The State Highway department announced this week that all the bids for new highway construction in Centre county, as published in the Watchman last week, have been accepted by the department and contracts will be awarded subject to the legalizing of the road bond issue. As there is every reason to believe that this will be accomplished by the Legislature it will mean unusual activity in new road work in Centre county this year.

George Grove, who lives on the Hartman farm, just south of Bellefonte, had a fall last Thursday night, that was at first thought to have caused serious injury. The hay-baling crew was moving in to his barn and Grov was taking a spreader out of the barn floor. He was at the tongue and when he struck the ice on the barn bridge was thrown violently. When he didn't get up others ran to him to find that he could neither move nor speak. It was some time before he came around enough to be gotten into the house, but had recovered enough to get out again Friday morning.

McIntyre, of Williamsport; the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, and Miss Catherine M. Patterson, of Pittsburgh.

NEW AVIATION FIELD SELECTED FOR BELLEFONTE.

Ninety Acres Leased from Four Property Owners Out Beyond Nigh Bank.

All doubts as to the air-mail landing field being retained in this section were set at rest on Monday when announcement was made that leases had been signed on Saturday for a new field out beyond Nigh bank. The new field will consist of ninety acres, the land having been secured from Mrs. G. P. Gentzel, H. F. Garbrick, W. C. Smeltzer and Mrs. Alice Garbrick. It is practically a square plot of ground and fairly level so that not a great amount of grading will be required to put it in shape. A little draining may be necessary along one side to insure the field being dry and solid at all seasons of the year and during all kinds of weather. It is of ample size to afford the big planes plenty of room to come down and take off from all points of the compass. No trees or buildings are near enough to the field to either obstruct the view or the flight of the pilots from any angle.

While the present aviation field is nearer Bellefonte than the new field will be it is only a two way field and was not deemed suitable for night flying, which is to be inaugurated on or about the first of April. Because of this fact work will be started as soon as possible to put the new field in shape. An entirely new hangar will be erected, and according to the specifications it will be 59x100 feet in size, much larger than the one on the present field. It will likely be built by the same contracting firm that erected the hangar on Hadley field, New Jersey, the eastern terminus of the air-mail. All the other necessary buildings will be new and of a permanent character.

The field will be marked with immense beacon lights and border lights will likely be used to outline the landing runways. The introduction of a night airmail service will not eliminate the present day service but will be in addition thereto. This will naturally mean a big increase in the force of employees at the Bellefonte field, as there will be a day crew and a night crew. The air mail route is to be plainly marked with huge signal lights erected every twenty-five miles, and it is understood that Bellefonte will have charge of these lights and all emergency landing fields between Tamaqua on the east and Clarion on the west. This will require the services of a repair crew whose duties it will be to see that all signal lights are kept in shape for continuous service at night.

There will be eleven of these landing fields, all of which will be under the direct supervision of the Bellefonte field. Two of the fields will be located in Centre county, one at Snow Shoe and one at Woodward. Each field will have a caretaker whose business it will be to look after the lights and see that it is always in shape. Each field will be marked with beacon and border lights to guide the pilots in the event they find it necessary at any time to come down on any of them. The emergency fields will be only about half as big as the landing field in Bellefonte.

The leasing of the ground for the new field is assurance that Bellefonte is firmly established as a station on the air-mail route, and if commercial flying becomes an established fact under the provisions of the Kelly bill recently passed by Congress the possibilities of Bellefonte as an aviation centre cannot now be foretold, but they are very promising.

Philadelphia Firm Buys Spring Mills Creamery.

The Breyer Dairy and Ice Cream company, of Philadelphia and New York, has purchased the property and business of the Penn Milk company at Spring Mills, generally known as the Spring Mills creamery, and took possession on Monday. The company owns and operates seven or eight milk receiving stations in Pennsylvania, and is reputed to be the largest ice cream manufacturer in the country. It also has two milk bottling plants of large capacity near Philadelphia, where milk is bottled for distribution in that city. Their purchase of the Spring Mills creamery will naturally open a market for all the milk the farmers of that section of Pennsylvania can produce.

