The first man called up was William Wells who while working in the Fellows have organized a band of coal mine of Isaac Heaton & Son, at Gorton Heights, stole two power meters valued at $150. He was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the western penitentiary.

John Kelley, of Philadelphia, was the first of the escaped prisoners called up for sentence. He was sentenced in April, 1922, to from five to seven years and although he is but 34 years old that was his fourth conviction and sentence, having previously served two terms in Sing Sing, New York. In fact he admitted to having committed his first crime when but nine years old. The sentence imposed upon him was three and a half to seven years, to be served after the expiration of his present sentence, which will give him twelve more years behind the bars.

John Kelly, of Westmoreland county, serving a sentence of fifteen years and three months to twenty years for second degree murder was given from ten to twenty years. He is 26 years In our notice last week of the old and has served nine years of his

> Frank Pace, of Allegheny county, who was serving a three to four and a half year's sentence, dating from May 1st, 1923, was given from two to four years additional.

George Bradley, of Crawford county, serving a two to four years sentence, was the only man shown any mercy by the court. Bradley had only eleven days to serve until being discharged but made his disappearance from the nursery on the afternoon of evening. In presenting his case disthat fact ought to be taken into consideration in disposing of his case. Judge Quigley asked Bradley why he went away and he said it was because he was afraid. Two Garages Burglarized.

Last Friday night some unknown person or persons broke into the John W. Neese garage, at Axe Mann, and made away with four inner tubes, some sockets and tools to a total value of approximately thirty-five dollars. The same night the Shreck Bros. garage, at Lemont, was entered and four tires stolen. A woman who lives near the garage heard a noise and getting out of bed looked out of the window and saw two men carry out two tires each, throw them into an automobile, climb in and drive away.
