Enthusiastic Road Meeting Held at Millheim Last Thursday.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held at Millheim on Thursday afternoon of last week in pursuance to a resolution passed at a similar meeting held at Millifinburg on February 5th.

The meeting was largely attended by the committee appointed at Millifinburg and many representative people from Union and Centre counties interested in the road leading from Lewisburg to the Old Fort known as state highway route No. 27. This road connects with the Susquehanna trail at Lewisburg and joined by the road from Old Fort to Pleasant Gap connects with the Horse Shoe trail at the latter place.

The purpose of these meetings was to interest the State Highway Department in the importance of this "missing link," and persuade the officials to make it an improved highway connecting the eastern and western parts of the State, as well as linking up the Susquehanna trail, Horse Shoe trail, William Penn highway and the Lincoln highway. This particular highway is also important on account of the many State and educational institutions located along its route, namely: Bucknell University, at Lewisburg; Pennsylvania village for feeble minded women, at Laurelton; the Pennsylvania State College; the new western penitentiary at Rockview; the State fish hatchery at Pleasant Gap, as well as many other institutions and points of interest.

The road also passes through two of the richest agricultural counties in Pennsylvania and connects two county seats, with scenery unexcelled anywhere in the State. However, aside from the above mentioned reasons the road serves a State-wide public, and is by far the shortest route from the eastern to the western part of the State. Thus any local pride or interest in having this road improved is greatly overshadowed by the benefits to the best interests of the State at large.

The meeting at Millheim was presided over by S. D. Gettig, county solicitor, and addresses were made by Robert F. Hunter and Thomas H. Harter, of Bellefonte; ex-judge Albert W. Johnson and Mr. McCormick, of Lewisburg; ex-judge Clinton R. Savidge, of Northumberland county; Senator W. I. Betts, of Clearfield; S. W. Gramley and J. R. Miller, of Millheim, and Mr. Matthews, secretary of the National Motors association.

After much discussion a motion was made by S. W. Gramley, seconded by W. S. Shelton, that the chairman of the Millifinburg meeting, C. M. Steese, and the chairman of the Millheim meeting, S. D. Gettig, appoint a working committee of ten members, five from Union county and five from Centre county, to prepare a brief in regard to route No. 27 and present the same to the Governor and the Pennsylvania State Highway Department, Mr. Wright, secretary. The motion carried after which the meeting was adjourned to meet at the call of the committee.

Owing to the inability of Mr. Steese to be present at the Millheim meeting the working committee was not appointed on Thursday but following an early conference of the two chairmen it will be announced through the county papers.

William Jennings Bryan Coming to Bellefonte.

Though the Great Commoner has spoken at Phillipsburg, Millheim and State College in none of his campaigns or lecture bureau tours has William Jennings Bryan ever released in Bellefonte any of the oratory that has made him famous.

He is to be here in April, however. The Brotherhood of the Lutheran church has arranged for his appearance and will announce the exact date just as soon as it can be settled upon.

BOROUGH DADS IN SESSION.

Purchase of Ullsh & Bashoar Mill Property Thoroughly Discussed.

Just seven members were present at the regular meeting of borough council on Monday evening, the two absentees being Mr. Flack, of the South ward, and Mr. Cunningham, of the West.

Thomas Morgan appeared in person and asked that an alley be opened from the Beaver stable, in the rear of Curtin street, north through property owned by John P. Harris, to his stable. The matter was referred to the Street committee for investigation.

The Finance committee reported that they had examined the list of exonerations requested by former tax collector J. Kennedy Johnston and found a number that they felt ought to be compelled to pay. If they refuse, place them under arrest and send them to jail until they do pay.

The Water committee reported that the borough manager had collected an additional $66.00 on the 1922 water duplicate. A slight fire was reported to have occurred recently in the office of the G. F. Musser Co., at the Phoenix mill property, and the committee suggested the building of a new brick flue as a precautionary measure. The committee also reported that the water meter bills for the quarter ending January 1st, totalling $2,314.85, are ready for collection.

President Walker appointed A. Miles Barr an auditor for the Pruner orphanage account, and reappointed Col. W. Fred Reynolds a member of the local board of health.

