Early Sunday Morning Fire.

Shortly before two o'clock on Sunday morning George Ingram, of east of the late Thomas R. and Margery Lamb street, was awakened by a light shining into his room. At first he thought it the reflection from automobile lamps but noticing a peculiar flicker about the reflection he jumped out of bed to investigate and discovered that his house was on fire. An alarm was sent in as quickly as possible and both fire companies responded. ued in this until he sold the business The fire started in a small room on the east side of the kitchen and the firemen tried to extinguish the flames with chemicals, but the fire had eaten steel brokerage. up over the roof of the one story room and into the side of the main building so that it was necessary to put on the water. The northeast corner of the house and the roof on the south side are completely ruined. Practically all the furniture was gotten out of the first floor rooms but nothing was savis badly damaged by water.

The fire also communicated to the Hazel house on the east, which was unoccupied, and did considerable damage there. Mrs. Hazel had made preparations for the sale of her house- of the best coal in Pennsylvania, his hold goods and had most of them stored in a room in the southwest corner of the building, and all were considerably damaged.
