Mrs. P. E. Sellers, of Buffalo Run valley, entered the Bellefonte hospital as a surgical patient, the early part of the week.

The Rev. Malcolm Maynard has moved from the Bush house to St. John's rectory, on west Lamb street, where he may be reached on both telephones.

Miss Alice Tate, who was discharged from the Bellefonte hospital two weeks ago, was taken directly to her rooms on Bishop street, where she is slowly convalescing from her seventeen week's illness. Although Miss Tate's condition has greatly improved, she has not as yet been able to resume her work.

Smooth shoe soles and a steep pavement are a dangerous combination, or so they proved to J. H. Decker, on Saturday. Walking down the pavement along the Deitrick-Dunlap Cadillac company garage, on Saturday, his feet slipped from under him and he fell to the pavement, fracturing two bones in his right wrist.

Rev. William Potter Van Tries, son of the late Dr. Thomas C. Van Tries, of Bellefonte, has resigned his pastorate of the Presbyterian church at Amble to become pastor of the Second Presbyterian church at Chester, Pa., entering upon his ministry there on Sunday. Rev. and Mrs. Van Tries now have a family of three children.

Dr. C. M. Parrish has sold his residence on east Curtin street to W. P. Seig, the latter to get possession when the doctor completes his business block on Allegheny street, when it is his intention to occupy the apartment above the store. The price Mr. Seig paid for the Curtin street property is said to be in the neighborhood of $10,500.

The body of two year old Jane Claney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock P. Claney, of Wilkingsburg, who was killed in an auto accident near Cresson several weeks ago, was brought to Bellefonte last Saturday for burial in the McClure lot in the Union cemetery. The body had lain in a receiving vault in Wilkingsburg since the date of the accident.

It is safe to say that most of the people in Bellefonte would like to go with the Logans to Hecla park next Wednesday, but it is no guess to say that hundreds of people like to attend the scenic as frequently as possible. The big fans keep the house fairly comfortable, while the motion pictures are always worth seeing. Read the program for next week's offerings in another column.

One of the lions carried by the Gentry-Patterson show, which will exhibit in Bellefonte tomorrow, died as the result of the excessive heat while the show was at Lancaster last Wednesday, and at Pottstown, on Friday night, Howard Walsh, one of the clowns, was painfully burned by an exploding bouquet, which had been overcharged with flashlight powder. Walsh was knocked down and had to be dragged out of the ring but made no outcry and the thousands of spectators thought the performance a part of his act.

Last Friday landlord M. A. Landsy, of the Brockerhoff house, took a little ride around town with John Bauer in his express truck. The latter had a trip to south Paul street and as he went to turn the corner off of west High street he was confronted by another truck standing in the middle of the street. He turned quickly to avoid hitting the truck and ran into a post at the side of the street. Mr. Bower escaped injury but Mr. Landsy was thrown forward against the frame of the cab of the truck and sustained a badly bruised head and face, as well as a damaged hat. The truck was not materially damaged.

The three big transformers to be used by the Keystone Power corporation in reducing the current from the Penn Central company power line to conform with the units of the corporation service arrived in Bellefonte last week and are now being unloaded out at the Phoenix mill pumping station. The transformers weigh seven tons each and it is going to be some job to transfer them to the transforming station out on the big green just north of the Bush Addition school house. The original idea was to put down a temporary railroad track out Willowbank street on which to move the ponderous machines, but this plan has been given up and rollers will be used instead. Inasmuch as the machines are quite high considerable care will have to be exercised that they do not topple over so that the job of moving them is not an easy one.

Prison Agitators Weeded Out at Rockview Penitentiary.

Readers of the Watchman will recall that a month or more ago a number of prisoners created a disturbance at the western penitentiary at Rockview over the food that was being supplied them and since that time the prison authorities have pursued a quiet campaign of inquiry which has resulted in disclosing the identity of the leaders in the food insurrection. The result is that every man implicated will be sent back to the western penitentiary at Pittsburgh to serve his time.

The first consignment of six prisoners was taken back on Saturday, and they have been transported in squads of six every day. All told about thirty-five are doomed for return to the western institution. A few of the men possess the look of considerable intelligence but the majority of them are not at all prepossessing. One of the men sent back on Saturday remarked that they were "just going back home."

ESCAPED PRISONERS RECAPTURED.

The first of the eight prisoners who escaped from the penitentiary on June 17th and 19th was captured in Chicago on Monday morning. He was Edward Fiddell, sent up from Cambria county for from three to five years. Fiddell was originally from Chicago and was one of the men who walked away from the Rockview institution on Sunday evening, June 17th. He evidently lost little time in getting back to his old haunts in the picked up so quickly after arriving there ought to be a warning to all Windy city, but the fact that he was the prisoners at the institution that it does not pay to take French leave.

Robert Hill, the Jefferson county inmate who was among the six that escaped from the big dormitory on the morning of June 19th, was captured at Punxsutawney on Tuesday night. Hill was brought to the Centre county jail on Wednesday, and as soon as Judge Quigley returns home will be sentenced for breaking away from the penitentiary.

