HARVEST QUEEN CONTEST.

The Harvest Queen contest has so far been confined to the three young ladies mentioned last week, Misses Mignot and Furey, of Bellefonte, and Miss Miller, of State College. The Bellefonte young ladies are running a "nip and tuck" race with friends of each one putting up a hard fight. But in the evening. keep your eye on State College. One of two things is taking place. Either Miss Miller's friends have lost interest in the contest and lain down on the job or else they are saving up their ballots for a grand climax, and we are

An Ounce of Prevention Worth a Pound of Cure.

In the "Watchman" two weeks ago the Red Cross nursing service has reached a critical point, in that a continuance of the service will depend entirely upon the result of the coming roll call for membership to be conducted November 4 to 11. The surplus in the treasury at the close of the war has been used and the cost of maintaining the nursing service will be seen from the accompanying yearly report. While fifteen or sixteen hundred dollars may seem a large sum, ours is an economical service since, in many other places, the nurse receives from $125.00 to $140.00 per month and the rent of the health centre is given by the W. C. T. U. Our Red Cross nurse is a combination nurse, truant and health officer when any one of which is a good sized job. Cases that have needed attention for twenty years have been satisfactorily worked out and disposed of; such as, a woman with four illegitimate children sent to Muncy and the children placed in good homes; crippled children have been taken to specialists and cured; backward children have been found to be adenoid and tonsil or eye cases and have received needed medical attention; others, mental cripples, been taken to Polk. Suffering that would otherwise go uncared for has been tenderly alleviated. Mothers have been taught how to properly care for and feed their babies, in fact, any service, that seems to be no other's duty, is attended to by this Red Cross nurse whose work is so multitudinous that it would seem she must be hydra-headed and Smallest Child in line-Doll, E. F. Gar- Penn State Defeated Navy on Alumni Home Coming Day.

Hundreds of old grads, sedate and bald-headed, helped to swell the crowd of alumni at the College, last Saturday, and saw the Penn State team defeat the Navy football eleven by the score of 21 to 3. Halfback Wilson, of the State team, won All-American laurels by making the three touchdowns in spectacular runs of 55, 77 and 95 yards, which he was able to do only through the splendid interference of the entire State team. In straight football the Navy outplayed State but when it came to a pinch did not have the punch to get the ball across State's goal line until the final quarter when a goal from the field gave the visitors their only score. The crowd at the game aggregated probably twenty thousand people, most of whom went to the College in cars and motor busses, but so systematic were the parking arrangements and the handling of the traffic after the game by a large detail of state police that not one accident occurred to mar the pleasure of the day's sport. Saturday forenoon the State Freshmen defeated Kiski by the score of 9 to 0, and the day's festivities ended with a big cider party for all alumni

He was taken to the sanitorium at Cresson and given first aid and in the evening brought to Belle-

Austin, his most serious injury, so for the child will probably remain in Belleto Bellefonte from his home in Milesburg and it just happened that the street in front of Crider's Exchange was solidly parked with cars, while a big truck stood on the other side, so that there was only room for one way traffic.
