

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

The Woman's club will have a food sale on Saturday, May 12th. Delicious cakes and candies.

The rummage sale held at the Undine fire company building, on Tuesday, yielded over three hundred dollars as a benefit for the Bellefonte hospital.

A chimney fire at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford, at Coleville, on Monday afternoon, called out the Logan pumper, but fortunately its services were not required.

Wilbur E. Burkholder, formerly in the Pennsylvania railroad passenger station in this place and now the agent in Philipsburg, is spending two weeks in Florida and Cuba. Mrs. Burkholder accompanied him on the trip.

One-half of the net proceeds of "Springtime," to be given in the opera house next Wednesday and Thursday evenings under the auspices of the Campfire girls, will be given to the Y. M. C. A. This is another reason why you should patronize the play.

The stately elm that has stood at the corner of the Diamond for so many years was felled on Tuesday to make way for the next unit of the Heverly block that will be begun just as soon as the wreckage can be removed from the site of the old Curtin house.

Ralph M. Musser, who is the county agricultural agent of the Greenbrier county farm bureau at Lewisburg, West Virginia, writes that the "Watchman" is like a breath from home and while it doesn't reach him until Monday it is far better late than never.

The Bucknell College freshmen will cross bats with the Bellefonte Academy nine on Hughes field tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. Bellefonte fans are urged to go out to the field and give the Academy players the advantage of their moral as well as financial support. Game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Jane McCalmont's condition, which has been regarded as critical during her ten day's illness with pneumonia, is slightly improved, giving her a chance for recovery; while no improvement is noted in Mr. Heisler, his illness dating back seven weeks, has been considered very serious during that entire time.

The following organ numbers will be played Sunday evening, at 7:30 at St. John's Lutheran church, by George A. Johnston, in the regular weekly organ recital: "Song Without Words," by Mendelssohn; fantasies on a theme from "Martha," by George A. Johnston, and paraphrase on "Prelude in C Sharp Minor," by Rachmaninoff. Visitors are welcome.

The Walter L. Main show, which will exhibit in Bellefonte next Monday and the fact that it will come over the mountain from Philipsburg may make it a little late getting into Bellefonte on Sunday morning. Of course the show will have their own help to get unloaded, so it will not be necessary for any Bellefonters to stay away from church just to see that they get unloaded properly.

Mrs. Mildred Scott Olmstead, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, will be in Bellefonte next Tuesday, May the eighth. All who would like to hear Mrs. Olmstead speak on the work of the organization are cordially invited to a parlor meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Mills Beach, at eight o'clock, Tuesday evening.

"Springtime," the musical melody which will be staged at the opera house next Wednesday and Thursday evenings by the John B. Rogers Producing company, under the auspices of the Campfire girls of Bellefonte, will be an entertainment worth seeing. The best local talent of the town will be in the cast while the chorus is unusually large and clever. The Campfire girls are now engaged in selling tickets for their play which can be exchanged for reserved seats when the chart is opened.

On Sunday Thomas Lamb, assistant baggage master at the Pennsylvania railroad depot, went down to the company's heating plant to look after the fire under the boiler. He opened the furnace door and with a long poker undertook to break up the mass of coked coal in the fire box, when there was an explosion of gas and the flames shot out of the firebox with terrific force. Mr. Lamb was painfully burned on the hands and face but fortunately his clothing did not catch fire and he was able to make his way out of the building. A physician dressed his burns and he is now getting along all right.

John C. Bair, of Philadelphia, but formerly of Bellefonte, is now a clerk in the Bellefonte postoffice to fill up the gap created several weeks ago by the resignation of G. Norman Good. Mr. Bair arrived in Bellefonte on Tuesday morning and went to work just as soon as he reached the postoffice, and a rather remarkable coincidence is the fact that just forty-one years previous to the very day, or on May 1st, 1882, he arrived in Bellefonte for the first time. He was one of the original carriers when free delivery was inaugurated at the Bellefonte postoffice but eight years ago last January was transferred to the West Philadelphia office, where he has been located until his transfer to Bellefonte this week.

