Howard J. Thompson has taken an option on the Garman opera house, but so far has formulated no definite plans should the deal be consummated.

The ladies of the Reformed church will hold their deferred Easter market tomorrow (Saturday), April 14th, in Spigelmyer's store, beginning at 10 a. m.

There is no more delightful way to spend an evening than at the Scenic, watching the motion pictures. Big features every week, all late releases. Get the movie habit and see all the good ones.

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold a dance in the Bellefonte armory this (Friday) evening. Music by the Academy orchestra. Admission, 75 cents. Everybody welcome. Benefit of St. John's orphanage.

In the opening baseball game on Beaver field, State College, on Saturday, the Penn State team defeated the Susquehanna University nine by the score of 2 to 1. It was a pitcher's battle from beginning to end, State getting the best of it.

The music of a brass band on our streets would be welcome to many an ear. We haven't heard our Odd Fellow friends for so long that we'd be almost transported were we to hear them tear off a few new ones some of these pleasant evenings.

The Woman's club will hold a food sale on Saturday, April 21st, at two o'clock p. m., at the Bellefonte Hardware company's store. This will be the first of a series to be held by the club for the purpose of raising money for various civic affairs.

A forest fire in the Six Mile run district of the Allegheny mountains, on Saturday, burned over an area estimated at six thousand acres before the flames were checked and finally extinguished by fire fighters from Philipsburg and Port Matilda.

The Spencer Economy store that has been conducted in the Bush Arcade, this place, for several years, was closed Wednesday evening. Business was not sufficient to warrant continuance of the store which was owned by Williamsport clothing interests.

A special campus guide service for visitors to the Pennsylvania State College is to be inaugurated for the spring and summer season. Hundreds of motorists visit the college each year and special guides will be supplied those who desire to tour the large college plant.

Don't overlook the fact that the rummage sale for the Bellefonte hospital will this year be held at the Undine fire company building on Tuesday, May first. Please send anything you may have to contribute to the Undine building and it will be properly cared for until day of sale.

Music lovers who enjoy hearing George A. Johnston, the organist at the Lutheran church, will be glad to know that he will give a fifteen minute recital of organ numbers from 7:30 to 7:45 each Sunday evening preceding the vesper service. His first group will be played this Sunday.

The Camp Fire girls, of Bellefonte, have arranged for the production of "Springtime," a fantasy of mirth and music, in the opera house, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 9th and 10th. While the play will be staged by the John B. Rogers Producing company the cast will all be home talent. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. C. E. Williams, Miss Rachel Lambert and Cecil Walker. Rehearsals will begin on or about April 26th.

On Sunday Edward C. Miller, of Bellefonte, accompanied by his mother and a lady friend from State College, motored over to Philipsburg and took a run out the state highway toward Osceola Mills. In the neighborhood of Midway park the Miller car was run into by a car driven by Walter Busko, of Spike Island. Both cars were badly damaged and the two women slightly injured. Busko was accompanied by four men, all of whom were intoxicated, it is alleged. Four of the men ran away while one man was taken into custody but later released.

The Douglas Fairbanks production of "Robin Hood," which was shown by Manager Baum at State College, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, fulfilled all expectations as to the finish of the action and the grandeur of the scenic investiture. The days of the "Nickelodeum" or five cent movie passed long ago, but still there are some who wonder why the movie prices have jumped so. All such folks need to know is that the rental of a film like "Robin Hood" costs eight hundred dollars, so that when to this is added the overhead, orchestra and other incidents to a modern screen show there must be a considerable box to make a feature film even pay its way.

EMERICK MOTOR BUS CO. GETS DECISION.

Public Service Commission Defines Rights of Common Carriers and Call and Demand Vehicles.

In a decision handed down on April 2nd, an official copy of which reached Bellefonte this week, the Public Service Commission has gone on record as defining the rights and privileges of automobiles and motor busses holding certificates as common carriers and those holding call and demand certificates. The decision was given in the case of the complaint filed by the Emerick Motor Bus Co., of Bellefonte, against Harry Roan, Charles Tressler, Percival Rudy and Harry Resides, who operate call and demand taxicab service in State College and vicinity. The complaint charged these men with improper conduct and alleged that they were operating contrary to the rules and regulations of the Public Service Commission, in that they were in the habit of coming to Bellefonte, parking their cars about the Pennsylvania railroad station and carrying passengers in competition with the Emerick Motor company bus line on its regular schedule, and soliciting passengers contrary to the regulations of the Commission.

