FINDER OF THE MAGIC RING.

Story of Gyges and the Romantic Rise to the Throne of Lydia.

Gyges, king of Lydia about 687 to 687 B. C., was, according to story, a shepherd. One day he found a ring which made the wearer invisible, on the body of a man discovered inside a brazen horse.

The then king boasted of his queen's beauty to Gyges and surreptitiously introduced him into her chamber to convince him, says the Detroit News. Indignant at the impropriety, the queen later sent for Gyges and gave him the choice of killing her husband and marrying her or of being himself murdered. Naturally Gyges chose the former alternative and, with the aid of the magic ring, he was enabled to enter the king's chamber unseen and to slay him.

Another version of the story says that Gyges fell in love with the queen and the king sentenced Gyges to death. The latter murdered the king on the night before the day set for his own execution and seized the throne and married the queen.

Few Faced the Firing Squad.

Out of the many millions of men which comprised the British army during the late war only 346 officers and men so failed in their duty as to justify their execution by the firing squad.

Three British officers were shot—two for desertion and one for murder. One man was sentenced to death three times, each for desertion. Twice he was reprieved, but he could not stand the welter of blood and mud of the trenches so he deserted again and the third time he was shot.

Forty other men, after being sentenced to death, were reprieved only to offend again and be shot. In 260 cases the offense against the military code was desertion, though 37 men were executed for murder. Eighteen were shot for cowardice, three for mutiny and two for sleeping on duty. In all, 3,080 death sentences were passed.

Both Tune and Words.

A young fellow was trying hard to explain to the salesman what he wanted.

"Now, haven't you this song? It goes zim-zim, zum-zum, zang-zang. You know."

And the salesman was trying very hard to follow him.

"Sorry," said the salesman, "but I don't seem to recognize the tune. What are the words?"

"Those are the words."

She Was Dead.

"Red" Herring was on leave, having some soup and fish with his third-grade teacher.

"How do you like the soup, Mr. Herring?" she asked.

"It certainly smells fake, but I don't know how it's gonna eat!"

"Why, Mr. Herring; where is your grammar?"

"She's dead, ma'am, over a year last May."—Our Navy.

Norse Essay on the Frog.

A classic essay lately immortalized in type is about frogs and was written by a young Norwegian. The essay runs:

"What a wonderful bird the frog are! When he stand he sit, almost. When he hop he fly, almost. He ain't got no sense, hardly. He ain't got no tall hardly, either; when he sit he sit on what he ain't got, almost."

An all day free reading room is open to the public every day. Here the Bible and Christian Science literature may be read, borrowed or purchased.

CENTRE HALL.

Rev. W. R. Picken has returned from a visit to New York.

Clymer McClenahan was on the sick list several days last week.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. George Heckman, east of town, last Saturday evening.

Sunday and Monday were real winter days, the thermometer recording "below zero" weather.

Mrs. Thomas Keefe and children, of Youngwood, are visiting Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brungard.

Mrs. William Keller, mother of Miss Tillie P. Keller, assistant postmistress, has been quite ill for several weeks.

Eugene Burkholder, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Burkholder, of Earlstown, spent several days at Harrisburg at the farm products show, as a judge of hogs.

A number of our people saw the remarkable movie, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," at State College, the beginning of the week and felt well repaid for having made the trip.

The fifteen days allowed under the present law for securing 1924 dog licenses expired on January 15th, and any dog found minus a collar and tag can be impounded and the owner prosecuted.

The Odd Fellows' banquet, last Friday night, was a most enjoyable affair. The exclusion of children and the limitation of the number of guests allowed each member of the lodge seems to have solved the problem of "congestion" of former years. The toasts were good, and the eats the finest ever.

Two Weeks-Ahead Program

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26:
DUSTIN FARNUM in "KENTUCKY DAYS," is a fine picture by this distinguished actor, of the days of racing, etc., in Kentucky, and the scenes are laid there. Also, two reel Roach Comedy.

MONDAY, JANUARY 28:
WALLACE REID in "THIRTY DAYS," is a good comedy feature. A story of befriending an Italian woman incurs jealousy of husband and is embarrassed when fiancé finds him there. Also, Pathe News and Topics.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29 AND 30:
RICHARD BARTHELMISS in "THE FIGHTING BLADE," is a seventeenth century story of the time of Cromwell, depicting a young Dutchman coming to England to avenge death of sister, who died of broken heart. Some wonderful castle and fighting scenes of those troublesome times. Also, 2 reel Century Comedy.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31:
ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN in "ONE WEEK OF LOVE," is a story full of thrills, with beautiful scenery, and stars that everybody likes. A picture that will please you. Also, Pathe News and Review, always interesting.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1:
GLADYS WALTON in "NEAR LADY," is a story of a manicurist whose father got rich by inventing a sausage machine and the social climbing is great. Also, the ninth episode of "THE STEEL TRAIL."

OPERA HOUSE.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, JANUARY 25 AND 26:
"THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME" is the big 12 reel feature of the year. One show afternoon at 2 o'clock and one evening at 8. Full orchestra accompanies picture. A wonder picture. See other advertisements for details.
