How the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad Was Started.

The "Tyronese Special" for September gives in brief an interesting story of how the Bald Eagle Valley railroad was started...

"That portion of the Tyronese and Lock Haven railroad, (as it was then named), between Bellefonte and Tyronese, was surveyed by John H. McMin and a corps of engineers in October and November, 1856...

"The western division, with the Bellefonte branch, a total of thirty-three and one-fourth miles, was let to S. Brady & Co. for grubbing, grading and finishing ready for the superstructure for $66,500 on May 7th, 1857...

"There were dark and discouraging days ahead but president Underwood had a vision and was determined to see it through.

"Dr. Underwood, who was a native of York, Pa., in addition to being behind the success of the Bald Eagle Valley, was also active in promoting the Norfolk & Southern railway, running from Norfolk, Va., to Elizabeth City, N. J."

"The teachers' institute of Centre county will be held in Bellefonte the week of October 20th."

CENTRE HALL.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Homan are the proud parents of a tiny baby—the fourth child in the family.

Monday was a busy day. A great many went to the auto race at Altoona. Tuesday was rainy; but Wednesday was an ideal Granger's picnic day.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Breon and family, of Reading, motored to Potters Mills and Centre Hall on Saturday night, returning home on Monday.
