An idea of the amount of reforestation that is being done in Centre county may be had from the recent report of the State Forestry Department to the effect that during the spring months of this year thirty-eight owners of waste land in this county set out 144,165 forest trees.

Donald Boyd Gorsuch, who would have been a Sophomore at State College at the opening of the school term in September, was drowned while bathing in a dam at his home near Patton on Saturday evening. He was eighteen years old and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi G. Gorsuch, former residents of Blair county.

The next initiation of candidates in Penn-Centre Chapter Order of DeMolay will be held in the opera house, Bellefonte, at a full ceremonial session on Tuesday evening, September 4th. In addition to the building and a quantity of farm implements 1,600 bushels of wheat, 2,500 bushels of oats and 65 tons of hay were destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance.

Both Miss Mary Labaree, of the Welfare department, Harrisburg, and Miss Henrietta Baldy Lyon, of Williamsport, were in Bellefonte yesterday on their way to Boalsburg, where they were speakers at the picnic of the League of Women Voters of Centre county. The subject of Miss Labaree's most interesting talk was "Women on the Poor Board."

In the neighborhood of five hundred people attended the formal dedication of the new tri-county and State Sunday school training camp grounds near Franklinville, on Sunday. A special program of exercises was rendered which included addresses by Walter E. Myers, general secretary of the State association, and Dr. J. Harvey Brumbaugh, president of Juniata College.

Most Bellefonte people know that the scenic is the best place of every evening entertainment to be found in the town, and strangers visiting here always go there to see the best motion picture programs. The product of the best film producers enter into the nightly programs, and manager T. Clayton Brown is always watching for something new and unusual for his many patrons.

The outlook for student registration at the Bellefonte Academy for the coming school year is very encouraging. Three young men from a small town in the western part of the State, which has never been represented at the Academy, have registered with a probability of one or two more from the same place. Quite a number of boys have registered who have high standing in various athletic sports so that the outlook for good teams is unusually bright.

H. J. Hartranft, the efficient master miller at the Ush and Bashoar mill, had his right arm broken just below the elbow last Thursday afternoon. He was applying belt dressing to the elevator belt and in some way got his arm caught in the belt guard. The accident is not only unfortunate for Mr. Hartranft but also for the new milling firm, as they had just gotten started after completing some repairs and improvements to the mill.

One of the biggest festivals to be held in this section this season will be the one at Milesburg on Saturday evening of next week, August 25th, under the auspices of Wetzler's band. Owing to the fact that the band boys will be busy looking after the welfare of the hundreds who are expected to attend the gathering the services of the I. O. O. F. band, of Bellefonte, have been secured to furnish music for the evening. A Ford touring car will be given away during the evening, and this will surely be a big drawing card.

Members of the Jaffa Shrine Temple, of Altoona, which includes on its roll many Centre countians, will give a kiddies party and basket picnic at Shrine park, Altoona, on Thursday of next week, to which all Shrineans are invited whether kids or not. A hasty glance over the names of the men in charge shows that Howard Holzworth, of Unionville, and M. S. McDowell, of State College, are on the reception committee, and this is assurance that all Centre countians entitled to be there will be properly received and welcomed.

Premium Book Out for Grange Encampment.

The premium book for the big encampment and fair at Grange park, Centre Hall, is out. It is a book of sixty pages and one that should be in the hands of every exhibitor. The date of the fair is only two weeks away and the committee of arrangements is rushing to completion the various improvements which will greatly add to the convenience and comfort of both exhibitors and campers.

The park will be open to campers on August 30th, and admission charged from that day. Sunday, however, will be free to all, and a fine program has been arranged for that day. Free entertainments and band concerts will be given every day in the week.

The stage to be used in presenting the pageant on Tuesday evening, September 4th, and Wednesday evening, September 5th, is now under construction.

The pageant will be a big thing, worked out through community efforts, under the direction of W. R. Gordon, of the Rural Life organization, and aided by interested people in a number of localities. It will portray the history of agriculture and its future development, the organization of the Grange and many symbolical features and scenes. A large number of men and women, boys and girls will be used to stage this spectacle. Nowhere in Centre county or Central Pennsylvania has a similar work been attempted. The best talent the county affords is interested in its preparation, and it is the intention to make it the big thing of this encampment and fair, and free on Grange park.

Wednesday of fair week will be Grand Army day, when the entire forenoon will be given over to the men who fought in the Civil war. They will arrange their own program, which will include patriotic addresses by good speakers. An educational program has been arranged for the afternoon, and speakers from the Department of Public Instruction will talk on present day educational problems.

Thursday will be Grange day, and speakers representing both the National and State Grange will discuss topics of vital interest to farmers generally.

