Bellefonte, Pa., April 20, 1923.

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Don't overlook the fact that the American Legion dance will be held in the armory this (Friday) evening.

W. Scott Lose has been discharged from the Danville hospital and on Tuesday went to Altoona where he will make his home for the present.

J. Linn Blackford, who since 1918 has been manager of the Gamble theatre, at Huntingdon, purchased the building last week and contemplates making some extensive improvements in connection therewith.

The Hickory Silica Sand company is the name of a new organization that has opened up a large deposit of silica sand at Bald Eagle. Operations were begun this week to put the sand on the market.

Miss Mary Rankin has resigned her position as stenographer in the offices of the American Lime and Stone company and gone into her father's insurance office to learn the business and relieve her father of some of the work.

Th. U. S. Treasury Department has called for redemption by May 20th all 31 per cent. Victory notes bearing the serial letters G. H. I. J. K. and L. These notes will cease bearing interest after the above date, which is the legal day of redemption.

Turn to the second page of this issue of the "Watchman" and read the opening chapters of Zane Grey's remarkable story, "Under the Light of Western Stars." The story starts out with a dash and vim that commands interest from the opening lines and we are sure you'll like it.

The following organ numbers will be played Sunday evening by George A. Johnston at St. John's Lutheran church, in the fifteen minute recital, 7:30 to 7:45, preceding the vesper service: "Nocturne," by Chopin; "Serenade Badine," and "Fanfare," by DuBois. Visitors welcome.

G. Norman Good resigned his position as a clerk in the Bellefonte postoffice last Friday and has accepted a position with R. N. Van Ingen as salesman for the Willys-Knight and Overland cars. Mr. Good gives as his reason for resigning the condition of his health, which necessitated his giving up indoor work.

Trout fishing season comes but once a year but the scenic is open to the public the year around, every evening in the week except Sunday. You can always find entertainment at the Scenic when you can't find it any other place. That is the reason why you should be a regular and get the benefit of all the good motion pictures.

The passenger train west on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad last Saturday morning did not reach Bellefonte until almost one o'clock. The train got stuck behind a freight train marooned on the track with a broken locomotive and could not proceed until another locomotive could be secured from Tyrone to pull the freight out of the way.

A score of state police made a raid in the Houtzdale and Osceola Mills districts on Saturday, making nine arrests for violation of the new enforcement law. Only one of the unfortunates, Joe Mikeo, lives in Centre county. A still, a large jar and a bottle containing liquor were found at his place. They were all held in one thousand dollars bail for their appearance at court.

Lady luck certainly smiled on councilman W. H. Brouse, of Bellefonte, last week. He purchased six tickets to the Shriner's circus in Altoona, at 50c. a ticket, each ticket giving him a chance on one of four cars given away and he was fortunate enough to get first choice, a $3,500 Cadillac touring car. He went to Altoona on Tuesday and drove his prize back to Bellefonte.

Our old friend, W. C. Kreamer, writes from Berwick, under date of the 14th, to wish five sixteen inch trout on us. We didn't get his letter until we returned to the desk Tuesday morning and that may have been the reason we didn't get even one sixteen inch fish. The nearest we came to it was one eleven inches long and by the time we got him landed we'd shipped a foot-full of ice water and were so cold and uncomfortable that there was little joy in the fight.

After years of residence in Washington, where he had no chance to vote unless he returned to his old precinct in Spring township, this county, the veteran Democrat Nelson A. Lucas, has decided that he just must have a few more cracks with his ballot before he joins his many former comrades in the last bivouac. Accordingly he is moving to Branchville, Md., where he'll find hosts of the good old Jeffersonian kind there were so many of here, when he played a leading role in the game of politics, and we know he'll be happy.