The report, decision and order handed down is quite lengthy and exceedingly specific, especially defining the rights, privileges and responsibilities of the two classes of common carriers. In the order the Commission directs that Roan, Tressler, Rudy and Resides forthwith cease and desist from operating motor vehicles as common carriers for the transportation of passengers between the borough of State College and the borough of Bellefonte; providing, however, that the restraining order shall not apply when said respondents, or any of them, are specially engaged to transport passengers from State College to Bellefonte, and shall not apply when said respondents, or any of them, are specially called to Bellefonte to transport particular passengers from Bellefonte to State College.

The order further directs that the State College taxicab men, their several agents, servants and employees shall forthwith cease and desist from parking their cars at the Pennsylvania railroad depot or other places in the borough of Bellefonte, and prohibits them from soliciting persons for transportation as common carriers.

In its decision of the case the Commission stated that the call and demand certificates were issued for State College and vicinity, and did not contemplate the carrying on of such a business in the borough of Bellefonte which would be in direct competition with those persons who hold call and demand certificates for Bellefonte and vicinity. The Commission states that unless such rules and regulations are prescribed endless confusion would be created which would cause difficulties in regulation of common carriers, and that the borough of State College and the borough of Bellefonte should be considered separate communities which form a basic area from which to operate. This decision clearly defines the rights of the various parties which have been in controversy for a long time.

The complaint, on the behalf of the Emerick Motor Bus Co., was represented before the Commission by James C. Furst Esq., while the respondents were represented by J. Kennedy Johnston Esq.

Port Matilda Will Have Fine New Bank.

As mentioned in the "Watchman" last week Port Matilda's new Community bank will be opened for business tomorrow, and that thriving town up Bald Eagle valley will have an institution worthy of most any locality. The bank will occupy its own new building, a handsome two-story structure of gray brick. The banking room occupies the most advantageous location on the first floor. It is large, airy and well lighted and, in addition to the main room, includes a private office for the cashier and another private office. The interior woodwork is of oak, nicely finished. The bank equipment is modern and up-to-date, with a time-locking vault.

A commodious store room is also located on the first floor of the building. The second floor has been converted into two five-room flats for residential purposes, both equipped with modern conveniences. The board of directors include some of the most substantial citizens of that locality, namely: W. Scott Crain, E. T. Spotts, O. D. Eberts, Isaac Harpster, W. T. Hoover and J. B. Miles. Fred O'Conner will be the cashier in charge.

A New Serial for the "Watchman."

Next week the "Watchman" will start a new serial story. The one selected will be Zane Grey's "Under the Light of Western Stars." It is a splendid story, one of Grey's best, and that is saying a lot for he writes many of America's best sellers. We have taken the time to read a number of novels lately with the purpose of selecting one that would command the interest of all classes of "Watchman" readers and we think we have made no mistake in choosing "Under the Light of Western Stars." It is founded on fact, has some political significance, lots of thrills and a very pretty love story. Read the opening chapters next week. We are sure you will find a lot of intensely interesting moments while reading the new serial.

Get Into the 1923 Class.

We could be harder up than we are, but we want to tell some of our readers right here that if we were much more so we'd be plumb busted.

Quite a few subscribers to the "Watchman" have inadvertently fallen in arrears with the result that we'll soon have to try paying our bills in Russian rubles or German marks unless they come to the rescue soon.

Look at the label on this paper or on the wrapper in which it is enclosed—if it comes to you in a single wrapper. There you will see your own name, the month and the year to which your subscription is paid. If it is not marked up to some time in '23, this year, won't you please make an effort to pay it up at once.

We are serious when we say that we need the money badly. Your arrearage may be only a few dollars—a trifling sum, so you think—and so it is, but when you stop to think that there may be several hundred accounts on our list in the same condition you will appreciate how much the receipt of them all would mean to us and how little each item really means to its sender.

If you are not in it already won't you please help us to get every subscriber to the "Watchman" in the 1923 class at once by sending whatever amount is necessary to bring you up to it.

Do it now, please. Don't put it off until tomorrow.

Nittany Valley Highway to be Oiled.

