Physicians Appointed to Vaccinate School Children.

Dr. J. L. Seibert, county medical director, has been notified by Dr. Charles H. Miner, State secretary of health, of the appointment of the following physicians in Centre county to revaccinate school children, free of charge, who have undergone two or more unsuccessful attempts at vaccination against smallpox:

School children living in the rural districts who have been twice unsuccessfully vaccinated, or those who had been admitted to school last term on an official temporary certificate, must be re-vaccinated by the county medical director or one of these official deputies, who will grant the temporary certificate which will admit them to school for the current school year. In cities, boroughs, or townships of the first class having organized boards of health, this official re-vaccination must be performed by the board of health physician.

Teachers or school principals are not allowed to admit children to school unless they present, or have already filed a certificate of successful vaccination, or in the case of unsuccessful results the official temporary certificate, which must have been issued since June 1st, at which time temporary certificates issued during the previous school term became void.

The county medical director has proper vaccination certificates. A cerdisclosed a vaccination scar, or cicatrix indicating a successful vaccination. If this vaccination cicatrix is not in evidence, the physician cannot legally certify, and the child must be re-vaccinated.

Voracious Horses Chew Covering on Airplane.

On Sunday evening aviator R. Haines, of Lancaster, Pa., with his wife and mechanician, J. Behmer, sailed into Bellefonte in a L. W. F. plane, coming here from Lewistown where he had been giving exhibitions. The party landed on the aviation field and, as they intended spending the night here, manager Gelhaus suggested that he run his plane into the hangar as a better means of protection; especially as the aviation field is pastured at night by the Hon. Thomas Beaver's horses and cattle. Mr. Haines, however, declined to accept the suggestion, stating that there was nothing about the plane that the animals were likely to damage.

Along about midnight Joseph Alters, the night watchman at the hangars, heard considerable of a commotion down at Mr. Haines' airplane and went forth to investigate. Imagine his consternation when he found the horses literally making a meal of the tail of the plane. There was evidently something in the glue used to paste the linen covering on the plane that appealed to the appetite of the horses made her home with her uncle and as they were stripping the linen off of the stabilizer and elevator by big Duncansville, Blair county, where she mouthfuls and chewing it to a pulp. was a teacher in the public schools. The Water committee reported repairs to service lines on Bishop and Willowbank streets. Mr. Cunningham who has been carried on the payroll of the water department, puts in at least half his time working on the streets and should be paid out of the latter department. The secretary was so instructed.

Mr. Cunningham called attention to a dangerous condition at the Undine fire company building, where motorists who stop for oil and gas at the Keystone gas plant, drive out over the new concrete crossing put down in front of the Undine building. The fault can be corrected by the moving of an electric light pole from one side of the crossing to the other, and the matter was referred to the Street committee.

The Finance committee asked for the renewal of notes for $1,000 and $500, which were authorized.

A petition was received from residents of Beaver street asking that that thoroughfare be opened from Arstreet. At present there is no open street from Spring street to a point east of Allegheny street. The matter was referred to the Street committee.

Harding, in Marion.

The remains of President Harding lay in state in the dimmed east room of the White House from the time of their arrival in Washington on Wednesday evening until one o'clock Thursday afternoon when they were taken to the nation's capitol where funeral services were held in the spacious rotunda. Many thousand people viewed the solemn procession as it marched along Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the capitol. The casket containing the remains of the President was carried on a guncarriage hauled by seven black horses. and Mrs. Christian and bore the trying ordeal with remarkable bravery and fortitude.

President Calvin Coolidge and Mrs.
Coolidge, all the cabinet members, many representatives of foreign governments, Senators and Representatives, Governors of various States, military and civic organizations, followed the remains in the slow moving procession. Coming thus to Capitol Hill, the bands ceased for the climb to the wide piaza on the east front where new climbed up the winding, tree-shadowed

And it was the distant throbbing of dome, throbbing that grew nearer and nearer until at last it gave place to the softly rising tones of a great army band that played "Lead Kindly Light," as the flag-wound casket was lifted slowly up the long, wide stone

The religious services were striking in their simplicity against the back-ground of military pomp and grandeur given by the funeral parade. Just the short prayers, the murmuring of low voices joined in the old, old words of the Lord's Prayer, the Scriptural readings and the blending voices of a male quartet in the same hymn that marked this funeral everywhere, "Lead Kindly Light," the hymn best beloved by the dead President, and at the end "Nearer My God to Thee," with its message of Christian resigna-
