costs the State only between $10 and $12 a month per child under the mothers' assistance fund.

But there is another argument for home grown children besides its economy. President Roosevelt said, "Home life is the highest and finest product of civilization." It is to preserve home life and a mother's care to Pennsylvania's dependent, fatherless children that the Legislature passed the Mothers' Assistance law in 1913. The Pennsylvania law is administered by unpaid county boards of women trustees who provide free medical aid for mothers and children, examine the school records of all children regularly, and advise with the mothers on all kinds of household and financial problems. The aim of the trustees is to help the mothers rear their children in normal homes in order that they may grow up to be healthy, useful citizens of the State. The portion of the appropriation heretofore allotted to Centre county has been entirely inadequate to meet the demands, and the local board of trustees are naturally interested in securing the increased appropriation.

Organized Women Work for Peace.

"If the organized efforts of women can avail aught, there is hope that this tired old world may some day be at peace." This is a natural observation when one learns of the activities of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, an organization that is bringing together the womanhood of all the nations of the world, and is moulding a sentiment for international peace.

What they want and what they intend to get is PEACE—peace for all the world for all time. They believe that just as in the past there has been a psychology of war, so in the future there must be a psychology of peace, and that this change in world psychology can be brought about at an infinitesimal cost when compared with the price of war.

Beginning on February 22nd, Washington's birthday, the Pennsylvania branch will begin an intensive campaign. They are asking the women of the State to declare themselves for peace—to have this relic of barbarism—war—banished from the earth, as duelling and slavery have been banished.

All those who wish to help in uniting all woman against all war can do so by joining and encouraging others to join. Literature and additional information can be furnished by Mrs. Robert Mills Beach, Bellefonte, Pa., chairman Centre county.

A burning flue set fire to the roof of the house occupied by the family of William Shaffer, on Logan street, last Friday morning, which resulted in a call for the firemen. Both companies responded and the flames were extinguished before they gained great headway or did much damage. The same evening sparks from the big furnace stack in the rear of Crider's Exchange fell on one of the windows and burned through into the kitchen of the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Gates. The window curtain caught fire and was promptly reduced to ashes. Fortunately Mrs. Gates was in the kitchen at the time and prompt action on the part of herself and husband extinguished the fire without the necessity of sending in an alarm, but not before a hole had been burned almost big enough for a man to crawl through.
