DASHING RAIN DAMPENED HAL-LOW-EENERS.

Big Parade Viewed by Thousands. Despite the Wet Weather. Full List of Prizes Awarded.

Two surprises attended the Elk's Hallow-een carnival this year, the first contest and the second a downpour of rain at the time when least expected -The Thanksgiving market of or wanted. The surprise in the Harvest Queen contest was not over the of State College, but the very unexpected deluge of ballots in the last half hour of the contest. From the had been done during the ten days of the contest the most sanguine dared not hope that the total vote would reach fifty thousand, but when the ballots were all in and counted they aggregated 98,621. Miss Goddard led with 40,600; Miss Hines received 24,-021; Miss Gehret 17,505 and Miss Hartsock 16,495. Miss Goddard not only won the Harvest Queen honors but the diamond ring, as well, while Miss Hines received the pearl necklace, and Miss Gheret and Miss Hartsock each received $10 in cash.

Had it not been for the rain the parade would have been one of the largest and best ever held, but scores of people dropped out of line before the parade started and the downpour so mussed and bedraggled the costumes of the hundreds who braved the elements and marched to the finish that -Keep in mind the sale of the effect was sadly marred. Boys Shot for Wild Turkeys.

On Tuesday morning Frank McMullen, Lincoln Grubb and Edwin Thomas, three Coleville youths, went up onderbrush some distance away but paid else we know of. little attention to him. Suddenly a shot rang out and McMullen and Grubb were peppered with shot. The former was taken to the Centre County hospital where as many of the leaden pellets as possible were removed, and underwent like treatment. The man who fired the shot was a fellow by the name of Bartley, of Unionville, and his excuse was that he thought the boys were turkeys sitting on a log.

Milesburg Starring in Music.

Some time ago we made note of the fact that Fred Campbell, of Tyrone, had been engaged by John Philip Sousa, for the winter tour with his band. It has developed since that director Sousa has found in Fred, not only a promising flute and piccolo player, but a person also qualified in both discretion and tact to be made his private secretary.

Fred is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, of Tyrone, and formerly of Milesburg, where father Campbell cultivated his love for music and gave it expression through the baritone horn that was always there in the difficult passages when the old Milesburg band was winning prizes at contests. Jim moved from Milesburg to Tyrone, to go railroading and his son Fred was brought up in the shops there and also interested in his dad's musical talent.

Opening of Season.

Consternation was thrown into the ranks of the hundreds of hunters in Centre county when word came from Harrisburg last Friday afternoon that Governor Pinchot had placed a ban upon hunting on the opening day owing to the extremely dry weather and the danger of forest fires, but the ban carried with it a proviso that in the hunting would be permitted. And tion day. then along comes the weather man on Friday evening and poured down sufficient water to thoroughly wet down the forests of Centre county, and many enthusiastic sportsmen hied to the woods bright and early on Saturday morning with visions of returning home with well filled game bags.