Our Court Reversed in the Mary Brown Case.

On Monday the Supreme court of Pennsylvania handed down an opinion in the case of Mary Brown versus the estate of Jane Brown, deceased, C. M. McCurdy, administrator. The opinion sets aside the verdict of the jury of the Centre county court in favor of the plaintiff and in substance declares that she has no right to recover.

The case grew out of the will of the late Jane Brown, of Howard street, this place. Mary Brown was her daughter-in-law and lived with her, nursing her over a period of years during her last illness. When the will was opened it was found that the testatrix had made many bequests to her next of kin and among them was one of a house and lot on Howard street, the household furniture and $600.00 in cash to Mary Brown. The residuary estate, amounting to $16,000 or $18,000, was to be distributed among the beneficiaries of her estate according to the various specific bequests made them in the will.

Mary Brown then brought suit against the administrator to recover for services rendered her mother-in-law. The case was tried in the Centre county courts last fall and the jury rendered a verdict of approximately $11,000 for the plaintiff.

The other heirs of the estate appealed to the Supreme court. The case was argued in Philadelphia in April and Monday's decree is the outcome of it.

The result will very materially affect the share the blood relatives of Mrs. Brown will probably receive since it will establish a new basis on which the division of the residuary estate must be made and thus affect the proportions each of them will receive. The children of Harry Ulmer Tibbens, of Johnstown, are among those advantageously affected by the opinion.

Spend the Fourth with the Logans at Hecla Park.

Years ago the Fourth of July invariably meant a rousing patriotic demonstration in almost every town and hamlet, and the aftermath was generally a long list of dead and injured as the result of the promiscuous use of powerful explosives and fireworks. Today the slogan is for "a safe and sane Fourth," and while many towns have celebrations they are along entirely different lines, but none the less enjoyable.

State College has arranged for a celebration on the Fourth while Snow Shoe will also have a big time. Bellefonte will have no celebration in the town as most everybody will go to Hecla park to spend the day with the Logan fire company. This is the only time in the entire year when the Logans come before the public asking for anything, and on these occasions they simply ask the public to go to Hecla park and have a good time.

The program includes a concert by the I. O. O. F. band from 9 to 10 o'clock in the morning. At ten o'clock a league ball game will take place between Centre Hall and Bellefonte. Luncheon in abundance can be secured on the grounds; also ice cream, ice cold soft drinks, etc. In the afternoon there will be another league ball game between Centre Hall and Bellefonte, and dancing in the pavilion. In addition there will be boating and swimming and dancing in the evening. The fire boys always turn out at the first sound of an alarm. Now is the time for the public to respond with the same alacrity.

Mrs. Emma Meredith, widow of William B. Meredith, of Tyrone, and a sister of Mrs. George L. VanTries, of Pittsburgh, died at her home in Tyrone on Wednesday of last week following ten days' illness with influenza. Burial was made in Tyrone on Friday.

The Academy swimming pool on Hughes field proved a cool oasis in the sweltering heat of most of the past week and was liberally patronized by many people in Bellefonte. The new pipe line to the pool will soon be completed and that will permit of freshening the water as often as is deemed necessary. Some pressure has been brought to bear upon Mr. Hughes to throw open his pool on Sunday but the arguments so far presented do not carry sufficient weight to persuade him that it is justifiable.

Saturday was a hoodoo day for the Bellefonte baseball team. They not only got trounced by State College to the tune of 20 to 0 but another member, Joe Katz, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Katz, broke his right ankle while making a slide to third base. A peculiar coincidence is the fact that Katz, like Weaver, who broke his leg several weeks ago, was not one of the regular players in the game but was called from the bench as a pinch runner for Montgomery. In attempting the slide the cleats on his shoe caught in the ground, twisting the foot and fracturing the bones of his leg. Dr. Dale took him to the Bellefonte hospital where he is now receiving proper attention.

A marriage license was issued in Dauphin county on Monday to Paul R. Emerick and Miss Hazel M. Solt, of Bellefonte. Mr. Emerick has been the progressive manager of the A. and P. grocery store in the Brockerhoff house block from the time it was opened until last week, while Miss Solt, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Solt, has been a clerk in the same store. Mr. Emerick has been relieved of the management of the store here because of his transfer to a more important post in California and will leave for the Pacific coast within a week or ten days. The young people were married on Wednesday and left for the west yesterday afternoon.

Frank G. Clemson, who is in Davenport, Iowa, being treated by and studying the principles of chiropractic, writes enthusiastically of his experience. He says: "Chiropractic was discovered a little over twenty-five years ago, by Dr. D. D. Palmer, by accident, and has grown by leaps and bounds since that time. At the present time the Palmer school of chiropractic represents an investment close to one million dollars, and has 350 men and women working in the institution. Last February a class of 1000 was graduated, representing most every State in the Union and many foreign countries. Today there are thousands of people taking adjustments, not only in the United States, but in foreign countries."