The committees having in charge the consideration of the proposition to purchase the Ullsh & Bashoar mill property reported, through Mr. Emerick, that the final offer included the sale of the mill, all the contingent water right and the piece of ground lying between the silk mill property and Lamb street for the sum of $50,000, payment to be made at the rate of $5,000 per year and interest. The committee was favorably disposed toward this plan. They believe it an opportunity to acquire the property that the borough should take advantage of. While the proposition has not been put in concrete form the plan is uniformly outlined as follows: To purchase the property and for the present merely use it as an auxiliary water pumping station to take the place of the electric pump now being operated by the Keystone Power corporation. The plan would be to install an additional turbine wheel, of ample capacity, at the mill, with a hydraulic pump, then lay a twelve or fifteen inch pipe from the spring down to the mill. This would permit making connection with the present system through a six inch line across the creek and up Lamb street and through another six inch line across to Thomas street, which would make an entirely independent feed circuit and would obviate all danger of a water famine in case of a break in the present main feed pipe on south Water street, such as was experienced a few years ago, when the borough was without water for twenty-four hours.

The idea is to rent the mill property, giving the lessee the use of the water during the day and the borough operate its pump at night. At the present time it is costing the borough approximately $5000 a year to operate the electric pump. This would take care of the yearly payment on the mill property, while the rent from the mill and other properties over the race, will pay the interest on the investment. The cost of installation of the proposed pumping system, including laying of pipes, etc., according to the committee, should not exceed $5,000. If the purchase is made, and at some time in the future the borough desires to install its own street lighting system, it will have ample power to do so. The purchase of the property on the plan outlined will not mean an increase of taxes, according to the committee, but can be financed under the existing millage.

After the project had been pretty thoroughly discussed from all angles President Walker instructed the committees to get their propositions in concrete form, with facts and figures in black and white on paper, and report same at next meeting of council.

Bills to the amount of $600.38 were approved for payment after which council adjourned.

Three Die in One Family Within Three Weeks.

The death of Jacob Lyon, of Bellefonte, is still fresh in the minds of his many friends here, but few people hereabouts know that his passing away was followed by the death of his sister, Mrs. Howard Shultz, of Danville, on February 9th, and twenty-two hours later by the death of his brother, Henry Lyon, of Norfolk, Va., so that out of a family of ten children only three remain, Mrs. James Scarlett, Charles and Miss Caroline Lyon, all of Danville.

Mrs. Shultz died after a lingering illness with sarcoma and Henry Lyon passed away as the result of diabetes and heart trouble. Prior to locating in Norfolk, Va., Henry spent a number of years in Bellefonte, being associated with his brothers William and Jacob in the butchering business. This was back in the latter eighties and early nineties but he is still well remembered by many people here. Mrs. Shultz was buried at Danville last Wednesday and at the same hour Henry was laid to rest at Norfolk, Va.

Kiwanis Club Organized in Bellefonte.

For some months past Bellefonte business men have advocated the organization of a Kiwanis club here and sentiment in favor of such a move crystallized on Monday afternoon when a temporary organization was effected in the library of the court house. Al. C. Stimers, field representative of Kiwanis International, presided at the meeting and explained the object and aims of the organization. Temporary officers and directors chosen are as follows: Rev. Wilson P. Ard, president; John B. Payne, secretary; John G. Love, Frank M. Crawford, W. J. Emerick, George Hazel, A. H. Sloop, Harry Rossman and G. Oscar Gray, directors.

The Bellefonte club will be affiliated with the Pennsylvania district which now has clubs in seventy cities, with an aggregate of about six thousand members. Herbert A. Moore, of DuBois, is the district governor and Stephen A. Pohe, of Johnstown, district lieutenant governor. Kiwanis International is now in its tenth year, having been organized in Detroit in January, 1915. Since that time it has swept over the United States and Canada until now there are over 1150 clubs with a membership exceeding 85,000.

Kiwanis is an organization of progressive, broad-minded, right-thinking business men. Its membership is formed by the careful selection of the most representative men in their calling. Only two men in each line of business and profession are eligible to membership, and membership is by invitation only from the temporary board of directors.