Fifty cents admission, good for the week, will be charged all persons fourteen years of age or over; children under fourteen admitted free. Auto admission, 50 cents. All needed supplies can be purchased on the park. All trains will stop at the park, beginning Saturday, September 1st.

The Williams' Family Reunion.

The big, mammoth Uncle Tom's Cabin shows of modern times always have two Topsyies and two Uncle Toms, and now it looks as if Bald Eagle valley will have two Williams' family reunions tomorrow.

Last week two members of the committee of arrangements of the reunion association visited the Bellefonte newspaper offices and authorized the announcement that the reunion this year would be held at Port Matilda instead of the Miles grove, at Martha, where it has been held ever since the organization of the association.

In the Philipsburg Journal of Monday, however, J. B. Miles and D. C. Fink are out in a statement that the reason the members of the committee announced the change was because one of them could not handle the concessions. They further state that regardless of the announcement of the gathering at Port Matilda members of this well known family in the vicinity of Martha will picnic at the old place in the Miles grove tomorrow. They have secured the Wetzler band of Milesburg, have arranged for a ball game and lunch will be served on the ground to all desiring same. All trains on the valley road will stop at the grounds as usual, except the flyer.

It now remains to be seen which of the gatherings will draw the biggest crowd.

Head-on Collision Near State College Wrecks Two Cars.

Just about midnight, Monday, Mr. Sellers, a young hardware merchant of State College, collided with a car occupied by Mrs. F. W. Wieland and her daughter, Miss Mildred, of Linden Hall, with the result that the Sellers car, a Paige, was smashed almost beyond repair, the Wieland car badly damaged and both ladies painfully injured.

The accident occurred on the straight piece of highway between the old Centre Furnace mill and the "Evergreens" resort, formerly the Thompson home. The cause of it was that Mrs. Wieland suffered an ugly cut on the head and numerous bruises and abrasions. Her daughter, Miss Mildred, who is a graduate of State College and at present connected with the corps of instructors of the Spring Mills vocational school, was injured but not seriously. Mr. Sellers was not hurt.

Free Immunization from Diphtheria Program.

It is possible to determine by a harmless process known as the Schick test whether or not a person is likely to get diphtheria if exposed to the disease. Persons who are proved by this test to be susceptible to diphtheria can be protected against the disease by the hypodermic injection of a harmless fluid—an injection each week for three weeks.

The State Department of Health is now conducting a diphtheria prevention program throughout the State offering the treatment free for children between the ages of six months and six years.

In Bellefonte, the first clinic will be held next Tuesday, August 21st, in the Red Cross health center, beginning at 1 p. m. with Dr. Seibert and Dr. David Dale in charge. Miss Daise Keichline has had charge of the campaign and is assisted by the following committee: Miss Rose Beezer, Mrs. W. Bickett, Mrs. Gregg Curtin, Miss Eva Grove, Mrs. Elsie Rankin Helliwell, Mrs. J. R. Hogentogler, Miss Marian Morrison, Mrs. Dale Musser, Mrs. Charles Schaffer, Mrs. Blanche Schloss, Miss Mary Underwood, Mrs. David Washburn. Members of the committee will visit the homes of children of the prescribed age and leave permit blanks to be signed by parents who desire for their children the benefit of protection against diphtheria by the injection of toxin antitoxin without cost. These blanks must be returned to Miss Keichline not later than tomorrow noon.

Trainmen Have Thrilling Experience.

A dense growth of weeds along a railroad siding at the Buffalo Run plant of the American Lime & Stone company caused a bad wreck, last Friday afternoon, and endangered the lives of the entire train crew on the Bellefonte Central railroad. As it was James Rider, engineer, suffered painful injuries, and William Switzer, conductor, and Samuel McMurtrie, fireman, were badly shaken up in jumping from the train.

The train was on its way to Bellefonte from State College with six loaded cars. At the Buffalo Run plant the men stopped to take on a car of stone. The siding into the plant is up quite a grade and the dense growth of weeds along the track was crushed on the rails beneath the wheels of the engine. When the engine and loaded car of stone started down the grade the wheels began to slip owing to the crushed weeds and there was nothing the trainmen could do to prevent it.

Realizing that a collision with the cars on the main line was inevitable Switzer and McMurtrie jumped from the car. Rider stuck to the throttle, however, until almost the last, when he, too, jumped. The engine and car of stone crashed into the other cars with sufficient impact to buckle the tender, wreck a box car and derail almost the entire train. Almost immediately the boiler exploded, and the escaping steam and water saved the wreck from burning. It took two days to open the road for traffic.

Unknown Man Steals Pay Check.

On Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Corman, who live back of Zion, went up onto the mountain to pick huckleberries and while they were away some unknown individual entered their house and stole Mrs. Corman's watch, her wedding ring and Mr. Corman's American Lime & Stone company pay check for $43.13.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Corman came to Bellefonte and going to Schaeffer's hardware store asked Charles Schaeffer to trust him to a lantern until next pay day, giving as the reason that his pay check had been stolen the day before. Mr. Schaeffer looked somewhat surprised and told him that he had cashed his check late Monday afternoon, and that the check bore his endorsement.

To prove it he produced the check and, while it had Mr. Corman's name on the back of it, it was not his signature, but a forgery. The individual who had the check cashed was a young man, but Mr. Schaeffer is not certain he would be able to identify him. He came into the store just before closing time on Monday evening and had the check cashed on the pretense that he needed the money before the banks would open on Tuesday morning.

Officers have been working on the case but having no description of the man have made but little headway at this writing.

Vicious Bull Chased Man Up a Tree.

Returning from a trip to Washington, D. C., John Ferguson, of Altoona, got off the early train at Milesburg on Sunday morning and later walked to Bellefonte to meet his mother-in-law, who had returned on the same train and gone to the home of Mrs. Richard Lutz, on east Howard street. Coming up the state highway Mr. Ferguson was attacked by a vicious bull that was apparently roaming at large without any keeper and to get away from the infuriated animal's rushes he was compelled to climb a tree. Some men passing along the highway chased the bull away and Mr. Ferguson was able to leave his perch in the tree and complete his trip to Bellefonte.

Director Bryant Honored by His Band

That the I. O. O. F. or Bellefonte band, whichever you prefer to call it, is the best musical organization that the town has ever boasted is universally conceded; this in the face of the fact that Bellefonte has had, in times passed, several very superior brass bands.

There has been progress in music, as in everything else, and all that the critic needs to convince him that the I. O. O. F. band has kept abreast of the movement for better and more of it is to sit out a concert by our present organization. It is not a large band, but it is a good one, both in martial and concert appearances and on the occasion of engagements away from home wins such praise that we are convinced that our judgment of it is not warped by town pride.

There is a reason for all of this. Its members love music, they find profitable and pleasant recreation in their practice, they play because they enjoy it themselves and hope that others do and have a thought only of the pleasure they give every one, for none of them receive a cent for their efforts. These are the fundamentals underlying the success of the Odd Fellows band. Without them no band can maintain a proper esprit de corps but something more is needed. A good leader or director must be in charge to mould the fundamentals into organization.

Because the band has a good leader it is a good band and because every member of it has the utmost confidence in and respect for the ability of Sam Bryant to direct there was a great surprise in store for him last Monday night.

The occasion was an informal little smoker given in the band room in the I. O. O. F. building. All present and former members of the organization, with three outside guests, were invited. Upon the invitation of manager Willis Wion thirty-two persons sat down to a table, daintily spread with just such food as men enjoy when they rub shoulders in good fellowship. It wasn't an elaborate banquet. No attempt at such a thing. It was merely a nifty little feed for the band boys and instead of a night of solid rehearsal. After it was over Mr. Wion transformed himself from manager to toast master and called for post-prandial effort from many sources. All responded in a happy, helpful vein, the gist being that the band is too splendid an organization for Bellefonte to look on indifferently. Then the surprise of the evening came when the toast master announced that his fellow band men valued so highly the services of their director that they thought something more than the small remuneration he receives was necessary to properly express their appreciation. Forthwith he produced from some mysterious quarter a handsome black leather case and in it was just a dream of a cornet. A Conn, Victor, with all the accessories. Then you should have seen Sam. Modest, diffident, unassuming by nature, he was completely overcome.

We learned then why Sam hasn't "played in" much with his band lately. He wore his own horn out playing for the pleasure of Bellefonte and felt unable to buy a new one. The nearest he could get to it was a picture of the one presented him which he had carried about with him for a year or more. No wonder that this unique music master whose artistic temperament few know anything of couldn't speak or even play a note on his new instrument to express the joy and gratitude that was welling in him. Some night, however, you'll hear Sam singing out his soul to those splendid fellows who have made him so happy. And when you do maybe you'll catch the spirit and realize what a good band means to a community and to you.

Man Killed in Clay Mines at Milesburg.

Isaiah MacDonald, an employee in the clay mines at the Milesburg brick plant, was almost instantly killed about 10:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning by a fall of clay. He was loading clay in a drift on the W. S. Irvin farm, just back of the brick plant, when the bank of clay suddenly caved in without any warning, knocking him down and almost completely burying him beneath the heavy mass. In falling his head struck the wheel of an automobile standing nearby, fracturing his skull. Other workmen dug him out as quickly as possible but death had already resulted.
