HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white spaces the part black one below. No letters go in will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Lewistown's Old Home Week, June 28 to July 4, is definitely under way with over 60 civic, social, religious, fraternal and military orginizations of the city and Mifflin county backing the celebration which will be a county the celebration which will be a county wide affair bringing together thousands of former residents of Mifflin county as well as other visitors, every one of whom will find a royal welcome and an elaborate program of entertainment.

The week will open with special religious services in all churches of the city Sunday, June 28 and close with an elaborate military program on Military day, July 4 at which time it is planned to have several companies of Pennsylvania National Guard troops, a detachment of the U.S. Army and a reunion of the regiment of Spanish War Veterans, all of whom will take part in a monster military parade, together with a number of military organizations. An historical pageant depicting the history of Mifflin county from the first settlements in the Juniata Valley to the present day will be given from a special history written for the occasion and dramatized by a cast of a thousand actors in an open air amphitheatre.

Twenty-one committees are at work on arrangements for the celebration and the visitor to Lewistown is promised something doing every minute of the week. C. W. Stahl is the chairman of the executive committee, of which R. P. Foltz is the secretary.

tect it as quickly as our nerves. Then again, the individual who is possessed of the spirit of rheumatism may be seen on the streets several days before the foul weather shows any signs of subsiding. He says he is feeling pretty well, and predicts fair weather before long. A great many do resort to these things and give them credit for the relief they experience, when it is really due to the movements of the spirits of the air. If people can feel coming changes in their bones, why not feel them on their brains? If one spirit can set our nerves to twinging, and cause our flesh to swell and burn, what is to hinder another from causing us to feel a sense of hunger and thirst? I had the honor of being cordially invited to attend the banquet given by the Logan fire company, on Thursday evening, February 12, at 8:30 o'clock. The invitation was strictly for members of this grand and venerable firefighting squad. Outsiders were bar-red on this occasion. And while many regretted these stringent orders the movement proved a wonderful occasion. The most agreeable and successful ever enjoyed by these old veterans. Owing to the fact that the writer is one of the original charter members, only two of that number who subscribed their names to the charter in 1868, are now living. It proved a most agreeable occasion to me as I met a number of old comrades I had not seen in a half century. Great credit is due to the management for the able manner in which the superlative banquet was handled. Some fifteen brief addresses were delivered by the members, which proved quite interesting and instructive. I am not quite sure but whiskey and beer were also barred, as I failed to see any one of the great number present who showed any signs of being under the influence. The glorious occasion will never be forgotten by the first chief of the Logan Fire company, and will be remembered by all present as they journey on the voyage of life, as one of the most gratifying and enjoyable events during their entire existence. It was a great satisfaction to know that not one of the large aggregation was visibly affected with horizontal refreshments. At 3 a. m. a committee of three gentlemen drove me home to Pleasant Gap, all of which was appreciated.

Ring-Necked Pheasants are not Game Birds.

The Maryland sportsmen are disgusted with the ring-necked pheas-ants, as are the sportsmen of this State. They are convinced that they destroy other game, and besides, they have discovered that they are not a game bird. They are not wild enough for the average sportsman and they seem to place themselves in a position to be shot. Where they have been raised not far from farm buildings they become almost as tame as our own domestic fowls and will come around the barn and feed with the chickens. They are very destructive for the farmers as they eat off the young wheat and other crops.

In both Maryland and Pennsylvania they have been protected for some years by the State game laws but it is predicted that they will not be much longer. While they are not popular with the farmers or the sportsmen they have some friends, for they are very beautiful, especially the male bird. They seem to be very plentiful along some of the rural trolley lines and recently seven were seen within a short distance and one of the trolley men, who was a lover of birds, took grain to scatter along his route to feed the pheasants.

Aching Backs Make Life Miserable for Many Bellefonte People.

MEDICAL.

Oh! My Back!

It isn't right to suffer day in and day out with dull, unceasing backache. Or be utterly miserable with sharp stabs of pain whenever you stoop or lift. But chances are you will suffer these tormenting aches and pains as long as your weakened kidneys are neglected. You may have headaches, too, spells of dizziness and urinary disorders. Then use Doan's Pills-a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Ex-periences of Bellefonte people prove the merit of Doan's. Mrs. H. W. Johnson, Valentine St., says: "I felt so miserable with backache I could hardly stand. Mornings when I came down stairs I was so lame I couldn't raise my feet to go up the steps again. My kidneys were disordered and annoyed me. Doan's Pills from Runkle's drug store soon put an end to my suffering.