Twenty-five or more men signed the roll at the temporary organization on Monday but it is expected that the list will show a substantial increase at the permanent organization to be made next Monday evening, when delegations from other clubs will be present.

Penitentiary on the Hunt of Suspects.

Officials of the western penitentiary at Pittsburgh are evidently going the limit in an endeavor to uncover everybody who had anything to do with the explosion and riot in that institution on Monday morning of last week, when a guard and an overseer were killed. Four prisoners are being held for murder in connection with the killing. One guard and three other arrests have been made in Pittsburgh of people believed to have been implicated. Two men were arrested in Altoona on Saturday who were suspected of having something to do with the explosion, or at least some knowledge that might help in uncovering the guilty parties. One of them is an ex-convict who was discharged from the institution on parole last October.

And on Monday chief of police Dukeman received a telegram from the Pittsburgh authorities to apprehend J. S. Bayllets, a former guard at the penitentiary and who is now working in Bellefonte. Mr. Bayllets, whose home was at Lemont, resigned as guard some weeks ago and came to Bellefonte about the middle of January. Though he was taken back to Pittsburgh he was not at all worried over the situation as he maintains that he has no knowledge that would help in any way to unravel the mystery of the explosion. But he is glad he resigned when he did and was in Bellefonte when the trouble occurred. While in the prison as a guard he was associated and worked with the guard who was killed and had he been there he, too, might have been a victim of the infuriated inmates.

John C. Marks Discharged by Court.

On December 20th, 1923, the house and barn on the small farm of John C. Marks, in Taylor township, was burned to the ground. On the second of January Mr. Marks, while at the home of his son, John C. Marks Jr., in Juniata Gap, was arrested by W. J. Lyster, of the state police, on the charge of arson and attempt to defraud an insurance company. At the time it was stated that one valuable horse was saved from the barn and two others allowed to burn.

Mr. Marks was brought to the Centre county jail where he was kept in durance until Monday of this week when his attorneys, N. B. Spangler and John G. Love, had him brought before the court on habeas corpus proceedings. Only a few witnesses, including the state policeman who made the arrest, were called by district attorney Arthur C. Dale and at the conclusion of their testimony the district attorney asked that Mr. Marks be held for trial. The court stated that the evidence presented was not sufficient to justify holding him and he therefore ordered his discharge.

Mr. Marks, by the way, is a brother of George Marks, who was found murdered in his home in Taylor township two years or more ago, and which crime is up to this time one of the unsolved mysteries of Centre county.

Commissioned Chaplain with Rank of First Lieutenant.

Rev. Wilson P. Ard, of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, was last week appointed a first lieutenant in the chaplains' section of the officers' reserve corps of the United States army.

Of course this does not mean that Chaplain Ard will be called for active service, or that he intends leaving his church in Bellefonte. His services in the army will be required only in the event of the reserve corps being called out in emergencies.

What becomes of the 20 per cent. forwarded to the State Tuberculosis society in Philadelphia?

The above question was addressed to the executive secretary of the society and his highly satisfactory reply covers the ground so entirely that it is printed as received:

"In reply to your question as to what use is made of the funds sent by the local committees to the Pennsylvania society, I would say that absolutely none of this money is used for the maintenance of sanatoria or other institutions. During the past several years, as you know, the percentage paid to the Pennsylvania society by local organizations has been approximately 20 per cent. Of this amount one-fourth is sent on to the National Tuberculosis association, leaving in the hands of the State society 15 per cent. of the funds raised in the State.

The funds of the Pennsylvania society are used to finance field service in which we employ two people. I am sure you know the general character of work that is done. It includes assisting local committees and societies with organization problems, the development and strengthening of tuberculosis organizations in sections of the State where there is no organization or where the organization is weak, giving assistance in the planning of programs, speaking at meetings of various kinds, etc. The State society also maintains an information service through which tuberculosis organizations and others interested may secure all kinds of information regarding tuberculosis prevention work; we serve as a distributing agency for Modern Health Crusade in all sections of the State; we keep in touch with the State Department of Health and serve as a co-ordinating agency between the state departments and local tuberculosis organizations. As you know we publish a monthly bulletin. Where the necessity arises we assist in securing legislation. We had a definite hand in securing the enactment of the tuberculosis hospital bill two years ago. Each year we plan the tuberculosis conference which is open to everybody interested in tuberculosis work. We give assistance in publicity matters where it is desired and needed and in every possible way co-operate with local tuberculosis organizations in helping them to do effective work. Of course the Christmas seal campaign each year is one of the most important tasks of the Pennsylvania society. Much of the time and effort of the State society is necessarily put into the organization and promotion of the Christmas seal sale, which as you know, is just as much a health education project as it is a money-raising campaign.

