The free forestry movies billed for last Wednesday night at Noll's hall were, on account of pressure of business, postponed for a time. Quite a bunch of people were disappointed, but better later on than never.

Ray Noll, Mrs. J. R. Barlett, Mrs. T. E. Jodon, Mrs. Frank Millward and Mrs. Martha Noll were guests of the Kiwanis club at the dinner at the hospital drive.

Jared Hauser, formerly of the Gap, but now of Bellefonte, a year ago bought a very attractive building lot from Ephriam Keller. It is located at the forks of the road adjacent to Stitzer's store. Jared now thinks of erecting a bungalow for the future home of himself and mother.

It is just as honorable to serve as it is to command, because they possess the same necessity; besides you cannot be a good commander until you have first learned to faithfully serve, and as a good servant and a good commander thus touch each other, in discipline they are therefore equally hon-

The High school dance on Tuesday night was a decided success, both socially and financially. Garbrick's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing. The attendance consisted of people from State College, Bellefonte, Pleasant Gap and vicinity. A most enjoyable pleasantly spent evening resulted.

Harold Kerstetter has abandoned his job, that of conducting a bus line between State College and Tyrone, and is again employed as a carpenter at the penitentiary. This is a wise move, as Harold is an exceptionally proficient carpenter and should give his preference to his profession in-stead of running a bus.

The Whiterock company is erecting an up-to-date rotary lime kiln, guaranteed to produce ten tons per day. Messrs. Shoemaker & Tillie are the mechanics superintending the construction. While here they are making their home with the John T. Noll family. Numerous improvements are family. Numerous improvements are under contemplation. Since the new manager has been elected the work has been wonderfully improved. From 75 men the number has been increased to 200 and new accessions daily. The two week's pay roll of $4000 has been increased to $7000. Here like elsewhere, young blood is at a pre-

This is a grand country of ours; there isn't anything under the sun like it. We are made up with millionaires and paupers; theologians and thieves; politicians and poverty; trusts and tramps; money and misery; homes and hunger; where you can buy a Bible for 25 cents and a drink of moonshine whiskey for four dollars a quart. We license bawdy houses and fine men for preaching Christ on the street corners; where good whis-key makes bad men, and bad men Mrs. Harry Bilger.

We must know what's the matter before we medicate, else it will be like shooting at the song of a bird in a tree.

The only way to make chronic grumblers repent of their folly is to increase their calamities until they can see that the former condition was the happier.

The rich and the poor were never bearing such burdens of rivalry as at present. Let them help each other instead of piling them higher by wicked contention.

The following is the closing para-stead of piling them higher by wicked contention.

It is always best to form acquaintances slowly, for in case of dissatisfaction you not only delay the event of your own disappointment, but also their discomfort.

There are so many grades of lawyers, both in point of ability and character that there need be no difficulty in finding one for any kind of a job that will insure a fee.

Miles Ruman of State College, a content of the closing paragraph of the will of the great and illustrious man, Patrick Henry: "I have now disposed of all my property to my family; there is one thing more I wish I could give them, and that is the christian religion. If they had this, and I had not given them one shilling, they would be rich; and if they had it not, and I had given them all the world, they would be poor."

This opinion of that celebrated man confirms the importance of religion in Miss Ruth Herman, daughter of Miller Herman, of State College, a student of the Bellefonte High school, was an over Sunday visitor with her grandmother, Mrs. John Herman.

Mrs. Grace Gentzel was a guest for Mrs. Grace Gentzel was a guest for world and lose his own soul?" If we world only live up to the requirements world and lose his own soul?" If we would only live up to the requirements of the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would that they should do unto you." If we practiced this God-send of a rule all would be happy. Gossipping and quarreling and fighting among neighbors would cease and we would become a happy and contented would become a happy and contented people. A gentle word, a kind look, an encouraging smile, may save a human being from the abyss of dispair. There is a luxury in remembering the kind act.
