

NEWS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY.

Joe Thall has started work on the extension of his store room on High street, next door to the Decker Bros. new garage.

The Central Pennsylvania district Funeral Directors' association held its fall meeting at the Fairbrook Country club, at Pennsylvania Furnace, last Thursday.

"White Cargo" is now in its second year at Daly's theatre, New York, and special companies are now playing at the Playhouse, London, Chicago and Boston.

The monthly missionary tea of the ladies of the Reformed church will be held at the Reformed parsonage, Wednesday afternoon, October 1st, at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Schmidt requests a full attendance of all the members.

The Logan fire company took their pumper to Beech Creek, on Saturday, to extinguish a blaze in a cinder pile on the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania railroad, which had been burning ever since the Beech Creek station was burned to the ground on or about the first of August.

The Lebanon Valley college football team will be State's opponents in the opening game on Beaver field tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. Five new men will be on State's line-up this year, and tomorrow's game will afford the coaches an opportunity to test out the various candidates.

Miss Margaret Beezer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beezer, of Philipsburg, and well known here has just been awarded a partial scholarship in voice culture by the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. She won it by her singing in a contest with over a hundred others seeking the honor.

Considerable frost was noticed by early risers in Bellefonte on Wednesday morning but the heavy fog which followed prevented any actual damage. In various sections of the county, however, the frost was quite heavy. Out in the vicinity of Axe Mann it was like a light fall of snow.

Only one train on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad will be affected by the fall change of schedule on the Pennsylvania railroad system, which will go into effect on Sunday, and that will be the Pennsylvania-Lehigh east-bound. It will arrive in Bellefonte at 1:20 p. m. and leave at 1:25, instead of reaching here at 1:25 and leaving at 1:30.

The first meeting of the Woman's club for the winter, will be held Monday night, in the High school building. Following the regular business meeting, politics and the vote for the coming election will be presented, hoping to give the women a clear idea of the viewpoint they should take in the work before them. Every member of the club is especially urged to be at this meeting.

It pays to advertise in the "Watchman." Just as we were about to go to press last Thursday afternoon a Bellefonte lady telephoned an ad. for the sale of a range. The stove was sold before three o'clock on Friday afternoon as the direct result of that advertisement, and the lady was thoughtful enough to call this office and tell us of the virtue of advertising in the "Watchman."

In the neighborhood of eighty school teachers were entertained at luncheon at the Brockerhoff house, on Saturday, by the Bellefonte Trust company; the purpose being to interest the teachers in the thrift and savings account deposits inaugurated by that institution a year ago. Nelson E. Robb, secretary and treasurer of the company, acted as host to the gathering and explained in detail the thrift and savings plans.

All the taxis in Bellefonte and every available bus of the Emerick Motor Bus company were requisitioned on Sunday to transport incoming students from Bellefonte to State College, and the stream of young men and women continued through Monday and Tuesday. As to trunks, the Pennsylvania railroad baggage room was deluged with an avalanche of them, all sizes and shapes, and the employees there will be dreaming of trunks for some time to come.

M. I. Gardner, well known in Bellefonte, has been elected secretary of the Highland Clay Products company, of Clearfield, which owns 750 acres of land, near Winburne, and is already furnishing sand and gravel for highway construction as well as sand for building purposes. The company will also erect a new fire brick plant, plans for which have already been made. According to specifications a plant will be built with a capacity of thirty thousand brick daily.

About twenty representatives from the four counties, Centre, Clinton, Lycoming and Northumberland, attended the sectional tuberculosis Christmas Seal conference at the Falcon House, in Lock Haven, on Wednesday. Miss Daise Keichline, volunteer nurse, and Elizabeth Meek, chairman, represented the tuberculosis committee of the Bellefonte Woman's club and Centre county as well, since State College and Philipsburg were not represented. The importance of these volunteer organization conferences may be appreciated when it is stated that in 1923 the amount secured through the Christmas Seal sale in this State was close to $550,000 and it is a serious responsibility to spend this money economically and effectively.

THE MUSSER MURDER TRIAL JUST STARTING.

All week the court house has been packed with people eager to be on hand when the big case in this court should be called. Day after day they have gathered, only to hear less grave ones disposed of, until yesterday afternoon, when the last of them was cleaned up and the preliminaries for the really big trial were begun.

Now Harry Musser and Herbert Heaton stand before the bar of justice accused of killing William Musser on the night of July 20th last, on the road leading from Nittany to Madisonburg.

The prosecution is being conducted by district attorney Dale and John G. Love Esq. They will probably call thirty or thirty-five witnesses.