I may add that while the Pennsylvania society puts no money whatever into the maintenance of sanatoria, we have had a hand in all excepting one of the county tuberculosis hospital campaigns that have been put on in the last two years. Thirteen counties in the State have voted under the hospital law and all of them favorably. In this connection the work of the State society as well as the local organizations, is to promote the establishment of sanatoria but not to help maintain them."

A dispatch from Pittsburgh yesterday stated that Fred Scott, of Philadelphia, was arrested near Bellefonte on the charge of impersonating an officer, and the alleged fact that he had been discharged from the penitentiary only three months ago, led to an order that he be taken to Pittsburgh for investigation as to any knowledge he might have regarding the recent trouble in the western penitentiary at that place.

A belated wedding announcement this week was that of Gregg Wensel, of Howard, and Miss Emma Wetzel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wetzel, of near Bellefonte, who were married during the holiday season. The bride was a nurse in training at the Bellefonte hospital but left there last week to join her husband at Howard, where he conducts a garage.

McCORMICK.—W. W. McCormick, a brief notice of whose death appeared in last week's "Watchman," passed away on Wednesday evening at his home on the old Allison homestead, at Potters Mills, following more than a year's illness with a complication of diseases.

He was born at Jacksonville on December 28th, 1854, hence was 69 years, 1 month and 16 days old. In addition to her husband she is survived by one step-daughter, Mrs. David Baney, of Warriorsmark, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Fink, of Port Matilda. Funeral services were held at her home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, with Rev. English, of Pine Grove Mills, officiating. Burial was made in the Gatesbury cemetery.

He had lived in Altoona for more than forty years, where he was employed as a machinist by the Pennsylvania railroad company until his retirement six years ago. In 1874 he married Miss Mary Kinch, who died two months ago but surviving him are one daughter, Miss Helen K. Houser, and one sister, Mrs. Robert Lyle, of Bellwood. Burial was made in the Rose Hill cemetery, Altoona, yesterday afternoon.

ROBERTSON.—George Robertson died last Friday afternoon at his home in Hartford, Conn., following a brief illness with bronchial pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson have lived in Hartford ever since their marriage. He owned and conducted a flourishing drug store and was prominently identified with various lodges and organizations. "The White Sister" at State College.

Lillian Gish in her latest role! The ethereal little star who tugged at your heart strings in such big productions as "The Birth of a Nation," "Broken Blossoms," "Orphans of the Storm," and "Way Down East," at last has a role that tests her full powers. When you see her in the Henry King production of "The White Sister," opening at the Pastime theatre, State College, Monday and Tuesday of next week, you will be thrilled, captivated and exalted as never before.

John Barrymore has acclaimed Miss Gish as the one actress who carries the supreme tradition of Bernhardt and Duse to the screen. And in "The White Sister" she has a picture that is incomparably the finest of the year. Nothing equals the beauty, pathos, suspense and spectacular magnificence of F. Marion Crawford's story of love and sacrifice.

Seven months were spent amid the beautiful backgrounds of Italy and northern Africa in photographing the scenes, which include a magnificent view of the volcano of Vesuvius in actual eruption, a fight in the desert with the Arabs and a town submerged in an avalanche of water as a great reservoir bursts.

Secretary Stephen A. Aplin, of the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A., is housed up as the result of a cold and general run down condition. Though somewhat improved his physician advises a ten days or two weeks complete rest.

Spangler while attending the public schools. She graduated at the high school in 1904, taught school one winter and in September, 1905, married Mr. Davidson. He survives with seven children, Forest, John, Donald, Roy, Bertha, Edith and Joseph, all at home. She also leaves her father, living in Bellefonte. Burial last Thursday afternoon was made in the Friends cemetery, near Loveville.
