Items of Interest Dished Up for the Delectation of "Watchman" Readers by a Corps of Gifted Correspondents.

SMULLTON.

Our town was made lively Sunday by the buzz of the automobiles as they passed through.

Charles Beck left for Wilkes-Barre, where he will spend the summer working at the carpenter trade.

Charles Page vacated the house of W. M. Bierly here, and moved to Rebersburg, Tuesday, March 20th.

Charles Brungart was home from Renovo, spending Sunday with his family, returning Monday noon.

Auditors Granley and Stover were in Bellefonte Monday, March 19th, to complete their work as auditors on the accounts of Centre county for the year 1922.

The sick of our town have all recovered sufficiently to resume their daily tasks. We understand that most of the ailments were not grip, but mild cases of influenza.

A little boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Winters last Friday morning, early, and advised them that he intended to stay in their home in the future, to which all agreed.

While returning from the sale of Charles Zimmerman, Friday last, the top of J. V. Brungart's car was torn off by a severe wind storm. Mr. Brungart made the balance of the trip home with the top down.

Herbert Stover is adding to the the printing part of his shop, having just received a new Chandler & Price printing press and his present quarters are almost too small to accommodate his ever increasing trade along this line.

W. B. Crebs, who tenanted C. H. Smull's farm, a short distance west of town for quite a number of years, vacated same last Thursday, moving his belongings to near Selingsgrove, where he purchased a farm of his own. We did not like to lose him from our midst, for he was a good neighbor.

The United Evangelical and the Association churches united on Sunday, March 18th, at Rebersburg, and opened with a Sunday school enrollment of 93. Sunday, the 25th, there were in attendance at Sunday school 99 persons. All indications point to an attendance of 125 in the near future. Good spirit prevailed at both gatherings and our prediction is that it will soon be one of the largest Sunday schools of the valley. It is said that "in union there is strength," and it made a very deep impression on us when we saw the old spirit of fellowship renewed in such a Christ-like manner. May the work never cease to grow in interest and the spirit now existing never die out, is the wish of the writer.

JACKSONVILLE.

Lee Orr and Lester Bartley are both sporting new Ford runabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorghum, of Flemington, were Sunday visitors at the William Weaver home.

Callers at the Weaver home on Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beatty, William and Reed Deitz.

Mrs. George Ertley returned home last week after spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Bailey.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the accident last Wednesday which resulted in the death of George Fultz, of Axe Mann. The family was quite well known in this vicinity, as they lived here two years ago. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Fultz was Miss Mackey, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mackey, of this place. She and her three young children have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

Mrs. Irvin Weaver, who has been on the sick list for some time, will likely be taken to the Lock Haven hospital for a minor operation. Mrs. Harry Hoy, who has been threatened with pneumonia, is now improving; Mr. Hoy, who has been suffering with a bad attack of influenza for several weeks, is slightly improved. Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harter and son Charles, Mrs. Ella Deitz, Mrs. Joseph Neff, Mrs. Mary Stoner and Mrs. J. J. Vonada are all recovering from grip attacks.

- The 2 cent stamp George Washington.
- The 3 cent Abraham Lincoln.
- The 4 cent Martha Washington.
- The 5 cent Theodore Roosevelt.

- The 9 cent Thomas Jefferson.
- The 10 cent James Monroe.
- The 11 cent Rutherford B. Hayes.
- The 10 cent special delivery a motor cycle.
- The 15 cent the Statue of Liberty.
- The 25 cent, a new denomination, the Niagara Falls.

George T. Bush, of Bellefonte, who has been a member of the American Philatelic Society since 1886, and who already has a collection of 20,000 varieties of stamps, has started making a collection of the new issue. In this connection Mr. Bush states that the rarest stamps are those issued between 1840 and 1872, some specimens of issue between those dates being worth as high as $5,000. Any person in possession of old letters dating back to that period should examine the stamps carefully before destroying same.

A POOR BOY

Was Frank W. Woolworth, the Ingenious Clerk, the Great Merchant.

"If you wish to make money, make a little at a time and make it often," was the motto in which Frank W. Woolworth, the originator of the great chain of Woolworth stores, believed.

