SIMPSON.—Captain William A. Deer Hunting Season for 1924 Closed State College Woman's Club Celeon Monday.

The deer hunting season for 1924 closed on Monday, and quite a number of Bellefonters motored out to the mountains in the hope of getting a last shot at a big buck, but all of them came home empty-handed.

All the hunters agree that it was the best season in many years; in fact there were probably more deer killed than in any year back in the good, old days when there was no law regulating hunting and a man could go out at their own convenience and hunt the wary animal.

The exact number of bucks killed in Centre county this year has not yet been determined. When asked for an estimate yesterday morning game protector Thomas A. Mosier stated that official reports from the game wardens throughout the county that he legheny mountain sections, the lower end of Pennsvalley, Brush mountain the season had been a good one and ceed that of last year. The weather could not have been more favorable if it had been made to order for the hunters, and this probably had a lot to do with their success.

When asked as to the number of deer killed illegally-does and bucks with horns less than six inches longhave been a few more. Fifteen men who figured in the killing of the illegal deer paid their fine, which means $1500 for the State Game Commission. While the game protector had no data on the number of bear killed, from the various reports received during the open season on bruin the total will probably figure up to twenty-five or thirty.

The season on every kind of game is now closed with the exception of raccoon. It will be legal to kill them up to January 31st. So far as the small game season is concerned Mr. Mosier has not yet received any definite reports on the amount of game killed. The big drop in numbers will be in pheasants, as fewer of these birds were bagged this year than ever benumber of wild turkeys.