Limestone screenings are being distributed along the highway between Bellefonte and Lock Haven preparatory to oiling the road at once. In keeping with the new policy of the Highway Department, only one side of the road will be oiled and stoned at a time. After it has set sufficiently to carry traffic without consequent damage to motors and the clothes of their occupants the other side will be oiled and dressed with screenings.

Training Camp Grounds Taken Over.

The Isett farm between Huntingdon Furnace and Spruce Creek was officially taken over last week as the Mid-State Sunday school training camp. The improvements will include the erection of a dam to furnish bathing and boating; various amusements and recreational features, tents, etc. The camp will be equipped to entertain one hundred and sixty young people. Centre county's allotment to be from twenty to twenty-five girls. The directors of the association are planning to have the camp open by July 23rd.

If you did not receive a sample of our famous Clothcraft serge suit at $27.00, phone or ask for one.—Sim, The Clothier.

A Bridge Tester.

Bright and early Monday morning the Beatty Motor Co. started a truck off for Mifflinburg that tested the carrying strength of small bridges along the highway to that point. It was a Fordson tractor converted for use as a dinky engine in hauling and shifting small cars. It was mounted on four standard railroad car wheels and had been demonstrating here in the quarries of the American Lime and Stone Co., but there was a sale for it in Mifflinburg so that it was run onto a 13,000 lb. truck, which with the Ford "contraption" weighing 12,000 lbs. made a total load for the bridges en route of over twelve tons.

The New Laundry to Open Next Monday.

On Saturday, March 31st, James S. Wilkie closed the deal whereby he took over the entire interest of E. J. Walker in the new steam laundry that has been fitted up in the Miller garage building, on south Water street, opposite the Big Spring.

Mr. Wilkie expects to open for business on April 23rd. He will operate under the name of the Model laundry and will give it his personal attention to the end that his patrons will receive most careful, courteous and satisfactory service at all times. The plant is new and modern in all its equipment.

Horseshoe Trail Meeting at Bush House Today.

Finding a horseshoe used to be considered good luck before the days of the automobiles, and that is probably the reason why the Williamsport to Cumberland highway has been dubbed the Horseshoe Trail. Work was begun on Monday of this week on putting up the official markers along the trail, big yellow horseshoes, and information will probably be given at a meeting of the association to be held in Bellefonte today, when the visitors will be the guests of landlord Lewis Dagggett, at the Bush house for luncheon, as to how the work is proceeding. One hundred or more enthusiasts are expected to be in attendance.

Quite a number of local automobilists have enrolled as members of the association and the local committee has hopes of eventually securing fifty members. The membership fee is only five dollars, so that it is not an expensive organization to get into.

State Conference of Music Study Clubs at State College.

Amateur musicians from all over Pennsylvania have been gathered at State College this week; the occasion being the annual convention of the federation of Music Study clubs of the State.

In addition to the regular business of the federation there have been contests by the most promising amateurs, instrumental and voice, for the honor of representing Pennsylvania in the contest of the national federation, at Asheville, N. C., in June.

Miss Elizabeth Hood Latta, of Philadelphia, president of the federation, in her annual report stated that there had been an increase of twenty-three clubs during the year. Robert Brown, of Pottsville, first vice president, explained the young artists' contest, which is being sponsored by the federation.

The convention opened on Tuesday with a concert by the Penn State musical organization, in which the glee club, quartet, mandolin club and orchestra participated. During the afternoon the piano contest was held. There were eight contestants among whom was Miss Kessler, of Millheim, and while she did not win the fact that the contest was so close that the judges decided it only with the greatest difficulty, is evidence that she is quite abreast of the best amateurs in the State in her art. Miss Eleanor Quinn won premier honors, which are a prize of $100 and the honor of representing Pennsylvania at the national convention.

On Wednesday the violin contest was held. There were only three contestants, but it was a feast for lovers of the stringed instruments. Greisha Manatowitz, of Philadelphia, won it. About two years ago he won the Zupel prize of $1000.00 and his triumph of Wednesday will give him the chance of contesting in the national convention where, if he should win, he will be rewarded with a two year's course abroad and his musical career financed by the Federation until he has become established.

Manatowitz is a Russian Jew, but was born in this country to which his parents came as emigrants.

Yesterday, all day, was devoted to the voice contest. There were twenty-five entrants, sopranos, contraltos, basses and tenors. All sang the same selections and as there were so many of them it was an all day affair, the result not having been announced up to the hour of our going to press. Among the vocal contestants was Miss Himes, of Pittsburgh, who it will be recalled sang here last fall under the auspices of the local Music Study club. She won the State contest, but failed in the national. Her effort yesterday was an attempt to get back for the national prize.