"Not many people wish to buy fifty thousand dollar neckties, but almost every person really wishes to get rid of five and ten cent pieces," is another motto to which Mr. Woolworth subscribes.

Because he believed in such principles of business Frank Woolworth, who had no better opportunities than they, built the most princely of business buildings, a Broadway tower that rivals the celebrated towers of Europe.

The nimble penny is a better guide to fortune than is the elusive twenty-dollar gold piece.

In his boyhood days Frank Woolworth went about barefooted, took care of cows and horses, and knew what it was to put hay back into the dusty haymows. When the little district school was open he went to it and learned to add and multiply.

Then he went to a little commercial college and learned something about book-keeping. With this background of information he looked for a job and found one in a sort of a general store where he tied neat bundles and was polite to nervous ladies. So far, he was quite an ordinary young man, but at the age of 26 he had an idea; he put together in one part of the store a lot of odds and ends, put a sign up saying that a customer could have any article there for five cents—and waited to see what would happen.

That seedling idea grew into the great chain of Woolworth stores, into the palatial Woolworth building in New York, and into millions of dollars.

It is a good thing to plant real ideas. The people flocked so fast to that five-cent counter that the young man borrowed about three hundred dollars and started a five-cent store in Utica, N. Y. He made a little money, paid his debt, and opened another store in Pennsylvania.

He simply kept on doing the same thing over and over, that is, making money, building new stores, making more money and building more stores. At the same time he kept trying to sell better goods, and to make better bargains. Then he drew to himself a coterie of bright men and taught them how to sow ideas. When he died he was one of the richest men, and he had established a great business that is a public benefit.

Some Cow.

It was the custom of a certain deacon, when dining at the home of one of his best friends, to drink a glass of milk, as a prelude to his dinner. One day when the minister was scheduled to appear, instead of the rich, foamy glass of milk, his friend placed beside his plate a glass of milk punch. After blessing, the deacon seized his glass and drank it to the last drop and then exclaimed as he closed his eyes and smacked his lips, "Oh, what a cow!"

Grangers to Give State College Girls' Dormitory.

A large residence hall for women students to cost approximately $250,000, will be erected next year by the Pennsylvania State Grange on the campus of The Pennsylvania State College. Immediate steps are to be taken that will allow every one of the more than a thousand Grange organizations of the State to participate in this movement which has been decided upon by a special committee appointed at the last Grange convention at Williamsport. There are over 100,000 Grangers in the State and it is hoped to have the entire fund in hand by April, 1924, so that construction on the Grange memorial can be started at that time.

During a visit to the college last week members of the committee learned that two girls were refused admission last fall for every one that was admitted largely because of limited dormitory facilities. They had been empowered by the State Grange organization to select the type of building and immediately determined that the Grange would supply the head-house of a projected group of residences for women students. The committee is composed of P. H. Dewey, Gaines, chairman; M. B. Orr, Mercer, Mrs. Howard VanKirk, Washington; Mrs. Louise Piollet, Wysox, and R. G. Bressler, of the agricultural school faculty.

Obliging Waitress.

It was obvious that they were fond of each other. He was very solicitous for her comfort. "Will this table suit you? Will you sit here or there? Is that chair quite comfortable? Shall I ask for a cushion? Were samples of his solicitude.

The waitress brought tea, but forgot the teaspoon. He noticed it at once. "Can we have a spoon?" he asked. "Certainly, sir," she said. "As soon as I have cleared this tray away you will have the room to yourselves!"

They Look Alike.

Bartender after serving patron with glass of near-beer, looks out of window: "Looks like rain, don't it?" Patron: "Yes, but it tastes a little like beer."

American Legion Sunday Urged as New Observance.

American Legion chaplains in several States have issued appeals to legion posts and to pastors of churches to arrange services on Sunday, April 8, to be attended by members of posts in a body and by former service men and their families. In cities where services are held week-day noons, appeal is made that services be held on Friday, April 6.

One aim is to create, if possible, an American Legion Sunday that shall not interfere with Memorial Sunday, whether dates be those of the north or of the south. The date suggested is the Sunday falling nearest to April 6, the date of the declaration of war by the United States against Germany.