Just when we thought the theatrical season was about over along comes the announcement for the appearance in Bellefonte a week from tonight of Newton and Livingston's "Only and Original" Uncle Tom's Cabin. Of course there'll be two tupsy's and two Uncle Tom's with an angel as Simon Legree, not counting the vicious bloodhounds, etc. But whether they have all the above or not we'll wager the fact that the kiddies, regardless of age, will be out in force to see this oldest of American dramas.

COLEVILLE TO GET WATER.

Council Authorized Extension of Service at Monday Night's Meeting.

At the regular meeting of borough council on Monday evening the Water committee was authorized to put down a six inch water main from the old Thomas property on north Thomas street to the borough line, a distance of 1180 feet. The authorization was made after Mr. Cunningham, chairman of the committee, reported that twenty residents of Coleville will take the water as soon as the line can be put down and that this number will be increased from six to ten before fall. That the Bellefonte Central Railroad company also want the water for their tank and will bear a portion of the expense of extending the line from the borough line to Coleville. The American Lime and Stone company wants water for their new hydrating plant and also for a row of nine double houses. Inasmuch as the Coleville people want a three inch line and the American Lime and Stone company wants to put down a three inch line of their own, council authorized the laying of a six inch line to the borough line, the approximate cost of which will be from $1200 to $1500.

Mr. Brouse, of the Street committee, reported that Robert S. Walker had made a proposition to furnish free the required amount of limestone chips if the borough would furnish the oil to top-dress and put in good condition north Thomas street and the road to Coleville to the borough line, the supervisors of Spring township having agreed to furnish the oil to complete the road to Coleville from the borough line. The committee was authorized to accept the proposition and see that the street is put in shape for oiling.

Mr. Emerick called attention to the deplorable condition of north Water street and High street from Spring street down to the brick pavement. Mr. Cunningham also called attention to the fact that Spring street is in bad shape and also Mill street. Inasmuch as E. J. Stackpole, of the State Highway Department, has signified his willingness to do the oiling when they have their oiler here for the state highways, the Street committee was instructed to get all the streets designated in shape for top-dressing at that time, which will probably be the middle of May.

The Street committee reported that work had been started on digging the ditch for the sewer on Pike alley.

The Finance committee asked for the renewal of notes totalling $6,700. The Special committee reported progress in the matter of the proposed mandamus proceedings to annul the charter of the old Steam Heating company.

Mr. Waite stated that complaint had been made about drainage from the Pennsylvania Match company going into Spring creek, and president Walker suggested that the matter would probably be corrected if the attention of the Match company officials was called to it.

Regarding Benjamin Shaffer's request that he be permitted to tap the water line on Valentine street, the committee reported that it is a private line and barely large enough to accommodate the eight families now using it, and the borough has no authority over it.

Mr. Flaek called attention to a dangerous crossing at the intersection of Logan and Allegheny streets and the matter was referred to the Street committee.

Mr. Emerick stated that the gutter on Spring street, along the Reformed church property, is so filled up with the roots of trees that the water runs out onto the street. A similar condition prevails on the same street just south of Lamb street. The matter was referred to the Street committee.

Bills to the amount of $2512.60 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

State College Girl Attempts Suicide by Taking Poison.

Last Saturday's Altoona Tribune stated that Margaret "Peggy" Coble, a twenty year old girl of State College, attempted to take her life on Friday evening by swallowing bichloride of mercury tablets. Repentance evidently followed very quickly after taking the poison as she ran to the office of an Altoona physician and told what she had done. She was promptly rushed to the Altoona hospital and through prompt efforts of physicians there her life was saved.

According to the Tribune's story Miss Coble reached Altoona on April 6th, accompanied by a young man who, it was alleged, was going into business in Bellefonte. Miss Coble secured a room on Eighteenth street, Altoona, and went to work in the kitchen of the Palace restaurant. She worked there until Friday of last week when she received a letter from Pittsburgh. She left the restaurant about five o'clock in the evening and it was close to eight o'clock when she entered the office of the physician and declared she had taken poison, giving as her reason for doing so that "her fellow had gone back on her." Who the "fellow" is has not yet been revealed.