Messrs. Spangler and Gettig are representing the defendants and might call as many as fifteen witnesses. The selection of a jury is the first big problem. There are only sixty persons on the present panel and as each side is permitted twenty peremptory challenges and as many as they want for cause the panel might be exhausted and resort to talesmen made. In such an event the county coroner will have to call the talesmen as sheriff Taylor appears on the docket as the prosecutor.

The case was opened at exactly 1:10 yesterday afternoon. Seated beside the prisoner was his wife with bowed head and their two little boys, too young to sense the serious plight their father is in. Musser stood while Prothonotary Wilkinson solemnly read the charge and when asked how he pleaded he replied in a strong voice "Not Guilty." Then the panel of sixty jurors was called. All but twelve answered to their names.

Dave Washburn, of Bellefonte, was the first one drawn. Challenged by the defense. Following him Edward W. Kane, of Bellefonte; J. F. Bible, of Haines township, and W. G. Furst, of Patton township were called in order and challenged by the defense. Next the name of Mrs. Mary C. Hevler, of Bellefonte, was drawn. When she had taken the box counsel for both sides conferred at side bar after which the court announced that with its consent and agreement of counsel all women on the panel would be excused from service on this case.

At 3:10 yesterday afternoon five jurors had been tentatively selected and taken their places in the box. The district attorney elected to try the case against Musser ahead of the one against Heaton.

No homicide case since the famous Andrews murder trial in 1890 has attracted such county-wide interest as the Musser trial now on. And in this connection it might be said that while Centre county has had a number of killings during its century and a quarter of history only seven men paid the death penalty for their crimes. These were as follows:

Dan Byers, who killed James Barrows, a mulatto of Bellefonte, on October 15th, 1802. He was tried at the November term of court the same year and hanged in the public square on December 13th, two days less than two months after committing the crime.

James Monks killed Reuben Guild on Marsh Creek on November 16th, 1817, was tried in January, 1818, and after a year's delay was hanged on January 23rd, 1819.

Seventy-one years then elapsed before the next execution, which was William Seely Hopkins, who on September 20th, 1889, killed his wife and mother-in-law in Philipsburg. He was tried at the November session of court and hanged on February 20th, 1890.

While the Hopkins trial was in progress, or on November 27th, 1889, Alfred Andrews killed Clara Price in the woods near Pine Glen. He was convicted at the February term of court, 1890, and executed on April 9th, two months after his conviction.

On July 29th, 1904, five prisoners figured in a general jail delivery from the Centre county jail and to accomplish their purpose two of the men, Ira Green and William Dillen beat Jerry Condo, the aged turnkey, on the head with an iron bar, inflicting injuries which caused his death. The two men were captured within forty-eight hours, were tried at the August term of court, convicted of murder in the first degree and executed on May 9th, 1905.

On October 16th, 1910, Bert Delige, colored, killed Mrs. John Baudis, of Scotia. He was convicted of murder at the December term of court and executed on April 25th, 1911.

Matthew A. McGinness, who for nine years managed the Dimeling hotel, at Clearfield, became assistant manager of the Hotel Allan, at Pottsville, last week, going there from the Allan hotel, in Allentown, where he had been located the past year or more. Twenty years or more ago Mr. McGinness was employed at the Hotel Allan in a minor capacity going from there to the New American hotel, in Indiana, Pa. Later he became manager of the Dimeling hotel, in Clearfield, going from there to Allentown and now is back in the Hotel Allan as assistant manager. Mr. McGinness is a son-in-law of Hon. and Mrs. James Schofield, of Bellefonte, and is well known here through his frequent visits at the Schofield home.

While ordinarily summer ends on September 21st it was prolonged two days this year, so that autumn really didn't begin until an early hour on Tuesday morning, September 23rd. And from now on the days will continue to grow shorter until December 21st.

Did You Miss It?

The moment the curtain raised on "Meet the Wife," at the Moose Temple theatre, Tuesday evening we sensed an unusual performance. The stage was set with such a care for detail that it almost foretold players accustomed to such environment and capable of making it merely a setting for action even more finished. "Meet the Wife" is a comedy that we shudder to think of seeing attempted by an incapable caste. It is so constructed as to require the most finished action to fully interpret the subtlety of the lines. If you missed "Meet the Wife" and have seen "Cappy Rix," "The Misleading Lady" or "Tea for Three" you will understand what we mean by saying that the subtlety that makes the play demands the best in acting.

