Farmer William Wagner, and a portion of his family, are now snugly quartered in a house on wheels on the farm he recently purchased from James Glenn. A substantial farm house will be erected later.

Brown Herman, of Saulsburg, visited his old friend and neighbor, Joe Gilliland, at Rock Springs, on Monday, and there is some likelihood of him becoming a permanent resident of West Ferguson before long.

Our enterprising grain merchant, J. D. Neidigh, recently added another farm to his earthly possessions, having purchased the home of his brother Newton. It is one of the best farms in this section of the county.

Rev. W. W. Moyer, recently elected pastor of the Reformed churches at Boalsburg, Pine Grove Mills and Pine Hall, will be officially installed at the latter place at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Revs. Romig and Dotterer will be in charge of the services.

Among the tail end hunting news might be mentioned the fact that last Thursday Frank Homan, while hunting on Tussey mountain, brought to earth the king of the forest. It was an eight pronged buck and had been seen on various occasions but always managed to escape until Mr. Homan laid it low. He will have the head mounted. The Hollidaysburg party camped on the Detwiler preserve, came in on Friday with two bucks. While out hunting last Thursday James Bohn, fifteen years old, took a crack at a buck and though he thought he had wounded it he failed to find the carcass. Later in the day the dead deer was found by Danville hunters who notified James and he got his deer. Investigation showed that it had been shot through the heart but ran quite a distance before falling down. The Stone Cabin party came in on Friday with five bucks and a bear. Charley Meyers took a shot at a big bear as he was on his way home from camp, on Friday, but failed to kill it. In addition to the deer and bear killed by hunters from this section thirty foxes were secured, quite a number of raccoon and considerable small game.

ARE BEES PUGNACIOUS?

Popular belief has it that the bee is a savage little creature put upon this earth to sting people. Incidentally it makes a little honey, but its great mission in creation is to be ever on the alert for a person to pester and sting.

There are so many misconceptions regarding insects! A bee will sting in defense of its life or its home, and very, very seldom at any other time. According to one authority, it is doubtful that one bee in one thousand ever uses its stinger. They are nervous little bodies, but not savage; often restlessness in one colony will make an entire apiary seem out of humor. Replace the queen in that one colony with one of better temper, and the trouble is over.

When a bee is at work on flowers you could hardly force it to sting you; and when one gets into your house, stinging is the furthest thing from its mind. It wants to get out just as badly as you want it out, and all you have to do is open the door. There is not the least cause for excitement or effort to kill the bee.

A bee is like a bull in its resentment of quick, jerky movements on a person's part. If you get too near a hive when the inhabitants are a bit cross, a bee may attack you.

If you run, especially if you strike at it, it may sting you; but if you hold your head down, keep your hands at your sides, and walk quietly away, the bee is pretty apt to turn back after it has forced you to retreat to a safe distance.

Surprising things can be done with bees by the person who is fearless, kind and deliberate. An acquaintance tells me that he has many times placed his bare hand right over a bee that was busy on a flower and made the little creature a prisoner in his palm. He says that as long as the grip remains loose enough for the bee to move a little and seek escape there will be no effort to sting; but that if the hand tightens, the insect recognizes its danger, and fights for its life in the only manner it knows. My acquaintance worked with bees for many years, and he is emphatic in denying that they are quarrelsome.—By L. E. Eubanks, in Our Dumb Animals.

Venetian Glass.

Venice has long led the world in the manufacture of beautiful glassware. Glass works were early established in that city and the taking of Constantinople in 1204 gave the Venetians the opportunity of acquiring additional knowledge of the art. During the Fourteenth century beads, false stones, and imitations of jewels, rather than cups and the like, seem to have been the chief productions of the Venice workman. Venetian glass is usually of extreme thinness, being nearly always blown, and there is an endless variety to be found in the shapes and in the application of color. Glass-blowing, like throwing clay in the potter's wheel, induces beautiful curved forms and strength of substance.

Plan 88-Story Building.

New York is to have an eighty-eight story office building, outranking in height the Woolworth building, which has fifty-one stories, according to information in real estate circles.

A test to determine whether the Woolworth tower sways in winds of high velocity is said to have been planned in contemplation of the new skyscraper's construction.

At the offices of Cass Gilbert, architect, it was admitted the project was under consideration.

The structure will occupy an entire block in downtown Broadway, it is said.—Ex.

Fig Delight.

One-half cupful sugar, one cupful brown sugar, half cupful milk, half cupful chopped figs, half tablespoonful butter, one teaspoonful vanilla.

Boil sugar and milk until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Take from the fire, add butter and vanilla and beat until creamy. Stir in the chopped figs and pour quickly on buttered pans.

Work Wearing You Out?

Bellefonte Folks Find a Bad Back a Heavy Handicap.

Is your work wearing you out? Are you tortured with throbbing backache—feel tired, weak and discouraged? Then look to your kidneys! Many occupations tend to weaken the kidneys. Constant backache, headaches, dizziness and rheumatic pains are the result. You suffer annoying bladder irregularities; feel nervous, irritable and worn out. Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Workers everywhere recommend Doan's. Here's a Bellefonte recommendation.

Mrs. Howard Shuey, S. Water St., says: "My back ached so I couldn't get a night's rest. My work tired me out and I often had to neglect it. I was hardly ever free from headaches and dizzy spells and my kidneys didn't act right, either. Doan's Pills from the Parrish drug store stopped the backaches and other signs of kidney trouble."
