PLEASANT GAP.

Lee Brooks, of Spring Mills, was a caller in our town on Friday.

Do not lean your head against a wall, you might soil the paper.

Never laugh at a funny story is being told until the climax is reached.

Raymond Houser, of Lock Haven, is enjoying a visiting tour over Pleasant Gap.

Harry McClincy spent a few days last week in Lock Haven, at the home of his daughter.

John Milford Homer, of Stonevalley, is visiting his brother and family, Leslie E. Homer.

The Loyal Workers were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. T. Noll, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Harry Hagan and two children, of Lewistown, are visiting at the George Gettig home.

Mrs. R. T. Melroy spent two days last week at the home of Prof. J. F. Melroy, at Mifflintown.

Harry Lohman and family spent the week-end at Berwick, at the home of Mrs. Lohman's mother, Mrs. Philip Clemens.

Nothing touches the heart so quickly as the pathetic. Around the death of an outcast, a pauper, the poet has woven verses of dignity and pathos.

The ladies of the United Sportsmen held a social in the club room, Tuesday evening, which was largely attended and a most agreeable evening resulted.

Mrs. Rachel Noll and sister, Mrs. Fetterhoff, sold a lot of a few days ago, to George W. Smith. George will proceed to build a cozy little home.

He is evidently tired of paying rent; a wise move on his part.

Butcher Joseph Lex just completed a very attractive sidewalk extending the entire frontage of his home. The material used was Whitrock crushed limestone which, by the way, makes a very substantial walk.

Christian Hoffer, of Bellefonte, one of our agreeable associates for years, at the Gap, spent a few days here a week ago. While here he called on many of his old-time friends.

His presence here is always appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Acheson are making their home with Levi A. Miller. Mrs. Acheson has the reputation of being an expert cook, which evidently appeals to Levi, and the completely furnished residence is what, no doubt, appeals to the Achesons.

Superintendent Stutsman, of the Rockview penitentiary, was a welcome caller at the United Sportsmen's meeting, Friday evening. He made a very interesting address regarding the sportsmen's privilege on lands of the penitentiary, and his remarks were highly appreciated.

A most delicious dinner was served at the Noll Melroy home Thursday evening. The lucky participants were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Noll, Mr. and Mrs. Jared Evey, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hile, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Evey, Mrs. Elmhra Twitmyer, Miss Esther Noll and Miss Thelma Evey.

Samuel Noll, our proficient deliveryman, left on Saturday on a business trip to Cleveland, expecting to return about the middle of the coming week. His numerous patrons miss him, since he is so unusually punctual in his profession. What Sammy don't know about delivering goods is not worth knowing.

Messrs. Bell and Showers, of the Pleasant Gap chicken farm, have just received a large improved brooder. The capacity is twenty-five hundred chicks production. Now when the season opens we will have chicks galore.

They had an order for 5000 chicks per week from an adjacent State dealer but had to decline, as that is beyond their capacity for the time being.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Noll, Terry Noll, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melroy and Mrs. John Royer motored to Mackeyville, Sunday, to take a last look at their old friend, Mrs. Wallace Strouse, formerly of our town, who died last Friday after a brief illness, with pneumonia. She leaves nine children, the oldest being fourteen years of age. Mrs. Strouse will be remembered as Miss Eva Brooks, of this place.

Mrs. Raymond Melroy entertained the following friends on Wednesday evening. Mrs. John Noll, Mrs. Walter Dunkleberger, Mrs. Austin Gough, Mrs. Frank Irwin, Mrs. James Bilger, Mrs. Harry Bilger, Mrs. S. E. Noll, Mrs. H. T. Noll, Mrs. Wade Evey, Mrs. Ward Showers, Mrs. Harry Lohman and Mrs. Gheen. Card playing was the order of the evening. The victors were Mrs. Ward Showers, first prize, and Mrs. Harry Bilger, second prize. A most superb lunch was served and all were delighted with the agreeable entertainment.

The young man who chooses the right sort of a girl to accompany him through life has made his first long step toward fortune; but it stands to reason that he cannot find such a girl as this among those who possess none, or very few, of the gentle characteristics by which the true lady is known, and the lack of which attribute proves such a drawback to a young woman when she is casting around for a husband. A husband is mortified when his wife appears at a disadvantage in a social gathering, and it nettles him to see her outshone by other women who are less refined, not so well educated and have fewer graces; but who, having the grace and ease of accomplished society dames deport themselves in a manner which excites admiration. The society of clever women benefits a man in innumerable ways; the society of good women makes him a better man; the society of refined women adds a polish to his other way, and by which he obtains in any life that he could not obtain in any other way, and by seeking the society of women of goodness, cleverness, refinement and culture he is enabled to choose a wife who will always exercise a beneficial influence over him and make home pleasant.