In their respective roles we couldn't well expect to see Mr. Starling's comedy more satisfactorily presented than was here. Miss Boylston reminded us much of Marie Dressler, not only in appearance, but in the finesse of her action. Certainly she was all the author could have had in mind when he undertook to hold a mirror up to the selfish, vain, light-headed wives who can't see the unhappiness in their own homes because of their desire to make asses of themselves in public. Every member of the company played up to Miss Boylston's lead with such intelligence as to get everything out of the play that is in it. Donald Campbell, Helen West, Lynn Berry, Marvin Oreck, Messenger Bolis, Irma Zucca and Robert Garrison carried roles that might easily have spoiled the play had they not been so splendidly done.

All in all it was an evening's entertainment so deliciously entertaining that we do not regret having had to stay up until 2 a. m. to finish work that was neglected while we were enjoying it.

This is Membership Week at the Y. M. C. A.

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. have planned a lively schedule for the fall and winter months and, judging from the interest already shown, a large number of Bellefonte's men and boys will take advantage of it. An organized effort is being made this week to push the total membership of the Association to 500, and every loyal citizen of our home town is asked to boost.

Two divisions, of five teams each, with five men to a team, will make the canvas. Division A is headed by Frank M. Crawford and Division B by Harry M. Turtoff.

Some of the many privileges offered by the Association are: A well equipped gymnasium under competent supervision; four first class bowling alleys, with attendant in charge; bowling teams and leagues; lockers and shower baths; boxing and wrestling; social and game rooms; dormitory for men; Hi-Y club for high school boys; hikes and camps for younger boys.

At the last meeting of the board of directors it was decided to make a reduction in the price of membership to young men, bringing the rate to $5.00 a year. The purpose of this is to bring the privileges of the Association to the many young men of Bellefonte who are not members at the present time. The junior membership of $3.00 includes boys from 10 to 15 years of age. As soon as the membership canvass is over a meeting will be called to organize bowling and basket ball teams, and their schedules will open about the middle of October.

45 different types of beds to choose from at West Co.

James G. Stewart Takes Over the Bush House.

Two weeks ago the "Watchman" announced that the Bush House was about to change hands, the Daggett interests to be purchased by James G. Stewart, of Tyrone. While the announcement may have been a little premature it was correct so far as the deal was concerned, but various contingencies delayed the actual change until Monday afternoon of this week when the papers were all signed, the money paid over and Mr. Stewart became the new landlord, taking charge at once.

As stated last week, Al. S. Garman, of Tyrone, who spent all his early life in Bellefonte, will be in direct charge of the hotel for the present, although he avers that his management will be but temporary and until Mr. Stewart can secure an experienced hotel man to take charge. It is understood that all the old help will be retained, even to George Freeman, who has been a porter at the hotel for so many years that he is almost a part of the real estate. Eddie Zong will continue in charge of the cafe in the corner room for a week or two, but may then decide to quit and go into the automobile business. Lewis Daggett, late proprietor of the hotel, has not yet definitely decided where he will locate.

If you want to buy a gift for your friend go to West Co.

Now that the Decker Bros. are cleaning up the rubbish on the street and pavement their new garage at the corner of High and Spring streets is showing forth as a decided improvement to that locality.

The advance sale of seats for "White Cargo" opens on Saturday at Mott Drug Co., and from all indications a capacity audience will greet the appearance here of this noted success.

Brouse-Wieland.

St. John's Reformed church, Boalsburg, was the scene of a pretty wedding, at four o'clock last Saturday afternoon, when Miss Edwina C. Wieland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wieland, of Linden, Hall, became the bride of Edgar Frederick Brouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brouse, of Boalsburg. The church decorations were extremely beautiful, consisting of a screen of evergreen and white autumn flowers, flanked with jardiniere of hydrangeas and pink flowers across the entire front of the church, forming a delightful background for the bridal party.

The singing of "Oh, Sweet Mystery," by Rev. Kirkpatrick, and "Oh, Promise Me," by Mrs. Kirkpatrick was the signal for the approach of the wedding party in its happy march to the altar, where the ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. J. Max Kirkpatrick, of the Presbyterian church, assisted by the bridegroom's uncle, Rev. David Y. Brouse, of the Methodist church. The attendants were Miss Mildred Wieland, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Miss Elizabeth Woodbury, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Miss Mary Powell, of Wilkes-Barre, bridesmaids. The ushers were Donald Wieland, of State College; George Kramer, of Pittsburgh; Galen Roush, of Cleveland, and Alex Wieland, of State College, while Charles Hosterman, of Detroit, officiated as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the rear of the church and later the bridal party returned to the bride's home at Linden Hall, leaving soon afterwards on a motor trip to spend their honeymoon in the New England States. The bride is a graduate of the Bloomsburg Normal school and for several years has been an instructor in English in the schools at Bound Brook, New Jersey. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Mont Alto forestry Academy and for a number of years has been engaged in research work for the Department of Forests and Waters, at Harrisburg, where they will make their future home.