GAMBLE MILL PROPERTY SOLD.

Experienced Flour Millers, of Middleburg, the Purchasers.

One of the biggest real estate deals in Bellefonte in several years was the sale last week of the Gamble mill and all the contiguous property to J. K. Ulsh and A. G. Bashoar, of Middleburg, Snyder county, who, when they take charge the first of July will operate it under the firm name of Ulsh & Bashoar.

The sale includes the mill, and all the land from the line of the J. H. and C. K. Eagle silk mill property down to the point below the mill, including the siding now used by Harry Winton in his coal business; the house across the railroad occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hartranft as well as the vacant ground between the Hartranft house and Lamb street; the island out near the big spring as well as the dam and water right. The exact consideration has not been made public, though several years ago Mr. Gamble asked $80,000 for the property. That, however, was before the erection of the new mill of C. Y. Wagner and it is just possible that the price now paid is less than the above figure.

Messrs. Ulsh and Bashoar are both practical and experienced millers and had been in business in Middleburg a number of years but recently disposed of their property in that place. As stated above, they will get possession on July first when Mr. Ulsh will come to Bellefonte and take charge of the mill, Mr. Bashoar to come to Bellefonte later. It is understood that the new firm will retain Mr. Hartranft as head miller.

Maybe We Need It.

If anybody has read between the lines of the "Watchman" lately and come to the conclusion that its editorial force is harboring lazy livers we'd like to know of it.

We have been laboring under the impression that the old sheet has been unusually bright of late. Certainly no one here is seeing spots or playing the role of joy killers. So we can't understand the meaning of a great sack of dandelion that was left in this office on Wednesday. Tied to it was an anonymous note stating that the sender has not "seen anything in the paper this spring about the good old liver scraper, so he just thought he'd send us some."

Prior to 1918 we just loved dandelion when scalded with bits of bacon and a dash of vinegar. Now we just haven't the heart to eat it. When we think of the glory of the lovely yellow blossoms that all of the plants in this bag would have sprinkled o'er the hillsides, and the bees that have been robbed of the honey they would have sipped from their yellow cups and when—when we try to figure out how many gallons of something else these blossoms might have made for some one we sink to the depths of regret.

We have suspicion that it was Abe Markie, of State College, who sent it. Abe is an awful temperance fellow and maybe he has started to uproot all the dandelion in College township as a stroke at the root of the evil. From the quantity he sent us it would seem so.

The Passing of Gregg Post.

It is fifty-eight years since the close of the Civil war and naturally the men who fought in that memorable struggle are not only becoming fewer every year but those who still survive are naturally bowed down with the weight of passing years. Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., at one time a flourishing order in Bellefonte, with a large membership, is now a mere skeleton of the organization it was a quarter of a century ago. In fact the membership has been reduced to a very few; so few, that they make no pretense of continuing as a regularly organized body, though they do hold meetings in the grand jury room in the court house. A year or more ago they surrendered their handsomely furnished rooms in the Potter-Hoy building to the Bellefonte Camp P. O. S. of A., and now they have sold all the furnishings of the rooms to the same organization for the sum of $340, and the money has been turned over to the Bellefonte cemetery association for the perpetual care of the G. A. R. lot in the Union cemetery. Thus what will probably be one of the last official acts of the few survivors of this well known G. A. R. association has been making provision that the graves of their comrades be kept green forever and a day.

Bootleg Liquor Blamed for Man's Death.

Wilbur Davis, a resident of Coal Run, near Houtzdale, died on Tuesday of last week and his brother, Austin Davis, states that his illness started with drinking bootleg whiskey purchased of Ray Askey, at Philipsburg, the Saturday night previous. Clearfield county authorities are investigating the manner and cause of Davis' death and if they are satisfied it was the result of drinking bootleg whiskey will likely demand Askey's arrest and trial. Inasmuch as the whiskey was purchased in Philipsburg it is the opinion of the district attorney of Clearfield county that Askey's punishment will be up to Centre county. Should such prove to be so it will be the first case of the kind brought in the Centre county courts.