It is also rumored that the Sheffield Farms company, of New York city, which now operates the milk receiving stations in Bellefonte, Howard and Jersey Shore, is after the creameries at Coburn and Centre Hall, and if these deals go through it will mean the fostering of big dairy interests in both Brush and Pennsylvanias. It might also necessitate the running of a Sunday train over the Lewisburg railroad in order to handle the Sunday milk supply.

At the present time practically all the milk received at the Bellefonte station is utilized in manufacturing cream for the New York market. The cream is separated at the plant and a large part of the milk after the cream has been removed is hauled to Milton by trucks where it is used in the manufacture of powdered milk.

Arthur H. Sloop, superintendent of the schools of Bellefonte; N. R. Sparks and Carl C. Saulsbury, of State College, were the Centre county winners who won prizes in the Public Ledger's fourth cross-word puzzle contest. They were awarded $1.00 each.

Frank Clevensine Has Bought the Noll Store at Zion.

The general mercantile business which the late Boyd A. Noll had built up at Zion, during the thirty-two years he conducted it, has been sold by his administrators to Frank Clevensine, who took charge on the 7th.

The new merchant is also a farmer, being in charge of the Decker farm adjoining Zion. He will not give up the soil for the yard stick and scales, however. He is fortunate in having enough capable help in his own family to run both enterprises and as the store is only one field distant from the farm house there will be little inconvenience in getting from one to the other.

W. C. T. U. Drive for Members

The W. C. T. U. is putting on a "whirlwind campaign" for membership this week all over the State of Pennsylvania. Centre county is falling in line in her usual good style. The different Unions are responding and Bellefonte inaugurated her campaign with a tea at the president's (Miss Rhoads) home last Friday at which much interest was aroused. On this occasion, after the business meeting, delightful music was rendered by Miss Cobb on the piano and Miss Eleanor Barnhart on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Schad. Refreshments were served and a general social hour followed. The membership campaign is to be an intensive one, lasting from the 12th to the 22nd, and all good citizens, both men and women, are urged to give thoughtful consideration at this time to the necessity for enlisting on the side of law enforcement. Membership in the W. C. T. U. is denominated active and honorary, the active being women and honorary men. The only obligation involved is signing a pledge and paying a dollar a year dues.

At the County W. C. T. U. executive meeting, recently held in Bellefonte, it was decided to hold the county convention at Unionville next fall.

High School Senior Play.

On Tuesday evening, February 24th, the Senior class of the Bellefonte High school will present "Ming Toy." This play is an adaptation of "East is West," which ran for two solid years in New York and which is still on the road. Great care has been taken in the selection of the characters, and, although only Seniors are in the cast, it promises to be one of the outstanding dramatic presentations of the season. Due to the fact that no suitable scenery could be found for the production, it was necessary to have it made to order.

It has been several years since B. H. S. has had a play given entirely by Seniors. Those who recall the plays given in other years by the graduating class will remember that each class bent every energy to give the best play ever. This year the Seniors are determined to reach a dramatic high point that will stand for years to come. It is a golden opportunity for the people of Bellefonte to see one of the most successful plays ever written. This play is Chinese-American in character, with far more tension than the play "We Hung's Tea Room," given here two years ago. Go to the High school auditorium next Tuesday at 8 o'clock, prepared to spend a pleasant evening.

Why the Service Was Interrupted.

The electric service of the Keystone Power corporation was interrupted last Friday for about seven hours, due to a break in the Penn Central Light and Power company's transmission line. A woodsman cutting trees near the right-of-way, felled a tree which struck the high voltage line, tearing down all the wires. Due to the bad condition of the roads leading into this section, an incorrect report was given to the local company as to the time that would be required to repair the break.

Several repair crews were sent out by the Penn Central company, as well as one from the Keystone company, as soon as the real source of the interruption was determined.

The tree not only tore down the power lines but the private telephone line as well, so that it was noon before word was received that the break could not be repaired until late in the afternoon. Immediate steps were then taken to put the Milesburg station into operation. By one o'clock a portion of the local lighting load was put on this plant, but before the larger generators could be started the break was repaired and general service was resumed at three o'clock.