The special entertainment of the week was the recital, Wednesday evening, by Madam Olga Zamaroff—pronounced Za-Mar-off. In introducing the noted artist Miss Hood called her "certainly the most noted pianist in the United States and we think, in the world." Zamaroff played without notes or program, announcing such selections as she had the inspiration at the moment to play.

She is wonderful, of course, and so far beyond the comprehension of the undeveloped musical soul that she couldn't hold a job for a week as pianist at the Seenic.

Last evening Marguerite Sylva, soprano, and Mr. Armbruster, piano, gave a recital using the duo-art piano. The names of the artists are sufficient to justify the statement that their's, like the performance of Zamaroff, was an artistic triumph.

The directors of the Farmer's Mutual Fire Insurance Co., met in this place, Monday morning. The new board comprises George Mitchell, Frank McFarlane, E. M. Huyett, R. H. Reed, James E. Harter, J. T. Weaver, J. R. Brungart, Frank M. Fisher, John H. Beck, J. M. Campbell, E. J. Getzels and Clarence A. Yerick. Col. Reynolds has retired as a member and Messrs. Harter, Weaver and Yerick have been added.

—The "Watchman" office was favored on Monday afternoon with a visit from M. C. Musser, a member of the big candy firm of Musser & McClintick, of Tyrone. Mr. Musser is a native of Centre county, having been born and raised on a farm in Ferguson township but struck out for himself while a lad in his teens and the success he has attained since is due to his own hard work.

"Watchman" office visitors on Tuesday included Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ritter and daughter, of Adah, Fayette county, who were here on a visit among their old friends. Mr. Ritter left Bellefonte twenty-one years ago but like every native of this section he enjoys coming "back home" once in awhile to see how the old place looks. He is now employed at the Hartley mine in Fayette county and has been pretty busy all winter.

—Levi A. Miller, the "Watchman's" diversified correspondent at Pleasant Gap, was in Bellefonte last Friday, having completely recovered from a serious attack of the flu which kept him housed up a month or more. After reading the proof of his article on the liver, published on another page of this paper, we have been constrained to wonder if his ailment wasn't the "bile a bollin' in his system" that he discusses in such a lucid manner.

Shortly before leaving Dr. Glenn had had word from his second son, Harold, of his advancement from the superintendency of the coke furnace at Toledo, Ohio, to those of Duluth, Minn.

—Mr. J. H. Weber, of Centre Hall, was in town Saturday. Having expressed surprise that he should be here so early—it was just a bit after 8 o'clock—he said he had driven over. The consequent inquiry was as to the condition of the mountain road and Mr. Weber informed us that scraping had been started on it that morning. He said, however, that it was not so bad. Since having so many improved highways we are all inclined to grumble when we strike a piece of road that some years ago we might have regarded as being right fair. Centre Hall is one of the few small towns through which the motorist can drive with pleasure. From one end to the other it has as fine a roadway, with no franken or elevated crossings and its council has finally succeeded in correcting the spotty foundations that for years defied all efforts to make that short piece at the foot of the mountain durable.

A. to be held in Indiana April 13th to 15th, inclusive. Important matters relative to the new national re-organization of the Y. M. C. A. work in North America will be taken up and matters vital to the welfare and influence of the Association will be discussed.

Edmund joined his wife here Saturday for an over Sunday visit back home.

Goshorn—Steele.—A pretty house wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Steele, at Shirlsberg, on April 2nd, when their daughter, Miss Eva Marie Steele, was united in marriage to Rev. Chalmers H. Goshorn, of Princeton. The ceremony, which took place at 11 o'clock in the morning, was performed by Rev. J. Max Kirkpatrick, of Centre Hall, a cousin of the bride.

Mrs. J. Max Kirkpatrick, who is a graduate of Dana's musical institute, played the "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin, followed by the wedding march by deKoven, and during the ring ceremony "Romance in A," by Lieurance, was played softly.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and lace, with full court train, the veil of tulle being surmounted with lilies of the valley. The bridal bouquet was of bride's roses. A delightful reception and luncheon followed the ceremony.

Naturally many students took advantage of his offer and the receipts amounted to the above named sum, which has been turned over to the College.
