SEWER, PIPE LINE AND CHURCH.

Important Propositions Made to Borough Council.

Only five members were present at the regular meeting of borough council on Monday evening, the absentees being Messrs. Bradley, Brouse, Fauble and Waite.

Charles F. Cook was spokesman for a delegation of residents of east High street who appeared in regard to the extension of the sewer on Pike alley. Mr. Cook presented a petition, or agreement, signed by nine property owners, in which they offered to contribute ten dollars each toward the laying of the sewer and ten dollars when they tapped same. Mr. Cook stated that there would be eleven taps, which at ten dollars a tap would be $110, and $90 contributed by the property owners would make $200, or about one-half the cost of putting down the sewer. Council decided that if all the property owners would enter into an agreement to tap the sewer as soon as it is laid and pay the fee the proposition would be accepted and the matter was referred to the Street committee for further negotiation.

Daniel Snyder was present regarding the sewer running from Linn street up the alley to his property on east Lamb street. The sewer is of terra cotta pipe and is constantly being damaged by the heavy trucks going up that alley. Because of this fact Mr. Snyder offered to purchase five inch iron sewer pipe if council will put it down. The offer was accepted and the Street committee empowered to do the work.

The members of the board of trustees of the United Evangelical church were present in regard to purchasing from the borough that portion of the Phoenix mill property lying between Logan's branch and the public road leading out to the property of the Misses Valentine. S. D. Gettig Esq., one of the trustees, was spokesman, and he stated to council that the hope the congregation at one time entertained of purchasing the Valentine property in Bellefonte as a site for a model church building had been dispelled for various reasons. But the very substantial growth of the United Evangelical church renders it absolutely necessary to provide more room and they have already discussed tentative plans for the enlargement of their present church property. A Sunday school room will be built against the south side of the present edifice, probably this coming summer, and later the main building will be enlarged and improved. But before expending a large sum of money the congregation feel that they would like to be legally secured from encroachments of any kind, and to this end asked council to sell to the church that portion of the Phoenix mill property lying between Logan's branch and the public road, a strip of ground with about forty feet frontage. Mr. Gettig explained that the church did not want the ground for building purposes, but the ground as it has lain in the past has been an eyesore to that community. Every summer it is covered with weeds of various kinds and is a dumping ground for various kinds of refuse. If the borough will sell the land to the church it is the intention of the congregation to build a retaining wall along Logan's branch from the street to the breast of the dam, then fill up the lot and either sod it and beautify it with flower beds or else convert it into a parking place for cars. The main object is to keep anybody else from purchasing the ground and possibly erecting thereon a building that would not harmonize with the church surroundings. To own the property in question would also enable them to maintain the roadway where it is now and not have it shoved over against their church property. Naturally, Mr. Gettig stated, they are anxious to purchase the property as reasonable as possible, and he hoped council would consider their proposition favorably from every angle. Mr. Cunningham asked Mr. Gettig if, in the event of council selling them the property, it is their intention to close that roadway, and Mr. Gettig stated that it was not. That they all know it is a public highway and can not be closed. The matter was referred to the Street and Water committees for investigation and report at next meeting.

The Water committee reported the collection of $24.00 on the 1921 duplicate. The committee also reported that up to the present time three taps have been made on the new Halfmoon hill water line, within the borough, and thirteen taps on the extension beyond the borough line.

Mr. Cunningham also stated that residents of Coleville are asking for an extension of the water service to that village. At present there is only a small line running to one section of that town and it is not of sufficient capacity to supply all who would like to have the water. They ask council to extend a four inch line to the borough line and they will then extend it to Coleville, with the probable assistance of the American Lime & Stone company. It will require 1180 feet of four inch pipe to make the extension to the borough line and the cost of pipe and laying same will be approximately $1,000. Mr. Cunningham estimated that the receipts from such a line would be about $300 a year. The matter was held over for further consideration.

The Finance committee asked for the renewal of notes totalling $32,000, which was authorized. Bills to the amount of $1043.50 were approved for payment, after which council adjourned.

The new Blair County National bank building, at Tyrone, was opened to the public last Saturday, and everybody connected with that institution naturally thinks they now have just about the nicest bank building in the central part of the State. Hon. A. G. Morris, of Bellefonte, has been president of the bank for almost a quarter of a century, while F. K. Lukenback is vice president. Harry E. Jenkins is also on the roll of the bank's employees.

One hundred and fifty fans accompanied the High school basketball team from Phillipsburg to Bellefonte on a special train, last Friday evening, to witness the game with the Bellefonte High ball tossers. The game was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and both teams were enlarged to the limit, the visitors going down in defeat before the superior work of the Bellefonte boys. The final score was 29 to 21 in favor of Bellefonte.

The State Highway Department has announced that all oiling of highways will be done early this year so that the work can be finished by the first of July. It has also been decreed that only one-half of the road will be oiled at a time, application on the other half not to be made until the first portion oiled has soaked in. This will be good news to every owner and driver of a car, as there is no greater bug-bear to the average automobilist than a freshly oiled road.

Judging from the cold snap we had early in the week the ground he worked over-time, but he has nothing on manager T. Clayton Brown, who works over-time all the time in order to give the people of Bellefonte the cream of motion pictures at the Scenic. Sean the week-ahead programs published in the "Watchman" and you cannot help but be impressed with the fact that every night's offering is one worth going to see. All the stars in their most pronounced plays can be seen at the Scenic.

Telephone Company Sold for $525,000.

All the lines, franchises, equipment, right, title and interest of the United Telephone and Telegraph company was sold at public auction at Sunbury, last Thursday, by William B. McCaleb, receiver, to William W. Ryan, an attorney of Shamokin, for approximately $525,000. The lines extend from Chester county on the east to Blair county on the west, covering at least a fourth of the counties in the State.