This has been the longest interruption of its kind experienced by the local power company for a number of years. In order that interruptions of this kind will be eliminated in the future, steps are now being taken by the local office of the Keystone corporation to put the Milesburg station into service as quickly as possible, in case of future interruptions.

The regular February meeting of the Woman's club will be held in the High school building, Monday night, February 23rd. Instead of the discussion on Immigration as had been scheduled, Mrs. Winters, wife of Lieut. T. H. Winters, of Annapolis, will tell the club of her life in the Philippine Islands, at Manila. The evening promising to be a very delightful one for the club, it is hoped as many as possible will be present. Mrs. Winters is spending a month in Bellefonte with her uncle, James R. Hughes, at the Academy.

SUICIDE OF HERBERT KREITZ.

Killed Himself Last Friday After Quarreling with Aunt and Assaulting Uncle.

At noon-time last Friday Herbert Kreitz, colored, who made his home with his uncle and aunt, Thomas Johnson and wife, in the rear of the Centre county jail, quarreled with his aunt over the loss of his discharge papers and becoming very much excited, his uncle, Walter Delige, who was upstairs in bed, threatened to interfere if he didn't desist. This, evidently, further enraged the young man as he grabbed a stove shaker, ran upstairs and struck Delige on the head above the right temple, as he lay in bed.

The blow cut a deep gash and blood flowed freely, and evidently under the impression that he had inflicted a mortal wound Kreitz left the house. He went out Allegheny street as far as the school house, and evidently went down Lamb street to Water street and turning about made his way to Roopsburg and up Spring creek. He went to the home of Foster Fannan, above the Roopsburg school house, and asked Mrs. Paul Fannan to loan him a gun to shoot a skunk that was sitting along the road. Without a thought Mrs. Fannan gave him her husband's .38 special revolver and a small handful of cartridges. Kreitz promptly left the Fannan home and returning to the main road proceeded up Spring creek. Christ Beezer saw him pass his place about 1:25 o'clock and some five or ten minutes later he reached the Al Hartle farm. Mr. Hartle noticed him because of his peculiar actions. He ran a few steps, stopped and looked around, then walked a short distance and again ran a few steps.

Reaching the corner of Miss Helen Beezer's bungalow he stopped and after a few seconds Mr. Hartle saw him fall to the ground. He did not, however, hear any gunshots. As the man did not get up he called the Rockview penitentiary and asked if any prisoners had escaped, telling of the man lying on the bank of Spring creek. He also called the sheriff's office and notified the sheriff. He then went over to where Kreitz lay and seeing a pool of blood realized that he was dead.

Sheriff Taylor went up Spring creek as quickly as possible and found assistant warden C. C. Rhoads and Mr. Rhinesmith, of the penitentiary, already there. They had no difficulty in identifying the body of the dead man as that of Herbert Kreitz. Squire S. Kline Woodring was notified and as acting coroner took with him as a jury to view the body Homer P. Barnes, Ralph Smith, Herbert Beezer, Paul McGarvey, James Rine and Dan Bernard. Dr. Sebring was also summoned and an examination revealed the fact that the man had shot himself five times in the breast, one of the shots puncturing the left lung. The above facts developed at a hearing held before the coroner's jury, in the library of the court house, on Saturday morning, as the result of which they returned a verdict of suicide.

Kreitz was a veteran of the world war, having served with the army in France where he was slightly gassed. After returning to Bellefonte he worked for a year or two as janitor at Temple Court and of late had been working part of his time at the Brockerhoff house. Recently he tried to enlist in the army but could not find his discharge papers, and it was the loss of those that precipitated the quarrel which led to his suicide. He was 31 years of age and his parents being dead his only immediate survivor is one brother, Lewis Kreitz, of Altoona. Burial was made in the Union cemetery on Sunday.

Dental Health Week to be Observed in Bellefonte.

The State authorities have designated February 22nd to 28th as dental health week and have called upon all cities, towns and communities to observe the same. The object of the campaign is to give the public proper information on the importance of caring for the teeth and mouth. Ministers are requested to announce the activities of dental health week, and the co-operation of all schools, clubs, civic societies and associations is urged.

