CENTRE HALL.

Parties and quiltings seem to be the order of the day—rather evening.
Mr. James W. Runkle, of the Centre Hall hotel, has not greatly improved physically.
Gross Allison, of Kentucky, visited among his former friends recently; his main object in coming north now, being to see his grandfather, Mr. J. W. Runkle.
The lecture by Dr. King, on Tuesday evening, was most excellent and greatly enjoyed by all present. Unfortunately the weather was most disagreeable, and many were not able to get to the Grand hall.
On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. George E. Breen, of Reading, motored to Centre Hall. They brought with them, as far as Potters Mills, Mrs. Breen's mother, Mrs. Laura Lee; and their eldest son, Harold and lady friend. They returned home on Sunday. Mrs. Lee, who is housekeeper for B. D. Brislin, remained, opening the Brislin house on Monday morning, on which day Mr. Brislin arrived from Hartford, Conn.

Why Women "Honor" Men

"What psychological slant is it," asks the commuter of his seat mate the other morning, "that induces wives, at least some wives, to name cats after their husbands?"
"Search me," replied the other commuter. "Now I wouldn't mind a race-horse or a thoroughbred Poland China hog being named after me, but no cat. I suppose the husbands approve, or they wouldn't stand for it."
"Some do and some don't, apparently," mused the first commuter. "One of my neighbors has a cat named 'Harry.' Now the original 'Harry' left home in a huff a year ago and hasn't been seen since, but the unforgiving wife still calls her favorite cat after him. Another neighbor has a cat named 'Harold' after her husband. This man and his wife are devoted to each other."
"Well," suggested the other commuter, "they say it takes all kinds of people to make the world, but I think there are more kinds of women than there are men."—New York Sun and Globe.

Why Maltese Are Russian

How the maltese cat gained that name is said to be a mystery, for there is no blue cat indigenous to the island of Malta. It is said that probably the cats were brought there in early times from Russia or Iceland, and the color being peculiar, these cats were selected, or by superior hardiness they may have selected themselves. The Charreusse monks had blue, long-haired cats many years ago.
One authority on cats says that the cold winters of Russia may be calculated to develop blue cats, for it is sufficiently evident that northern climates have produced most cats of that color.
The best white cats with blue eyes come from India, and some of the best are brought from Tibet. In crossing the Himalaya mountains with these cats carriers slit their noses to enable them to breathe with greater ease the rarified atmosphere of the high altitudes. Cats with slit noses are much valued.—Detroit News.

Why They Say Halcyon

Halcyon days is a name given by the ancients to the seven days which follow the shortest day of the year. The reference is to a fable that during this time, while the halcyon bird or kingfisher was breeding, there always prevailed calms at sea. From this the phrase "halcyon days" has come to signify times of peace and tranquillity.

Why Sugar Is Sweet

No one really knows why sugar is sweet. Variations in degrees of sweetness are supposed to arise because of intramolecular rearrangement. The elements contained in sugar are carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. It is theoretically supposed that the sweetness is a result of the arrangement of these elements.

Why Rubber Is Best

An experimental stretch of roadway in Borough High street, Southwark, London, has been covered with a new type of rubber block, the upper half inch consisting of resilient rubber and the remainder of hard rubber. The two grades of rubber are vulcanized together, forming a homogeneous block.—Scientific American.