Among the guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter, of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Mingle, of Collingswood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Garbrick, of Bedford; Mr. and Mrs. James Watt, of Tyrone; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Knorr, of Berwick; Mr. and Mrs. George Hall, of Huntingdon; Misses Lucille Ryan and Mary Powell, of Wilkes-Barre; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Zeigler, of Altoona; Misses Maude and Gertrude Miller, of Pennsylvania Furnace; Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mann and William Mann, of Reedsville; Mr. and Mrs. George Miller and daughters, Dorothy and Ethel, of Hollidaysburg.

Sanders-Klesius.—A large number of guests were present in St. Mary's Catholic church, Altoona, at 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning, to witness the marriage of Miss Helen Klesius, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Klesius, and Matthias Sanders, both of that city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Bender, of Lock Haven, an uncle of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. George Bock, rector of St. Mary's and Rev. James Melvin.

The attendants were Miss Marie Sanders, bridesmaid; Violet Sanders, ring bearer, and Charles Klesius, best man, while Sister Caroline played the wedding march. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Colonial hotel after which the young couple left on a wedding trip to New York and the Great Lakes. The bride is quite well known in Bellefonte through her frequent visits with relatives here.

Two Horses, Wagon and Load of Coal Wrecked.

Nathan Kofman's big team of horses, his wagon and a load of coal figured in a peculiar wreck early on Monday afternoon while hauling coal to the Edward Eckenroth home on east Howard street. The driver of the team drove up Cherry alley to an alley running down to the Eckenroth home and backed down it. In some way the wagon got under such headway that the horses were unable to stop it and the brakes refused to hold and wagon, team and all backed down over an embankment and landed on Howard street. When the horses were extricated from the mass of wreckage it was discovered that aside from a good shaking up they were uninjured. The wagon, however, was somewhat smashed and the coal piled up on the side of the street.

The Electric Supply Co. has just installed one of the latest incandescent lighting fixtures in St. John's Lutheran church, of Bellefonte, at a cost of $300, which is the gift of several members of the congregation. The bowl, or luminaire, 52 inches in diameter, is of antique copper finish with cathedral glass panels in the bottom, and is artistic and dignified. The five large bulbs, with X-ray reflectors inside the bowl produce an indirect illumination that is soft and glareless throughout the entire church. This luminaire was made especially by the Curtis Lighting Co., of Chicago, to meet the architectural requirements of the church, and its fine appearance and the beautiful effect produced have caused much favorable comment.

Freshmen co-eds at The Pennsylvania State College will not be permitted to wear ear-rings.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

Jack Montgomery, who had been cast for a month, returned to Portland, Oregon, last week.

Kissell, with a guest of theirs, Mr. and Mrs. Mabee and Miss Mildred Wetzel in the Kissell car, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Murtorf and their daughter in their own car.

Albert Ammerman, of Philadelphia, was an arrival in town Saturday for one of his occasional visits with his sister, Mrs. Frank Company, of south Allegheny street. On Monday, when it was so rainy and drab, Albert thought there is a "jinx" on his Bellefonte visits, for always his arrival here has seemed to be the sign of wet weather. We didn't see him Tuesday, nor before he left on Wednesday, but those beautiful days must have convinced him that there is nothing to this "jinx" business.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Clevestine, with Mrs. Kathryn Nitchman, Bruce Wilson and Street Quasilius as motor guests, spent last week on a drive through West Virginia and Maryland. Going direct to Oakland, Md., for a visit at the former home of Mrs. Clevestine and Mrs. Nitchman, they went from there to Egton, W. Va., and back into Maryland, returning home by way of the Cumberland valley. Miss Mazie Stahl, a cousin, accompanied them to Bellefonte and will be a guest of the Clevestine family for an indefinite time. It being the first pleasure trip Mr. Clevestine has taken in the seven years he has been in business, made the trip an especially eventful one for them.

Bellefonte High School Football Schedule.

Ever since the opening of the Bellefonte public schools the High school football squad has been in training under coach Jay M. Riden. The team captain is Merrill "Dutch" Waite, who put up such a good game last year, and as there is plenty of available material the school should have a winning team this season. The schedule includes nine games, six of which will be played at home. All the games will be played on Hughes field at two o'clock p. m., with the exception of the game with Millheim which will be at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. Following is the schedule in full:

- October 4.—Lock Haven Normal at Bellefonte.
October 11.—Millheim at Bellefonte.
October 18.—Altoona Catholic High school at Bellefonte.
October 24.—Lock Haven Normal at Lock Haven.