Bellefonte will observe the week and Dr. Hummer, assistant to Dr. Kilpatrick, will have charge of all demonstrations and give talks on the importance of taking proper care of the teeth. Demonstrations will be from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., and from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Many people in Bellefonte, especially parents of school children, will recall the work of the dental hygienist in the public schools the past year or two when a large percentage of school children were found possessed of defective teeth. It has become an established fact that bad teeth makes for impaired health and the mouths of children, especially, should be carefully looked after. Because of this fact residents of Bellefonte are requested to take an interest in the observance of dental health week and attend the demonstrations which will be held in the various schools.

This (Friday) evening the Seniors will give a dance at the High school building. It will be called "La Belle Dance," and whatever balance remains after the expenses are met will go toward the annual. The Penn Center Eight will furnish the music. Dancing will begin at eight o'clock.

Miss Miriam Beck was up from Nittany Tuesday and, in addition to looking after the usual amount of visiting and shopping, added to that some business for her grand-father, John H. Beck. Mr. Beck has arrived at that time in his life when he does not come to town as frequently as he once did, a very noticeable thing to his friends.

Kermit L. Noll, of Zion, was in Bellefonte Monday morning looking after some business relative to the estate of his father, the late Boyd A. Noll. He was returning to Lewisburg after an over Sunday visit with his mother. Mr. Noll is a Specialist at Bucknell, where he has been specializing in music with the thought of devoting his talent to the pipe organ.

Miss Martha Van Rensselaer, of Ithaca, N. Y., was a guest at the Bush house for several days of the week, called to Bellefonte by the death of her aunt, Miss Sarah Owen. Miss VanRensselaer is head of the home economics department at Cornell, and as a pioneer in this work was adjudged several years ago one of the twelve famous women of America.

Mrs. Clara Bottorf, of Runville, is visiting at Mount Carmel with her daughter, Mrs. Leona Thompson, and her two sons, the latter of whom returned to their mother's last September, after making their home in Runville with their grand-parents for six years. Mr. Sutherland came over Thursday evening and remained until Friday afternoon when he was compelled to return home, as his work as assistant superintendent of the Huntingdon reformatory necessitated his presence there.

Mrs. James Noonan arrived home Monday, from New York, where she had been called three weeks ago by the death of her brother-in-law, Frank E. Seymour Sr., Saturday night. Miss Geraldine Noonan and Miss Emily Crider went over on the excursion for a day in the city and to come home with Mrs. Noonan, all three returning to Tyrone Sunday night. It being necessary for Miss Noonan and Miss Crider to be in Bellefonte early Monday, they motored over to Bellefonte as guests of Mr. Witovson, and when near Pine Grove the car skidded, turning around several times, then struck a telephone pole, with the result that Miss Noonan is in bed with torn ligaments in her foot, a cut on her arm, which required sewing up and other bruises. None of the other occupants were injured.

T. R. Hamilton spent half an hour with us Monday evening. It was the eve of his 80th birthday anniversary and, naturally, he was reminiscient. We have written so often of Mr. Hamilton's remarkable appearance, for one of his years, that it would seem needless to do it now that another milestone has rolled around. For, so far as any change in vigor is concerned the year seems to have caused no more in him than a minute does to some of the rest of us. Since the death of Mr. John P. Harris he is the town's oldest native born resident. He left here when he was twenty years old, for Nebraska City, Neb.

There was no railroad west of Pittsburgh then, no great cities dotting the plains of the Middle west. It was all frontier country. He stayed at Nebraska City, logging and building, for two years, then pushed on to Colorado, where he was one of the party that made the first discovery of gold in the Central City section. After prospecting a while he returned home, went to Wilkes-Barre and bought a planing mill. He was quite successful there, but the wander-lust got him again, and with three companions started for California. His experiences on that trip would make a thrilling story, for he rode through a "Death Valley" on horseback and barely escaped leaving his bones to bleach with those of less fortunate adventurers who had undertaken to cross that waste of 150 miles where not an animal, reptile or insect could live.

Miss Blanche Underwood will go to Erie today, where she will be a guest of her brother Irvin and his family over Sunday.