The estimate of the value or worth of the capable orator's influence and power is a rather difficult matter. The orator has befriended humanity. It has seldom been recorded that he ever pleaded the cause of the despot. It's a matter of history that the efforts of the trained orator have invariably made easier the way of the soldier in fighting for the freedom which is a greater power than armed force. The people will follow the leader whose eloquence gives expression to sentiments in harmony with their own. A good oration sinks into the hearts of men and is treasured in their memory. Everybody who has read the history of our own country, is acquainted with the part played by the orator in our struggle for freedom; he commands the attention and secures the support and following of the people because he is their advocate and their medium of communication with the outside world; his influence is far-reaching and beneficial, he aids materially in shaping the destinies of nations. By some it is claimed that oratory is a lost art. I can see no evidence to substantiate this assertion. It will never lose its power among men. Bryan once said that "oratory will live as long as the race exists."

Those who were at Bellefonte to attend court during the past week were Mrs. J. F. Krape, Mrs. T. C. Weaver, Mrs. A. S. King, Mrs. Harry Homan, Mrs. Reuben Vonada and Miss Pearl King.

Mrs. George Weaver spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. Frank Guisewite, in Woodward. Another sister, Mrs. Thomas Meyer, of Coburn, was also a guest at the Guisewite home. The ladies were engaged in quilting.

Monday, William and E. Weaver disposed of his farm stock and implements, at public sale, and on Tuesday moved to Millheim where, since January 1st, he has been connected with the Hosterman & Stover hardware dealers, as electrician. We are sorry to lose Mr. Weaver and family as they were splendid citizens. However, our loss is Millheim's gain. We wish Mr. Weaver great success in his new work.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ream, February 27th, in honor of their son Lewis' sixteenth birthday. The evening was spent in playing games and singing, until a late hour, when refreshments were served which consisted of ice cream, cake, crackers and two kinds of candy. Following is a list of guests present: Emma and Bond Bible, Lida Warnitz, Anna Bowler, Mary Burd, Sara Burd, Mary Bright, Sara Cunningham, Edna Ream, Sara Bower, Mabelle Limbert, Sara Weaver, Dorothy Weaver, Stiel Hazel, Marion Ream, Jessie Cunningham, LeRoy Wantz, Ray Hazel, Guy Beahm, Ray Bright, Charles Cunningham, Raymond Ard, John Haines, Maurice Whitmyer, Orvis Hosterman, Carl Beahm, Henry Bowler, Lewis Ream, Malvin and Paul Ream. Lewis received many useful presents. After having enjoyed to the full the evening all returned to their homes wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Byron Lucas, who has been ill, is now able to be around.

Ralph Orr was an over Sunday visitor with friends in Williamsport.

Conrad Miller, of Bellefonte, was a business visitor here on Saturday.

Ray Dietz, of Lock Haven, was an over Sunday guest at his home here.

Deimer Ertley was a business visitor in Lock Haven one day last week.

Geraldine and Clifford Swope were over Sunday visitors with friends in Howard.

Fred Haines and family were visitors in Orviston, on Sunday, calling on Mrs. Haines' mother.

Mr. Miller, the blacksmith, moved his family and household goods into the G. C. Kling home, on Monday.

Word was received here that Leo Orr, of Bellefonte, is a patient in the Centre County hospital, suffering with an attack of appendicitis. His cousin, Ralph Orr, visited him at that place and reports that he is recovering nicely.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

A Talk with a Bellefonte Man

Mr. Nighthart Tells Something of Interest to Bellefonte Folks.

There's nothing more convincing than the statement of some one you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Nighthart, of E. Bishop street, should be mighty helpful here in Bellefonte.

Charles Nighthart, 331 E. Bishop St., says: "I became run down with kidney trouble and felt tired and worn out mornings. I could hardly get to work. There was a steady, dull ache across my back and when I stooped or lifted, sharp catches took me. I also had dizzy spells and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Pills for the Mott Drug Co. and they strengthened my back and kidneys."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Nighthart had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 70-10