The Red Men's association of Central Pennsylvania will hold their annual convention in Lock Haven on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 8th and 9th. The association includes forty-seven tribes and covers nineteen counties. The hosts of the convention will be members of the Wapakoneta tribe, of Lock Haven. The convention last year was held in Bellefonte.

With an Uncle Tom's Cabin on its way to Bellefonte, the Walter L. Main show on Monday, May 7th, a visit from the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce on May 10th, and the Harry Copping carnival under the auspices of the American Legion the week of May 21st, Bellefonters have enough diversions in anticipation to last until the High school and State College commencements.

The annual meeting of the Centre County Conservation association will be held at State College on May 24th and 25th. At the same time and place the State Conservation Council will hold its annual gathering, so that the event promises to be one of much interest. Aside from the business to be transacted there will be trap shooting, fly casting, Boy Scout work and various exhibits of interest to sportsmen and naturalists.

Next Sunday morning a church nursery will be inaugurated at the Lutheran church for the convenience of those mothers who would like to attend the morning service but who feel that their children are too small to take to church. This new department will be conducted each Sunday morning during the 10:45 period of worship, and mothers may take their children and leave them in the primary department of the Sunday school, where they will be well cared for by competent nurses.

The next big event for theatre goers of Bellefonte will be the staging of the sparkling musical fantasy, "Springtime," on May 9th and 10th, under the supervision of the John B. Rogers Producing Company, and for the benefit of the local Campfire girls. "Springtime" will be bright with good music, clever acting, attractive costumes, and a spirit of airy lightness through it all that will make a very popular and charming appeal. Bellefonte's best musical and dramatic talent is included in the cast, and it is very likely the show will play to crowded houses both nights.

Workmen are now engaged in tearing down the old stone house and brick building adjoining it recently purchased by J. O. Heverly from the Roland Curtin estate. When the buildings have been razed and the refuse cleaned away Mr. Heverly will start work on the erection of the building to complete his block. The plastering is now being put on the walls of the T. H. Harter building and as soon as the lower floor is laid the Gazette printing plant will be moved and the old building demolished to make way for the new buildings to be erected by Charles F. Mensch and Dr. C. M. Parrish.

Shortly before eight o'clock on Wednesday morning the operators on duty in the Bell telephone company exchange detected a smell of burning wood and promptly summoned the men from the work room. A hasty examination revealed the fact that the frame of the door leading from the operating room into the small lounge room was on fire. Not wishing to take any chances an alarm was sent in and at the same time the men made diligent use of the fire extinguishers kept at the exchange. Both fire companies responded and ran up their chemical hose but their services were not needed as the flames had already been extinguished. The fire evidently originated from a defective flue and the one side of the door frame was almost burned through. Had the fire started at night it might have resulted in a costly and disastrous conflagration, but being discovered in time the damage was small.

A friend of the "Watchman" called this office by telephone a few days ago and informed us that one of the most remarkable men in Centre county today, in her estimation, is our Pine Grove Mills correspondent, Capt. William H. Fry. And she qualified her statement by asking if we knew that he is almost eighty years old and is on the go every day from sun-up to sundown and sometimes most of the night. While in a general way we realized that Capt. Fry had passed the middle-aged class we are so used to seeing him prancing around as if he was always carrying the proverbial chip on his shoulder that we never associated him in the same class with the near-octogenarians, but on looking the matter up we find that in less than three months he will celebrate his eighty-third birthday anniversary. His children are scattered all over the United States, while grand-children and great grand-children are included in his descendants, but in every line of activity and sprightliness this veteran of the Civil war need ask no odds of any of them.

The Choral Society Concert.

The large audience that gathered at Garman's opera house, Tuesday night, to hear the concert given by the Bellefonte Choral Society was probably greatly surprised at the pretentious manner in which the program was presented as well as delighted with the artistic finish in the rendition of the various vocal and instrumental numbers.