Miss Frances Geppert has been transferred from the P. R. R. freight offices in Clearfield to a similar position in the company's office at this place.

Dr. Franklin Bowersox, genial, wholesome and happy as is his nature always, came up from Millheim, on Wednesday, to look after some business matters in this place.

Miss M. H. Snyder has been spending the week in New York, attending some of the special millinery showing, and in the wholesale houses, selecting her early spring stock. Her niece, Miss Jeannette Cooke, has been her guest there, having gone over from Washington, D. C., where she is in training for a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Mott, Mrs. Odillie Mott and the latter's niece, Mrs. Luther Smith, drove to Williamsport yesterday, to be all day guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Bayard. Mrs. Bayard is Mrs. Mott's sister, and the trip was made as a first visit since Mr. Bayard's accident, through which he lost the sight of one of his eyes.

Henry S. Linn went to Williamsport Tuesday, for a day with his sisters, going on east from there for a week in Philadelphia and New York. It has been his custom for a number of years to make this trip in February, that he may attend the annual meeting of the Society of Cincinnati, of which he is a member. The Society's meeting and luncheon will be held Monday, at the Adelphi.

Among those from a distance who were here for the funeral of the late John P. Harris were Mrs. A. Scott Harris and her daughter Annie, of Pittsburgh; William Harris and Miss Elizabeth, of Lock Haven; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harris, Mrs. Charles Beck and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Loveland, of Lamar; Mr. and Mrs. Gail B. Chaney and Frederic Schad, of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Harris Jr., Miss Helen and John H. Harris, of Newton Hamilton; Dr. E. H. Harris and Edward H. Jr., of Snow Shoe; Mr. and Mrs. J. Linn Harris, of Lock Haven; Dr. Harold L. Harris, of Beaver; Burgess H. W. Todd, of Phillipsburg; John D. Meyer and F. K. Lokenbach, of Tyrone; Hon. John T. McCormick, of State College.

Last Saturday night a very unusual thing happened. We had an hour or so with nothing to do and longed for companionship. Just then two very agreeable gentlemen from State College dropped in to prove that there is something in mental telepathy. Following them came H. E. Garbrick, so we had our wish gratified by having an hour that offered lonely prospect converted into one that was anything but that. Mr. Garbrick, you know, farms on the Gentzel place below Pleasant Gap, and some of his acreage is included in the new aviation field. Getting into the air business isn't wholly a new thing to him because he has been in it in another way for some time. He is the artist who furnishes the air for the big Soudaphone that is such an important instrument in the Odd Fellows band.

Manchester-Taylor—Miss Louise Jane Taylor, eldest daughter of Col. and Mrs. H. S. Taylor, and William C. Manchester, of Detroit, Mich., were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, on east Linn street, at two o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. W. C. Thompson, pastor of the Presbyterian church. They were attended by Miss Margaret Taylor, a sister of the bride, and Eugene Leonard, a school mate of the bridegroom at the Bellefonte Academy. The bride is a graduate of the Bellefonte High school class of 1924. Mr. Manchester was in his second year at the Academy, leaving that institution at the end of the semester to get married. Immediately following the ceremony the young couple left on a ten day's wedding trip east and upon their return will occupy an apartment in the Taylor home for the present.

Mutt and Jeff, those two frolicsome and always popular comics, are returning to their own again. At any rate they are underlined to hold forth at the Moose Temple theatre, Wednesday evening, March 4th, with the usual matinee. This will mark their second appearance in the flesh hereabouts and the event as a consequence is of more than passing importance. Mutt and Jeff are so well known that any further reference to their fame or standing in the community as simon-pure exponents of genuine jollity and fun would be superfluous. Watch next week's paper for further announcements.

Patriotic Memorial Services.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America, Washington Camp, No. 887, of Bellefonte, will observe Washington's birthday Sunday, February 22nd, by attending church services in a body. The address will be delivered by Rev. J. A. Mills, pastor of the United Brethren church. All members are respectfully requested to meet at the P. O. S. of A. hall at 10 o'clock and march in a body to the church.

Go, and take a brother with you.

Fraternally yours,
HARRY A. ROSSMAN, Rec. Sec.