Important Contributions to Y. M. C. A. Library.

The library committee of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A. has reason to feel very much gratified over the liberal contributions of valuable books made by friends of the institution. Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes contributed 101 books of good fiction; Mrs. D. H. Hastings 125 books of fiction; the children of the late Mrs. J. Y. Dale gave their father's home library, which was general in character and does not include his medical books, and James R. Hughes donated his father's general library.

Centre County Wool Crop Sold.

The sales committee of the Centre county Sheep and Wool Grower's association met last Friday evening for the purpose of opening sealed bids on this year's wool clip. It was decided to sell to Hirsch Brothers, of Cumberland, Md. The wool will be collected at the three local associations, Bellefonte, Spring Mills and Pine Grove Mills on Friday forenoon, June 29th. The Bellefonte location has been changed to Dubbs' warehouse near the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Co.

Every farmer who has wool to sell should take it to one of these three local associations this forenoon. It is not necessary to be a member of the association in order to sell wool through it. Further details may be secured from the Farm Bureau office, Bellefonte.

Horseshoe Trailers at State College.

Over one hundred members of the Horseshoe Trail association are holding a two day's meeting at State College. The trailers motored to the College yesterday and their first get-together was at a dinner at the University Inn. Following the dinner a business meeting was held in the Nittany theatre. George W. Worthington of Altoona, president of the association, presided, and among the speakers were Dr. John W. Thomas and J. Laird Holmes.

This (Friday) morning a trip over the entire college campus and farms will take place. Automobiles will be used for this trip, which will disclose many of the college attractions that are not usually seen by the casual visitor. Following this trip the association members will gather at the new Centre Hills country club, two miles from State College, and following luncheon there, the afternoon will be devoted to sports on the club grounds.

The Western Maryland Dairy to Refinance.

Announcement has just been made by the Commonwealth bank, of Baltimore, Md., that it has underwritten an issue of $875,000 of preferred stock which will be put in the properties of the Western Maryland Dairy.

The stock will probably be sold to yield slightly more than 7% and it is the plan to offer it to all patrons and employees of the various plants of the company, either on the cash payment or installment plan.

The Western Maryland Dairy is a well known corporation here. Rarely has Bellefonte secured a new industry that has proven so uniformly advantageous as has the receiving station of the company built here several years ago.

The new financing is necessitated because the Western has absorbed the City Dairy, its only real competitor in Baltimore, and this with its receiving stations at Bellefonte, Pylesville, Md., Woodbine, Pa., and Portsville, N. Y., makes it the largest and most thoroughly modern dairy system in America.

The dairy operators now represented in the Western Maryland Dairy, founded many years ago by Irvin D. Baxter, chairman of the board, all have been operating plants that in the course of time had grown old. The grouping of their galleons in a new, thoroughly modern plant, with modern receiving stations in the country and modern distributing stations in the city, have resulted in a fairly large saving over the old method. The dairy has capitalized this saving by making its plant one of the largest in the country, with equipment pronounced by experts to be unsurpassed.

Camp A. G. Morris to Open Today.

The summer outing conducted for the junior members of the Y. M. C. A., of Bellefonte, will begin today, when the advance guard of little fellows will leave for this year's campsite near Franklinville, in Huntingdon county.

Those of us who know what secretary Applin did for the little group of boys he had up Spring Creek last summer for two weeks are anticipating even greater results in his character building campaign when he gets his crowd onto the great new grounds of the tri-county and State Sunday-school association, which are designed to be one of the finest recreational centers in the State. They cover 203 acres, within a mile of Franklinville, and already mess halls and kitchens are permanent buildings. A great lake for boating and swimming is under way and each group of eight boys will have a wall tent, with board floor, iron cot and electric light, with a big brother councillor.

The boys who are to go today, about twenty-five, are regarded as the pioneers of Camp A. G. Morris. They were with Mr. Applin last year and have been selected to prepare camp for the main party which will join them next week, bringing the total to nearly fifty. E. E. Beals, of State College, who cooked so satisfactorily for the camp last year, will be with them again. He makes a fine team mate for Mr. Applin because he loves boys and knows just how to keep them away from the cook-house between meals without starting a riot and how he gives them the food he does for $3.50 per week as the miracle of last year's camp to us. Not one of the group that was there last year failed to register an increase in weight and they came home a far manlier and robust crowd of little fellows than they were when they went away.

The camp is named for the Hon. A. G. Morris as an expression of gratitude for the very helpful interest he has taken in bringing the reconstructed Y of Bellefonte into a field of greater usefulness to the community.

Two prominent citizens of Howard, who were in town Wednesday, were C. M. Mully and Balser Weber. Verily the life of the locust is short and sweet. Last week the singing of the thousands of insects which swarmed on the shade trees in Bellefonte could be heard above the din of the daily motor traffic, while this week their singing has not even been noticeable. But they furnished succulent food for the robins and sparrows while they were here and the result was the birds did not make their customary inroads on the cherry trees.