It has been so long since Bellefonte has had opportunity of enjoying her assembled talent that we fancy there were many there to whom it was a real revelation.

For weeks Mrs. R. Russel Blair has been training the Society as much because of the interest that has been received in music through the efforts of the local Music Study club as for any other reason, but happily she thought of carrying the work through to presentation in a concert for the benefit of the hospital. With fifty voices very well balanced as to parts the singing was really brilliant.

The most pretentious and probably the best executed numbers of the Society's contributions were "Fly Singing Bird," by Elgar, and the Bridal Chorus from "The Rosemaidens."

Mrs. Louis Schad contributed two violin numbers and was at her best. First she played "Danse Tzigane" and had to respond to three encores. Her second appearance was to play "A Song of India," and the exquisite "Serenade" by Rianadargy.

The Penn State Varsity quartet, composed of C. E. Finley, 1st tenor; D. V. Bauder, 2nd tenor; P. V. Moore, baritone, and E. Hill, bass, was exceedingly popular with the audience, as is always the case with a good male quartet. The College men sang with such confidence and possessed voices so harmonious in chorus that they fairly captivated the audience and might have been singing yet without fully satisfying some.

Mr. Bauder, the young man who won the first prize at the vocal contest of the federation of State Music Study clubs at State College last week, was the soloist and his numbers were every one a treat. We rather regretted his change of program that deprived us of hearing him sing "Dreaming Alone in the Twilight."

Most of the Choral numbers were supported by a full string and read orchestra. The violins were Mr. W. Burston, Mr. John Dubbs, Miss Magdalene Sunday and Mr. Gilbert Cole. Mr. W. E. Rumberger, flute; Mr. W. Anderson, clarinet; Mr. D. Malpass, cello; Mr. Charles Smith, bass viol, and Miss Miriam Smith piano.

The net receipts of the concert will considerably exceed $400. The expenses were trifling as everything outside a bit of labor at the opera house was contributed. Mr. Brown gave the opera house, Mr. Emerick carried the musicians from State College back and forth for rehearsals free of charge. Harter's music store furnished the piano, Jacob Barlett hauled it, Messrs. Bradley, Steele and Johnson did the stage carpentering. The Gazette, the Republican and this office did the printing, about everybody in town advertised in the program and the ladies of the Auxiliary sold tickets to most everybody who didn't have an opportunity to help in any other way.

While all of the helpful interest by local people was inspired by a sense of duty to a local institution there was no such obligatory motive on the part of the College boys, the quartet and the musicians who augmented the orchestra. They came in a spirit of broader interest in public welfare and certainly our gratitude to them is very great. Mrs. Blair entertained them at her home on Linn street after the concert as a personal expression of her appreciation.

Certainly it was a delightful affair and even had the hospital not been so materially helped, Mrs. Blair, the director, could have felt wonderfully rewarded by its artistic success.

Business Places Will Start Afternoon Closing May 3rd.

At the regular meeting of the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte, on Wednesday evening, it was decided to inaugurate the Thursday afternoon closing of stores this year on May 3rd and to continue six months, or through the month of October.

The association also voted to entertain the members of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, when they visit Bellefonte on May 10th, with a smoker, the place to be decided later.

A Novelty in Ice Cream Making.

The Bon Mot has added a handsome new brine ice cream making machine to its equipment. While this popular place has already splendid equipment in its basement the new machine is intended for window manufacture.

It is all of nickel and white porcelain finish and will be operated by electricity under the eyes of every patron who cares to look. It is the latest thing in sanitary manufacture of cream and will be in regular operation within two weeks.

Woman Takes Own Life.

Racked with pain and suffering through an illness of four years Mrs. Mary K. Young, of Colyer, slashed an artery under her right elbow, last Thursday afternoon and when found in her bedroom some time later was lying in a pool of blood. Physicians did everything possible to save her life but she died on Friday. She was about fifty-three years old and is survived by several children. Burial was made at Colyer on Tuesday.