H. E. McCan, of Tyrone, is acting as car inspector in this place because of the enforced absence of the regular inspector, S. L. Fulton, who has not yet recovered from an injury received while on duty.

Are You One of Them?

In writing to get himself into the 1923 class of "Watchman" readers M. Dannley, of Seville, Ohio, says: "Here's hoping that every last sinner like I have been who is not in will get there at once."

Really Mr. Dannley has helped us out a lot. We never were very long on calling names so didn't have just the right word at command to use in previous importunings to you to pay up. He has furnished it. You, who are not paid up to the middle of 1923, are sinners. That's what you are. And you're compounding your sins by making us a bigger one than we would be naturally if we didn't have to stave our creditors off until you come in.

Look at your label and decide for yourself whether you are what Mr. Dannley called himself and everybody else who is not in the 1923 class.

According to an announcement made early this week the Postoffice Department is perfecting plans to inaugurate a twenty-eight hour air mail service between New York and San Francisco. The attempt is to be made during the latter part of July or beginning of August. The tentative schedule provides for night-flying from Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Saturday's hard rain came at an opportune time for farmers and gardeners; and also assisted materially in extinguishing the mountain fires which had been raging in various sections of the State for a week or more. While the weather became somewhat chilly after the rain it fortunately did not become cold enough to do any damage to blossoming fruit trees or growing vegetation.

The minstrel dance will be the big social feature of the Bellefonte Academy minstreels this year, which will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 17th and 18th. The dance will be held on the night of the 18th, from 11 to 3 o'clock. As it looks now some very clever dancing and catchy songs will feature the minstreels. A number of clever specialists will take part and the entire program gives promise of being one of the best ever rendered. Get your tickets early and be sure of a good seat.

Friday and Saturday, May 4th and 5th, we will place on sale men's shirts, $1.25 and $1.50 grade at $1.15. Collar attached and neckbands.—Sim, the Clothier. 68-18-11

A little excitement prevailed in front of Petrikin hall, just before noon on Monday, when a gang of men were almost in the act of planting a pole in front of Russell Smith's ice cream and soft drink saloon for the purpose of erecting a big electric sign. The hoie was in the ground and the pole was almost ready to be put in the hole when one of the ladies who has supervision of Petrikin hall happened along. On being informed that the pole was to be planted in the hole she said "I guess not," or words to that effect and immediately planted herself in the pathway of the pole and stayed right on the job until the pole was removed. On Wednesday morning, however, a four inch iron pole was planted in the hole.

A number of Centre county cattle feeders expect to attend the annual cattle feeder's exhibition to be held at State College today (Friday). At that time the results of the college feeding tests conducted during the past winter will be made known, and there will be some interesting talks by prominent cattle men and faculty members of the animal husbandry department. The Hereford cattle breeder's association held its second annual meeting yesterday and last night the Siroin club, composed of students in animal husbandry, held its annual banquet, which was well attended. Former Lieutenant Governor Frank B. McClain, of Lancaster; Dr. T. E. Munce, State veterinarian, and J. Frank Wood, of the Pittsburgh stock yards, were among the speakers.

Rev. Dr. Sylvester W. Beach has resigned as regular pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at Princeton, N. J., but out of consideration for the eighteen years of faithful service rendered the congregation unanimously elected him pastor emeritus at a salary of $2,500 a year. Dr. Beach has passed his seventieth anniversary and this was his excuse for resigning. Almost fifty years ago he spent a year in Bellefonte while an instructor at the Bellefonte Academy, and the friendships formed at that time have endured to the present, made more intimate by the fact that he later married Miss Nellie Orbison, a daughter of the late Mrs. N. J. Orbison, of this place. Dr. Beach took charge as pastor of the First church, Princeton, on June 3rd, 1905, and his retirement will become effective June 3rd.

Nearly Ninety-five and Still Reading the "Watchman."