Mr. Ryan, the purchaser, represented five-sixths of the bondholders, and stated after the sale that plans are already under way to greatly improve the property. The company had been in the hands of the receiver for ten years, but is now out of litigation and will be rebuilt and operated as a progressive, independent concern.

Urgent Call for Threshermen.

The Centre County Threshermen and Farmers' Protective association will meet in the grand jury room in the court house Saturday, March 24th, at 10 o'clock a. m. This meeting is called especially to protest to the Legislature now in session against vicious legislation now pending.

One bill prohibits cleats on traction engines. Another limits weight of traction engines and all motor vehicles. These two bills would practically put traction engines and motor trucks out of commission.

Two other bills, either of which if passed, would almost double the cost of compensation insurance to all employers of labor, including farmers. The text of these bills will be read at this meeting and effect considered, so that every thresherman, saw mill man and farmer should attend and unite in the protest against their enactment.

Dr. E. H. Yocum Retired by Methodist Conference.

One of the pathetic incidents of the Central Pennsylvania Methodist Episcopal conference, held at Harrisburg the past week, was the reading of a letter from that venerable worker in the Master's vineyard, Dr. E. H. Yocum, of Woolrich, asking to be granted a retired relation. He has not been in good health for some time and was unable to attend conference hence was compelled to make his request by letter. Dr. Yocum has been in the active ministry for fifty-three years and is probably one of the oldest and best known ministers in the conference. He loved his work and was so deeply sincere in his calling that we feel sure he was loath to quit and only the conservation of his health induced him to make the request, which was promptly granted, though not without feelings of regret that his life's active work was over. Dr. Yocum will make his home with his daughter at Northumberland.

During its sessions conference voted to contribute $24,000 towards the support of the home for the aged at Tyrone.

The conference closed on Monday evening with the announcement of the appointments. Very few changes were made in the appointments in this section. Rev. E. E. McKelvey was returned to the Bellefonte church. Rev. R. C. Peters was transferred from State College to Hollidaysburg, and A. E. Mackie will go to the College from Danville. M. S. Q. Mellot was sent from Howard to Morrisdale, and A. A. Price goes from the Clearfield circuit to Howard. Gardner W. Willard, of Dudley, was assigned to Woolrich to take the place of Dr. E. H. Yocum retired.

Work that Counts for the Hospital.

Two more local organizations have volunteered to carry part of the maintenance burden of the Bellefonte hospital and will establish permanent memorials to themselves by fitting up and maintaining rooms in the institution.

The Daughters of the Easter Star, an organization of women some member of whose family has been or is a master Mason, have taken the Howard room. The ladies organization of Howard found the burden of maintaining it too great for them so that it has been given to the new organization and will at once be given new and complete furnishing as well as endowed for the future.

The Loyal Order of Moose have requested and been granted the privilege of furnishing and maintaining the men's surgical ward. This flourishing Order in Bellefonte has plans that will make it finer than any of the private rooms in the institution and their spirit is wonderfully to be commended, for it will add so much to the comfort of those who cannot afford private rooms and yet are just as responsive to the effects of nice surroundings as are those who can.

At the recent banquet of the Moose the superintendent of the hospital, with her assistants and the entire corps of nurses, were guests of honor and paraphrasing their own slogan: "Once a Moose, always a Moose" we predict that the Moose, once for the hospital, will always be for the hospital.

John Price Jackson Lands on Top Again.

John Price Jackson, at one time dean of the school of engineering at The Pennsylvania State College, has again been catapulted into a nice berth, having been appointed executive director of the sesqui-centennial exhibition to be held in Philadelphia in 1926, at a salary of $15,000 a year. Mr. Jackson left the College in 1913 to become Commissioner of Labor and Industry, at Harrisburg, a position he filled until 1919. In 1918 he went to France on an engineering mission for the U. S. government during the world war. It was there he was given the rank of colonel. After the war he went to Armenia as a member of the American military commission. Returning to the United States he was located in Pittsburgh for a short time then went to Washington where he acted for public utilities of the country in connection with the fuel supply.

—Among the Phillipsburg fans who journeyed by special train to this place last Friday evening, to root for their High school basketball team, were John Todd and John Dunsmore. Personally we've never found much interest in basket ball, but when two old chaps like these will follow a quintet of youngsters nearly sixty miles we must admit that they have gotten something out of life that we have missed.

Freeman Baird Burned Out.

The humble little home that Freeman Baird, of Pleasant Gap, had been working so industriously to make out of an old stable, went up in flames Tuesday morning. Really it was a tragedy. It wasn't so valuable, but it was his home and represented all he had in the world.

The fire caught from an overheated stove pipe while Mrs. Baird was preparing to do the family baking and had gained such headway before she discovered it that she became panic stricken and ran out on a back porch where she fainted. Had not a neighbor discovered the incident just when she did one of the six Baird children would have burned up. It was in bed in the loft where the fire started and was rescued only after a fight through the flames to reach it.

Only a few chairs and an oil stove were saved of the personal and household effects of this poor family of eight and they hadn't a cent of insurance.

Trust the folks of a community like Pleasant Gap to come to the rescue when there is distress somewhere. Almost before the smouldering ruins of the little home were cold Freeman's fellow workers in the Whitecock quarries went down into their overalls and chipped in and chipped in until nearly $200 were raised to help give him a fresh start. Then the neighbor women began to hunt up bed clothing, clothes and odds and ends of furniture and the old commissary building at Whitecock was cleaned out and yesterday the homeless had a home again.
