Airplanes are now no novelty to the people of Bellefonte but the attention of many residents of the town was attracted by the evolutions of a machine between six and seven o'clock on Monday evening. Collier, who was on his way to Washington, from Dayton, Ohio.

C., as general manager, while he will become engineer of construction for all of the plants of the American-Warner interests.

WORLD MISSIONS' CONFERENCE.

Program of the Meetings to be held in Centre County on Sunday.

Plans have been completed for the World Missions' conference to be held in Centre county on Sunday and Monday. All protestant denominations are co-operating in this splendid movement, and the most prominent representatives and speakers will be sent here by the different mission boards to present to the people of this county the program and needs of the foreign fields.

The church people of Centre county should feel proud that their county has been selected as the first rural field on which a united effort of this kind has been launched. The campaign is purely educational, and no one will be asked to make any special contribution. It is an opportunity to hear some of the leading men of the protestant church of today right in this community.

Sunday morning in Bellefonte the Episcopal congregation will be addressed by Dr. A. M. Sherman; the Methodist and Presbyterian by Dr. Frank Bible; the Evangelical and United Brethren by Bishop A. T. Howard, and the Reformed and Lutheran by Dr. L. B. Wolf. In the afternoon Dr. Turner will speak at Snow Shoe, Bishop Howard at Unionville, Mrs. Harold Smith at Gray's church, and Dr. Sherman at Port Matilda. In the evening the same churches that held services in the morning, with the exception of the Episcopal, will be addressed by Drs. Rupert, Wolf and Turner.

State College will have four speakers for the morning services, while Mrs. Harold Smith will address a union meeting in the evening. At 2:30 p. m. the Lemont meeting will be addressed by Dr. Landes, and a service will be held at Pleasant Gap at 10:30 a. m.

Big Benefit Baseball Game.

The regularly scheduled ball game between Millheim and Bellefonte, on Hughes field tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, will be a benefit for Samuel Weaver, one of the players on the Bellefonte team who recently broke his leg while playing in one of the league games. Mr. Weaver, who is mechanic at the aviation field, is now in the Bellefonte hospital and, of course, will be unable to work for six weeks or two months, and the Bellefonte Baseball association has decided to make tomorrow's game a benefit for him.

This is one reason why all the fans in town should be present on Hughes field to see the contest, while another reason is that the Bellefonte team still leads the league and the players should be given all the encouragement possible.

Last Thursday's game between Bellefonte and State College is still undecided. The State team was twenty-five minutes late in reaching Hughes field and because of this fact the game was stopped in the first half of the fifth inning on account of rain. At the time the score stood 5 to 3 in favor of Bellefonte. Not counting this game, however, the standing of the clubs up to yesterday morning was as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Location, Won, Lost, P. C. Bellefonte 4 0 1.000, Millheim 2 2 .500, Centre Hall 1 3 .250, State College 0 2 .000

Very few Spanish-American war veterans from Centre county attended the annual reunion held at Huntingdon last Saturday. In fact the absentees included Col. H. S. Taylor, of Bellefonte, who has probably not missed a meeting of the regiment since its organization as a reunion association.

Readers of the "Watchman" will miss our usually interesting Pine Grove Mills letter this week because of the fact that the man who wields the pencil in that neck-o'-woods, Capt. W. H. Fry, left on Monday night for Greensburg to attend the annual State encampment of the G. A. R., as a representative of the Capt. Campbell Post No. 272.

There is no place like home, likewise no place like the Scenic, Bellefonte's well known motion picture show. Read the program of the offers for next week and you cannot fail to be impressed with the quality of the pictures to be shown. Two hours of delightful entertainment, the best to be had from the leading film makers. If not now a regular, get the habit.

Shortly after the noon hour last Saturday workmen for the Keystone Power corporation undertook to burn the insulation off of a lot of copper wire, but unfortunately piled it too close to the rear door of the old electric light building on Lamb street, with the result that the building caught fire. A Tack Fiend Again at Large.

Tacks, tacks, tacks, not the kind of tax that Governor Pinchot has been so insistent on soaking on the already over-burdened public but the kind that plays the devil with automobile tires, were in evidence by the hundreds on High street, Bellefonte, yesterday morning. The tacks were of the bill poster or roofing variety, five-eighths of an inch long, and literally covered the street from the eastern side of High street bridge to the railroad. Inasmuch as the tacks were scattered broadcast, they could not have gotten there by accident but were undoubtedly the work of some vandal who sowed them on the street with evil intent.