Almost we feel like the "Watchman" has discovered its Godmother. When it was only six years old, a scrawny, struggling child in the field of journalism, Mrs. Susan Spangler, of Centre Hall, took it into her home and during the sixty-two years that have elapsed she has been its constant reader. She is now in her ninety-fifth year and has written us a note in her own hand that rather shames our own miserable chirography.

Hers is the hope and courage that many of us might well emulate, for she has paid for two years in advance "for the best paper ever published," as she flatteringly describes the "Watchman." Think of it! Before we get out of dear old Mrs. Spangler's debt she will be ninety-seven and the "Watchman" will be seventy. Surely we hope that the friendly tie that has held us through more than three score years will not be broken for a long, long time to come.

Rev. Ard to Remain in Bellefonte.

At the regular church services on Sunday evening Rev. Wilson P. Ard announced to the congregation of the Lutheran church that he had decided to reject the call extended him some time ago by the Lutheran congregation of Norfolk, Va., and will remain in Bellefonte and continue his work as pastor of the Bellefonte church. The congregation recently voted to increase their pastor's salary two hundred dollars a year, or to two thousand dollars, in the event of his decision to remain in Bellefonte. This is the fourth increase in salary granted since Rev. Ard became pastor of the church a number of years ago, and is evidence of the love and esteem in which he is held. Rev. Ard has many friends outside his congregation who will be glad to know that he will remain in Bellefonte.

Penn State Lowers World's Record.

Four speed kings from State College, Carter, Edgerton, Enck and Helrich, outdistanced by twenty yards the much vaunted runners from Oxford University, England, and smashed the world's record in the two mile relay race at Philadelphia on Saturday. The Oxford runners were picked as winners but trainer Cartmell's men took the lead at the start and held it to the finish, which was not even close. Moore, of State College, also won the 120 yard hurdles.

The Bellefonte Academy, with an inexperienced team, won the first prep school mile relay over York Institute by thirty yards, and came home with a handsome silk flag. The Academy team, by the way, will go to Pittsburgh today to participate in the interscholastic events at Carnegie Tech.

American Legion Wins Bowling Championship Again.

The finals for the championship were played off on the Y alleys last Wednesday evening, the Legion leading off strong to a good finish. At the end of the six games the champions were 310 pins to the good. Final score: American Legion, 3687; Clerks, 3377.

The captains of the teams of the two leagues will meet at the Y on Tuesday evening, May 8th, to arrange for a social get together with all the members of the league in attendance. This event will likely take place the following week. The beautiful trophy will be re-awarded to the Legion, which now holds it for the championship of last year.

Odd Fellows Celebrate at Jersey Shore

Over five hundred Odd Fellows and Daughters of Rebekah attended the anniversary celebration of the Central Pennsylvania Odd Fellows association at Jersey Shore, last Thursday. The big feature, naturally, was the parade in the afternoon. For the first time in a number of years the Bellefonte lodge did not attend in a body. At the business meeting the following officers were elected. President, Harry C. Keightly, of Williamsport; vice president, J. Y. Stroth, of Sunbury; secretary, E. H. Laird, Williamsport; treasurer, H. H. Blair, Williamsport. The selection of the place of meeting for 1924 was left to the executive committee.

One of the Tyrone Fishermen Said to be in Trouble.

It has been reported that one of the Tyrone fishermen who made such a haul in the Bush house dam, here, on the opening day of the season, was fishing with a borrowed license.

The story is to the effect that the donor of one of the prizes offered for large catches in Tyrone has demanded the prize back and threatens to prosecute the offender for violating the fishing laws.

We can't vouch for the accuracy of this story but it was told by a gentleman from Tyrone who was in Bellefonte on Tuesday.

State police last week placed under arrest Jacob Lamey, of Haines township, on the charge of starting a forest fire. Being unable to furnish the $1,000 bail required he was sent to the Centre county jail for trial at court. A traveling salesman who gave his residence as Philadelphia, was also arrested on the same charge and gave bail for his appearance at court.

The beauty of the bloom on the magnolia trees in the yards of James H. Potter and Sim Baum are attracting much attention at present.