A year or two ago tacks of a similar variety were scattered broadcast at the entrance to one of the leading Bellefonte garages, but the culprit who did the job was never detected. Just who the vicious individual is that scattered the tacks on High street may be hard to determine, as he evidently did the job in the small hours of the night when the streets were absolutely deserted. But he made a good job of it, as a number of hand-fuls of tacks were picked up yesterday morning. Every effort should be made to determine how the tacks got on the street, and if it develops that they were thrown there with malicious intent, and the perpetrator of the outrage can be discovered, he should be dealt with according to law.

Abandoned Baby Girl found at Clayton Walters Home.

Somewhere in Centre county, and presumably within a radius of a few miles of Bellefonte, is a woman devoid of all human instincts, a woman who deliberately abandoned her supposedly three weeks old infant to the tender mercies of strangers, and the child is now being cared for at the Bellefonte hospital.

The baby girl was found in bed at the home of Mr. Clayton Walters, near Axe Mann, last Wednesday evening, and how it got there, and who left it, is a mystery. Miss Walters avers that the only time during the day that she was out of the house was while she was milking the cows in the evening. At that time both the front and rear doors of the house were open, so that it was easy for any one to gain admittance.

On the evening in question Mrs. Wallace White went to the Walters home just about the time the latter finished her evening work. The two women then went out on the front porch and sat down for a nice, neighborly chat. While sitting there Mrs. White remarked that she heard a baby crying but Miss Walters scoffed at the idea because there "wasn't a baby near the house." A little later, when Mrs. White got up to go home, she again heard the crying of a child and she insisted in making a search of the house. Miss Walters secured a candle and the two women went up stairs, and searched all the bedrooms but the spare room without success. The door of the spare room was shut but they opened it and looked in, and there on the bed, lay a baby. All it had on was a napkin, band and a little sack. No other clothing of any kind was in evidence.

The child was evidently hungry and the two women prepared some milk and fed it, then called a physician. He examined the baby and gave it as his opinion that the little girl was about three weeks old, and perfectly normal. In order to give it every care possible the physician took it to the Bellefonte hospital, where the child is getting along all right. Up to this writing not the least clue has been obtained as to the babe's parentage or how it was smuggled into the Walters' home.

Over a Thousand Kiddies Attend Annual Picnic.

Over a thousand kiddies were guests of their big brothers, members of the Bellefonte Lodge of Elks, at the second annual kiddies day at Hecla park yesterday. When the registration closed on Monday evening just 956 children had their names on the roll at the Elks home, but the gathering was not confined to that number, as every child who reported at the Elks yesterday morning was taken, and while no official count was made it is estimated that the crowd numbered more than a thousand. In fact the Elks had secured 900 caps for the occasion and there were not enough to cover the craniums of the boys and girls.

The beautiful, sunny morning brought the children out bright and early, in fact some of them were on hand before seven o'clock, although the hour for starting of the park was 8:30. Seven of the big buses of the Emerick Motor company had been commandeered to carry the children to the park, and a large number of privately-owned cars were used, but it was necessary to make several trips in order to safely convey all the youngsters to the park. Once there bedlam broke loose. A large number of Elks went down as guardians of the elder of the children while the services of a dozen or more women were secured to look after the smaller tots. The Odd Fellows band enlivened the gathering with a very generous supply of music. The Elks presented each one of the children with an airplane balloon as mementoes of the day.

The noon luncheon was prepared and served by the kitchen committee of the Elks and included minced ham sandwiches, fruit, ice cream and cake and all the lemonade the children could drink. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the Elks' flag day exercises were held at the park with all the children paying close attention. The address was delivered by Rev. M. DePui Maynard, of the Episcopal church.

Two weeks ago the "Watchman" published an item relative to the burning of an Overland car on the highway at Rock Springs, in which it was stated that the car had been "gone over" in the Rossman garage only a few minutes previous and turned out as all right. We have since learned that the car, which was a Studebaker and not an Overland, had not been inside the Rossman garage and had not been gone over at all. The driver did stop outside the garage and get two quarts of oil, but nothing more. This explanation is made because of the fact that it is not the wish of the editor to have any item construed in a way that might reflect on any man or the business in which he is engaged, and we have every reason to believe that Mr. Rossman and his assistants are capable and enterprising workmen who, when turning a car out as all right, know that it is right.

The Lauderbach-Zerby company is putting a concrete floor in its Bellefonte wholesale store, which is built over the race leading to the Gamble mill. Wood floors last but a short time in the building owing to the continual dampness from the water in the race.
